Works Of Area Artists Now Grace The Halls Of GCMH

Seventy-seven works of art from local artists can be found prominently displayed on the walls of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. This project, started early in 2000, is sponsored by the hospital's Loar Auxiliary.

Members of the Loar Auxiliary have spent much time viewing works of many local artists in order to find paintings to display. "We (the hospital and the artists) have had a great response to this project. The feedback has been wonderful," said Betty Pritt, Loar Auxiliary president and member of the Arts Committee.

Local artists whose work is on display include Sharon Bernard, Jim McNeil, Nelda McNeil, Denise Moynahan, Arwana Schoemer, and Aza Stanton, all of Oakland; Sue Arnson of Accident; Turid Kimmell of Frostburg; Alexis Lavine of Cumberland; Dolores Andrew of Timonium; Billie Jean Snyder of Flintstone; and Shirley Tataleba of Berlin, Pa.

When the Loar Auxiliary members decided they wanted to create a project that would accessorize the hospital facility, their first option was to purchase pictures from a distributor. "We just didn't see what we were looking for," Pritt said.

Through a unanimous vote of the Loar Auxiliary membership, the group agreed that works of art from local artists would be the first to be considered. The purchase of the artwork became known as the "Arts Project." The auxiliary was awarded a $500 grant from the Garrett County Arts Council to assist with the project. A letter was sent to known artists in the local area inviting them to submit photos or slides of their work. After review of the photos and slides, the committee began purchasing the desired pictures.

The Loar Auxiliary volunteers operate the gift shop located in the lobby of the hospital. All profits from the gift shop benefit the hospital. Anyone who would like to become a member of the Loar Auxiliary may contact any current member or call Linette Sines, development assistant at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, at 301-533-4041.

Dinner Theatre To Benefit Mike McClintock Family

"Murder, Music, & Mayhem" is the name of a mystery dinner theatre presentation that will be performed by the Triple A Players at Turkeyfoot Valley Area High School near Addison, Pa., this Sunday, Oct. 15, at 6 p.m. Proceeds from the event will benefit the family of the late Mike McClintock, Grantsville, who died last week.

The benefit is a combined effort of the Addison United Methodist Church, St. John's Lutheran Church, the Addison Volunteer Fire Department and Ladies' Auxiliary, and members of the community. Matching funds will be provided by Aid Association for Lutherans.

Tickets for the program are $10 for adults and $5 for children ages 10 and under. They are available at the following locations: Nicklow's BP Station, Addison Superette, and Yough Restaurant in Addison, and Laurel Bank, Confluence Hardware, and Sisters' Cafe in Confluence. Reservations are preferred, and checks should be made payable to Addison UM Church.

Persons desiring more information and/or tickets may also call 814-395-5047 or 814-395-5988.

Dead Man Walking Author To Give Talk At WVU

The Newman Club of West Virginia University and St. John's University Parish of Morgantown announce a public address titled "Dead Man Walking — The Journey" that will be given by Sister Helen Prejean, C.S.J., at the Mountainlair Ballroom on October 26 at 7 p.m. Admission is free, and all interested persons are invited.

In her ministry at the Louisiana State Prison, Sister Helen Prejean has accompanied five men to their executions, and she has written of this experience in Dead Man Walking: An Eyewitness Account of the Death Penalty in the U.S. The book was on the New York Times' best-seller list for 31 weeks and was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize. Her book was made into a motion picture, directed by Tim Robbins and starring Susan Sarandon and Sean Penn. Dead Man Walking has been translated into 10 languages and is now being made into an opera by the San Francisco Opera Company.

Sister Helen was nominated twice for the Noble Peace Prize and has received many awards, most notably the Champion of Liberty Award from the U.S. Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers and the Sanctity of Life Award from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. She has received 20 honorary degrees from such institutions as Georgetown University, University of San Francisco, and University of Glasgow, Scotland. Larry King Live, the Oprah Show, and 60 Minutes are among the television and radio programs on which she has been interviewed.

Although Sister Helen is one of the nation's most outspoken opponents of the death penalty, she said she is still mindful of how murder can affect the families of victims. As a consequence of her compassion for those who grieve because of murder, she also works with murder victims' families and has founded a group in New Orleans called Survive.

There will be a short time for questions after her talk, and Sister Helen has agreed to autograph copies of her book as well. Copies of Dead Man Walking can be purchased at the Mountainlair Ballroom, and all profits will be used to Finance Moratorium 2000.

For more information, persons may contact St. John's University Parish at 304-296-8231.

Young Artists' Camp Art Works To Be Exhibited

The students of the Young Artists' Workshop will be showing a collection of 30 pieces of art completed during this summer's weeklong camp. Sponsored and supported by the Sprenger-Lang Foundation and Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, the camp is offered to 20 students between the ages of 12 and 17.

The exhibit will be on display in the Garrett County Arts Council Gallery, located along Alder Street in Oakland, from Oct. 16 through Oct. 25. There will be a reception on Oct. 21 from 2 until 4 p.m., to which the public is invited.

Included in the show will be drawings of the human figure, as well as portraiture, in the style of several masters, including Reubens, Degas, and DaVinci. The purpose of these exercises was to encourage the understanding of techniques used by these revered artists and inspire new and original interpretations of the same enduring subjects, according to instructors Mark and Laura Stutzman.

Also included in the show will be watercolor paintings of found objects and scenery on hand at Fantasy Valley, where this year's camp was held.

Intended to inspire and nurture young artistic minds, the course of study is rigorous and covers both drawing and painting disciplines, the Stutzmans said. Discussions of color theory and anatomy are intermingled with life drawing and watercolor clinics, designed to give a view of fine art as well as its applications in areas of commercial usage. Both Mark and Laura Stutzman are freelance illustrators who work nationally from their Mtn. Lake Park studio.

Inquiries about next year's camp and enrollment space should be directed to Beth Johnson, GLAF executive director, at 301-387-3082.

The Stutzmans noted their gratitude to Mountain Top Glass, Oakland Arts, and GCAC Gallery for their donations and assistance in the project.

Garrett Co. Farm Bureau To Hold Annual Meeting/Banquet

The annual Garrett Co. Farm Bureau meeting and banquet will be held Thurs., Oct. 19, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Bittinger fire hall. The speaker for this event will be Robert G. Miller, a farmer formerly from the Accident area.

Miller grew up on a 160-acre crop and livestock farm near Accident, and was a 1942 graduate of Accident High School. In 1944 he was inducted into the U.S. Navy and served 18 months in the Pacific Theater.

After the war he attended the University of Maryland and graduated in 1950. After graduation he taught vocational agriculture in Westminster, and in 1951 he accepted a position with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service and moved to Cecil County.

In 1953 he was transferred to Wicomico Co. as a 4-H agent in charge of agricultural programs. He served as county agent there until he retired from Extension in 1980. At that time, he accepted a position with Maryland National Bank as an agricultural consultant.

He retired from the bank in 1993 to pursue his hobbies of gardening, growing fruit, and traveling with his wife Pat. They currently reside on the family farm near Hebron.

For banquet reservations, those interested may call Clark Kolb at 301-746-8484 by Mon., Oct. 16.

Mikulski Cosponsors National Rural Dev. Partnership Act

Senator Barbara A. Mikulski (D-Md.) has cosponsored the National Rural Development Partnership Act of 2000 (S. 3175), which would formally authorize the National Rural Development Partnership (NRDP), the National Rural Development Council (NRDC), and state Rural Development Councils (SRDCs).

"It's time that Congress formally recognizes the NRDP," said Sen. Mikulski. "The NRDP and SRDCs provide something no other groups do–communication, cooperation, and coordination between government and private groups. Programs and services not only get to rural areas more quickly, they become more efficient and effective."

The NRDP coordinates federal agencies, state and local governments, and private and non-profit groups to make it easier to bring programs and services to rural areas. The NRDP has existed for 10 years, but has never been formally authorized by Congress. The Rural Development Policy Act of 1980 called for "a nationwide rural development program," and the NRDP has existed based on the directives laid out in the 1980 initiative.

"This legislation will ensure the existence of NRDP," said Sen. Mikulski. "It will also strengthen NRDP, make coordination efforts even more effective, and benefit rural Marylanders."

Judge Rules GM Products Don't Need Labeling

Food producers and probiotechnology groups are applauding a federal court ruling made September 29 that upholds an FDA policy that says genetically modified (GM) food products need not be labeled.

U.S. Judge Colleen Kollar-Kotelly made the ruling in a lawsuit in which a coalition of environmental groups claimed the FDA policy failed to protect consumers.

The FDA created the policy in 1992, saying GM food products are materially indistinguishable from conventional foods and require no special labeling.

"FDA has not taken an overt action but instead has merely announced a presumption that certain foods do not require special regulation," Kollar-Kotelly wrote in her opinion.

Riparian Buffers To Be Topic At SCD Dinner

The Garrett Soil Conservation District will hold its annual cooperators' dinner at the Pleasant Valley Community Center on Tues., Oct. 24, beginning at 7 p.m.

This year the district board of supervisors decided to focus on an issue instead of an individual cooperator. The members have chosen to feature riparian buffers as the topic for the dinner. With increasing attention being placed on streamside buffers and fencing, they feel this is an appropriate topic.

The speaker this year is José Taracido, wildlife conservation specialist with the Foundation for California University of Pennsylvania. Taracido heads the Partners for Fish and Wildlife Farmland Habitat Project at the university. It concentrates on helping farmers with stream bank fencing, wetland protection, and warm season grass plantings. This program has won numerous awards, including the Chevrolet National Fish and Wildlife Foundation Award, National Wildlife Federation Award, and many other state and local awards. The partners include the US Fsh and Wildlife Service, Pa. Game Commission, USDA, NRCS, Pheasants Forever, Pa. Dept. of Environmental Protection, Ducks Unlimited, Nat. Fish and Wildlife Foundation, Chesapeake Bay Foundation, and local soil conservation districts.

Taracido has extensive field experience in working with landowners in western Pennsylvania to establish streamside buffers and fencing. He has the unique perspective of one who has field experience installing numerous miles of fencing for a multitude of landowners.

With the vast woodland acreage and the amount of naturally existing vegetation along streams in the county, the importance of buffers is easily overlooked, according to the Garrett Soil Conservation District. However, the Garrett District feels there are some places where fencing and/or the establishment of a streamside buffer would be a definite benefit. Some landowners may install fencing and establish buffers to benefit water quality. Others may be more interested in the wildlife habitat aspects of the practice.

Proper stewardship of our natural resources is a basic principle advocated by the Garrett Soil Conservation District since its beginning over 50 years ago. Sometimes a single wire fence is all it takes to practice good stewardship. Other times it will not be that simple.

Taracido will be sharing his experiences of working with landowners in western Pennsylvania through the Partners for Wildlife Program.

The cost of the meal will be $8 per person for baked steak, mashed potatoes with gravy, green beans, garden salad, apple sauce, roils, beverage, and pie with ice cream. The cost for children between 4 and 10 years old is $3.50, and children under 4 may eat for free.

Those wishing to attend the dinner may make reservations by stopping by the Garrett Soil Conservation District office at 1916 Maryland Highway, Suite C, to pick up a reservation form. Reservations with payments are due by Oct. 17.

Dry Conditions Improve State's Crop Harvest

Maryland received a break from the wet weather experienced the previous week, reported Ray Garibay, Maryland state statistician. Most of the state had no precipitation, with the exception of a few areas in central Maryland that received a tenth of an inch of rain at most. Temperatures were unseasonably high this week with highs reaching into the mid 80s. This combination of dry conditions with higher temperatures provided a suitable environment for harvesting crops.

Despite these favorable conditions, corn harvest continues to run behind schedule this week with 37% harvested for grain, which is 15% lower than the five-year average, and 86% harvested for silage, 3% below the five-year average. High corn yields were reported in many areas. Currently soybeans are 6% harvested, 3% behind last year and 5% below the five-year average at this time.

The drier weather also diminished some of the soil moisture surplus observed last week. However, moisture levels on area farms are maintained mostly at adequate levels with topsoil moisture rating 1% very short, 3% short, 94% adequate, and 2% surplus this week, and subsoil moisture remained 2% very short, 3% short, 87% adequate, and 8% surplus.

Crop progress for the week which ended Oct. 8, listing the crop and percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average, in that order, follows.

Crop harvesting: apples 65, 54, 47, 61.

Crop progress: corn mature 16, 87, 94, 94; corn harvested for grain 37, 22, 60, 52; corn harvested for silage 86, 76, 88, 89; sorghum turning color 95, 85, 94, 92; sorghum mature 50, 41, 59, 69; sorghum harvested 30, 20, 27, 26; soybeans turned 80, 62, 73, 80; soybeans shedding leaves 49, 32, 50, 59; soybeans harvested 6, --, 9, 11.

Hay harvested: other hay, 4th cutting 69, 57, 80, 68; alfalfa, 4th cutting 80, 75, 65, 79; alfalfa, 5th cutting 20, 10, 21, 16.

Crop conditions for the week which ended Oct. 8, listing the crop and the percentage for very poor, poor, fair, good, and excellent, in that order, are: corn 0, 1, 3, 53, 43; soybeans 1, 6, 14, 54, 25; barley 0, 0, 0, 98, 2; rye 0, 0, 0, 98, 2; winter wheat 0, 0, 0, 97, 3; range and pasture 1, 2, 14, 53, 30.

WAMLAP Signup Open

The USDA's new Wool and Mohair Market Loss Assistance Program (WAMLAP) for marketing year 1999 is now open for signup. According to H. Thomas Shockley, Maryland Farm Service Agency state executive director, applications for payment will be taken now through Dec. 29. The payment rate for eligible wool and mohair is 20 cents per pound for wool and 40 cents per pound for mohair. Calculations will be computed by multiplying the certified pounds by the payment rate.

For specifics, producers may read additional information in the column titled Preston County Farm Service Agency Reports, elsewhere in this week's farm section. For more information and answers to questions, those interested may contact FSA county executive director Michael Kozier at 301-334-6952.

TAKES FIFTH AT 4-H NATIONALS — Oakland's Stephen Lilly, an 11-year member of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club, placed fifth in the electric/energy category at National 4-H Engineering, Science and Leadership Event held recently in Lafayette, Ind. Lilly, who took first place in the category at the Maryland State Fair in August, has won first place in the 4-H Electrical Engineering competition at the Garrett County event for two years and won second place at the 1999 State Fair. Both the state and national individual events were composed of a written examination; identification of electrical equipment and/or parts found on the farm or in the home, including electrical and electronic symbols; and a 10-15 minute visual presentation. Lilly's visual presentation was titled "Digital Electronics." He was also a member of the Maryland's 4-H National Engineering Bowl Quiz team. Lilly, who lives in the Oakland area with his parents, Allen and Kathy Lilly, plans to enter the U.S. Air Force to train in avionics.

FSA Seeks Candidates For County Committee Elections

Eric McCartney, county executive director of Preston County's Farm Service Agency, has announced that nominations are being accepted through Mon., Oct. 30, for committee elections to be held in Local Administrative Area (LAA) 3 (Lyon, Reno, and Union districts).

"We're looking for the broadest possible participation from anyone within the farming community," McCartney said. "There's a lot of skill and experience out there that we haven't tapped into in the past and that we really could use."

The county FSA Committee is the most direct link between USDA farm programs and local producers. The county committee system helps shape nationwide programs into those that work at the local level by making decisions on things like commodity loan and loan deficiency payments, disaster-type programs, and conservation programs.

"To make the system work, it must represent all of the different parts of local agriculture," McCartney said. "This means the business side of the operation for the small farmer, producers of specialty crops, truck farmers, new farmers, women–all people with unique and valuable insights and perspectives to the business. We need their help and experience."

Eligible producers may nominate themselves or other eligible producers in the LAA as candidates. Producers nominated must be active farmers and be well qualified to serve on the committee.

An eligible producer is defined as one residing in or having farming interests in the LAA in which the election is to be held and he or she is eligible to vote.

Duties of the committee include: (1) administering USDA-FSA farm programs; (2) informing producers of the purposes and provisions of the programs; (3) keeping the state FSA committee informed of local conditions; (4) recommending needed changes in farm programs; (5) participating in committee meetings; (6) and performing other duties as assigned by the state FSA committee.

Again, nomination forms must be returned to the Preston County FSA Office by close of business on Mon., Oct. 30.

Producers with questions regarding the committee election should contact the FSA at 304-329-1923 for further information.

The Preston County FSA Committee encourages participation from all eligible voters, including under-represented groups, in this year's election.

Signup for the Wool and Mohair Market Loss Assistance Program Begins

The Agricultural Risk Protection Act of 2000 provided for direct payments to wool and mohair producers for 1999 wool and mohair produced and sheared from Jan. 1, 1999, through Dec. 31, 1999.

Signup for the Wool and Mohair Market Loss Assistance Program (WAMLAP) began on Tues., Oct. 10, and will end on Fri., Dec. 29. Eligible producers shall file applications for payment at the county FSA office nearest to the producer's residence, or in the county where the producer already has FSA farm records established. Multi-county producers should file their applications in the county where their headquarters are located. Late-filed applications will not be approved.

Payments under WAMLAP cannot be issued until regulations are published in the Federal Register.

An eligible wool or mohair producer is any person, or groups of persons, who as a single unit produced wool or mohair and whose production and facilities are located in the United States. A minor who otherwise meets these eligibility qualifications is eligible to participate in WAMLAP, provided the application is signed by the minor and co-signed by a person determined by the county FSA Committee to be financially responsible.

Only one application per producer is required. To be eligible to receive payment: a producer must, have produced domestic wool or mohair during the 1999 marketing year, apply for payment during the signup period, and still be in the business of producing and marketing agricultural products at the time of the request. However, the producer does not have to be currently producing wool or mohair.

Program provisions require wool and mohair to have been shorn in the United States from livestock owned for 30 calendar days or more by the producer at time of shearing, and from the livestock during the 1999 marketing year.

The payment rate for wool is 20 cents per pound and 40 cents per pound for mohair.

Requests for WAMLAP applications (Form CCC-1155) can be made by visiting the FSA office, by mail, by telephone, or by fax. All faxed signatures must be received in the FSA office by close of business Dec. 29, 2000. Producers must complete the CCC-1155 by self-certifying to the pounds of wool or mohair shorn during the 1999 marketing year, answering the eligibility questions, and signing the CCC-1155.

Five percent of the applications will be spot-checked. Producers shall maintain WAMLAP records for a 3-year period after the date of payment to document that eligibility requirements were met.

For further information regarding WAMLAP or to obtain a CCC-1155, producers may telephone the Farm Service Agency at 304-329-1923 or fax 304-329-3056. The CCC-1155 will also be available on the PSD web site at http://www.fsa.usda.gov/dafp/psd/, after program regulations are published in the Federal Register.

Maryland's Farmers Expect A Smashing Pumpkin Season

by Barbara Burnham
Capital News Service

This year's pumpkin crop looks to be something even Charlie Brown would be proud of.

Despite an unusually cool and rainy growing season that could have hurt Maryland's pumpkin crop, farmers and state officials say that not only is there a good supply of pumpkins this year, but those that survived the summer should be just as orange, plump, and well-shaped as always.

Buyers can expect to pay about the same as last year for their pumpkins, a retail cost of 30 to 40 cents per pound at local markets and farms, said growers and experts.

"There will be enough for the kids," said Bob Rouse of the Wye Research and Education Center on the Eastern Shore.

"I've got the best pumpkin crop I've ever had," said Tom Wheatley of Wheatley Produce in Caroline County.

Farmers have already started harvesting pumpkins, and some can be purchased from markets, roadside stands and pumpkin farms around the state. Or, if they prefer, families can visit an area farm that offers entertainment as well as an area in which to choose their pumpkin and carve it onsite.

William Gallahan, owner of Cherry Hill Farm in Fort Washington, has been entertaining children during the haunting season for 40 years and has watched his niche business continue to grow.

At Cherry Hill Farm, children can take a tour through a cornstalk maze, experience Thanksgiving of the Puritan days, and take a hayride before picking their pumpkin. Gallahan said he expects 30,000 school children to visit this year, not including families who may stop by.

Gallahan is not the only one in the state whose business is growing. From 1964 to 1997, Maryland tripled its number of pumpkin farms. The harvest of pumpkins, which used to be known as the stepchild of crops, was five times greater in 1997 than it was in 1964, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service.

Over the past five years, about 1,250 acres of pumpkins have been harvested each year. With an average yield of 10 to 15 tons of pumpkins per acre, that adds up to more than 12,500 to 18,750 tons of pumpkins grown in the state each year.

Pumpkins need adequate drainage and frequent spraying in order to thrive. If too much rain falls, they cannot survive. A disease of the Phytophthora species, which thrives in wet weather, killed some of the state's pumpkin crop in this unusually rainy year.

Rouse said growers may have to shuffle some pumpkins around from different areas to accommodate each areas' demands. The healthiest of these go to markets for Marylanders to purchase, then nest in windowsills or on front porches after carving.

Maryland agriculture officials said it was too early to quantify this year's crop, but said that they expected it to be as large as or larger than last year's crop.

Ag Stat Service Releases Crop Production Report

Based on conditions as of Sept. 1, corn and soybean production are expected to be up from 1999, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service.

Corn production is forecast at 62 million bushels, up 85% from last year's production of 33.4 million bushels, and up 42% from 1998's production of 43.6 million bushels. Yield is projected at 155 bushels per acre, up 67 bushels from last year's estimate of 93 bushels per acre. If realized, this will be the highest yield on record. According to the Crop Progress Report for August 28, corn condition stands at 1% very poor, 1% poor, 6% fair, 41% good, and 51% excellent.

Soybean production is forecast at 18.6 million bushels, up 29% from last year's production of 14.4 million bushels, and up 31% from 1998's production level of 14.3 million bushels. This would be the largest producton since 1994. Yield is forecast at 38 bushels per acre, up 27 bushels from 1999's final estimate of 30 bushels per acre. From the August 28 Crop Progress Report, soybean condition was rated 9% very poor, 9% poor, 17% fair, 41% good, and 24% excellent.

U.S. corn production is forecast at 10.4 billion bushels, unchanged from the last forecast, but up 10% from 1999. Based on Sept. 1 conditions, yields are expected to average 141.8 bushels per acre, down 0.1 bushel per acre from August, but up 8 bushels from a year ago. If realized, this would be the largest production and yield on record. Acreage for grain harvest is estimated at 73.1 million acres, unchanged from August.

Soybean production is forecast at a record high 2.9 billion bushels, down 3% from August 1, but 10% above 1999. Based on Sept. 1 conditions, yields are expected to average 39.5 bushels per acre, down 1.2 bushels from last month, but 3 bushels above 1999. Acreage for harvest is estimated at a record 73.5 million acres, unchanged from last month, and up 1% from 1999.

If you need to obtain your Private Pesticide Applicator's License, plan to attend the following events:

* Private Pesticide Applicator's Examination, November 16, 7:30 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office. The Maryland Department of Agriculture will be giving the exam. Contact my office for study materials.

* Preparation seminar for taking the examination, November 13, 7:30 p.m. at the Garrett County Extension Office. This is not a mandatory requirement to take the examination; however, most people find it valuable for taking the exam.

* Registration is necessary to attend the above events. Make your reservation by calling the Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

The recertification workshop will be held on November 6, 7:30 p.m. at the Extension Office. If your license expires December 31, 2000, you should plan to attend this workshop for renewal of license.

Ladybugs in the Home - Asian Lady Beetle Invasion has Arrived

Several of the common species of lady beetles (ladybugs, if you prefer) found in our area will wander indoors during the fall. However, this is a distinctive and annoying trait of the Asian lady beetle, a relatively new species imported to the United States from eastern Asia.

The "multicolored Asian lady beetle" (Harmonia axyridis), has become common in Garrett County.

This biological control natural enemy is a beneficial inhabitant of the landscape but can also be a serious household pest in those areas where it has become well established and abundant.

Asian lady beetles, like boxelder bugs, pine seed bugs and elm leaf beetles, are accidental invaders; that is, "outdoor" insects that create a nuisance by wandering indoors during a limited portion of their life cycle. Accidental invaders do not feed or reproduce indoors. They cannot attack the house structure, furniture, or fabric. They cannot sting or carry diseases. Lady beetles do not feed on people though they infrequently pinch exposed skin. Lady beetles may leave a slimy smear and they have a distinct odor when squashed.

As with other accidental invaders, the most effective management option is to prevent invasion by sealing cracks, gaps and openings on the outside before the beetles wander in during early fall. Application of synthetic pyrethroid insecticides such as permethrin to the outside of buildings may help prevent pest entry. Treatment must be applied before the beetles begin to enter buildings to be effective (mid to late October). Homeowner insecticides other than permethrin usually do not provide satisfactory prevention.

Indoor sprays are of very limited benefit. Aerosol foggers could be used in attics for some immediate relief of heavy infestations but will not control beetles that have not yet emerged from cracks and protected cavities. The practical solution for homeowners in fall and winter is to vacuum and discard invader lady beetles as they appear.

ENJOYING HISTORY AT DRANE HOUSE - The 200th anniversary of the first settlement in Accident was celebrated recently at the site of the log house that was home to the family of James and Priscilla Drane. Activities, music, and games added to the historic occasion. A sampling of the day's offerings is captured in the photos on this page. Beginning at left above are Carrie Fike, assuming the appearance on one of the Drane children by stepping behind the cutout, cleverly painted by portrait artist Angela Maust. The red wool coat with black braid and buttons (center) was displayed in the Drane House. The coat, found stored in the former home of Mable Miller and her late husband Carl, had belonged to Carl's brother, George Miller, a member of the first Accident Concert Band. The At right, the Drane House, carefully restored in the 1990s on land donated by the Clark Kolb family, was furnished in the style of the early 1600s and opened for visitors. Local dignitaries and residents shared past memories and present interests. In the photo at left in the second row, Accident's "most mature" citizen at age 93, Fred Alexander, shakes hands with Del. George Edwards as the men reminisce about past experiences. To get the feel of the "good old days," Olen Seltzel harnessed his team to the shiny red wagon and gave rides to young and old. In a solemn ceremony, pictured in the photo at the bottom, a wreath was placed at the grave sites of James and Priscilla Drane in the cemetery adjacent to their plantation by the Rev. Roland Nairn, costumed for the occasion, and Accident mayor Richard Carlson. The event was sponsored by the Accident Cultural and Historical Society, the mayor and town council, and the Accident Planning Committee.

Named Realtors' Assoc. Of Year

Lana Roby, a sales associate with Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, was recently honored by the Garrett County Board of Realtors with its Distinguished Sales Associate of the Year Award. She was selected for this honor based upon her board participation, civic activity, business conduct and practices, and pursuit of continuing education.

Roby has held the board's treasurer post, and has served on the budget committee, and the professional standards committee, and has chaired the program committee. She has worked with the board and with local business providers to secure sponsorships for board events and services.

Her community involvement includes many roles at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger, where she is a member, soloist, member of the church council, and past treasurer. She sings and has soloed with the Garrett Choral Society, and has served as an usher at the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. She is a past member of the Oakland Rotary Club and the Business and Professional Women's organization.

Roby and her husband Larry are regular contributors and fund raisers for Big Brothers Big Sisters and Habitat for Humanity. They collect soda can tabs for recycling to benefit the Ronald McDonald House, and serve as a collection point for customers who wish to collect tabs for the same cause. The Robys are also members of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association.

Since earning her real estate license in 1985, Roby has taken advantage of numerous opportunities for continuing education in fields such as working with buyers and sellers of resort property, financing, working with relocating buyers and sellers, evaluating investment properties, agency, and ethics, as well as topics such as goal setting, time management, and effective speaking and human relations.

Roby has frequently been recognized as a top sales associate in her office. In addition to local honors, Roby has been twice ranked among the top 10 Coldwell Banker sales associates in Maryland in 2000, and was selected to represent the state of Maryland on the firm's Associate Advisory Council.

OAKLANDOPOLY is the name of a brand new, original board game created by the members of the Parent Teacher Group (PTG) of Yough Glades Elementary School, with the financial help of a number of area businesses and organizations, and now available for $25. The game is patterned after Monopoly; however, the spaces on the board are occupied by advertisements from the local supporters. One of the game sets was donated this week by the PTG to the Garrett County Historical Society. Pictured above, from left, are Robert Boal, society president; Lyndsay Stanton, school principal; and Jenny White, PTG member who coordinated the project. The games will be available for purchase this evening at the Oakland fire hall and near the historical society's museum along Second Street; Saturday near the museum and at Yough Glades school; and Sunday near the Oakland train station and at the school, while supplies last. Any game sets that remain after the Autumn Glory Festival will be sold at the school. All proceeds will benefit the PTG and its various projects. "Together, our town has created a 'one-of-a-kind' game which may be enjoyed by many, as well as to help raise funds for the children of Yough Glades Elementary School," stated Jenny White. "We really appreciate the support of all ad sponsors and those who purchase the game."

Scholarship Applications Now Available

Parents and students in Garrett County who are facing college expenses next year may benefit from information on some options for financial assistance. Scholarships become available frequently through the guidance office at both county high schools. Several scholarship applications may be picked up at this time.

•The Coca-Cola Scholarships: Sponsored by the Coca-Cola Scholars Foundation, the program recognizes outstanding seniors with 50 awards worth $20,000 and 200 worth $4,000 nationwide. Judging is based on GPA (at least 3.0 cumulative), leadership, community and volunteer activities, and employment during and/or after school. Applications are available in the guidance office and must be completed and returned by October 24, 2000.

•The Society of Automotive Engineers Scholarships: Seniors who have a GPA of at least 3.5 and are interested in a career in engineering (of any kind, not just automotive engineering) are encouraged to apply. A 250-word essay is required as part of the application, and a $5 processing fee is assessed.

Information on this opportunity is available in the guidance office. Deadline for applications is December 1, 2000.

•The Elks Legacy Awards: Sponsored by the Elks Lodge, these scholarships are available to seniors who have a parent(s) or step-parent(s) who have been Elk members for at least two years. Applications must be postmarked by December 1, 2000. In addition to the application, students must submit transcripts, two letters of application, a biographical questionnaire, and SAT or ACT scores (SAT and ACT tests must be taken by December 31, 2000).

For further information or an application, persons may contact Robin Spiker at Southern High School or e-mail rspiker1@hotmail.com. One may also obtain an application at www.elks.org

Students are advised not to wait until "the last moment" to apply for these and other scholarships. Millions of dollars worth of scholarships and grants reportedly go unused every year because students do not apply for them.

In addition, parents and students may find helpful information at one of many web sites dedicated to scholarships and financial aid.

State Jobless Rate Unchanged, County's Lower

Maryland's monthly unemployment rate remained unchanged at 3.4 percent during the month of August, despite seasonal downsizing that typically reduces employment levels.

"Maryland's economy continues to be as robust as ever, supported in part by low unemployment and continued job growth," said Governor Parris N. Glendening. "As many summer jobs came an end, other industries expanded, hiring Marylanders and providing gainful employment and career opportunities they desire."

Meanwhile, Garrett County's jobless rate dropped from 6.1 percent in July to 5.7 percent in August. The August 1999 rate was 6.1 percent.

Employment reductions are typical in August, according to the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing, and Regulation, because the seasonal needs of employers gradually subside and summer workers leave the labor market. During August, employment declined by about 25,000 people. Despite this decline, Maryland experienced a record employment high for the month at 2,760,465. The withdrawal of workers from the labor force helped to minimize the impact of the decline, leaving just 97,263 people unemployed during the month.

Fourteen jurisdictions registered unemployment rates at or below the statewide average, with the lowest levels of 1.6 percent in Montgomery County, 1.8 in Frederick County, 1.9 percent in Howard County, 2.0 percent in Talbot County, and 2.4 percent in Charles County.

Maryland's business activity reflected the effects of seasonal downsizing in August, with reductions in amusements, agricultural services, and food products, as well as staggered layoffs in education. These declines, coupled with strike activity in the communications sector, overshadowed hiring in trucking, at food stores, and in business and health services.

Miss Ross Becomes Bride Of Mr. Martin In July Ceremony

Jennifer Lynne Ross and Britten Leo Martin III were united in marriage Saturday, July 1, 2000, at 4 p.m. The double-ring ceremony was held at Saint Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland, with Rev. Mike Robinson officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Blair Edward and Cindy Ross, Oakland. The groom is the son of Leo and Frankye Martin, Mtn. Lake Park.

The ceremony began with the lighting of candles by Cindy Ross, mother of the bride, and Frankye Martin, mother of the groom.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a designer gown by Tiamo. Her gown was a white, princess A-line floor-length gown with a chapel-length train all made of Italian satin. Austrian crystals lined the scooped neck and straps. Tiamo also designed her white fingertip veil and headpiece; the headpiece featured matching Austrian crystals and three satin roses. She wore pearl drop earrings and a pearl bracelet that were given to her by the groom at the rehearsal dinner.

The bride carried a bouquet of 30 white roses by the stem, which were intertwined with white tulle. The matron of honor carried a bouquet of 10 yellow roses by the stem, intertwined with lilac tulle; the attendants carried bouquets of 10 yellow roses intertwined with lime green tulle. Yellow roses decorated the candle louvers and altars. All fresh flowers were designed by Jan Florist.

Angela Snoberger of Morgantown, W.Va., served as matron of honor and attended the bride. Bride's attendants were Erica James of Pittsburgh; Meredith Martin of Frostburg; Tarah Mayes of Asheboro, N.C.; Stephanie Ploeger of Greensboro, N.C.; and Christie Briggs of High Point, N.C., all friends of the bride; and Tiffany Walker, cousin of the bride, Somerset, Pa. The bridesmaids all wore designer dresses and wraps by Belsoie. The floor-length dresses were made of lime green floral chiffon with spaghetti straps and a scooped neck. They all wore silver necklaces with a daisy charm and matching silver earrings given as gifts by the bride.

Whitney Briggs of High Point, N.C., served as the flower girl. She wore a sleeveless, floor-length, white tulle gown with a satin bodice that was decorated with two rows of pearls at the waist and three rows of pearls at the neckline. She carried a white basket of yellow rose petals. Kane Tonkovich of Oakland served as the ring bearer. He wore a Raffinati five-button dinner jacket with a white wing shirt and a black dinner tie matching those of the groomsmen.

Leo Martin, father of the bridegroom, served as the best man. Groomsmen were Gregg Pulliam of Winston-Salem, N.C., cousin of the bridegroom; Michael Snoberger of Morgantown, W.Va., friend of the bridegroom; Brandon Ross of Accident, brother of the bride; Andrew Ross of Oakland, brother of the bride; Phillip Briggs of High Point, N.C., friend of the bridegroom; and Zachary Pulliam of King, N.C., cousin of the bridegroom. The groomsmen, as well as the bride's father, all wore Raffinati five-button dinner jackets with white wing shirts and black dinner ties; the bridegroom wore a silver tie. The groomsmen's boutonnieres were eaach made up of a yellow rose, and the bridegroom wore a white rose.

Cheston Pulliam, cousin of the bridegroom, and Jessica Sheetz, cousin of the bride, distributed programs and bubbles. The lithograph attendant was Mary Pulliam, aunt of the bridegroom. The bride's grandmothers, Rose Walker and Daisy Derencin, and the bridegroom's grandmother, Betty Pulliam, read scriptures during the wedding service. Ike Walker, the bride's grandfather, recited the Lord's Prayer.

Music for the service was provided by Dorothy Skidmore, flutist, Daniel Skidmore, violinist, and William Skidmore, cellist, all of Morgantown, W.Va. Photographs were taken by Chris Hay Photography of Somerset, Pa.

A sit-down dinner reception was held at Rocky Gap Resort near Cumberland. An hors d'oeuvre hour was held outside the resort in tents as the guests arrived. Harpist Lynn Barnes provided music for the tents and dinner. Photographer Chris Hay provided a choreographed slide show of the bride and bridegroom from their childhood to their wedding day after dessert was served. DJ Kelly Burns of Pittsburgh provided the entertainment and music after dinner. All three-wick candle centerpieces, designed by Patty Lovat of Uniontown, Pa., were given away to guests as prizes in games played by the DJ. Roses for the ice sculpture, cake table, and reserved tables were designed by Floral World in Cumberland. The wedding cake was baked and designed by Debbie Dunnivan of Frostburg and served by the Rocky Gap Resort staff. Limos were provided by Platinum Limo of Cumberland.

Out-of-town guests attending the ceremony came from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, New Jersey, Arizona, and Texas.

The bride was honored at a bridal shower given to her by Angela Snoberger in Oakland. She was also honored at two showers in Greensboro given to her by her North Carolina bridesmaids and staff at her school. Her first-grade classroom and classroom parents also honored her with a surprise shower.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Martin honored the bride and bridegroom with a rehearsal dinner at the Will O' the Wisp. The bridal party and families were treated to appetizers, a dinner buffet, and desserts.

The bride is a 1992 graduate of Southern Garrett High School and a 1995 graduate of Frostburg State University, where she received a bachelor of science degree in early childhood/elementary education. She is working in the Charlotte Mecklenburg School system as a kindergarten teacher. The bridegroom is a 1992 graduate of Southern Garrett High School. He received his bachelor of arts degree in English from Elon College in 1996 and a master's degree in information science from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro in 1997. He is employed by Microsoft as a technical engineer.

The couple now resides in Charlotte, N.C.

Orner Couple Exchange Vows

Katie Ann Garlitz became the bride of Jerry Wayne Orner on September 25, 1999. The double ring ceremony took place at St. John's Lutheran Church in Salisbury, Pa., with the Rev. David Fetter officiating. Lori Yoder was pianist and vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Angela Garlitz, Avilton, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wilhelm Jr., Avilton. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Orner, Grantsville.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, the bride was attired in a gown of sheer organza with a chapel-length train and beaded satin bodice. She wore elbow-length satin gloves and carried a bouquet of stargazer lilies and pink roses. Sarah Garlitz, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, Bethany Garlitz, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Jessica Baker, cousin of the groom, as flower girl.

The best man was Kevin Orner, brother of the groom. Mike Rugg, friend of the bride and groom, and Joey Wilhelm, cousin of the bride, served as ushers.

Michelle Orner, sister-in-law of the groom, registered guests and Amanda Garlitz, cousin of the bride, distributed programs and bubbles.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Salisbury American Legion with food prepared by the ladies auxiliary. Shelva Hauer made the wedding cake and the Chinese Bandits provided music.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School and Allegany College of Maryland. She is employed by the Allegany County Health Department.

Mr. Orner is also a graduate of Northern High School and is employed by Orner and Sons Trucking, Grantsville. He is also a member of the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department.

After the wedding, the couple vacationed in Myrtle Beach, S.C. and now reside in Grantsville.

David Chadwell To Speak At Gospel Meeting

David Chadwell of Fort Smith will speak during the gospel meeting slated at the Church of Christ, Memorial Drive, Sunday through Wednesday, Oct. 22-25. Sessions are scheduled for 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Sunday and at 7 p.m. the other evenings.

A graduate of the David Lipscomb University with a master's degree from Harding Graduate School of Religion, Chadwell preached for the West-Ark Church of Christ in Fort Smith.

Chadwell has preached for congregations in Tennessee, Florida, Mississippi, and Arkansas. He and his wife Joyce served as missionaries in Cameroon, West Africa.

In addition to working as a preaching minister, Chadwell has directed and counseled in youth camps, participated in campus ministries, and taught accredited Bible courses. Often a speaker at workshops and retreats, Chadwell is the author of six books, and he appears as a teacher in a series of eight videos.

The theme for the gospel meeting is: "Jesus revealed God to us." The following is a list of the topics for the sessions: If you could be God for a day; God's mystery and my salvation; Jesus is relevant to life; Religious band-aids or spiritual healing?; and God made Jesus sin.

A potluck dinner will follow the Sunday morning worship hour. Visitors need not provide food.

Church To Serve Pork, Sauerkraut

St. John's Lutheran Church, Salisbury, Pa., will host a sauerkraut and pork loin dinner on Saturday, Oct. 21, 4:30-6:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. The cost of the dinner will be $6 for adults, $3 for children 6-12, and free for children under 6. St. John's is located at 104 Union Street, Salisbury.

DONATES TO SWANTON MENNONITE SCHOOL — The town of Deer Park recently presented the Swanton Mennonite School with a copy of Maryland's 157. The reference book provides pictures and information on the state's 157 incorporated municipalities, including Deer Park and other Garrett County towns. Shown from the left are Deer Park town council member Linda Kourey, Swanton Mennonite School principal Yvonne Lapp, and school teacher Barbara Beller.

Miller Appointed GCC Professor

Stacy Miller has been appointed assistant professor of business at Garrett Community College and is currently teaching courses in business, marketing, and economics. Miller began teaching at the college last year in an interim position.

A graduate of West Preston High School, Miller holds a bachelor's degree in liberal arts, a master's degree in labor relations, and a J.D. (law degree) from West Virginia University in Morgantown. After completing his legal education he practiced law for five years in West Virginia where he also worked as a real estate broker and continues to operate a small business. He now uses his real world business experiences as examples in his college classes.

"The faculty here is top rate," Miller said of his fellow GCC instructors. "I enjoy the teaching experience. We have a very diverse group of students so we must meet the challenge of adapting to this diversity."

Miller, who played basketball in high school, assisted with the GCC women's basketball team last year. He said he enjoys watching all sports, and added that he is also an avid jet skier, snow skier, and movie fan.

Miller has a residence at Deep Creek Lake and still spends time in West Virginia. He is a member of the American Bar Association and the West Virginia Bar Association.

Class In Wellness Principles Slated At Garrett CC

A two-day course titled Wellness Principles will be offered by the Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett Community College on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 28-29, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The course is open to massage therapists, massage students, and all those employed in the helping professions.

Wellness Principles will focus on principles for the massage therapist that encourage greater care of self and clients. Emphasis will include nurturing body/mind/spirit wholeness, increasing self-awareness of patterns of beliefs and behaviors, and creating space for self-realization and enhancement.

Licensed massage therapists who provide proof of licensure at the time of registration will earn 12 CEUs for Category A Continuing Education, approved by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork.

For additional information, persons may phone 301-387-3088, or visit the Continuing Education and Training Division office in Room 300 at the McHenry campus.

Garrett CC Seeks Peer Tutors For Fellow Students

The peer tutoring program at Garrett Community College is seeking qualified persons to serve as tutors for students who need additional help with their studies.

The tutoring service is provided free of charge to help students succeed in their academic work. Tutors are paid for their services at an hourly rate. In addition to the financial compensation, Staley said tutors can also benefit through the sense of pride and accomplishment they acquire by helping others as well as increasing their own mastery of the subject matter.

Benefits of the program to students being tutored are individualized instruction tailored to their own levels of understanding, and the ability to improve their skills through "hands on" experience.

Tutors are needed in all academic subjects, with the exception of mathematics. Persons interested in becoming tutors may call Staley at 301-387-3102.

BALLOT QUESTIONS AND SUMMARIES

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND
PROCLAMATION OF THE GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND
DIRECTING THE PUBLICATION OF BALLOT QUESTION TITLES AND BILL SUMMARIES

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 1999, the General Assembly enacted Chapter 119; and

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 2000, the General Assembly enacted Chapters 205, 75, 111, 163, 194 and 202; and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of the Governor, under the State Constitution and Article 33 of the Annotated Code of Maryland to order the publication of the ballot question titles and bill summaries of these Acts of the General Assembly; and

WHEREAS, the publication of the ballot question titles and bill summaries must take place for three weeks immediately preceding the General Election of November 7, 2000; and

WHEREAS, there will be presented on the ballot at that election the following questions for adoption or rejection by the voters:

CHAPTER 119
(Senate Bill 510)

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Constitutional Amendment

Cecil County – Election and Terms of Office for the Board of County Commissioners

Excepts the Board of County Commissioners of Cecil County from the constitutional requirements that all State and County elections be held only in every fourth year on a particular date and that all State and County officers hold four–year terms, in order to allow staggered terms with elections held every second year.

Summary

Amends Section 7 of Article XVII (Quadrennial Elections) of the Constitution of Maryland to exempt all of the members of the Board of County Commissioners of Cecil County from the requirement that county officers who are elected by the voters of the County must run for election or reelection at the same election every four years. The adoption of this Constitutional amendment would allow the General Assembly of Maryland to provide for the election of the five Cecil County commissioners to provide that their terms of office are staggered so that the terms do not all begin at the same time.

CHAPTER 205
(Senate Bill 400)

QUESTION NUMBER 2

Constitutional Amendment

Prince George's County – Property for Redevelopment Purposes

Expressly authorizes the Prince George's County Council to take property immediately upon a finding of immediate need for redevelopment purposes; designates properties eligible for taking as those located between Suitland Federal Center and Silver Hill Road that are also within any two certain designated areas (a revitalization tax district, an enterprise zone, or a priority funding area); requires the Council to pay at the time of taking the appraised fair market value and also to pay any additional amount later awarded by a jury; and requires the Council to offer financial assistance and payments to displaced owners or tenants.

Summary

Amends Section 40A (Eminent Domain) of Article III of the Constitution of Maryland to allow the Prince George's County Council to provide for the immediate "taking" (that is, acquisition) of property by Prince George's County that is located both in the County between the Suitland Federal Center and Silver Hill Road and within two of the following three areas: a revitalization tax district, an enterprise zone, or a priority funding area, but only after the Prince George's County Council:

(1) has made a judgment and a finding that there is an immediate need for the property for redevelopment purposes;

(2) has appointed a real estate appraiser licensed by the State of Maryland to appraise the property to determine its fair market value;

(3) has paid to the owner of the property or into court the fair market value of the property as determined by the appraiser and has assured payment of any additional amount of money that may be later awarded by a jury; and

(4) has promised to the owner–occupant or tenant of the property who is displaced by the County's "taking" of that property to offer, at the very least, assistance and payments for which the owner–occupant or tenant would qualify as a displaced person under the federal law.

CHAPTER 75
(Senate Bill 509)
For Baltimore County Only

QUESTION NUMBER 3

Countywide Referendum

Baltimore County – Neighborhood Renewal Authority

Expressly authorizes Baltimore County to acquire and develop or dispose of property within certain described areas (Essex Middle River Waterfront area, the Yorkway area in Dundalk, and the Liberty Road area) for declared public neighborhood renewal purposes by amending a public local law; designates specific properties eligible for acquisition by eminent domain following the adoption of an implementation plan; requires the County to pay the owner just compensation for property acquired by eminent domain and to offer financial assistance and payments to displaced property owners or tenants; authorizes the County to sell properties acquired by eminent domain only if investment in the property equals or exceeds the purchase price paid by the County; and terminates the granted eminent domain powers on July 1, 2007.

Summary

Petitioned to a referendum of the voters of Baltimore County for their approval or rejection in accordance with Article XVI – The Referendum – of the Constitution of the State of Maryland

Repeals four sections from and adds six sections to the Code of Public Local Laws of Baltimore County to allow the County to:

(1) acquire, by purchase, lease, or gift, land and property within the boundary lines of the Essex–Middle River Waterfront, the Yorkway, and the Liberty Road renewal areas in the County, as set forth in the legislative enactment, for the purpose of residential, commercial, or industrial development or redevelopment of that property;

(2) acquire, by using the power of eminent domain (that is, the right of a government to "take" private land and property for public use, provided that just compensation is paid to the owner of the property), land and properties in the three renewal areas that are listed in the enactment by street address or by map, block, and parcel number for the purpose of residential, commercial, or industrial development or redevelopment;

(3) develop or redevelop land and property in the three renewal areas for residential, commercial, or industrial purposes; and

by Joan Sussman

The only thing, other than Sally Poholsky and Nancy Beachy traveling on Saturday to Drererse, Ohio, with the Shaffer Tour of Oakland to tour the Longaberger Basket Works, to happen in Bittinger this week has always happened here every year. Nothing but perfect autumn changes. Only a few weeks ago just about everything was still summer green. Then someone splashed a few colors here and there. A few young maple trees turned heart-stopping scarlet on the edge of the woods along the many glades that abound here. But in the last few days it has progressed all the way to full peak color, at least for the maples.

Fall color is so short-lived that the only thing I can do is just try to absorb it all because it will be gone so fast. On Saturday morning on the way to take Meredith to her soccer game in McHenry, I saw the sinister sign of lots of falling leaves. Last evening was pretty cold, and I was surprised that we haven't yet gotten the snow that the news was calling for, but the sky stayed clear as a bell.

Today is so beautiful. The sky is pure robin egg blue, with no clouds anywhere. I don't expect our maple tree in the front yard to continue to show its gold, scarlet, and lemon yellow color for long, because the wind will start blowing soon (if the wind can blow anywhere, it can blow here). The perfect sky is already gone. The lighting looks more like winter now. The snow will probably come tonight.

Well, I called that one right. Sunday evening, as I took Caitlin to confirmation class, which includes Caitlin and a gang of her classmates including Mich Fost, Nathan McCroby, and David Vagnetti, we got our first taste of winter driving. This group of kids will be attending a retreat for confirmation students in Star Tannery, Va., sponsored by the Mission Community Cooperative. This is a group of 33 congregations of Lutheran and Presbyterian churches in our area. They will go on November 6, stay overnight, and return the following day, which is election day.

Since today is Columbus Day, my brother Barry was able to breeze in to visit me. He spent the weekend in a binge of drywall installation at my cousin Courtney's house. He complained about his sore muscles a lot. That drywalling is hard work.

With all the pressure to catch this autumn's glory, I have also been busy putting the finishing touches on some artwork for the Autumn Glory Festival. Many people have shared with me how much they enjoy "Notes from Bittinger." If you like stories from my neck of the woods, come and see some artwork at the Arts Council Gallery on Alder Street in Oakland during the Autumn Glory Festival. Just this morning I picked out a large watercolor of Rock Lodge Road in autumn to take to the show. I still need to finish a few more notecards for the collection at the Gallery. Start Christmas shopping early this year, and check out the selection at the show contributed by many local artists.

I am trying some different types of crafts in addition to my painting, thanks to Mikal McCartney of the Mountain Arts Cooperative (which is a part of Community Action). Mikal is working to market local arts and crafts, and the marketing effort will include a web page on the Internet. She found a few wonderful satin shawls and a few chiffon scarfs for me. They scream, "Paint on me."

My former boss, Dr. Lillian Mitchell, visited me recently. She snapped up the first black scarf. She fell in love with it as I worked on it, while we caught up on our families and news from the college. Lillian never had trouble getting faculty together for a meeting, as she is an excellent baker, and she always served her masterpieces. Her cheesecake was the best of all. She brought me one for her visit, and this time the dog didn't sneak it from the table, but the girls made fast work of it when they discovered it.

Two weeks ago I found one last monarch butterfly. I wanted to be able to paint it on one of the shawls. You should try to make a butterfly stay still in the right position while you mix the right orange for the wings. As I look at the final product, I think I will work some more on the milkweed blossom. Too bad I can't find a fresh one at this late date to refer to.

It's Monday morning, and my maple tree still has its leaves after a respectable first snowfall. For a while on Monday morning it almost seemed to be a blizzard. The wind blew hard and blasted the snow into the tree, but she still hangs in there.

I think I will start a batch of apple butter. I was inspired when I found a half-empty jar of last year's applesauce that the girls didn't finish (they would much rather open a fresh jar than finish up leftovers). Can't think of a better autumn smell.

Kevin and Carol Bass and kids traveled to Salem, Va., on Thursday to attend Kevin's grandmother's funeral. Ruth DiPaolo is on her way to Florida for a two-week trip with friends from Virginia.

Unless Sally Poholsky comes through with some more news, that's all I can report from Bittinger this week.

PERSONALS

Ida Reckner and Donna Glotfelty attended the recent retired teachers' luncheon at Zion Lutheran Church social hall in Accident, and the Fair Appreciation Dinner at the Bittinger Community Building.

Jim and Donna Glotfelty spent last week in Branson, Mo., in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. They attended quite a few live shows in Branson, including a dinner show aboard the showboat Branson Belle. They were also sightseeing one day in Eureka Springs, Ark., and attended the evening live presentation of the Great Passion Play, which depicts the life and death of Christ.

Sunday dinner guests at the home of Ida Reckner were Lillian and Charee Reckner, and Michaele Puliti, McHenry; Karmen and Tony Carey, Frostburg; Tom, Cheryl, and Tim Glotfelty, and Jim and Donna Glotfelty.

Bob Opel, former resident who now makes his home in Alaska, is spending some time with relatives and friends here.

COOPERATIVE MINISTRIES DONATES COMPUTERS — Two computers were recently donated to the Garrett Community Action Committee's wrap-around day care. Garrett Cooperative Ministries made the contribution of the computers, which will be used to help youngsters learn the technology. Pictured standing, from left, are Paul Shogren of the Garrett Cooperative Ministries board of directors, and Melanie Cooper, child care manager. The children are 4-year-old computer aces Jordan Jamison and Clarissa Lloyd.

(4) sell, lease, convey, or transfer, for any value, to any private or public corporation, partnership, association, or other legal entity, land or properties in the three renewal areas that are acquired by Baltimore County under the authority of the legislative enactment, for residential, commercial, or industrial development or redevelopment.

The following restrictions or conditions are also imposed on Baltimore County by the legislative enactment:

(1) Before acquiring listed properties by eminent domain, the Baltimore County Council must adopt plans on how it will carry out the acquisition and development or redevelopment of the properties and must allow an opportunity for public comment on the plans;

(2) The County must provide compensation, including relocation costs, to a displaced person in accordance with State real property law, except that if a property owner–occupant or tenant is displaced because of the county's exercise of eminent domain under the legislative act, the County must offer assistance and payments for which the owner–occupant or tenant would qualify as a displaced person under federal law;

(3) The County cannot sell or dispose of property it acquires by eminent domain under the legislative enactment unless the proposed capital investment (that is, the acquisition price, plus the cost of improvements) equals or exceeds the price paid by the County for the property; and

(4) The county administration is required to submit an annual report to the Senators and Delegates who represent Baltimore County in the General Assembly of Maryland on or before February 15 of each year on how the legislative act is being implemented, the number of properties that have been acquired and are being sought for acquisition, and the displaced persons who have been provided relocation assistance.

By the terms of the legislative enactment, the authority of Baltimore County to exercise the power of eminent domain under the enactment will terminate on July 1, 2007, except as to those properties which before July 1, 2007, Baltimore County has approved for purchase or by an agreed sale which the County has filed a petition to acquire by eminent domain.

CHAPTER 111
(House Bill 201)
For Worcester County Only

QUESTION A

Pursuant to Chapter 111 of the Acts of the 2000 General Assembly

Straw Vote – Method of Selecting School Board Members

Do you favor changing the method of selection of the members of the Worcester County Board of Education from appointment by the Governor to election by the voters of Worcester County?

Summary

Requires that a question be placed on the ballot in Worcester County at the November, 2000 general election to determine the sense of the voters of the County on the issue of changing the method of selecting the members of the Worcester County Board of Education from the current method of appointment by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate of Maryland to election by the voters of Worcester County. The outcome of the vote is advisory only.

CHAPTER 163
(House Bill 1049)
For Cecil County Only

QUESTION A

Local Referendum

Development Excise Tax

Authorizes the Board of County Commissioners of Cecil County to impose a development excise tax on all new residential units, which are defined to include apartments, mobile homes, townhouses, single–family homes, and any other type of dwelling unit up to three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500.00) per residential unit to fund capital projects of the County and the Board of Education, debt incurred for capital projects, and additional or expanded public facilities or improvements.

Summary

Adds Section 34–16 to the Code of Public Local Laws of Cecil County to authorize the County to impose by law a development excise tax on new residential units in order to provide funding for the construction of additional or expanded public facilities and other improvements in the County. Any tax imposed by the County under this enactment cannot exceed $3,500 for each new residential unit. A residential unit includes a house, an apartment, a residential condominium, a mobile home, and any other structure used primarily as a dwelling. The money collected by Cecil County from the tax imposed under the authority of this enactment must be deposited by the Board of County Commissioners into a special account. The money in the special account can only be used to pay, in whole or in part, for the costs of the additional or expanded public facilities or other improvements or to pay the debt for which the County becomes responsible if it borrows money to fund the additional or expanded public facilities or other improvements. Before the Cecil County imposes or alters the tax authorized by this enactment, the Board of County Commissioners must:

(1) hold a public hearing on the proposed tax or alteration of the tax and publish notice of the time, date, and subject of the hearing;

(2) ensure that the development tax is imposed on a countywide basis, including within municipal corporations in the County; and

(3) require that the tax be paid at the time a building permit is issued for a new residential unit in Cecil County.

CHAPTER 194
(House Bill 1390)
For Queen Anne's County Only

QUESTIONS A and B

Question A

Question submitted by General Assembly

Board of County Commissioners – Election of County Commissioners Who Reside in Designated Districts

Do you favor altering the method of election of commissioners to the Board of County Commissioners for Queen Anne's County from the current system where the voters of the entire County elect commissioners who reside in any area of Queen Anne's County to a system where the voters of the entire County elect commissioners who reside in designated districts in Queen Anne's County?

Question B

Question submitted by General Assembly

Board of County Commissioners – Number of Commissioners

Do you favor altering the number of commissioners of the Board of County Commissioners for Queen Anne's County from 3 commissioners to 5 commissioners?

Summary

Requires two questions to be placed on the ballot in Queen Anne's County at the November 2000 general election to determine the sense of the voters on two issues. The first question is whether the voters from the entire County should continue to elect candidates for the Board of County Commissioners from any part of the County or should the voters from the entire County elect candidates who reside in designated districts. The second question relates to whether the membership of the Board of County Commissioners of Queen Anne's County should be increased from three to five members. The outcomes of the votes are advisory only.

CHAPTER 202
(House Bill 1437)
For Somerset County Only

QUESTION A

Straw Poll

Somerset County High School Consolidation

Are you for or against a proposal for a Consolidated High School?

Summary

Requires that a question be placed on the ballot in Somerset County at the November 2000 general election to determine the sense of the voters on whether to consolidate the two public high schools in Somerset County – Crisfield High School and Washington High School. The outcome of the vote is advisory only.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, PARRIS N. GLENDENING, GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND, by virtue of the power and authority conferred upon me by the Constitution and Election Laws of Maryland, do by this proclamation ORDER that these ballot question titles and bill summaries be published in at least two newspapers in each county where so many may be published, and where not more than one may be published, then in that newspaper, and in three newspapers published in Baltimore City, once a week for three weeks immediately preceding the General Election to be held on November 7, 2000, at which election these ballot questions shall be submitted, in the form prescribed by the General Assembly to the qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection.

GIVEN Under my Hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, at the City of Annapolis, this 21st day of August in the Year of Our Lord, Two Thousand.

NEW THREADS are being sported by the VIVA (Volunteers in Various Areas) members of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, as their former candy-striped jackets have been replaced with updated, burgundy jackets. Modeling the new garb in the above photo are Vince Genco, assistant director of VIVA, and Anne Forrester, director. At their recent membership meeting, volunteers received their new jackets, along with patches and pins showing their years of service. "Volunteers are very special people at Garrett County Memorial Hospital," said Kathy Greaser, director of development. "They play a vital role in helping us deliver quality health care services to our patients." The VIVA members staff the hospital's information desk, maintain an office that provides general clerical assistance when needed, host a greeters program to assist with patients registering for services, act as a liaison in the operating room waiting area to keep families informed, and assist in many other areas. Persons interested in becoming a volunteer and/or learning more about the program may call the VIVA office at 301-533-4042.

Sunday's activities begin with a Birding by Boat program on the lake. Participants are to meet at the Discovery Center at 9 a.m. Out of the Egg will be shown at 2 p.m., and a Fall Fun Hike for children will get under way at 3 p.m.

Increased Deer Movement May Cause Accidents

Brilliant leaf colors, migrating geese, and cool breezes are nature's indicators that summer is gone and winter is approaching. They also signal the time of year when deer are more active and the risk of deer/vehicle collisions increase. Mature bucks driven by increased levels of reproductive hormones begin to search for receptive does, and does increase their activity. Yearling bucks, participating in their first breeding season, may move many miles from their natal home range, and male fawns of the year may become separated from their mothers.

This heightened deer movement increases the chances of deer crossing highways. Motorists should be aware that during this intense fall breeding time (October and November) the risk of striking a deer increases dramatically.

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources asks motorists to increase their awareness of deer during this fall breeding season. The following tips will decrease your odds of striking a deer:

- A deer standing in a field may suddenly jump into the road. Drivers should slow down and proceed cautiously.
- Drivers who see a deer crossing the road ahead should slow down and scan for more deer. Deer travel in groups and others may be out of view.
- Drivers should slow down and brake to avoid hitting a deer, but do not swerve. This can cause one to lose control and strike another vehicle or to leave the roadway and strike a tree or other object. Injuries to drivers and passengers increase when the vehicle swerves.
- Drivers should be especially alert during the early morning and afternoon hours. Deer tend to be more active during these time periods year round as they move between evening feeding sites and daytime bedding areas.
- Drivers should pay extra attention at locations with deer crossing signs. These warning signs indicate locations of frequent deer movement.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF TENTATIVE TERMINATION

Garrett County

Application for State Discharge Permit 00-DP-2139, NPDES Permit MD0060844:

Deer Park Spring Water, Inc., 104 Hotel Dr., Oakland, MD 21550, submitted an application for renewal of a permit to discharge an average of 18,000 gallons per day of process wastewater and excess spring water from a spring water bottling facility, located at 104 Hotel Dr., Oakland, MD, to the Little Youghiogheny River.

A tentative determination has been made to reissue permit with the following effluent limitations which are unchanged from the previous renewal: total suspended solids 30 mg/l annual average, 45 mg/l maximum; BOD 30 mg/l annual average, 45 mg/l maximum; temperature, a maximum of 68°F; and pH, within the range of 6.0 to 9.0.

A public hearing on the tentative determination will be scheduled if a written request is received by October 26, 2000. The request should be sent to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, Maryland 21224, Attn.: Edwal Stone, and must include the name, address and telephone number (home and work) of the person making the request, the name of any other party whom the person making the request may represent, and the name of the facility and permit number. Failure to request a hearing by October 26, 2000, will constitute a waiver of the right to a public hearing on the tentative determination. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be considered in the preparation of a final determination if submitted to the Department, to the attention of Mr. Stone at the above address, on or before November 6, 2000. Any hearing-impaired person who requests a hearing may also request an interpreter at the hearing by contacting Mr. Stone at 410-631-3323 or by written request to the above address at least ten working days prior to the scheduled hearing date.

Information supporting the tentative determination including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Stone at the above telephone number to make an appointment or by written request to Mr. Stone at the above address. Copies of documents may be obtained at a cost of $0.30 per page.

Printed on RECYCLED NEWSPRINT

A FUN FALL TRADITION for some folks is the making of apple butter, a day-long process involving copper kettles, endless stirring, and lots and lots of apples. The crew pictured here is from the Sand Spring Church of God on Fearer Road, about four miles north of Friendsville. This was the first such event for some of the church members, who took their lead Tuesday from Betty Jenkins, a Preston County resident, who has been making apple butter in this fashion for years. Shown from left are Dennis Dawson, former pastor of the church (which is currently led by Pastor Nevin Umbel); Carrie and Raymond Wagner; Bob Hinebaugh, church elder; Mary Jane Fike; and Carol Umbel, wife of the pastor. There are a number of rules to the process, such as never allowing the burning wood to touch the kettle, and never stopping the stirring for more than an instant. Debates often arise, too, over how long to cook it and how much sugar and/or spices to add. In all, the event is great for having fun together while producing a delicious, copper-colored treat that can be consumed all year. Photo, and some stirring, by John McEwen

Grantsville Man Jailed On Long-Standing Charges

Several months of detective work by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation resulted in an arrest last week of a Grantsville man who had been sought since June. Four other men, located in connection with the fugitive's arrest at a trailer at 813 Bill Beitzel Road on Monday, Oct. 5, were also arrested on a variety of charges, including drug offenses.

Justin Milbourne, 18, is incarcerated in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $133,000 bond on charges stemming from a June incident when he allegedly pointed a firearm at four other Grantsville residents and threatened to kill them. Milbourne faces charges of first- and second-degree assault, reckless endangerment, and possession of a deadly weapon with the intent to injure, along with a felony theft charge filed when a June 28 search of his residence uncovered a shotgun that had reportedly been stolen from another Grantsville citizen.

Police officers from the GBI, Maryland State Police, and Natural Resources Police checking the Bill Beitzel Road location on October 5 apprehended Milbourne on the scene, and also found several suspected controlled dangerous substances and items of drug paraphernalia.

GARRETT'S MOST BEAUTIFUL PERSON — Jane Avery is this year's Most Beautiful Person in Garrett County, having been nominated for the award by a former student, Chris Wildesen. "Anyone who has been in this county for very long at all is familiar with Miss Avery," Wildesen wrote, lauding the local teacher and theatre director's numerous contributions to both the youth of the area, as well as to entire families. See story. Jane was a special guest in Saturday's Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade, riding in style with her best friend and canine companion Max (partially hidden).

Jane Avery Is Named Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person

"She is a very exceptional woman who has touched the lives of so many people, but most important of all, she has touched the future by having such a positive influence on the lives of so many young people," wrote Chris Wildesen in her nomination of Jane Avery for this year's Most Beautiful Person in Garrett County. Avery was the winner of this year's honor and was presented with the award by the Garrett County commissioners and the nominating committee two weeks ago.

She will join all county winners in Annapolis on Nov. 15 for both a private reception with Governor Parris Glendening and a public recognition ceremony.

A high school theatre teacher and the artistic director of Our Town Theatre in Oakland, Avery has long been associated with young Garrett Countians. She has been a teacher for 31 years, having resided in Oakland and taught locally since 1979. She holds a bachelor's degree of English, theatre arts, and secondary education from the Tarkio (Missouri) College, and a master of arts degree in theatre, with an emphasis on directing, from the University of Pittsburgh.

Garrett County superintendent Wendell Teets was present for the local award presentation.

"Over the years, I have been given the opportunity to work with lots of great teachers," Teets said. "Some stand out more than others, and Jane is definitely at the top of that list. She makes the world come alive for her kids every day."

Wildesen agreed.

"In a place where activities for the young are in short supply, she has given them a way to use their time productively," Chris wrote. "Our Town Theatre, started by Miss Avery, has given these young people a chance to use their imaginations and creativity. Even before the theatre came into being, she was already reaching out to her pupils at Southern High School."

In addition to the positive influence Avery has had on young residents,

Birds Found At Dumpster Not Killed By Virus

The West Nile virus (WNV) was not the cause of the death of 22 birds found at a dumpster in Garrett County two weeks ago. The dead fowl were reportedly tested at the Maryland Department of Agriculture laboratory and were found to have died of some other cause, most likely some kind of poisoning.

The birds had been eating around the dumpster, located at a county collection site along Rt. 135 on Backbone Mountain, and apparently ingested something that caused internal hemorrhaging, according to reports.

So far, no incidents of WNV have been found in Garrett County, although several birds have been sent for testing.

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Laboratory Administration has confirmed that 46 birds in the state have tested positive for WNV, including one in Frederick County. Many of these dead birds were located in Baltimore City. Others were found in Baltimore County, and a few in Charles County.

To date, 44 dead crows

Seaman Carola Receives Honor For Saving Life

The heroic efforts of a Coast Guardsman from Garrett County have resulted in the awarding of a special honor by Secretary of Defense William S. Cohen.

Seaman Michael Carola, Sand Flat, who is a U.S. Coast Guard swimmer currently serving with the guard's Oregon Inlet Station in Nags Head, N.C., was among a number of individuals honored and recognized by Cohen for their noteworthy contributions when performing operations in maritime security, safety, and environmental protection, recreational boating safety, and other services benefiting the public's welfare. The ceremony was held in Boston.

When answering a rescue call this past spring, Seaman Carola entered frigid waters off the coast of North Carolina and saved the life of an 82-year-old man who had been aboard a fishing vessel that had struck the Oregon Inlet Bridge and was sinking. Diving into the water, Carola placed himself between bridge pilings and the 250-pound man, preventing the currents from pulling the victim under water and bashing him against the pilings. Carola then placed a tethered life ring over the victim's head and under his arms, stabilized the situation, and swam the unconscious victim to the rescue boat. The victim was transported to shore and to a

GCC Estonian Students In Need Of Hosts

An appeal has been issued by the Center for Global Education at Garrett Community College for local families to consider hosting a GCC student from the Baltic country of Estonia for the spring semester. Six additional Estonian students are expected to arrive in January to join the four already studying at the college, according to Center coordinator Darlene Reed.

"It is important that we find host families very soon, because we must know that the student will have a place to stay before the application can be approved," said Reed. "Everything has to happen by a stated deadline." Although the Center has received applications from more than 30 students, Reed added that it is unlikely that more than six will be able to come at this time.

Since the Center was established last month, GCC has enrolled four students from Estonia, two from Canada, and one from Ger-

Taylor Interested In Bi-County Tourism Legislation; Meeting Set

Speaker of the House Casper R. Taylor Jr. has called a local meeting to address proposed bi-county tourism legislation for Allegany and Garrett counties. Taylor will meet with a variety of tourism representatives on Monday, Oct. 23, in Room 305 of the Garrett Community College Continuing Education Building at 10 a.m.

The idea of combining tourism promotion efforts has been discussed on a number of occasions over the years.

"We are proposing to legislate something for both counties," Taylor said yesterday, stating that the actual proposed legislation is not yet written. Delegate George Edwards and Garrett County commissioners Fred Holliday and Ernie Gregg said they are interested to see what the Speaker of the House is going to propose.

"We'll see what Speaker Taylor has to offer," Edwards said. "If it's a good thing for the people of Garrett County, and if the people want it, we'll get on board. If they don't want it, we won't."

The commissioners voiced a similar sentiment.

"We're guarded on the issue, but we're willing to see what sort of idea Speak-

Preston County Man Jailed For Oakland Assault

A Monday evening incident along Sanders Lane at the entrance to the Lake Minnetoska housing development has resulted in the arrest of a Preston County, W.Va., man on several assault charges. The victim of the assault remains hospitalized in Cumberland with a neck injury.

Jason Michael Ringer, 18, Terra Alta, faces charges of first- and second-degree assault, reckless endangerment, and misdemeanor theft stemming from the incident. According to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office police report, Ringer allegedly was the protagonist in several tailgating incidents over recent months involving Jeff McCauley, 34, Oakland. Shortly after 5 p.m. Monday Ringer was reportedly tailgating McCauley again when the Oakland resident pulled over to speak with him.

The alleged victim told deputies that as he was pulling over Ringer exited his Chevrolet sedan and ran to the door of his Jeep, pulled him from his vehicle, and began beating him about the face and head and choking him by the neck. McCauley reportedly lost consciousness, and when he awoke, found Ringer gone and a shooting stick that he had been carrying in his Jeep at the time of the incident missing from the scene.

After being treated for his injuries in Oakland, the alleged victim was seen by a Cumberland doctor, who ordered his hospitalization at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Ringer remains incarcerated in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $200,000 bond as set by a district court commissioner.

Montcroft Farms Win West Va.'s Conservationist Of The Year Award

Montcroft Farms, owned and operated by Ed and Bill Grose, took first place honors in the Conservation Farm of the Year contest. The award was presented at an awards banquet held on Thurs., Oct. 5, at the Charleston Marriott Town Center in Charleston. Many federal and state officials were on hand to present the Groses their award, including commissioner of agriculture Gus R. Douglass, W.Va. Soil Conservation Agency executive director Lance Tabor, and state conservationist for the USDA, Natural Resources Conservation Serv. (NRCS) Bill Hartman.

The Conservation Farm of the Year award is given to the farm that utilizes the best conservation practices and techniques in its daily farming. These practices help in dealing with soil and wind erosion, cattle productivity, fertilizing and many other problems that farmers encounter.

The Groses maintain 554 acres (owned and rented) near Cranesville (Preston County). On the farm they maintain 115 registered Angus brood cows. In conjunction with this large herd of cows, they feed out to finish a majority of their calf herd for direct market to a packing plant in Pennsylvania.

Along with the cattle, the Groses raise, depending on the year and their rotation, between 15 and 18 acres of potatoes. Five acres are planted for certification purposes to be marketed as West Virginia's only certified seed potato. In addition to their potatoes, the Groses raise 25 acres of oats, 23 acres of field corn, 4 acres of sweet corn, and 2 acres of pick-your-own beans. They also find time to manage approximately 90 acres of hardwood timber, while maintaining the remainder of their acreage for TOP HONORS were awarded to Bill, left, and Ed Grose, owners/operators of Montcroft Farms in Cranesville, W.Va., during West Virginia's Conservation Farm of the Year contest, held Oct. 5 in Charleston, W.Va. After being named Conservation Farm winner for Preston County, then the Monongahela Soil Conservation District's winner, the Groses competed against seven other district winners for state honors. The award is given to the farm that utilizes the best conservation practices and techniques in its daily farming, including soil and wind erosion, cattle productivity, fertilizing, and many other problems that farmers encounter.

School Teacher Arrested On Sex Charges

Allegations of sexual misconduct involving a student resulted in the arrest of a Garrett County school teacher Monday by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation. The suspect has been placed on administrative leave by the Garrett County Board of Education.

Charles James Harkins Jr., 37, Mtn. Lake Park, faces one misdemeanor charge each of perverted sex practice and permitting a sexual display on his premises to a minor. The charges stem from an investigation of a June 23 incident at Harkins' residence involving him and a male student enrolled in the local public school system. GBI investigators served the arrest warrant in the wake of a search of Harkins' home. Personnel from the Maryland State Police Crime Lab and the Child Protective Services office of the Garrett County Department of Social Services assisted in the search.

Harkins was released from the Garrett County Detention Center Monday after posting a $2,500 unsecured bond as set by a district court commissioner. He will remain on administrative leave from the school system pending the outcome of the charges, according to a BOE spokesperson.

School Bus Hits Tree; No Serious Injuries Reported

Three students were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital following a school bus accident yesterday morning on Oakland-Sang Run Road at 7:45 a.m. Injuries were reportedly minor, and the students treated and released. The driver, Donald DeWitt, Swanton, was not charged.

School bus #101 was reportedly northbound on Oakland-Sang Run Road, just south of Stocksiager Road when the accident occurred. Tfc. Clapper said that as the bus was passing a southbound vehicle, the driver of the bus traveled to the right, off the roadway, and into a ditch. The bus operator was unable to stop or steer the bus out of the ditch before the bus struck a large tree next to the narrow roadway, Clapper said.

SAT, ACT Participation, Scores Show Increases In Garrett County

The data have been released on the SAT and ACT tests taken by seniors in the class of 2000. The results indicate that more Garrett County seniors participated in the testing and that their scores, which increased from the previous year, exceed the state and national averages. This information was presented to the Garrett County Board of Education this week by Dr. Patricia Mullinix, coordinator of research, evaluation, and information.

In the SATs, which test students' aptitude, Garrett County's seniors averaged 511 in verbal skills and 519 in math skills. This compares positively to the state average scores of 507 and 509, respectively, and the national scores of 505 and 514, Mullinix reported.

More Garrett County seniors took the SATs in 2000 than in 1999, reflecting an increase from the 45 percent participation to 49 percent. "This still falls below the state participation of 65 percent, but we have been trying to encourage more participation," Mullinix pointed out.

The scores on the verbal testing show Garrett County seniors in 2000 rebounding by 16 points over test-takers in 1999. "Last year's average verbal scores were low. But this year's, showing an increase of 16 points, are up to 511," she said, noting that this is also above the state average of 507 and the national average of 505.

Mullinix stated that the math scores earned by the class of 2000 showed a bit of an increase — up 2 points — over the 1999 average. "The county score of 519 is again above state and national averages."

Rural Expo To Spotlight Resource Conservation In Growing Economy

Maryland Mountain Trust is coordinating Rural Expo 2000, an event that will provide information on programs and practices geared to strengthening the economy in Garrett County while preserving natural and cultural resources.

The Expo will include exhibitors from the agriculture sector, technology, recreation, and forestry, as well as federal and state funding and tax relief incentive programs for conservation. Rural Expo will take place on Sunday, Oct. 29, 2-5 p.m., at Bietchehof Farm, Grantsville.

"The board members of Maryland Mountain Trust want to highlight all the positive steps being taken in Garrett County to encourage economic growth while maintaining the area's incredible store of natural resources, rich rain-fed farm land, and history," said board president Peggy Santamaria.

Sustainable agriculture will be one focus of the Expo. Details will be presented on raising rabbits and goats for meat, as well as beekeeping techniques. In addition, information will be available on pasture-healthy animal grazing practices.

Technology exhibitors will explain options for economic growth in a rural area and resources for access to this technological support.

"We have quite a few interesting and educational displays and presentations lined up for this expo and also plan on offering some tasty samples of local products," Santamaria added.

This free exposition is open to the public and children are welcome to attend. Maryland Mountain Trust, a non-profit organization, serves western Maryland fostering stewardship of natural resources. For more information about Rural Expo or Maryland Mountain Trust, persons may call executive director Marcia Simmers at 301-746-8989.

HONORED BY BPW - Camilla R. Rawe (at right in the photo above) was recognized this week by the Grantsville Business and Professional Women as the Woman of the Year. She and her husband David operate Casselman Veterinary Services, where her responsibilities include accounts payable, payroll, and quarterly reports. She is also an associate member of the Garrett County Board of Education. A graduate of Bishop Brossard High School in Alexandra, Ky., Rawe earned her degree at Auburn University, Auburn, Ala. She serves as director of religious education at St. Ann's Catholic Church and, is a member of Northern Garrett High School Band Boosters and the Grantsville Community Choir. On the subject of women in the business world Rawe said that a woman's place is "anywhere she wants it to be as long as she's happy and doing a good job," adding that young women starting out in their careers should be "determined and focused, yet flexible." Goodwill Mennonite Home, selected as Employer of the Year by the BPW, was described as being an "integral part" of the Grantsville community. Linda Beitzel (pictured at left) represented Goodwill Mennonite Home and accepted the award on behalf of the administration and staff. She is manager of the assisted living program and coordinates services at the retirement village.

182 Votes Cast During Primary In Loch Lynn

With six names on the ballot, 182 residents of Loch Lynn cast votes in the primary election to choose the four individuals who will be candidates for council seats in the municipality's general election next month.

The top vote winner was Carolyn Corley, who garnered 125 votes. Ron Friend pulled in 117 votes, while Scott Bittinger and David Wildesen both earned 68 votes. The remaining two primary candidates, Jim Patton and Stanley Thomas, received 58 and 54 votes, respectively.

"We had excellent judges and a great turn out for the election," said town clerk Ruth Foley, adding that those who voted were thanked and encouraged to return for town meetings and to stay involved.

In the Loch Lynn general election, scheduled for Monday, Nov. 6, residents will be asked to cast ballots for mayor, two council members, and a treasurer.

Durst Elected To Md. Association Of Boards Of Ed.

Rodney Durst, president of the Garrett County Board of Education, was among those selected to serve in leadership positions at the Maryland Association of Boards of Education's 43rd annual conference held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Baltimore, October 4-6.

Officers for 2000-2001 are Sandra French, president (Howard); Durst, vice president; Anthony Wong, treasurer (Cecil); and Bernard Phifer, secretary (Prince George's). Dane Coleman (Caroline) is the immediate past president.

The state's 24 local school boards, plus the State Board of Education, belong to the association, which provides in-service training for school board members and represents them on public education issues in Annapolis and Washington, D.C.

Special Program On Venturing Set At Local Church

A special program on Venturing will be presented at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland next Monday, Oct. 23, at 7 p.m. Venturing is a youth development program for young men and women who have completed eighth grade, but are under 21 years of age.

"Garrett County offers opportunities for so many exciting outdoor activities, such as skiing, rock climbing, sailing, cycling, whitewater kayaking, and cave exploration," stated Tom Myers, a member of St. Mark's Church council, who is coordinating the program. "Through such activities the program builds character, citizenship, and improved personal and mental fitness."

Youth and leaders from successful Venturing programs in adjacent counties will be present at Monday's meeting to discuss their activities. Parents are welcome to attend.

Persons planning to attend the program are asked to telephone 301-387-2668 so that sufficient refreshments and literature about the program will be available.

Ninth Annual ARC "Home For The Holidays" House Tours Scheduled

The ninth annual Home for the Holidays house tours, sponsored by the Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross, will take place on the first weekend in December. Four homes and the historic Oakland train station will be tour stops in this year's event.

The homes include a newly constructed lake residence built by Troy Gnegy, a contemporary solar house, and what organizers are calling a "mother's dream come true." The owners of the homes are Jim and Nancy Bauer, Lake Shore Drive; Mike and Peggy Clark, Mitchell Manor; Howard and Chan Bell, Stockslager Road; and Chick Handsacker, Rock Lodge Road. As the tour dates near, each house and the train station will be featured in issues of The Republican.

At the time of the tours, directional signs will be placed at intersections to help guests find the houses. Red Cross yard signs will be placed in front of each home as well. A raffle will be held at each location for gifts donated by local businesses.

Tickets for all ages will be $5 in advance or $7 at the door. Advance tickets can be purchased at Proudfoot's and Gregg's pharmacies, Flowers By Webers, Arrowhead market, and the Deep Creek Pharmacy.

Ticket-holders will be asked to remove their shoes or use shoe covers before entering the homes, an organizer said. Guests are also asked to refrain from photographing or videotaping the homes.

This fund-raiser is one of the local ARC chapter's best sources of income, the spokesperson said. The money raised will help meet the needs of area disaster victims.

A HAUNTING EXPERIENCE awaits those who take a hayride through the Dark Forest. This "scary" nighttime excursion transports visitors along dark woodland trails at Bietschehof Farm, Grantsville, where "things go bump in the night." This "frightful" adventure is sponsored by Puzzley Run Folklife Center and the Western Md. Reads Alliance, a literacy program for grades K-12. In the photo above, W.Md. Reads volunteer Mary Ann Folnsbee and husband Chris of AmeriCorps "stir things up" a site along the forest trail. Haunted hayrides are scheduled Oct. 20, 21, 27, and 28, 8-11 p.m. and Oct. 31, 8-10 p.m. Bietschehof is located along Hetrick Road, off Zehner Road from Rt. 40, west of Grantsville. For information, persons may call 895-3742.

many. The four Estonian students have been living with host families since their arrival in Garrett County and have been participating in college and community activities. In addition to their classes, the students are learning about America through a cultural immersion experience that includes attending movies, baseball games, visiting a shopping mall, and going on field trips to sites including the Smithsonian. They also work part-time jobs in college offices.

GCC president Dr. Steve Herman, who spearheaded the effort to bring Estonian students to Garrett County, underscored the advantages of the inter-cultural experience for both the community and the students. "GCC is working hard to give our educational experience a truly global dimension. We believe that an international presence adds significant value to the degree our students earn here. Our host families tell us that housing an Estonian student is enriching their lives as well. We are hopeful that more host families will come forward to share in this unique experience," Herman said.

Persons interested in further information about hosting an Estonian student may call Reed at 301-387-3010.

Town Hall

FRIENDSVILLE

The town meeting was held Tuesday, Oct. 17.

•Townwide leaf collection started this week. Residents are reminded to rake their leaves just to the curb (not into the street), where they will be collected by the town employees on Friday, Oct. 20, and Friday, Oct. 27. No leaves will be collected by the town after October 27. No grass clippings, branches, or garden debris are to be placed out for collection. Additionally, the town's trash collector cannot pick up leaves or yard debris .

•The annual door-to-door trick-or-treating activity, sponsored by the mayor and town council, is scheduled for local children on Saturday, Oct. 28, 5-6:30 p.m. Residents who wish to participate are reminded to have an outside porch light on. After this activity, at 7 p.m., the RAD committee is sponsoring a Halloween activity at the fire hall for local children. Admission tickets will be handed out at the elementary school.

•The mayor and town council are in the process of reviewing the information from the town's insurance carrier regarding the possible development of a "skate park" at the community park.

•There ia a Crime Watch meeting scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 7 p.m. at Town Hall.

•The topographical survey of the new little league field location has been completed by the county roads department. Grading work is scheduled for later this month.

•Mike Legouri and Kim Goodwin, representatives of Adelphia Cable, met with the mayor and council to discuss the proposed non-exclusionary franchise agreement between their company and the town. The draft agreement is being reviewed by the town's legal counsel at this time.

•Kara Whetsell Grove, student intern at the elementary school, and the Friendsville kindergarten students will participate in a clean-up and flower bulb planting at the Friendsville Community Park on October 30.

•It was noted that interest has been expressed in the establishment of a local business association.

The next council meeting is scheduled for Monday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 p.m.

LOCH LYNN

•Primary elections were held to select the candidates for town council in the general election. Carolyn Corley, Ron Friend, Scott Bittinger, and David Wildesen will be on the November ballot.

•The ballfield at the town park has been hydro-seeded.

•Paving has been completed on Alabama and Seneca streets.

•The general elections will be held Monday, Nov. 6, to elect a mayor, two council members, and a treasurer. Polls will be open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The next town meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 7.

MTN. LAKE PARK

The town meeting was held Wednesday, Oct. 11.

•The council voted to accept the updated agreement between the town and the tennis association.

•The El Lobo project was discussed. No further action was taken nor decisions made.

•The O'Brien Street sewer project was delayed, but should be completed soon.

•The council discussed fees for building permits. In the future all fees will be collected up front.

•An ordinance is being drafted to ban burning in town.

•Several violations of town ordinances have been turned over to Glenn Tolbert.

•The town will join the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Oct. 25.

RECOGNIZED STATEWIDE - Accident Elementary School received the honor of being selected the Maryland Character Education School of the Year 2000-2001. Accident principal Sandra Nesline, teachers Katy Fresh and Maggie Hockman, and Phil Lauver of the Garrett County Board of Education attended a ceremony near Baltimore last month, where they accepted a certificate of recognition and a banner to display at the school for the coming year. Accident School was also recognized at the monthly meeting of the board of education last week. Be There...

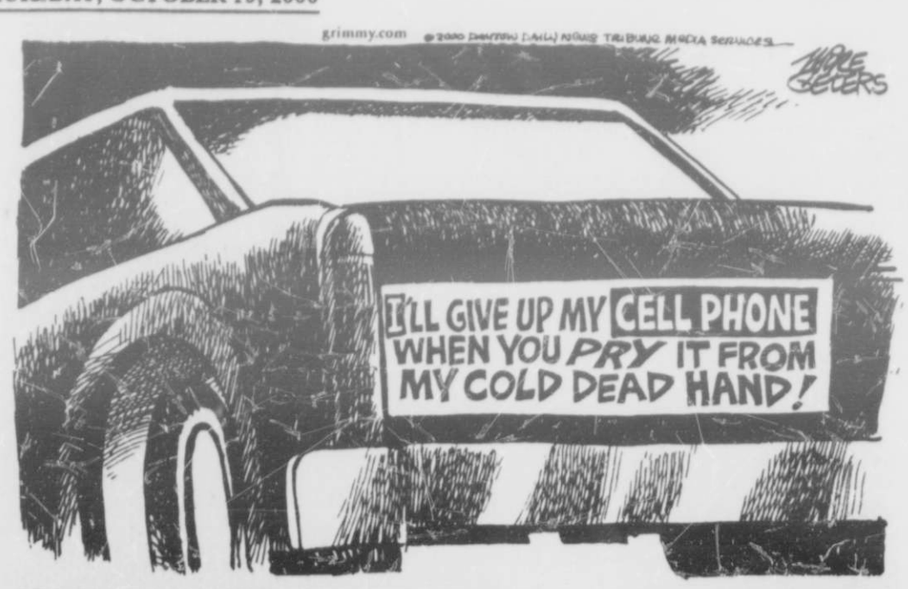
A meeting has been scheduled by Maryland Speaker of the House of Delegates Casper Taylor for next Monday, Oct. 23, 10 a.m., in Room 305 of Garrett Community College to discuss "bi-county tourism legislation." Because of the potential ramifications of this gathering, we utilize this column today to encourage, to urge, to push members of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce to attend. The official memorandum from Speaker Taylor is directed to a list of people, including "Allegany and Garrett County Tourism Chamber Members," so we are assuming that is for all members, and not just chamber board members.

Evidently Mr. Taylor is going to propose some legislation that would combine the chambers/tourism offices of both Garrett and Allegany counties into one state agency, a prospect in and of itself which creates some immediate and extreme concerns in our minds.

The fact that Taylor selected this particular Monday, when both the president (Ken Wishnick) and the chairman (Jerry Geisler) of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce will be out of town attending the Governor's State Convention on Tourism in Ocean City (Isn't that ironic?!), adds significantly to our concerns and suspicions. Wishnick did not even receive an invitation to Monday's meeting.

We have many opinions about this idea of Mr. Taylor's, but we want to be fair and not share them until he has an opportunity to make his proposal and tell us how such an arrangement will benefit Garrett County. So, again, the primary thrust of this corner today is to beg attendance by all chamber members, who should come with open minds, ears, and eyes. Once there, they should pay particular attention to the fine print and study the long-term ramifications of this proposed legislation.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I don't know if you have ever heard the saying "People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones." I feel Mr. Friend shouldn't be throwing stones because when he served on the council his town charter was a little dusty too. The town residents should take Mr. Friend's advice and don't listen to rumors and gossip; go to the source — your mayor and council.

Sincerely,
Robin L. Beckman
Loch Lynn

To the Editor:

We were blessed with the beautiful weather for Autumn Glory weekend, as I have been blessed in recent months by so many in Garrett County who have so willingly helped through so many trying and difficult times. I am deeply appreciative and thankful to all for all!!

There is a need to explain and clarify some things in regard to M.O. Harvey's passing Oct. 11, 2000. M.O. had made arrangements 20 years ago to donate his body to WVU Medical Center, Morgantown, for research and then cremation. He also requested no public services to be held. We followed his wishes.

"Mo" was a disabled American Veteran from WWII, South Pacific Theater, but he was never a member of the DAV or any other veteran's organization. His explanation was always that he was not a "joiner."

We hope this clears up some questions.

Sincerely thanking everyone,
Louise V. Harvey
Friendsville

To the Editor:

In response to the Loch Lynn allegations, it seems to me that this is nothing more than a smear campaign on behalf of those opposed to the incumbents, and was designed to influence the outcome of the 10/16 primary election without alleging any specifics.

I have personally seen the mayor, my father, pull cars from snow drifts, tow cars, fix flat tires, all for the citizens of Loch Lynn.

I have also seen him stand on his front porch every Halloween for hours passing out hundreds of treats to the children, only because he takes such delight in their smiles.

In response to the recent letter to the editor from Mr. Friend, maybe you should rethink your parable. These are hard-working, decent men who have devoted years of their lives to Loch Lynn.

I also hope, Mr. Friend, should you ever earn the privilege of becoming mayor of Loch Lynn, that you serve your term in the same manner as my father and attain the respect and admiration of the people of Loch Lynn.

Sincerely,
Sherri Stewart

To The Editor:

The recent round of letters to the editor concerning the implementation of the Head Start program are poignant; yet, they miss the point of the problem. The problematic economic prejudice is nothing new to our democracy, nor to the world. However, this is not the problem here. It is one of priorities (of the government) and of bureaucratic myopia. Those very same demons are the cause of many woes: the gaps in medical coverage by Medicare/Medicaid; the unrealistic earnings caps for seniors collecting Social Security benefits and other social programs. That middle class tax-payers (and higher-ups) foot the bill for social programs for the less fortunate is nothing new. It is the outcome of years of socialistic legislation (remember Franklin Roosevelt?) and a movement toward governmental benevolence. To be sure, these programs were welcome and much needed relief to those less fortunate than most; and, to be sure, it has accompanying headaches.

We would do well to bear in mind that, although the public school system, while it is certainly recognized as an entitlement and basic right of free persons, cannot and should not be the only source of our children's (or our) education. Every parent is responsible for his/her children's education and upbringing -- morally, spiritually, physically and, yes, mentally. Over the past several decades, popular culture has gravitated toward a whiny, complaining attitude whenever anyone perceives that he/she is missing out on a perceived entitlement. This should not be so.

Yes, there is an unexplained gap between those "eligible" financially to have their children attend the Head Start program and those who, due to budgetary constraints, are disqualified from having the state (or federal) government foot the bill for pre-school education. The Head Start program and other programs which endeavor to begin a child's formal education at an earlier age than was formerly traditional has been shown to be unquestionably beneficial. So, what is to be done by parents who fall between the cracks of eligibility? There are at least two options.

First, take responsibility for your child's education yourself! We're not talking about trigonometry or molecular chemistry. We're talking about very simple, elemental things -- things which any parent should be able to teach a child. Books and other materials are not that hard to come by. Enjoy your child! Head Start, after all, is meant to be utilized by parents who can neither teach their child or afford to enroll them in a private program. It is not a baby-sitting service.

A second thing that can be done by anyone unhappy with the status quo is complain in a constructive manner. Money to expand the eligibility must be appropriated. This is done cooperatively, with the legislature allotting the funds and the executive branch implementing the programs with the funds. Contact your congressperson, complain to the governor's office. After all, willful silence is the functional equivalent of agreement with the status quo. The governor's agency which oversees the Head Start program is the Office for Children, Youth and Families, 301 West Preston Street, Suite 502, Baltimore, MD 21201. The director of the Maryland Advisory Council on Head-Start Collaboration Network is Brenda Coakley-Rouse, (410) 767-4196. Give her a call. Exercise your rights!

I am the father of a beautiful 3-year-old girl. By choice, I will educate her at home if it is at all possible, at least until she is of age to begin the first grade and perhaps even afterward. Each parent has the obligation to educate his/her child. This obligation transcends economic, social and other incidental circumstances. This responsibility is the same in Michigan as it is in Maryland.

To the Editor:

World War II veterans, we need your help!

The students of Bloomington School need your help and your knowledge. We realize what a sacrifice you made for our country. We have been studying World War II and are in the process of fund-raising to help build the World War II Memorial in Washington, D.C. We would like for you to share with us your experiences, remembrances, and maybe even some of your memorabilia. You will be sharing with a small group of very interested students, and with some veterans like yourself. At the conclusion of our sharing, we would like to ask all veterans back for a reception and social time.

If you are willing to help us, please call us at the school at 301-359-0331. We are looking forward to hearing from you. Remember, we want you!

Sincerely,
Bloomington School

SAT Scores

While addressing the board of education, Mullinix explained that the boost in county scores is a very positive indication because it is occurring concurrent with an increase in the numbers of students taking the tests. "It is a pleasure to see scores go up when participation increases. There has been a nice general upward trend in the county," she said.

The ACT tests, which measure achievement in subject content areas such as English, science, reading, and math, were taken by only 11 percent of seniors in 2000, up from 10 percent in 1999. As with the SATs, Garrett County composite scores of 22.6 exceed the state (20.7) and the nation (21.0). Mullinix noted that though only a small number of Garrett County students take the ACTs, the percentage is "on a par" with the state average.

"These are very good scores. We are proud to report this," said Dr. Brenda McCartney, assistant superintendent of county schools.

THE LEGACY OF PATRICK HENRY

My son surprised me when I discovered he did not know who Patrick Henry was. One of my nephews was handy, so I asked him, "Who is Patrick Henry?" He did not know either. This came as a shock to me since I thought that everyone knew about Patrick Henry.

Last week I had the chance to take a trip into the Virginia countryside and to visit Patrick Henry's home. I should say that I visited one of his several homes. As the opportunities of life changed his circumstances he did not hesitate to move house. "Scotchtown," the home I visited, is where he lived from 1771-1778, the time for revolutionary foment. It stands in the countryside 20 miles north of Richmond.

So who was Patrick Henry? He was born in 1736 in Hanover County of Virginia. Descending through his father from independent-spirited Scots (who, I am bound to guess, had no love of the English) he developed into a firebrand lawyer.

In 1763 he represented the planters and farmers of Virginia against the Anglican (Episcopalian) clergy who were demanding, with the King's support, to be paid in tobacco rather than in cash. The Virginia law allowed for the clergy to be paid in cash in those years when the tobacco crop failed, and payment in tobacco would prove a hardship to planters and farmers and would constitute a vast overpayment to the clergy. His own uncle was such a clergyman, a fact which caused something of a family division.

Henry's advocacy for the cash payment was a direct challenge to the King's authority and to the established church, which had a right to persecute non-Anglican Christians. What foreshadowed his most famous speech a dozen years later was that he based his arguments on the natural rights of human beings, what Jefferson would later call our "inalienable rights."

During his first term in the House of Burgesses, the English government passed the Stamp Act in which every piece of paper sent to the American colonies was to be taxed. This was the occasion when the objection against taxation without representation was vigorously raised.

Henry finished one rousing speech, "Caesar had his Brutus, Charles I his Cromwell, and George III..." He was interrupted by cries of "Treason! Treason!" When the House became quiet, Henry concluded, "And George III may profit by their example. If this be treason, then make the most of it." We can be sure that from then on Patrick Henry's name was watched by his enemies as well as by his friends.

In the spring of 1775 he gave his most famous speech, one that I declaimed in my childhood. This was after the battles of Lexington and Concord. It concluded something like this, "Gentlemen may cry, 'Peace! 'Peace!' but our brothers are already in the field. I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!"

"Scotchtown" is a fine house, but not grand and eminently livable. It has a large central hall typical of Queen Anne homes (it was built about 1720, but in the Queen Anne style). On either side there are four large rooms. The cellar and attic were both used, but were not finely finished.

One can picture Henry riding forth from his home, gathering together average citizens as he made his march on Williamsburg where the colonial governor had issued his death warrant. In 1777 Patrick Henry became the first elected governor of Virginia and continued as an active force in politics until his death in 1799. His great gift was oratory, which he lent to the cause of freedom. The alternatives of liberty or death were real. Had the Revolution failed he would have been hanged as a traitor.

When one considers the courage and nobility of the brave visionaries who founded our nation, it is hard to think about our current generation of political leaders without feeling a little sick.

and two blue jays in Maryland have tested positive for the disease. The virus is apparently transmitted by certain mosquitoes, and is hazardous not only to wildlife, but also to humans.

Although the cold weather in Garrett County has most likely suppressed the insects for the year, local citizens are advised to continue to wear clothing that covers extremities when out during dusk and dawn. Using repellents, especially those containing DEET, will also help decrease the chances of mosquito bites. Residents are also urged to get rid of any standing water in their yards.

Although the mosquitos will be gone for the winter, the virus is expected to survive and could spread to the entire country within three years, according to wildlife experts.

18, who were staying at the trailer, were both arrested and charged with CDS and CDS paraphernalia possession, as well as harboring a fugitive. Ronald Mitchell and Vonn Snyder (ages not available) reportedly the residents of the trailer, and a juvenile, were each charged with harboring a fugitive. Hambacher and Matthis were both released from jail after each posted a $2,000 bond, while Mitchell and Snyder were released on their own recognizance.

In other GBI/sheriff's office news, an Accident woman was arrested Tuesday for allegedly uttering a forged Social Security check.

Bridget Ann Stansbury, 38, faces charges of felony theft, uttering a private document, and forging a private document, each stemming from a July incident when she reportedly uttered a Social Security check that she is suspected of signing with her deceased father's name. She was released from jail after posting a $1,000 bond.

Harold Dean Michaels, 48, Swanton, was arrested by sheriff's deputies Friday after he allegedly threatened his brother with a knife at a Swanton Road residence. Michaels was released from jail after posting a $500 bond in connection with charges of second degree assault and reckless endangerment.

Misty Dawn Bailey, 22, Glendale, Pa., was arrested on drug charges in the wake of a Saturday night traffic stop along Interstate 68. After her 2000 Saturn was stopped for speeding, Bailey volunteered that she had marijuana and a smoking pipe hidden in the car. Further investigation revealed a smoking bong in the trunk. After being charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, plus speeding, Bailey posted a $500 bond and was released.

Brian Heenan Sherwood, 29, Kitzmiller, was jailed Sunday after a domestic altercation at his State Street residence. He allegedly punched the suspected victim in the face after pinning her to a wall. He was released on his own recognizance after his arrest on a second degree assault charge.

Jeremy Colt Moyers, 18, Accident, was arrested Friday after a domestic-related altercation at a Garrett Highway residence in Accident. He allegedly punched and bit a female juvenile acquaintance who lives in the home before she alerted her father, who forced Moyers from the residence. He was released on his own recognizance after being charged with second degree assault.

Tammy Sue Shoun, 32, Oakland, faces a second degree assault charge stemming from an allegation that she struck a juvenile at her King Wildesen Road residence Monday. She reportedly pushed the boy into a door jam and slapped him. She was released on her own recognizance.

William Bauer Vaughn, 32, McHenry, was arrested on a driving while intoxicated (DWI) charge this week.

WHAT REALLY MATTERS

TAX CUT! TAX CUT!! TAX CUUUUUUT!!!

Now that I have your full attention . . .

After watching the Gore-Bush presidential debates beamed across the galaxy on the television waves, civilizations on other planets must think that the most pressing issue facing the United States of America at the opening of what we call a new millennium is TAX CUTS. It's a complicated issue, full of statistics, projections, and number crunching. As a public service, let's explain the math so nothing's fuzzy: "FOR WHOM?" + "HOW BIG?" = "WHAT AM I GONNA GET?"

That may strike the aliens as rather odd, as it does some of us here. Imagine living in a place where those who were vying for leadership didn't fawn over voters with promises of more money in their pockets. Imagine, strange as it sounds, a leader who actually asks his or her people to sacrifice a little of their (record) plenty to help others join them on the road to a better life — for everyone. Pretty far-fetched, eh?

Not really. October 5th was the 53rd anniversary of the first televised presidential address broadcast to the American people. The event is not usually remembered, perhaps because there weren't too many TV sets around in 1947 to pick up the broadcast, or perhaps because Harry Truman wasn't given to the sound bites so necessary to politicians today.

Too bad. During that historic address, President Truman in his plain-spoken way asked the American people to abstain from meat on Tuesdays and Thursdays because the people of war-ravaged Europe were going hungry, including the people of Germany and Italy, whom we had so recently vanquished. Truman told America that it was our duty to sacrifice for their benefit, and that his own family was joining in the voluntary abstinence.

Remember whom he was talking to. A generation who had survived the Great Depression. A generation who had fought and won a world war. A generation whose economy was finally starting to look up for the first time in almost 20 years. And here the president was asking those folks — who had done far more to deserve some extra money in their pockets than my fellow "Baby Boomers" and myself have done — to voluntarily sacrifice one more time.

Guess what happened when the American people were challenged by their President? They responded in ways big and small. They abstained from meat for the benefit of others (what a Biblical lesson brought to the supper table for the kids!), and they shipped millions of their tax dollars overseas in the form of the Marshall Plan and other big-government plans to help rebuild the nations that had been trying to destroy us just a few years earlier.

Winning a necessary war is one form of bravery. Giving up some of your plenty for the good of others is another form of bravery. Inspiring people to look beyond their own self-interest to a bigger cause, the greater good — using "the better angels of our nature," as Abraham Lincoln told his countrymen they possessed — is something leaders used to do in this country.

Maybe we'll really never see the likes of the "Greatest Generation" again. I sincerely hope, and really do believe, that won't be the case; at any rate, for the moment, I'm rather ashamed of my fellow baby boomers, including George W. Bush and Al Gore, who seem to think that a TAX CUT is what really matters.

THE BIGGEST PARTY OF THE YEAR in Garrett County is assuredly the annual Oktoberfest celebration sponsored by the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. Excellent weather, food, and music by the OVFD Oktoberfest Band drew a crowd of thousands, which consumed hundreds of pounds of beef and pork, hundreds of knockwurst sausages, and nearly 1,000 gallons of Germany's favorite beverage. The 27-piece band was conducted by Manning Smith, chaplain of the OVFD, who is pictured above and at right leading some sing-alongs. Pictured below left is a portion of the woodwind section, including, from left, Sue Peterson, Ruth Selb, Mary McEwen, and Skip Case, with drummer Tom Tressler in the background. This shot was taken during Ms. Peterson's piccolo solo in Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever." Below right, junior OVFD member Justin Hinebaugh and retired member Clay Winters work in the fire hall kitchen to prepare some of the 1,500 or so meals that were served.

After-School Activity Buses Ready To Roll

After-school bus transportation will be available for students participating in approved activities beginning Monday, Oct. 23. The buses, departing from Southern and Northern middle schools Monday through Friday at 6 p.m., will pick up students at the high schools and begin rounds of designated stops, where parents must be present to pick up their children.

"We did a survey among the students last year. It seems that they want after-school transportation. We had also been meeting with other county agencies to talk about how to improve services through after-school programs. But transportation is a problem for everyone," said Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County schools.

The agency leaders worked together to draft the plan that would lead to the new transportation program, Teets explained. With the expanded opportunities provided by the after-school bus, other options of services and programs may be developed, he pointed out.

In addition to the current offering of after-school activities, a roster of programs is now possible that includes counseling services, adictions and tobacco cessation programs, teen pregnancy prevention programs, drama and art therapies, social skills development, tutoring, and extended library hours.

Ongoing funding for this transportation program will be predicated on the ridership, Teets noted. "These buses are funded to run five days each week but only when there is a full day of school," he said.

Each school will send home permission forms for parents or guardians to complete for students to be able to ride the buses.

The bus program will be funded through the collaboration of the Garrett County Board of Education, the Garrett County Health Department, the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc., Mountain Top Mental Health Associates Inc., and the Garrett County Court Service Coordinator Program.

"LET YOUR LIGHT SHINE BEFORE ALL" — St. Peter the Apostle Roman Catholic Church in Oakland has begun lighting its exterior as part of the 150th anniversary of the parish's founding. Charlie Thorne and Blue Marucci co-chaired a fund-raising committee of several fellow parish members to pay for the lights, and a group of retired parishioners, Norm Regnier, Gerry Shaw, and Ted Hughes, who carry out a number of odd jobs in and around the church, installed the lights that illuminate the exterior of the steeple and back-light the large stained glass front window from the interior. The lights will be a permanent fixture at the church from dusk to approximately 10:30 p.m. each evening.

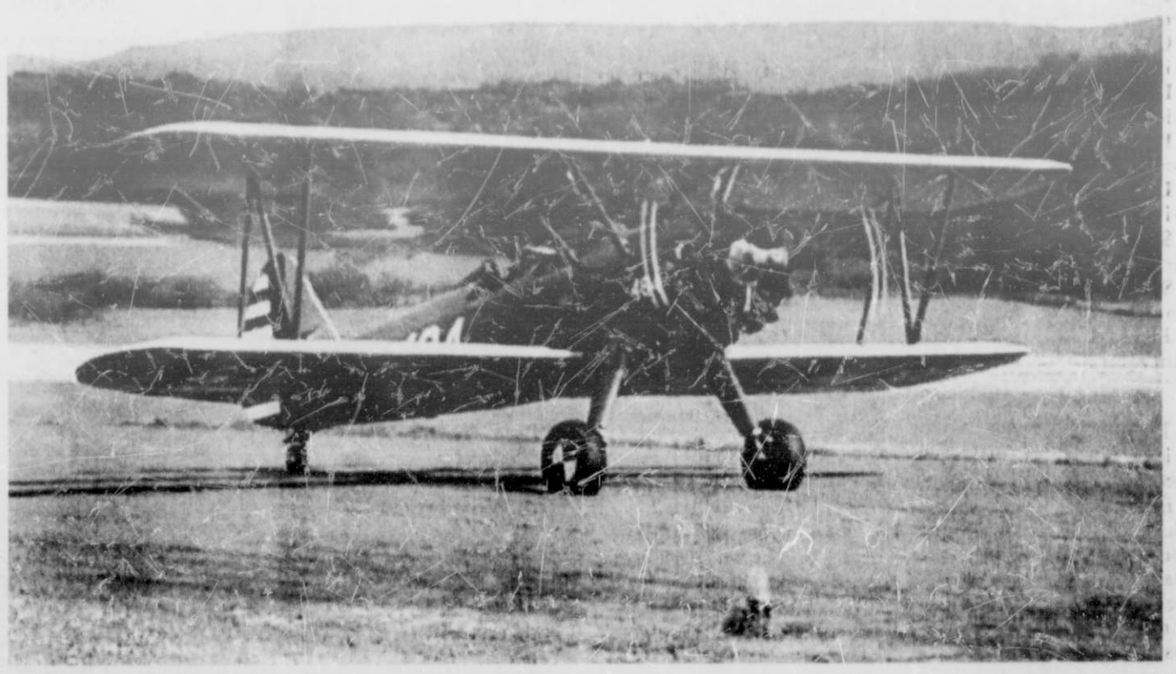
THE STREETS WERE PACKED with Autumn Glory revelers on Saturday, milling about in the stunning sunshine, buying balloons and funnel cakes, seeing old friends, hearing all sorts of music, and generally taking a nice break from the daily grind. The weather was spectacular for the event, which tens of thousands attended.



MODES OF TRANSPORTATION have long been a source of interest, perhaps fascination, for human beings since the beginning of time, and for that reason, vehicles of all sorts are featured elements of the Autumn Glory Festival. The annual fly-in at the Gortner Airport, which involves numerous aircraft landing and taking off, air shows, candy drops, and other acts of gravity defiance, attracted the usual crowds on Sunday afternoon. Shown below is a scene from the antique car show, held every year by the Mountaintop Cruisers Club.

Visit The Republican Website at www.therepublicannews.com

VIEWS FROM WITHIN — A special highlight of this year's Autumn Glory Festival was the grand reopening of the historic Oakland train station. After many years of effort on the part of Mayor Asa McCain, the town council, and a host of volunteers, the station has been restored to its 1884 grandeur. All areas of the station are open for tours. The photo above is from the upper level of the building, and the photo at right depicts the view perhaps seen by persons long ago, awaiting a ride on the B&O.

MUSIC FOR ALL TASTES — The Autumn Glory Festival offers a wide variety of musical styles and modes, with concerts and presentations being given throughout the weekend. Pictured above are a few members of the Garrett County Pipes and Drums, giving their annual Second Street concert on Saturday. Below are the Remley Family Singers, who gave a concert of gospel music on Friday at the Mtn. Fresh Pavilion in Oakland. Pictured from left are Rev. Jim Remley, Ed Remley, Beverly Remley Sincell, Becky Remley Fike, and Peg Remley Rohrbaugh. In the background is Joanne Remley.

Maryland's "Smart Growth" Efforts Win National Award For Innovation

by Rachel Brown
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON - Maryland's "smart growth" effort to limit sprawl won a national Innovation in American Government Award on Thursday, one of 10 government programs from across the country so honored.

Baltimore County's "gainsharing" program, which rewards government workers for cost-cutting ideas, was one of 25 finalists out of 1,600 entries in the competition to honor creative approaches to tackling local problems.

The Smart Growth and Neighborhood Conservation Program was a finalist last year, before winning one of the top 10 prizes this year. Other winners included Minnesota's public charter school initiative, Pennsylvania's program to reduce the use of seclusion and restraint in mental hospitals, and New York City's partnership with neighborhood groups to revive local parks.

The centerpiece of the smart growth program, which was started in 1997, is its Priority Funding Areas effort, which limits the state to funding infrastructure, housing, and other projects only in designated growth areas. Smart growth also includes money to redevelop brownfields — unused and abandoned industrial land — and rural land preservation, among other initiatives.

"There is national recognition regarding what we are doing with land use patterns," said John Frece, Governor Parris Glendening's special assistant for smart growth. "It is a real innovation, and many states are trying to replicate it."

Glendening said in a prepared statement that the honor was "a testament to the important role smart growth plays in improving and maintaining a high quality of life for communities."

David Gergen, editor-at-large of U.S. News and World Report and chair of the committee that selected the winners, said the Maryland program won because it was the first statewide plan to grapple with "the issue of urban sprawl [which] has captured the attention of the public."

Finalists in the competition each get $20,000 grants and winners get $100,000 grants from the Ford Foundation, which sponsors the program with Harvard University's John Kennedy School of Government. The program has handed out more than $15 million in grants since it began in 1986.

Maryland Planning Secretary Harriet Tregoning said the state would try to use the recognition of the award to ensure that other states have the information they need to implement similar programs.

"We basically want to use this money to spread the word about this program across the country," she said of the $100,000 grant.

Melissa Boone, manager of Baltimore County's gainsharing program, said that the $20,000 in grant money it won would go to similar ends. She said that people from as far away as California have expressed interest in gainsharing, which is intended to allow the government "to do more with less."

The 4-year-old program rewards Baltimore County employees who promote cost-saving projects on the job. Boone said that employee measures have saved the county $1.4 million over the course of the program. She expects the program to grow and hopes that it will garner the top Innovation prize next year.

Halloween Parade Slated For Oct. 26 In Oakland

Oakland's Halloween Parade will take place Thursday, Oct. 26, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Participants are asked to meet in front of the Mary Browning Senior Center along Center Street. The annual parade is sponsored by the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club.

Major prizes will be awarded to the best costumes according to age groups. Judging will take place on Second Street between Green and Alder streets. All participants will be presented with a bag of Halloween treats at the Oakland fire hall, where food and beverages will also be served and a cake walk will take place.

THE GREAT PUMPKIN LIVES, or at least did live, in the Deer Park garden of Jerry and Janet Browning up until harvest time. The enormous specimen was used in a 50-50 raffle to raise funds for the Garrett County Historical Society, and each donation entitled a player to take a guess of the pumpkin's weight. Westminster resident Mary Russell (not pictured) split the $162 pot with the Historical Society, as her 310-pound guess came in just one pound over the actual weight. The Brownings are shown above with their pumpkin protegé, with the old Deer Park Hotel gashouse structure in the background.

Criminal Charges Filed Following MSP Traffic Stop

Michael Terrence Collins, Harpers Ferry, W.Va., faces criminal charges following a traffic stop on I-68 on October 7.

According to Maryland State Police at the McHenry barrack, Collins was stopped for reportedly speeding and failing to wear a seatbelt, while he was westbound around 10:15 a.m. near the Casselman River. Tfc. B.A. Bond said that Collins was also charged with driving with a suspended license.

A search conducted incident to the traffic arrest allegedly revealed 56.1 grams of hashish, 8.7 grams of marijuana, a digital scale, and $1,164 in cash. The drug-related items and the currency were seized by police.

CDS, Theft Charges Filed

Ryan Louis Coleman, Piedmont, W.Va., was stopped for a traffic violation on I-68 on October 5 while traveling westbound near the Casselman River, according to a report by TFC. E. Derham. A search of his vehicle allegedly revealed marijuana and paraphernalia plus stolen property from Information Manufacture Corporation of Rocket Center, W.Va., Derham said.

Coleman was charged with possession of marijuana, possession of paraphernalia, and theft under $300.

THE CONTENDER

Rated R - Running Time: 2:06 - Released 10/13/00

I was beginning to think I had become so jaded as a film critic, I was incapable of ever really enjoying a movie again. I am proved pleasantly wrong with The Contender, a presidential drama rich with good performances, pleasing cinematography, good direction and a high-calibre script. Written and directed by former journalist Rod Lurie, whose 1998 feature debut Deterrence, which also bore a presidential theme, drew mixed reviews, The Contender shows that he is working toward producing a more credible result with his sophomore outing.

The film centers around vice-presidential designate Senator Laine Hanson (Joan Allen), a former Republican chosen by Democratic President Jackson Evans (Jeff Bridges) to be the first woman in history to fill the recently-deceased V.P.'s spot. Things may not be as rosy as the White House garden, however: her confirmation hearing is to be presided over by Republican Shelly Runyon (Gary Oldman), who has a grudge against Hanson for switching parties, and against President Evans for soundly beating him in the most recent election. Runyon's choice for Vice President is Virginia Governor Jack Hathaway (William L. Petersen), but thanks to an unfortunate incident in which Hathaway is unable to save a woman from drowning, the president fears a Chappaquiddick-type scandal, and decides to appoint Hanson instead.

Soon after the confirmation hearing begins, things turn ugly. Runyon's staff, including freshman Representative Reginald Webster (Christian Slater), find some dirt on Hanson: according to several sources, Hanson willingly participated in a gangbang while a freshman in college in order to be admitted to a sorority. Her alleged "sex show" is revealed in photos, in testimony of former college classmates, and even on video. Although her face is never clearly seen, everyone agrees that is was indeed the V.P. designate who is getting down and dirty in the pictures. The resulting scandal rocks the hearing, the White House, and the nation, while Sen. Hanson doggedly refuses to dignify the charges with an answer.

Like the many presidential flicks to come along in recent years (Wag The Dog, Primary Colors, Bulworth), The Contender attempts to reveal not only the insider's view of the political process, but our nation's ravenous obsession with scandal and the attempt on the part of politicians to exploit it for political gain. The truth is, Runyon doesn't care about Senator Hanson's sexual escapades, he wants her out because she is a "turncoat" to the Republican party and a "cancer of liberalism." But he knows that the only way to get his political wish is to drag her name through the dirt. Lurie's screenplay is interesting from various points of view, including work done by several members of both parties, attempting attacks and counter attacks as the hearing goes on. It's an interesting look at the intricate chess game of politics, where the creation of a scandal, and the reaction to it, are carefully orchestrated for the necessary political result.

In addition to the fascinating script, Lurie uses interesting camera work and memorable images as a backdrop for his story. And the performances are first-rate. Allen, who has done good supporting work in films like Nixon and Pleasantville, distinguishes herself well in the leading role. Excellent supporting performances by Bridges, Oldman (who also executive-produced the film), and Slater add a great deal of depth, not to mention Sam Elliott as the president's top aide in the crisis.

The Contender has renewed my faith that good movies can indeed be produced if enough care is given to the production. It's too bad so many of 2000's films have failed to do that. ★★★★★

NURSE BETTY

Rated R - Running Time: 1:52 - Released 9/8/00

After achieving critical acclaim and several award nominations for her breakthrough role in 1996's Jerry Maguire, Renée Zellweger has distinguished herself well opposite Meryl Streep in One True Thing, and made two mediocre movies watchable (last year's The Bachelor and this summer's Me, Myself, & Irene). With Nurse Betty, Zellweger moves fully into the realm of leading lady. Her crooked mouth and mousey voice notwithstanding, I wouldn't think it would be out of the question for her to garner an Oscar nomination for this excellent performance as a twisted yet eminently likable individual.

Of course, for an actor to do really great work, he needs a good script and good direction. Both elements are present here, not to mention a very well-equipped supporting cast, including Morgan Freeman, Chris Rock, and Greg Kinnear. Directed by Neil LaBute, who won critical accolades for his edgy 1997 writing/directing debut In The Company Of Men, Nurse Betty is itself the freshman effort of writers John C. Richards and James Flamberg. Their talents with plot and character mesh nicely with LaBute's pacing and Zellweger's down-to-earth style to produce a truly enjoyable result. Nurse Betty isn't always funny, nor is it meant to be, but it holds some interesting perspectives on human nature and interpersonal relationships.

Betty Sizemore (Zellweger) is not really a nurse. She's a waitress in a Kansas roadhouse diner called the Tip-Top, whose life hasn't turned out exactly like she planned. As one character puts it, "Betty doesn't want more out of life, she just wants something out of it." She does enjoy one little part of her existence, though: she is addicted to a medical soap opera called A Reason To Love. When she's watching her show, she can forget the dull monotony of her depressing life and immerse herself in the goings on of the show's L.A. hospital and especially of her favorite character, Dr. David Ravell, who is played by actor George McCord (Kinnear). And it is while she is watching this story that her abusive, deadbeat, car salesman husband Dell (Aaron Eckhart) is murdered in the next room by a couple of drug runners who are looking for 10 kilos of cocaine that is hidden in one of Dell's cars. Although Charlie (Freeman), the seasoned professional, hadn't meant to kill Dell, his brash young protegé Wesley (Rock) forced the issue.

Unnoticed by the criminals, Betty witnesses the murder but her involvement in the TV show causes her to snap. She decides to make her way to L.A. to look for Dr. Ravell, whom she thinks is her former fiancé, and re-establish her relationship with him. While Charlie and Wesley are searching the trunk of every car in Dell's lot, Betty hits the road unaware that the drugs are stashed in her own vehicle. Soon she is being pursued not only by Charlie and Wesley, who think she intentionally took the drugs, but by the local sheriff (Pruitt Taylor Vince) and newspaper reporter (Crispin Glover), who wonder if she may have committed the murder.

What I have mentioned is only the first act. The plot is so fascinatingly complex that it's impossible to relate it all, but Betty's experiences when she reaches L.A. are merely a sidebar to the complex psychological issues revealed by the numerous characters she encounters along the way. Although Zellweger's portrayal of an individual losing her grip on reality is astoundingly convincing, Freeman also becomes wrapped up in fantasies about his quarry, whom he builds into a kind of criminal mastermind, looking forward to their eventual meeting with growing anticipation. Moreover, Kinnear's performance is also multi-faceted, his reaction to Betty's adulation evolving as the extent of her delusion slowly becomes clear.

Although Nurse Betty is a clever story on the surface, and would suffice as a movie based solely on that, its real charm lies in the depth of character revealed slowly for each of the people in the story, like the layers one discovers when peeling an onion, and its cynical take on TV soap operas and those who follow them. Relationships change as the characters discover more about each other, and our perceptions of these characters change, too. Even the relationship between the two criminals is not fully revealed until the final reel. And although it seems to be merely a backdrop element, the soap opera becomes the catalyst for every major event in the film. While Nurse Betty's ending is pat and oversimplified, most of what precedes it is thoroughly entertaining. ★★★★½

ALMOST FAMOUS

Rated R - Running Time: 2:02 - Released 9/15/00

From writer/director Cameron Crowe of Jerry Maguire fame comes Almost Famous, a reverential period piece about American rock 'n' roll in the early '70s. Almost Famous is disorganized, it meanders, it is not cost-efficient . . . but neither is the world of rock, or at least it wasn't back then, when American pop music was still lingering in the throes of peace and love, before making the transition to disco, sex, and unbridled commercialism. Crowe's piece on the loss of innocence is messy, just like the loss of innocence. But it has heart.

There are no major stars in this movie. The main part is William Miller (Patrick Fugit), a young kid from San Diego, bright for his years, who wants to be a rock journalist. After getting a job for Lester Bangs of Creem magazine (Philip Seymour Hoffman), he shows such talent that he gets hired by Rolling Stone to follow an up-and-coming new band called Stillwater on its tour and get an interview with lead guitarist Russell Hammond (Billy Crudup). William's mother (Frances McDormand), who has already lost her daughter (Zooey Deschanel) to the rock revolution, has major qualms about this assignment, but she doesn't want to damage her relationship with William, so she lets him go, under the conditions that he does not take drugs, have sex, or miss more than one test in school, and calls her every day to check in.

Soon William is crisscrossing the nation with the band, witnessing sex, drugs, and rock 'n' roll first hand, and trying desperately to convince Russell to give him that interview. Although he is often referred to as "the enemy" by the band members, especially lead singer Jeff Bebe (Jason Lee), they grow to like him and treat him as one of the gang. Another one of that gang is a groupie and Russell's part-time girlfriend who calls herself "Penny Lane" (Kate Hudson). As the tour continues, William begins to develop feelings for Penny, and it causes him great stress to see how devoted she is to Russell, especially when Russell's wife shows up at one of the concerts. Though William's experiences with Stillwater make it difficult for him to remain objective in his writing, he is counseled by Lester to be "honest and unmerciful." While juggling his feelings for Penny and witnessing some ugly confrontations between Jeff and Russell, he is under constant pressure to produce his article, do right by his new friends, and phone home.

Firstly it must be said that 17-year-old Fugit shows much promise in his feature film debut. This is an awesomely large role; he's on screen for most of the film's 122 minutes, and though this part doesn't call for much emotional depth, he is believable and likable throughout, portraying the 15-year-old William with enough geekiness to make the point but enough charm to win our sympathy. Fugit is not supposed to look cool in this movie, and he doesn't try to, but he gives William the integrity that causes his mother, Lester, Penny, and the band members to love him and want to be his friends.

Another major strength of this movie is Crowe's ability to reproduce the atmosphere of 1973 America so well, in and out of the rock 'n' roll setting. It was amusing to see so many background elements that wouldn't have to have been there, like the period labels and logos for things like Genessee beer, Eastern Airlines, and Milton Bradley's Parcheesi game. Not to mention the tabloid newspaper format for Rolling Stone, unlike its slick magazine look of today. One feels completely wrapped up in the period, with these references made not for the purpose of drawing attention to themselves, but merely as background to our lives, like they were.

In addition to Fugit's fine performance with his huge part, Hudson also shines as Penny. Her smile and manner are so engaging; she doesn't make up unnecessary stereotypical attributes for her character. The same may be said for Crudup as Russell, Lee as Jeff, and McDormand as William's mother. These characters are portrayed as real people, not cardboard cutouts of what they're supposed to represent. None of the characters are perfectly good or bad; they all have strengths and weaknesses as we all do. This ensemble realism must be attributed in part to writer/director Crowe as well as the skill of his actors. Although Almost Famous has sloppy elements, it is a good show, perhaps because of that very sloppiness. Crowe doesn't paint an idealistic picture of rock in the early '70s, he paints a real one. ★★★★½

REMEMBER THE TITANS ★★★★ (PG/1:53/Reviewed 10-12) Denzel is well-polished, but he forgot the grit.

MARYLAND'S MOST BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE MONTH is October, and Garrett County's honoree this year is Jane Avery of Oakland. The county commissioners signed a proclamation noting the county's participation in the "most beautiful" month two weeks ago, and at the same time honored Avery for her achievement. She was nominated for the award by a former student, Chris Wildesen. In her nomination of Avery, Wildesen said the educator has had a vast impact on the lives of thousands of Garrett Countians through her teaching, as well as through her efforts with young people and families in extracurricular activities. See story. Pictured from left are Dr. Wendell Teets (superintendent of Garrett County schools), Harold Wildesen (husband of Chris), Commissioner Ernest Gregg, Avery, Commissioner Fred Holliday, Chris Wildesen, and Commissioner Wendell Beitzel.

Wildesen said she has also been helpful to adults.

"Many people have auditioned and performed in productions at Our Town Theatre," she wrote, adding that many family members have participated together in plays, which she said often results in strengthened family relationships.

On a personal level, Mrs. Wildesen said Jane Avery helped her, one on one, when she decided to go back to school.

"You must know that at that time, I was in my mid-40s and had spent most of my life raising three wonderful children and making a home for them and their father," Wildesen wrote. She told of her first class being English 101, with Avery as her instructor.

"Jane took the time and made the effort to encourage even her 'older' students to do their very best," Wildesen wrote. She earned an "A" in the class, which she said wouldn't "normally be a big deal," but that because she had done so well in that initial class, she went on to obtain a degree in nursing.

Avery has made a career of supporting such human endeavors, teaching thousands of individuals over the years, and helping thousands express themselves through plays and other artistic mediums. She purchased the former county museum building in 1997 with the hope of creating a community theatre. The hope has materialized, with the assistance of many volunteers. Plays, musical events, teen and adult "coffee houses," acting workshops, arts activities, and other events have been under way at Our Town Theatre almost continuously since the doors opened three years ago.

She has written and/or coordinated a number of unique works in the county, including a compilation of original monologues and poems about the history of Kitzmiller, presented in a staged format in 1996. She has directed her high school theatre students in plays and productions for years, winning top honors at the Allegany County One-Act Play Festival in 1995 with I Never Saw Another Butterfly, and coordinating yearly class projects involving monologues of historical Garrett County individuals, researched by the students.

As for her acceptance of the Maryland, You Are Beautiful award, Avery was complimentary to her community and to her profession.

"In my 31 years of teaching, I can honestly say there have been maybe 10 days that I didn't feel like going to work," Avery said. "I am truly blessed. It's an honor to live here and to be given the opportunity to teach these likable, funny, wonderful children. I thank God every day that I get to teach them. I simply could not live in a better place."

This is not the first award Avery has garnered for her work in the arts and in education. She received a governor's citation in 1993 for her artistic achievements, and was named the Garrett County Friend of the Arts in 1999. Her named was added to the Garrett County Commission for Women Hall of Fame in 1998, and she was named the Southern Garrett County High School Teacher of the Year in 1999.

"We are truly fortunate to have a person such as Jane Avery living in Garrett County and offering her talents to the residents here," said Commissioner Wendell Beitzel.

EARNING THEIR 10TH VICTORY of the 2000 season Tuesday night, and maintaining their grasp on the top ranking in the area, were the members of the Southern High School girls' varsity, who edged third-ranked Beall, 2-1. Chipping the ball in the above photo is Southern's Megan Burner (second from right). Other identifiable Rams are #7 Kristen Oxford and #9 Brittany Naylor. Both of Southern's goals were scored by freshman Sabrina Scheffel, who is pictured below in foot-to-foot combat with a Beall defender. The 10-1 Rams will play again this Friday evening at home against Preston. Photos by John McEwen.

Southern Girls Win 10th With 2-1 Edging Of Beall

The girls' varsity soccer team of Southern High School solidified its grip on the area's top ranking Tuesday night by edging third-ranked Beall, 2-1, in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League clash on the Rams' field.

Freshman striker Sabrina Scheffel scored both goals for the Rams, who upped their overall record to 10-1 and their WMIL mark to 6-0. It was only the third loss for the Mountaineers, who are 7-3-1 overall and 5-2 in the league.

Scheffel scored her first goal of the evening, and the only goal of the first half, off a crossing pass from Brittany Naylor with 19:58 remaining before intermission.

She made it 2-0 for the Rams with an unassisted goal at the 25:34 mark of the second half.

The Mountaineers averted a shutout with an unassisted goal by Rachel Armstrong, also a freshman, with 8:51 remaining in the game.

Southern finished with an 11-7 advantage in shots on goal and a 4-3 edge in corner kicks. Gina Reeves was credited with seven saves for the Rams, while Crystal Martz turned away six shots for the Mountaineers.

The Rams, coached by Ron Petrella and Diana Ashby, are scheduled to host Preston this Friday and travel to Westmar next Tuesday.

SGAA Slates Sunday Meeting In Oakland

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association has scheduled its next meeting for 6:30 p.m. this Sunday, Oct. 22, at the Community Services building located next to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. All Southern High School athletes and their families are encouraged to participate in the meeting, which will include discussions concerning the fall sports banquet and the baby beef raffle.

Further information can be obtained from SGAA president Bill Grant, or fellow officers Todd Bosley, Craig Bosley, Val Teagarden, and Rhonda Savage.

IT WAS SENIOR NIGHT Tuesday night at the Southern High School athletic field, where the senior members of the girls' varsity team were recognized. The young Ram squad has amassed a record of 10-1 so far this season with only two seniors, Sarah Teets and Charlena Reeves. Sarah is pictured above left with her parents, Charlie and Sharon, and Charlena is pictured at right with her parents, Bill and Sheila. Following the recognition, the top-ranked Rams defeated visiting Beall, 2-1.

Northern Boys Soccer Senior Night Tonight

The senior members of Northern High School's varsity boys' soccer team will be recognized this evening between the junior varsity and varsity matches with Beall. Huskies to be recognized in a Senior Night ceremony, along with their parents, are: Jimmy Kenner, Andy Fike, Sam Miller, Mike Fletcher, Jason Fickes, Ron Lipscomb, and Andy Bowser.

The Huskies will face the Mountaineers again on Monday in Frostburg.

Huskies Thrash Spartans To Remain Undefeated

It's not often that a team has as much control over its own destiny as the Northern High School varsity football team does heading into tomorrow's match-up at Petersburg. If the unbeaten Huskies get past the winless Vikings, their three remaining games will bring them face-to-face with the biggest rivals for potential Class 1A playoff spots — Beall, Westmar, and Southern — each of whom lost this past weekend while Northern was demolishing Bishop Walsh 49-0.

NHS head coach Phil Carr has been in this spot before, and yesterday he downplayed the final three games to examine what went right, and wrong, for the Huskies against BW, and how that knowledge factors into Big Blue's preparations for Petersburg. "We played OK against the Spartans [who came into Friday's contest with a 1-6 record], but not at the caliber we need to reach in order to continue winning," the Huskies' skipper remarked.

"Even though we jumped out early with some quick scores, if we had maintained our intensity on offense for 48 minutes we might have scored a lot more. Our defense played outstanding as usual, giving up only one first down all night, and just 25 yards of total offense."

To say NHS jumped out to an early lead might be an understatement, as halfback Mark Wolf took the ball on Northern's third play from scrimmage and sailed 30 yards into the end zone at the 10:49 mark of the first quarter. On the ensuing possession the Spartans fumbled the ball away, a miscue that helped set up a 15-yard touchdown run by Wolf — only a minute after his first score. A successful conversion run by fellow halfback Rob Dozier made the score 14-0 before some of the home fans had found their seats.

With 5:39 remaining in the second quarter, Wolf ran off with his third and final touchdown of the night when he rambled 49 yards for a score. Fullback Bill Rodeheaver carried the ball in for the two-point conversion. Quarterback Trey Brenneman and receiver Brandon Kamp got into the act just before the half ended, when the Huskies' field general lofted a 23-yard scoring strike that his target gathered in for a touchdown that made the score 28-0.

The second half was more of the same, as Dozier scampered for a 30-yard TD run at the 9:29 mark of the third quarter. The final period saw Rodeheaver rumble into the end zone from eight yards with 11:22 to play before second-string halfback Cheston Bachtel, brought in to spell Wolf, scored on a 28-yard run toward the end of the contest. A successful conversion run by reserve quarterback Jeremy Frazee, who was shifted under center from his usual split end post, chalked up the final two points of the 49-point onslaught.

Carr credited the work of the offensive line for helping spark Wolf's three-TD, 174-yard output, which came on just 11 carries, while Dozier finished with nine carries for 69 yards, and Rodeheaver carried the ball 11 times for 60 yards. "Toby Gilpin and the other offensive lineman played a fine game, they all blocked real well," the Huskies' skipper commented. "Underclassmen Jason Moore and Eric Rodeheaver, both of whom filled in for a pair injured senior starters, did a good job on the quick side of the line."

Northern's swarming defenders caused five BW fumbles, three of which were recovered by the Huskies. Aaron Mitchell had the game's only interception, and teammate Gilpin was cited for outstanding play along the defensive front.

"Coach Ewing was very proud of his defense, and rightfully so," concurred Carr. "Early in the game Bishop Walsh showed us some formations we hadn't seen from them during our scouting work, including some three-receiver sets. Our guys showed that they've learned a lot about football making the proper adjustments on the field without having to burn a timeout to talk about it. That's good, smart football, and you feel good when they've learned something and put it to use in a game situation."

After what Carr described as a "very strong week of practice," the Huskies will have a chance to show what they've learned about maintaining intensity tomorrow night in a hostile environment against what would appear to be a weak opponent. "Petersburg may be 0-8, but they can fool us. The Vikings are a better football team than their record shows, and they've been just a few plays away from winning several games. Injuries hurt their team badly early on, and a number of their top players are just returning to form and will be hun-gry to play us."

Petersburg players who have gained the NHS scouts' attention include senior halfback/linebacker Matt Vance (6-0, 205), the squad's best athlete. Vance, who wears #32, gained over 1,000 yards last season, although he has missed a good portion of this season with a leg injury. The halfback has a tandem of good blockers in senior fullback/linebacker Chris Ours (6-0, 225), junior offensive guard/defensive tackle Rocky Redman (5-10, 255), and senior center/defensive tackle Nathan Cook (5-9, 200).

The back row of Northern's secondary, composed of cornerbacks Frazee and Kamp, and Mitchell and Bachtel at strong and free safety, respectively, could be in for a busy night. Senior Viking quarterback Josh Ratchford (5-11, 210) has a cannon for an arm, according to Carr. "Ratchford can really throw, we saw him complete a touchdown bomb against Westmar that was in the air for a full 65 yards. He's by far the best-throwing quarterback we've played to this point. We'll have to work to pressure him into making mistakes, and then capitalize on them. He can get rattled under a heavy rush.

"Our history shows we don't play well in Petersburg," Carr observed. "Although it's no excuse, the two-hour bus ride can take it out of you. We have to really be on our game to go in there and win."

The high school is on Route 220 in Petersburg. Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m.

Steelers Slay Dragons With Seven-TD Tally

The Northern Steelers put on a show Saturday by crushing their Hampshire Dragon hosts in a 45-7 massacre in Romney, W.Va. The action gives the Steelers a 4-3 as they prepare to travel to Braddock this coming Saturday for another Cumberland Area Youth Football League match-up.

Northern quarterback Robert Stark opened up the Steeler onslaught in the first quarter with a 30-yard scoring strike to Tommy Smith. Ian Woodin's extra point kick gave the guests an 8-0 lead. The Steelers continued to light up the scoreboard as Tyler Ward dashed for a 20-yard touchdown carry, Stark scored on a 33-yard keeper, and Smith ran away with a 45-yard TD carry. As the halftime gun sounded, Northern sat atop a 27-0 lead.

The Steeler fireworks continued as play resumed in the third quarter, with Woodin scoring on a 22-

Rams Fall In Final Quarter To Bulldogs

It was another strong effort against an outstanding team last Friday night, but this time the Southern High School varsity Rams came up short, 28-13, at the hands of their hosts, the Martinsburg Bulldogs. It was the second defeat in six starts by the Rams, who are more than midway through one of their toughest ever schedules.

The Rams held their own against the 7-1 Bulldogs, as they led 7-0 early in the second quarter and were tied with them, 7-7, at halftime. But some crucial mistakes and an injury to senior quarterback Josh Sharon in the second half finally allowed the Bulldogs to seize the momentum and secure the win.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Rams took advantage of a blocked punt deep in Martinsburg territory to take their only lead of the contest. Junior Brad Palmer, who paced the Southern defensive effort, blocked the punt, which gave the Rams possession on the Bulldog 20. On the first play, Jeremy Hayhurst broke through the defensive line and raced 20 yards for a touchdown with 10:25 remaining in the quarter. He also booted the conversion point.

The Bulldogs came back with a scoring drive that was capped by a one-yard touchdown dive by Justin Walters. Andrew Demory, who had a 28-yard field goal attempt blocked in the first quarter, kicked the extra point to tie the score at the 7:29 mark.

Second Quarter

S - Jeremy Hayhurst 20 run (Hayhurst kick), 10:25.

M - Justin Walters 1 run (Andrew Demory kick), 7:29.

Third Quarter

M - Brandon Barrett 30 pass from Jason Yurish (kick failed), 6:18.

Fourth Quarter

M - Nicholi Payne safety on Josh Sharon, 7:30.

M - Mark Oftrowski 17 run (pass failed), 5:23.

M - Travis Durst 55 fumble return (Demory kick), 1:52.

S - Jeremy Lear 90 kickoff return (run failed), 1:38.

The score remained knotted at 7-7 until freshman standout Brandon Barrett hauled in a 30-yard touchdown pass from Jason Yurish with 6:18 remaining in the third quarter to give the Bulldogs the lead for good. The conversion kick by Demory was no good.

The home team led 13-7 going into the fourth quarter, but scored a safety and two more touchdowns in that stanza to put the game out of reach for the Rams. The safety was recorded when Sharon was sacked in the end zone by Nikolai Payne at the 7:30 mark.

The Rams then had to kick from their own 20-yard line, and the Bulldogs responded with another touchdown drive, concluded with a 17-yard run by Mark Ostrowski with 5:23 remaining. The pass attempt on the conversion failed, leaving the Bulldogs with a 21-7 advantage.

The Rams still had a chance, until Martinsburg's Travis Durst picked up a Southern fumble and raced 22 yards for a touchdown with only 1:52 left on the clock. Demory successfully kicked the extra point, putting Martinsburg up 28-7.

Jeremy Lear responded with a 90-yard kickoff return for a touchdown for Southern with 1:38 left. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

Hayhurst finished with 84 yards on 14 carries for the Rams, while Walters gained 110 yards on 13 attempts for Martinsburg. Barrett had five receptions for 60 yards.

Palmer had a dozen tackles to go along with his blocked punt for Southern, while teammate Joel Helbig recorded 10 tackles.

"We played hard and with a lot of effort," stated Coach Fred Gregg, "but Martinsburg has so many weapons. We knew that we were going to have to play a near-perfect game if we had any hope for a win. The turnovers obviously hurt, and then when Josh had to leave the game in the fourth quarter, we knew that there wasn't a lot we could do to get back into it."

Sharon sustained a concussion and is listed as "very doubtful" for this week against Hampshire, yet another formidable opponent. Expected to play, but nursing a groin injury, is Jeremy Hayhurst.

Even with Sharon healthy, the Rams would have their hands full this week at Hampshire, as the Trojans are sporting a 6-2 record and are "on the bubble" when it comes to the West Virginia playoffs.

"This is a very important game for them," Gregg said, "but it is for us, too, because we are really on the same bubble as far as the playoffs are concerned."

The Trojans are coming off a surprisingly easy, 39-0 victory over Beall last Friday night.

Hampshire runs the veer offense with a lot of I-formations, and is led by an outstanding junior running back in Bryan Wright (5-8, 180), senior back Josh Colebank (5-10, 180), and senior receiver Chuck Braithwaite (6-2, 160).

"Wright is an excellent runner, Colebank is not only a good runner, but is one of their top defensive players at linebacker, and Braithwaite is a very good athlete, with good speed, good hands, and jumping ability."

While the Trojans will put the ball in the air, Wright is their "bread and butter" player on offense, Gregg said.

Their 4-3 defensive unit is anchored by Colebank and senior linebacker Adam Lee (6-1, 205).

"They have some very big kids, and their team speed is a little better than ours," Gregg said. "If Wright gets loose, we don't have anyone to catch him."

As to filling in the starting quarterback spot for the injures Sharon, Gregg said he will probably play two persons at that position, senior Josh Fitzwater and sophomore Ricky Curry, who is the starting QB on the junior varsity team.

"We will play both of them and see how it goes," Gregg said. "Obviously the loss of Josh cuts down on the number of things we can do offensively. We will have to play pretty basic football, try to maintain possession of the ball as much as possible, and just hammer them inside. We expect a tough, close game, and hope we can keep the score low and not get into a shootout with them."

Friday's kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. Hampshire High School is located about five miles east of Romney, W.Va., along U.S. Rt. 50.

Ram Frosh, JVs Down Mounties, Westmar Wildcats

Southern High School's freshman football team downed Beall convincingly this past Thursday night by a 26-14 margin, then, playing as a junior varsity unit, turned back Westmar Monday by a score of 12-6.

The home contest against the Mountaineers featured an outstanding performance by Ram running back Zach Uphold, who gained 148 yards and scored two touchdowns.

SHS got on the board early when Uphold broke free for a 59-yard scoring run. A short time later Uphold scampered another 23 yards for a touchdown to give the Rams a 12-0 lead.

Beall cut the margin in half when Ryan Harris scored on a 29-yard carry, but Southern's Michael Macauley scored on a one-yard quarterback keeper shortly before the half to make the score 18-6.

The Mounties closed the gap in the third quarter when Chris Lewis scored from three yards out. He also ran in the conversion to make the score 18-14. Billy Schmidt's fourth-quarter one-yard touchdown carry put the game on ice for the Rams.

In addition to Uphold's rushing tally, Southern was also paced by Macauley's nine-carry, 88-yard performance.

Monday night's contest in Lonaconing got off to a bad start for the Rams, as Westmar took a 6-0 first-quarter lead on a 35-yard scoring strike from Dan Duncan to Johnny Shingler. Both defenses stiffened to keep the scoreboard frozen into the halftime break.

Southern's Macauley knotted the score at six with an eight-yard third-quarter run, then pulled into the lead when Schmidt picked off a pass and returned the interception 10 yards for a touchdown.

SHS's Bryan Edwards, Geoff Tressler, and Chris Bennett were noted for fine defensive performances, as were Westmar's Blake Riggleman, Paul McLeaf, and James Ziler.

The 4-3 Rams are slated to travel to Petersburg, W.Va., for a freshman contest this evening.

yard run and Robert Fontaine scampering for a 29-yard touchdown carry. The Northern defense got into the scoring act when Chris Fickes returned an interception 55 yards for a touchdown that made the score 45-0 in the final quarter. Hampshire scored shortly afterward on a 62-yard touchdown pass and an ensuing conversion pass, but it was too little, too late.

In addition to the aforementioned offensive heroics on the Steeler side of the ball, Northern's Adam Rounds, Jonathan Sines, and Eric Diehl were noted for fine defensive work.

Five Inducted Into SHS Football Hall Of Fame

Five former football standouts for Southern High School were inducted into the SHS Football Hall of Fame during a special ceremony just prior to the Southern-Allegany football game. The five joined an elite group of 23 other players, two coaches, and two community leaders who have been named to the roster over the past several years.

The 2000 inductees included: Galen Glotfelty, Jim Lyons, Mike Stewart, Dick Stuck, and Andrew Woods.

Glotfelty was a three-year starter on both the offensive and defensive line of the Rams, 1991-93, and was named a first-team All-Area selection his senior year. He was also a three-year starter at Frostburg State University, where he was dominant as a defensive lineman and led the Bobcats in tackles his junior and senior years to pace FSU to the ECAC Southeast championship.

"Galen Glotfelty is the type of student athlete whom coaches want," stated FSU former coach Ed Sweeney. "He was a great asset to our program, and someone whom this entire

Northern Netters Swept By Alco Monday At Home

The Northern High School girls' varsity volleyball team fell in a 3-0 sweep to the Allegany Campers Monday night in Accident, a loss that dropped the Huskies' record to 3-9. Allegany won by scores of 15-9, 15-8, and 15-13.

Jolene Brenneman's nine points paced NHS's effort, while Karla Buckel had seven points and Christie Flockhart contributed three kills. Alco was led by Jasmine Gilbert's 17 points. The Campers evened their record to 6-6.

Northern's junior varsity fell as well in a 2-1 battle. The JVs lost the first match 15-9, took the second by a 15-11 margin, and dropped the third by a 15-13 score. Valery Miller led all scorers with 13 points, four of which came on aces. Jodi Fratz and Jamie Livengood each contributed five points.

NHS is slated to host Preston Monday, then the Huskies travel to Southern Wednesday for a big cross-county match-up. Northern's season will close with a Monday, Oct. 30, visit to Lonaconing to take on Westmar's Wildcats.

Glotfelty will soon be the co-owner and manager of a new tire store in Elkins, W.Va.

Lyons started four years for the Rams, at offensive tackle, middle linebacker, and on special teams, and led the team in tackles his senior year. He played in two state championship games, 1980 and '81, when the Rams were champions of the Potomac Valley Conference, Highland Football Conference, and Region I. They finished both of those years as the Class C state runner-up.

Among the awards Lyons amassed were: All-PVC, 1981, '82; All-HFC, 1981; Best Defensive Lineman, 1981; Golden Helmet Award, 1982; and the only player to receive the Terry Colaw Award in two consecutive years, 1981 and '82.

After his graduation he volunteered his assistance in coaching Southern's wrestling team for three years. He is now coaching a youth team in Cumberland, where he resides with his wife, the former Joell Winters, and their 8-year-old daughter Hilary. He is a sales representative with the Pepsi-Cola Company.

Mike Stewart, who played varsity football for the Rams in the 1989, '90, and '91 seasons, led the area in tackles his senior year and was named first-team All-Area. He was named Most Valuable Defensive Player in '90 and '91, and was selected to play in the East/West all-star game and the West Virginia/Maryland all-star game his senior year.

Stewart continued his athletic and academic career at Fairmont State College, where he played four years of varsity football for the Falcons. His honors at FSC include: 1993 Special Teams Player of the Year, 1995 defensive captain, team captain of the 1996 WVIAC championship team, and second-team All-Conference, 1996.

Stewart was the linebacker coach at Southern in 1998. He is currently working as a safety engineer at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt. He is also still playing football, as an outside linebacker and defensive captain for the Washington Chiefs of the Minor Football League.

Dick Stuck was a three-year starting quarterback (1958-60) for the then-Southern Highlanders, having played for coaches Dick Travis and Whitey Adolfsson. He was the quarterback on Oct. 7, 1959, when SHS played its first game under the lights, in front of 1,400 fans. He was named first-team All-PVC quarterback.

Stuck achieved the rank of Eagle Scout while participating in football, basketball, and baseball at Southern, and went on to play football and baseball at Bethany College in West Virginia. There he was named to the all-conference team as a defensive back and was an all-conference selection in baseball as a third baseman. He was voted Bethany's Outstanding Senior Athlete, and was inducted into the Bethany College Athletic Hall of Fame in 1995.

Stuck, his wife Ellen, and their son Steve are owners of two Exxon distributorships, one in Waynesburg, Pa., and one in Oakland. The Stucks also have a daughter, Tracy, who is director of student activities at Ohio State University. He also has two grandchildren, Claire and Matthew Stuck.

Andrew Woods, who played three years of varsity football for the Rams (1993-95), led the 1995 team as senior quarterback to a 10-3 overall record and one of only three appearances ever by a Southern team in a state championship game.

In his junior season, when the Rams earned a 7-4 record and a berth in the state playoffs, Woods played safety and wide receiver. He was named first-team All-Area and All-Conference as a safety, and received honorable mention as a wide receiver.

In Woods's senior season, Southern lost to Cambridge South Dorchester, 14-12, at Byrd Stadium, College Park, in what is said to be among the most memorable state title games ever played. Woods led his team to a final scoring drive, which fell just short on a two-point conversion attempt that would have tied the game.

In that same season, Woods led the team from his safety spot with four interceptions and was again named to the first-team All-Area squad. He also received All-State honors as the Class A safety, and was the runner-up Player of the Year.

Woods continued his football and academic career at West Virginia Wesleyan College, where he started at cornerback for the Bobcats for two seasons. He is now in his first year of law school at West Virginia University.

Garrett CC Netters Downed By Catonsville, Catamounts

The women's volleyball team of Garrett Community College saw its record fall to 12-8 this week after a 3-0 sweep at the hands of Catonsville Saturday, and a hotly contested 3-2 battle Monday at Potomac State.

Saturday in McHenry, the Cardinals handed the Lakers straight-set, 15-6, 15-2, and 15-12 defeats. Crystal Kimble paced Garrett with two aces, a 4-for-5 service tally, and four assists on a 22-for-28 setting performance. Lauren Stillwagon was 17-for-23 on sets with four assists, Jessica Saturday was 10-for-13 on attacks with three kills, and Mimi Harvey was 5-for-5 on service and 4-for-4 on attacks with one kill and one block.

Keri Niner was a perfect 10-for-10 from the service line with one ace and a 5-for-9 on attacks with one kill. Shannon Robinson was 8-for-8 on service with one ace, and 5-for-5 on attacks with one kill.

At Potomac State Monday the Lakers and Catamounts battled in one of the best matches in recent memory. The hosts took Game 1 by a 15-9 score, GCC rebounded to take 15-12 and 15-7 victories over the next two contests, then Potomac State triumphed in the final pair by 16-14, 17-15 tallies.

Kimble paced the Lakers by connecting on all but one of her 24 service attempts, tallying five points and a pair of aces in the process. She was also 77-for-88 on sets with a total of 27 assists. Stillwagon was 14-for-15 on serves and 44-for-74 in sets with 16 assists. Saturday, who had three solo blocks on defense, was 36-for-43 on attack with 15 kills.

Tameka Graves was 32-for-41 on attack with 15 kills, and Harvey was a perfect 24-for-24 in serves with one ace and 28-for-30 on attack with seven kills. Robinson was 21-for-24 in serves with three aces and 12-for-20 on attack with four kills. Niner was 15-for-16 on attack with six kills.

Southern High alumnae Jennifer Teagarden and Melissa Kuykendall had fine performances for the host Catamounts. Teagarden was 19-for-19 in service with 10 points, and reportedly was 157-176 in sets with 32 assists. Kuykendall was 24-for-26 in sets with 11 points.

The Lakers close out their regular season this week with a pair of home matches, a 1 p.m. Saturday triangular with Cecil and Potomac State, and a 6 p.m. Tuesday battle with the Allegany Trojans.

SATURDAY RANKED'

For the second consecutive week, Garrett co-captain Jessica Saturday, pictured above, has been ranked 10th in hitting efficiency in the Maryland JUCO conference. To date for the season she has tallied 101 total kills and a .289 hitting average. The sophomore general studies major is the daughter of Mike and Fayann Saturday of Oakland.

Southern Girls Run To Victory Over Uniontown; Boys Defeated

The Southern High School girls' cross country team recorded a close, 25-32, victory over Uniontown last Wednesday on the Broadford Park course, while the SHS boys were defeated, 17-46.

Melissa Durst and Natalie Domenick have led the Southern girls all season, and continued to do so against Uniontown, as they finished in first and second place, respectively, both crossing the finish line with times of 21 minutes, 5 seconds.

In third place, just two seconds behind, was Uniontown's Amy Lucy, followed by her teammates Megan Monahan and Scarlett Graham. Emily Cosner and Stephanie DiSimone of Southern were sixth and seventh, respectively, while Southern's Amber Stewart, Anissa Jamison, Erin Lucas, Lisa Wade, Melissa Flanagan, and Maria Hines placed 9th through 14th, respectively.

Pacing the Southern boys was Matt Frederick, who finished fourth overall with a time of 18:10. Uniontown captured nine of the top 10 places, with Mike Hyjurick, David Madison, and Andrew Gleason placing first, second, and third, respectively. Hyjurick's winning time was 17:51.

Southern will compete in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championships today at Allegany.

Jets Win Title, Finish Unbeaten

The Jets defeated the Ravens, 32-13, Sunday afternoon at Southern High School to capture the 2000 Oakland Youth Football League NFL Division title. The Raiders won the consolation game, 7-0, in overtime.

The Jets finished the season with a perfect 8-0 record, while the Ravens were second with a mark of 5-3. The Raiders ended with a 3-5 record, and the Redskins were winless at 0-8.

Chris Miller struck first for the Jets when he pulled in a 29-yard scoring pass from Cory Bosley in the first quarter. Bosley made it 8-0 with a successful two-point conversion kick.

The Ravens came back with a 23-yard, first-quarter touchdown run by Andrew VanBogelan, who also ran for the conversion to make it 8-7.

Aaron Louden scored a pair of touchdowns for the Jets in the third quarter, the first on an eight-yard carry and the second on a 62-yard run. Bosley kicked both conversions to put the Jets up 24-7.

A one-yard touchdown run by Darwin Bennett in the fourth quarter, followed by Bosley's fourth two-point kick, gave the Jets a commanding 32-7 lead.

The Ravens added six points, however, when Jimmy Hinebaugh scored on a nine-yard run.

The Jets finished with a 258-74 advantage in total offense, with Louden gaining 102 yards on eight carries and Bosley picking up 79 yards on six attempts. The Ravens' ground game was led by VanBogelan with 35 yards on 10 carries.

Husky Golfers Nip Rams In Close Match

Northern High School's golf team closed out an excellent team season this past Thursday by narrowly defeating Southern, 184-187, on the Wisp Golf Resort links.

NHS's Greg Speicher, who will be the county's sole representative at the Maryland State Tournament on Monday and Tuesday in College Park, shot a 42 to take low-medalist honors. Teammate Kenny Wampler carded a 44, and A.J. Thomas, Denny Thorpe, and Jason Rice each shot 49s.

Southern was paced by Jordan Swerbinsky's 43. Bryson Meyers contributed a 46, Travis Friend shot a 48, and Justin DiSimone carded a 50.

The JV contest ended in a 157-157 tie, signaling that the ever-close rivalry between the cross-county opponents will likely continue for another season.

Northern's regular season ends at a 22-6 mark. Southern's season mark was not avaiable, nor were the results a scheduled Ram match Friday afternoon at Keyser.

Southern Netters Fall To Trojans, Swept By FH

The Southern High School girls' varsity volleyball team dropped a pair this week, beginning with a hard-fought 3-2 heartbreaker of a loss to Hampshire Tuesday, followed by a 3-0 sweep at the hands of Fort Hill last night. The Rams now have a 2-12 record.

Tuesday's action in Oakland started on the right foot for the Rams, who took Game 1 from the Trojans by a 15-10 margin. Hampshire rebounded for a 15-5 victory in the second contest, but SHS roared back to take Game 3 by a 15-10 score. The visitors rallied to take the next two, and the match, by scores of 15-13 and 15-12. Hampshire came out of the night with a 21-7-2 record.

The night's high scorer was Southern's Aimee Parrack, who scored 15 points along with 11 assists. Laura Johnson had 11 kills, and Heather Boyce and Jessica Sharon each contributed four kills.

The Rams' JV unit fell to its Hampshire counterpart by scores of 15-6 and 16-14. Individual statistics were not available.

Last night's homecourt match resulted in losses to Fort Hill by scores of 15-5, 15-13, and 15-9. Parrack paced Southern with seven points, while Becky Vance and Lauren Whitacre each scored 10 points for the Sentinels. The action left the Sentinels a region-leading 12-0 record.

In the junior varsity match, SHS lost the first contest by an unreported score, then rebounded to take Game 2 by a 17-15 margin before dropping the third game by a 15-8 tally. Alexis Storey's 15 Ram points led all scorers, while Stephanie Painter had 10 points for Fort Hill.

Southern is entering the season's home stretch, and is slated to host Bishop Walsh tonight, Allegany Monday, and Northern on Wednesday.

If You Know Someone Who Is Being Abused...

- Ask, listen and believe the victim or survivor.
- Realize that battering exists in all communities, even ours.
- Don't act like "it's not happening" if you witness abuse.
- Refuse to protect the batterer by holding he/she accountable.

Candidate for Treasurer of Loch Lynn
Robin L. Beckman

My name is Robin Beckman. I'm the incumbent treasurer of Loch Lynn. I have been elected treasurer for two terms, and I'm running once again for the position. There have been many rumors floating around town that my books are seven months behind, that budgets haven't been prepared, and that I don't know how to run the town computer. THIS IS NOT TRUE!!

My books are up to date. I have worked very hard at this, and I'm proud of what I have done for my town. I work closely with the town auditor. There is a thorough audit of the books every year, and I have passed with flying colors every year. I have done a budget every year and the mayor and council have tried to follow it as closely as possible. I do know how to run the town's computer. I have been using it for four years to do the sewer bills, to write letters, and for the Quicken program. The mayor and council were talked into buying a new computer system. The person who talked us into buying it told us he would set it up. It still sits in the box!

I have collected all past due personal property taxes, property taxes, and sewer bills. I try to be understanding and work with people in this matter because I know what it takes to make ends meet in a family. I would appreciate it if you would once again consider voting for me as your treasurer. If you have any questions or concerns, call me at 301-334-3805.

Sincerely,
Robin L. Beckman

RAILEY REALTY DONATES GOLF CLASSIC PROCEEDS — The fourth annual Railey Realty Golf Classic took place recently at the Wisp Resort in McHenry, and proceeds from the charitable event will be going to a number of area charitable programs throughout the year. Among the beneficiaries are the Grant-A-Wish Foundation of Garrett County, and local Grant-A-Wish coordinators Brenda Thomas, left, and Lori Malcolm are shown in the foreground of the above photo as they accept a check from Railey Realty's Terry Boggs, Kevin Liller, and Bill Weissgerber. The $1,500 donation will go toward Grant-A-Wish's goal of purchasing a Deep Creek Lake home that will be used as a mountain retreat for families in need. Pictured below is a presentation of a $500 check to the Garrett Community College men's basketball team, as from the right are Boggs, Laker head coach Dennis Gibson, Liller, and Weissgerber.

Earnhardt's Win Sunday Makes Area Man $1 Million Richer

Richard Sturtz of Mount Savage is $1 million richer after Dale Earnhardt won the NASCAR Winston 500 at Talladega Superspeedway in Alabama last Sunday.

When Earnhardt raced from 18th to 1st place in the last four laps of the race, the victory was worth a million dollars to both him and Sturtz.

The race was the final "Winston No Bull 5" promotion of the year in which anyone of five drivers, with a victory, could win a $1 million prize. As part of the promotion, five fans—chosen by random—were selected, with one being assigned to each of the eligible drivers.

If the driver wins, so does the contestant, and Sunday, Sturtz and Earnhardt celebrated together in Victory Lane, each holding up his $1 million check.

"I'm going to invest it and kick back and take it easy," Sturtz told the Associated Press. "My truck driving job—I'm going to give it up."

Roaring Knob Raceway Park

Roaring Knob is gearing up to finish the King of the Knob race, which was rained out on Sept. 23, on Friday night, Oct. 20. The cars are already qualified and are ready to race. Fans who still have their rain check wristband will be treated to an exciting night of racing.

Late Models will run a 50-lap race, E-Mods will run a 20-lap race, and the Classic Lites (Dwarfs) will run a 15-lap race.

The gates will open Friday night at 6 p.m., and racing will start at 8 p.m. General admission for those who didn't attend the rain-out will be $10 and pit admission will be $18.

For more information, race fans may look up www.roaringknob.com on the Web or call 724-329-0306.

Corridor H Speedway

Two local cars and drivers placed in the final races of the season last weekend during the Forest Festival at Corridor H Speedway in Elkins, W.Va. Shawn Davis, driving the Automotive Machine E-Mod, placed both Saturday night and Sunday, and Mike Lewis of Oakland placed in the 4-Cylinder action Saturday night.

Saturday night Jerry Haselau won the second heat in the E-Mod division, started on the outside pole, and led every lap of the feature to win over polesitter Steve Cook. Following the two leaders across the finish line were Ron Parrish, Dave Defibaugh, and Shawn Davis. The heats went to Haselau, Cook, and Parrish. No Consi was run, as all 22 cars started the feature.

On Sunday afternoon, Haselau led every lap of the E-Mod feature for his second win of the weekend. Ron Parrish ended up second, followed by Jeff Yeager, Tre Martin, and Shawn Davis. Heats went to Haselau, Doug Thompson, and Parrish.

In Saturday night's 4-Cylinder action, Dave Summers led every lap from the pole to win the feature. He was followed across the line by Mike Lewis, Ken Roback, Kevin Pifer, and Tom Simpson. Heats went to Summers, Pifer, and Lewis.

Next season Corridor H intends to open early with many improvements to the track and facilities. There are plans are for new clay, new drains for the infield, removal of the cement wall on the front straight, widening of the front straight, a new top for the concession stand, new public address system, and a new lighting system.

Hunters Urged To Support Venison Donation Program

Building upon the success of the last three years, Department of Natural Resources secretary Sarah Taylor-Rogers is encouraging Maryland hunters to continue their support for the Farmers and Hunters Feeding the Hungry (FHFH) program, an effort that provided over 450,000 meals around the state last year. "The sole purpose of this program is to feed the hungry, and Maryland's hunters and farmers have done a spectacular job of helping to do so," Taylor-Rogers said.

Beginning with the 1999-2000 hunting season, hunters could donate a dollar or more to the program while purchasing their hunting licenses. Nearly one-third of the licensed hunters in Maryland donated a total of $43,335 last year. "Please say yes when asked that question when purchasing your license this year," Secretary Taylor-Rogers said. "If you have any questions or would like to make a donation please call 301-739-3000 or go to the FHFH web site at www.fhfh.org."

Deer Hunt For Younger Hunters Is November 11

For the sixth year, Maryland is holding a deer hunt for younger hunters on Nov. 11. The one-day hunt allows young people, aged 16 years or younger, to hunt white-tailed deer and sika deer with a firearm when accompanied by an unarmed licensed adult 21 years of age or older.

To participate in the one-day hunt, each young hunter must possess a valid resident junior hunting license, resident hunting license, a nonresident hunting license, or be exempt from Maryland hunting license requirements. Each young hunter must be accompanied in the field by an unarmed individual, 21 years of age or older, who possesses a valid Maryland hunting license or is exempt from Maryland hunting license requirements.

Each eligible young hunter can take one antlered or antlerless white-tailed deer in each of the four Deer Management Regions on Nov. 11. In Regions C and D the young deer hunter may take an additional white-tailed deer with a bonus deer stamp. No more than one of these two white-tailed deer may be antlered.

For additional information concerning Maryland deer hunting regulations, persons may consult the DNR publication Hunting and Trapping in Maryland 2000-2001. For further information about deer hunting opportunities on public lands, persons may consult the Guide to Public Hunting Lands in Maryland 2000-2001. Both publications are issued to hunters when they purchase a 2000-2001 Maryland hunting license, are available at all DNR service centers, and can be found on DNR's web site: www.dnr.state.md.us.

THE WONDERS OF WILDLIFE come in all sizes, shapes, and colors, as exemplified in a current Garrett Community College Art Gallery exhibition highlighting the works of Donna Whitford-Housel. The Bedford, Pa., wildlife artist uses oils, watercolors, sketches, and a variety of other media to portray the diversity of our fellow creatures. The whimsically titled oil painting "Paws For a Moment," shown above, freezes a polar bear in mid-step, perhaps having just caught the scent of a surfacing sea lion a few feet away on the Arctic Ice. "Red-Tailed Hawk," below, captures the majesty of a bird of prey that can be seen here on the mountaintop. The public can meet the artist during a reception slated for this Saturday, Oct. 21, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the GCC Art Gallery.

er Taylor has," Gregg said.

"It could possibly be very good for us," Holliday added. "We'll go in with open minds." (Commissioner Wendell Beitzel was not present at the Tuesday meeting this week.)

In addition to the Garrett County commissioners and Edwards, a number of individuals have been invited to attend the meeting. They include Senator John Hafer, former Senator J. Glenn Beall, the Allegany County commissioners, and the mayors of Oakland, Cumberland, and Frostburg.

Also on the list are representatives from the Canal Place Authority Board, the Western Maryland Scenic Railroad board, members of the Allegany County Visitors Bureau, Garrett and Allegany chamber of commerce members, and the work group from the Western Maryland Economic Development Strategies Task Force.

Jerry Geisler, chairman of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, said he is also interested in the proposal, although he and chamber president Ken Wishnick, as well as several tourism representatives from Allegany County, will not be able to attend Taylor's meeting, as they are to be present at the Maryland Governor's Tourism Industry Conference in Ocean City.

"The timing is unfortunate, but I do understand," Geisler said. "The speaker has been trying for some time to get together on this issue, and I expect that this meeting on Monday will be the first of several as we consider the idea and try to hammer out the details before the General Assembly's session."

Geisler has e-mailed all chamber members to extend an invitation to them to attend the meeting. In light of his and other members' absence, he is urging other chamber members to attend, stressing that their input is "welcome and very important."

Auditions Set For Christmas Comedy At OTT

Audition times have been announced for the farce The Farndale Avenue Housing Estate Townswomen's Guild Dramatic Society's Production of a Christmas Carol, to be presented at Our Town Theatre in December. Auditions for the show will be on Sunday, Oct. 22, from 4 until 6 p.m., and on Monday, Oct. 23, from 6 until 8 p.m.

If auditioners cannot make either of those times, they may schedule a special session by calling 301-334-5640 and leaving a message.

Mikey Virts, the director of the play, said he needs five actors, three women and two men, as well as a number of extras.

The play centers on a group of actors in a small community who decide to present their own rendition of the Dickens classic. "The production abounds with laughter and is good hardy fun for all ages," Virts said.

GCC Sets Exhibit Of Wildlife Art

The Art Gallery of Garrett Community College is hosting an exhibition of paintings and drawings by visiting artist Donna Whitford-Housel through Nov. 16. A public reception for the artist is set for this Saturday, Oct. 21, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The artworks represent a broad variety of wildlife and animals, from birds and pets to ferocious jungle animals. Still life images, a mythical dragon, and flowers are also featured. Housel's works cover a wide range of media, including oils, watercolors, pastels, colored pencils, scratch art, ink and brush, and mixed media.

"My greatest expectation for the body of work is that my viewers will recognize my admiration and respect for our natural surroundings," Housel stated. "In doing so, each will be presented with the challenge to nurture our environment for the generations that follow them."

A resident of Buffalo Mills in nearby Bedford County, Pa., Whitford-Housel displays her artwork in several galleries in the region, including From the Heart Gallery in Somerset, Pa., the Gallery at Cedar Hollow in Malvern, Pa., Bedford County Arts Center in Bedford, and the Manhattan Gallery in Cumberland. Her artworks have been selected for several juried exhibitions in the area, and she has had previous solo exhibitions at the Everett Campus of Allegany College of Maryland.

She has been affiliated with several arts organizations, such as the Allied Artists of Johnstown, the Arts Councils of Bedford County, Allegany and Garrett counties, and recently served as president of the Somerset County Artist Association. She has received first-place awards for her oil painting and a window display at the Pennsylvania Maple Festival, and a first place for a watercolor at the Bedford County Fair. Her works have also been utilized for the Somerset County Red Ribbon educational campaign and her sketch of a peregrine falcon was published as a front cover for the Pennsylvania Birds magazine.

This exhibition is made possible in part by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and on evenings and weekends during special events. For more information, interested persons may contact the Art Department of GCC at 301-387-3024.

YOUNG ARTISTS' WORKS ON DISPLAY — A reception is slated for Saturday, Oct. 21, 2-4 p.m., at the Garrett County Arts Council Gallery along Alder Street in Oakland, in honor of the students who attended this year's Young Artists' Workshop at Fantasy Valley. Works of these students are now on display at the gallery. The piece pictured is a drawing by Amanda Geisler, 16, of McHenry. The workshop is sponsored by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, funded by the Sprenger-Lang Foundation, and directed by Mark and Laura Stutzman. Students explore the techniques of the great masters and express their own style and energy, organizers said. The works by the young people will be on display at the gallery through Oct. 25. The public is invited to the reception.

4-H Club News

AURORA PIONEERS
by Tracy Fields

The October 2000 meeting of the Aurora Pioneers was held in the home of Stacy Fint and was called to order by President Kendra Durst. The American Pledge was led by Tracy Fields and the 4-H pledge was led by Travis Mersing.

Stacy introduced new club member Aaron Lipscomb. Scott Fields reported on Buckwheat Festival lamb dressing, in which the boys' team dressed as firemen and the girls' team dressed as the queen and her royalty. Jessica Callahan reported on serving buckwheat cakes. Stacy Fint has taken the yard of the month sign to Harold and Sandy Kisner.

New officers were chosen at September's meeting: presidents, Kendra Durst and Jessica Callahan; vice presidents, Hanna Myers and Kaylen Fike; secretary, Tracy Fields; treasurer, Eric Durst; reporter, Tracy Fields; games leaders, Marissa Bachtel and Scott Fields; and song leaders, Brittany Stemple and Travis Mersing.

Members decided to have a Haunted House on October 21 from 6 to 9 p.m. and charge $2 per person. Look for signs in Aurora. The club then went to tour the house to get ideas for what they would be doing.

Montcroft Farms

pasture and hay land.

With such a diverse operation the Groses have had the opportunity to implement well systems, spring developments, trough systems, exclusion fences, prescribed grazing, integrated pest management plans, nutrient management plans, and a waste management utilization plan and structure.

The incorporation of these conservation practices has improved the soil, air, water, plants, and animals on the farm and the environment surrounding them.

Over the years Ed and Bill have been commended for their hard work and love of farming. Ed was selected as West Virginia's most innovative farmer in 1998. The selection of Montcroft Farms as the Conservation Farm Winner in Preston County, the Monongahela Soil Conservation District, and most recently the East Area, has made Ed and Bill both proud.

Ed and Bill are active in the West Virginia Farm Bureau, W.Va. Tree Farmers, W.Va. Forestry Association, Direct Marketing Association, National Cattlemen's Beef Association, and the American Angus Association. Ed currently holds a seat on the National Potato Board. Bill is currently a lay speaker for the Potomac Highlands Methodist Church District, and also sat on the local Southern States board in Oakland, and is a member of the West Virginia Service Personnel Association.

"The Monongahela Soil Conservation District is proud to have the Groses represent them in the West Virginia Conservation Farm Contest," a W.Va. Soil Conservation official said. "Both Ed's and Bill's involvement in agriculture has proven very beneficial for them, their family, the community they live in, and the people they educate along the way. We commend them for their hard work and dedication to conserving natural resources, while enjoying their life of farming."

SITUATED ON OVER 350 ACRES NEAR CRANESVILLE, Montcroft Farms, owned and operated by Ed and Bill Grose, received West Virginia's Conservation Farm of the Year honors during an awards ceremony earlier this month in Charleston. On hand to present the award were Commissioner of Agriculture Gus R. Douglass, W.Va. Soil Conservation Agency executive director Lance Tabor, and state conservationist for the USDA, Bill Hartman. Working together as a team, the Groses have a diverse operation, which includes managing registered Angus cattle, raising various truck crops, including 15 to 18 acres of potatoes, like the field shown below, managing hardwood timber, and implementing conservation practicles throughout the farm. Cakes, sausages, sausage gravy, applesauce, and beverages are provided, with adult donations at $5, children 6-12, $3 and those 5 and under may eat free. Serving is from 4 until 8 p.m.

HAUNTED HOUSE OPEN SATURDAY

The Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club is sponsoring a haunted house this year, rather than the usual Haunted Trail, and it will be open this Saturday evening, Oct. 21, at the former Brad Durst residence at Amboy on the Lantz Ridge Road. The public is welcome beginning at 6:30 p.m.

AHS CLASS OF '70 REUNION

The 30th year reunion of the Aurora High School class of 1970 was held at the Union Ambulance squad hall on Saturday evening, Oct. 14, with a turkey and salisbury steak dinner served by the squad.

Hosting the affair were John and Jeanette Adams, with Mr. Adams also serving as Master of Ceremonies. Others in attendance were Gary and Frances Roth, Mary Roth Rembold, Arthur and Janice Forman, Adrian and Mary Stemple, Roger and Debbie Strawser, and Bill and Diana Bachtel, all local; Herman and Ellen (Snyder) Paugh of Thomas; Norman Fike and Carolyn VanHooten of Belington; Rod and Linda (Knotts) Bachman of Fairmont; and Dana and Kathy Beckman of Winchester. Teachers attending were Melvin and Sharon Jackson, Tom and Carolyn Wotring, Virginia Martin, and Martha Bolyard.

WORLD COMMUNITY DAY SERVICE SET

The churches of Union District will be observing World Community Day on Friday, Nov. 3, at the Amboy United Methodist Church. A covered dish luncheon will be shared at noon, with the host church providing the beverage and bread. At 1 p.m., a program on the theme "Standing Up With Those In Need," will center one's thoughts on compassion. All are welcome.

KNAPP NOTES
89TH BIRTHDAY

Floyd Knapp of Amboy will be celebrating his 89th birthday Oct. 23. Cards may be addressed to him at: HC 82 Box 107, Terra Alta, WV 26764.

AURORA CEOS

A belated report from the Aurora CEOS states that its Aug. 20 meeting was held in the Union Ambulance squad hall. Dee Douglas, president, called to order the 13 members in attendance, with Alice Penzo presenting the opening devotions. She also included a reading, "In Times Like These."

Wilda Stemple's program was titled "Understanding Youth Violence."

October 2 was Cancer Awareness Day, and information was to be distributed at the local post office. The international student was in the county July 27-28 and stayed at the 4-H camp, where a public program with CEOS invited was also held.

Serving as officers for the 2001-2003 term are Ressie Conrad, president; Alice Penzo, vice president; Opal Myers, secretary-reporter; Dorothy Spaid, treasurer; Virginia Martin, historian; Delores Slawter, CVH chairman; Delores Douglas, Continuing Education chair; Wilda Stemple, Family Life chair and Mary Radford, Marketing and Membership chair.

Vice president Ressie Conrad's feature for the month was wise sayings and their teachings. Virginia Martin, historian, brought for display the scrapbook she has been keeping of club events. She called attention to the cover designed and made by Delores Slawter. Dorothy Spaid was winner of the pig-in-the-poke.

It was reported that six members and their guests had attended the July picnic.

A membership tea was held Sept. 19 at the squad hall, with Janice Tackett presenting devotions and Opal reading a poem, "Going to Tea."

Delores Douglas appointed Ressie Conrad, Opal Myers, and Mary Radford to work as an Achievement Day committee, along with representatives from the Terra Alta and Cranesville clubs.

Sandwiches, cakes, and tea were served to Gail Rose, Ressie Conrad, Dean Sisler, Mary Radford, Kathy Hardesty, Janice Tackett, Deloris Slawter, Virginia Martin, Wilda Stemple, Nina Layman, Delores Douglas, Opal Myers, and guests Tamara Fauber, Cara Radford, Donetta Nice, and Beatrice Dean.

A door prize was won by Cara Radford.

EGLON 4-H

The Oct. 9 meeting of the Eglon 4-H Club was an open house for interested possible members. Dana Feather welcomed the guests and led the devotions. Pumpkin carols were sung.

Members had gone Trick-or-Treating for foods for the Preston Food Pantries, and that was collected prior to the meeting. Members Josh Mullenax, Maria Harsh, Dana Feather, Bridgette Strawser, and Tracy Teets reported on their animal exhibits at the Buckwheat Festival. Ashley Bachtel and Sara Lewis helped with the buckwheat cake dinners, as did others of the club. Tracy Teets will be providing updated lists of Cortland Acres patients for remembrance.

An executive meeting will be held Oct. 26 at Maple Spring Church, to make plans for the coming year. A date for the club achievement party will be set at that time and will be either bowling or swimming. The county officer's training and achievement will be Nov. 12 at 2 p.m. Tickets for meat being raffled by the county clubs were distributed. Linda Lewis explained how enrollment cards were to be filled out, including the required signature of a parent or guardian. These were distributed to those members and potential members present.

The meeting adjourned for games, refreshments, and songs.

PRESTON COUNTY RETIREES AT AMBOY

The Preston County Association of Retired School Personnel met at the Amboy fellowship hall on October 10, for a buffet luncheon, followed by a short business meeting.

Officers were elected for the 2001 term with President, Hazel Durst; Vice President, Iris Jennings, Secretary Lois Strawser; and Treasurer, Maxine Clark being retained from this year. Committees will be appointed by the president. This was the last meeting for the year and meetings will resume again in April on the second Tuesday, with meetings continuing each month until October in 2001. Membership is open to all school retirees and anyone interested may join as an associate member. Interested persons may contact one of the officers or a member you know.

The guest speaker was Dr. David Mann, executive director of Jackson's Mill State 4-H Camp.

Those in attendance were Clifton and Grace Bachtel, Margaret Bailey, Dottie Bolyard, Martha Bolyard, Mary Agnes Borgman, Katie Burke, Beryl Cence, Loralli Clark, Maxine Clark, Shirley Clark, Wilda Davis, Mary Dean, Hazel and Lewis Durst, Ina Dennis, Ruth Edwards, Mardell Forman, Bill and Owen Feather, Charles and Jean Fortney, Maxine Fortney, Nellie Fern Hamstead, Iris Jennings, Betty Johnson, Virginia Martin, Vivian McConnell, Betty Mitter, Dottie Sanders, Patti Sanders, Thelma Spindler, Melvin and Dove Stemple, Paul Stemple, Ruth Stockman, Lois Strawser, David and Wilma Mae Teets, Charles and June Thomas, Joann Wills, Patty Wolfe, Darwin Wolfe, and Sarah Young.

SENIORS MEET

The Union District Seniors met Oct. 10 at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building with opening devotions presented by Nina Layman who read the poem, "We Truly Know." She closed with The Lord's Prayer.

The short business session included finalizing plans for an Oct. 14 trip to Big Bear Lake for the Preston County Senior picnic. Making that trip were Bea Ball, Wilda Blamble, Keith and Delores Douglas, Mildred and Dale Stemple, Clifton and Grace Bachtel, Eugene and Bernadine Bachtel, Mary Jane and Lorrain Hanline, Paul Stemple, Wilda Stemple, Janice Tackett, Shirley Parsons, Thelma Stemple, Alice Penzo, Juanita Stemple, Delores Kelly, Lela Slaubaugh, Mary Calcamp, Sheridan and Nina Layman, and David and Wilma Mae Teets.

A county Senior Halloween party is planned in Newburg on Oct. 25, for which travel plans were made. It was also announced that there will be county trips to Oglebay Park on Nov. 4 to see the lights, go to the glass outlet, the mansion, the zoo, and Wilson Lodge. A shopping trip is in the planning for Nov. 30.

Political candidates present were Terri Fulk, Ron Crites, and Senator Jon Blair Hunter, the latter who presented a promised grant of $8,000 to Alice Penzo for the use of the Aurora Area Historical Society.

Twenty-one members and nine guests were present for the meeting.

PERSONAL MENTION

Ruby (Mr. Troy) Judy of Eglon underwent surgery Wednesday at Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland and returned Sunday to her home.

Faith Zenker and her 8-month-old son Nathaniel, Arroyo Grande, Calif., have been visiting with her parents, John and Florence Minnig at Eglon.

Julie Baker and her children, Grayson and Madison, spent last week and this with her parents, Tom and Linda, and her sister Sara Lewis at Eglon. She also visited her husband's father, Steve Baker, Aurora Pike.

Hassaleah Snyder of Terra Alta Pike remains a patient at Preston Memorial Hospital where she was admitted Saturday.

Alan and Mary Teets of Middletown, Del., were weekend guests with her father and mother, Homer and Marguerite Myers, in Aurora.

Wilda Stemple took Paul Stemple to Elkins on Sunday to visit his son and daughter-in-law, Steve and Marjorie Stemple, the former of whom was recovering from recent surgery.

Brian and Jeremy Lantz of Statesville, N.C., were accompanied by their fiancés on a weekend visit at Aurora with their parents, Kirk and Anita Lantz, sister Becky, and other relatives.

Attending Fall Rally of West Marva District Church of the Brethren Women's Fellowship on Oct. 11, were Connie Nicklow, Lois Waybright, Shirley Lipscomb, and Marie Teets. The meeting was held at the Bethel Church of the Brethren near Petersburg.

BUS TRIP SET

Reservations for a bus trip to the Green Valley Book Fair at Harrisonburg, Va., on Nov. 25, are due by Oct. 20. The $10 per person charge covers transportation, with a stop for a buffet lunch prior to shopping, and dinner stop enroute home to be at each one's expense. Books of all categories of interest are available at this location at 60-90% discount. Persons may call the Aurora School or contact Krist Hayes to make this last minute reservation.

Youth Group To Sponsor Revival

The youth group of Trinity United Methodist Church, Terra Alta, will sponsor a week-long revival, and will kick off the series of services with a sing on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m. Services will be held Monday through Friday, Oct. 30-Nov. 3, at 7 p.m., with a different speaker each evening.

The speakers include: Rev. Josh Lively, Monday; Pastor Ross Glotfelty, Tuesday; Rev. Berlin Wilhelm, Wednesday; Rev. Kevin Thompkins, Thursday; and Rev. Harry Hebenthal, Friday.

All are invited to attend these services, according to Pastor Larry Peters and the members of the Trinity Crusaders Youth Group. The church is located at the corner of State Avenue and Third Street in Terra Alta.

Families Facing Long-Term Care Financial Crises

Many families in western Maryland face a crisis as they attempt to provide long-term care for their husbands and wives, mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers. That care may exact a tremendous toll from family members, their jobs, and their families, according to a spokesman for the Western Maryland Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association.

"The strain is great in dollars, with huge out-of-pocket costs and lost wages, but also costly in emotional wear and tear on every member of the family," he said, noting that more than 70 percent of people with Alzheimer's live at home, where family members provide 75 percent of their care.

The health care industry itself estimates that less than one-third of the elderly and one-half of those 60-64 can buy even two years of protection. "No matter how successful the industry is in marketing its product as a retirement planning tool, every person with a disability gets denied because of strict medical underwriting. People with Alzheimer's can't buy long-term care insurance at any price," the spokesman said, adding that private insurace alone cannot solve this "national crisis."

The states are trying to expand home- and community-based care, but they have limited funds, tight eligibility rules, and long waiting lists, he pointed out. "Assistance from public health programs is limited. Medicare doesn't cover long-term care. Medicaid helps only after your resources are exhausted. Many families fall through the cracks. They have too many resources to qualify for Medicaid, but not enough money to pay their long term care bills," he stated.

The cost of one year in a nursing home can exceed $42,000, and a year of paid care at home, where families do most of the work, can cost $12,500.

Nationally, long-term care affects more than the families of the 4 million people with Alzheimer's disease. One 1999 survey estimated that 22.4 million families are caring for frail elderly relatives or friends, a number that is three times what it was a decade ago, the spokesman said.

"Long-term care in America is a house of cards, which the family caregivers are literally holding up with their own hands. If family caregivers disappear, the whole system collapses, taking Medicare and Medicaid down with it," he noted.

"Congress has been considering small steps to help caregivers, and President Clinton has repeated his call for a tax credit for family caregivers and funding for respite care and other caregiver support services. But many in Congress are saying there's no money for even this assistance, at a time of a trillion dollar federal budget surplus," the spokesman said.

He concluded by pointing out that in this election year, voters have a right to ask every candidate to explain what his or her health care plan proposes to do about long-term care.

Plans Outlined For Red Ribbon Week In County

The Garrett County Health Department will celebrate Red Ribbon Week, October 23-31 by using this annual campaign to bring together parents, schools, and businesses to help create drug-free communities.

Health department personnel will share alcohol, tobacco, and other drug prevention messages in the elementary schools and hand out red ribbons as a symbol of being "drug free."

Some schools will also participate in the "Theme of the Day is...." campaign, which will encourage students to support drug-free themes in the following manners:

- shade out drugs day: wear sunglasses to school to show that they are drug-free
- sock it to drugs day: wear "crazy" or mismatched socks to show commitment to be drug free
- put a cap on drugs day: students wear hats to school to show Red Ribbon Week spirit
- turn your back on drugs day: wearing clothes backwards to show a choice to be drug free, and
- team up against drugs day: students will team up for the fight against drugs by wearing favorite sports team paraphernalia

Some local businesses have agreed to display drug-free messages in recognition of this campaign. "Red Ribbon Week is a chance to be visible and vocal in our desire for a drug-free community. We know that children are less likely to use alcohol and other drugs when parents and other role models are clear and consistent in their opposition to alcohol and drug abuse," said Sandy Sutton of the health department.

The first Red Ribbon campaign was organized in 1986 by a grassroots organization of parents, dedicated to protecting communities from destructive effects of alcohol and drugs. The red ribbon was adopted as a symbol of the movement in honor of Enrique Camarena, an agent with the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, who was kidnapped and killed while investigating drug traffickers.

For more information on Red Ribbon Week or prevention resources, persons may call the Community Health and Outreach Department at the Garrett County Health Department.

The following is the second of a two-part article on breast diseases and breast care.

DISEASES OF THE BREAST
by Ihor A. Zakaluzny, M.D.

Breast cancer is the most common cancer in women, and the most important risk factor for breast cancer in women is increasing age. Other risk factors include a strong family history of breast cancer, early onset of menstruation, late menopause, absence of pregnancies, and having a child late rather than early in one's childbearing years. Two genes have been now identified that are associated with a very high risk for developing breast cancer. Testing for these genes would be indicated for an individual with a strong family history of breast cancer or ovarian cancer on either the mother's or father's side of the family. It should be emphasized that the majority of breast cancers occur in women with no increased risk for developing the disease.

There are many different types of breast cancer, and treatment needs to be individualized, both for the type of cancer and also for the stage (amount or level of spread). The potential aggressiveness of a particular cancer can be predicted using specific microscopic tests, and this may also affect recommended treatment. The patient's age is also important in determining treatment options. Most breast cancers are usually first treated by surgical removal. The extent of surgery may range from removal of the lump and some normal surrounding tissue only, to removal of the entire breast. The lymph glands in the axilla may also be removed as part of the surgical treatment.

Radiation to the affected breast or chest wall may also be recommended. Chemotherapy, where medications are given to kill cancer cells remaining after surgery, might also be indicated for treatment in the breast cancer patient. Hormonal therapy, a form of chemotherapy usually involving a drug called tamoxifen, may also be given to maximize the chances for cure.

It is important to remember that every patient, and tumor, is different, so that there is no standard treatment plan that is applicable to every patient. Treatment for breast cancer is complex and highly individualized, and there are usually options to consider.

Screening for breast diseases, and especially for breast cancer, usually includes self-examination, formal breast examination, and screening mammograms. Learning to perform self-examination is usually done at specific clinics or through the family doctor's office The goal is not to diagnose a specific problem, but rather to determine when there might be a problem in the breast, requiring further work-up. The goal of screening mammograms (done for women without a specific breast problem) is to find breast cancers early in their course, so that the chance of cure with treatment is optimized. Most abnormalities found on screening mammograms are due to benign causes. Screening mammograms are usually scheduled beginning at age 40, and are usually done every year or every two years.

Common benign breast problems in men include gynecomastia (enlargement or swelling of the breast tissues), and breast tenderness. Pubertal boys especially tend to get temporary enlargement and discomfort in the breasts, due to hormonal fluctuations. As in women, males need to be individually assessed for each complaint. Males will also get breast cancer, but much more rarely than women. Breast cancers in men generally present as lumps beneath the nipples. Diagnostic and treatment approaches are similar to those as in women.

Currently, prevention of breast cancer in high risk women involves the use of tamoxifen or prophylactic mastectomy (usually considered in women with a proven genetic predisposition to developing breast cancer, and with women who have had the types of breast cancer that tend to be found or redevelop in multiple areas of the breasts).

THE SIGN OF AN EXCEPTIONAL SALES ASSOCIATE.

Dear Mr. Huebner:

We recently purchased the cottage at 196 Gravelly Run Road. Ann Smith was the salesperson who represented us in this purchase, and we wanted to let you know that we were extremely pleased to have her as our representative. Ann was very professional and at the same time very calm and relaxed with us. We didn't feel pressured, hurried or in any way pushed into making our decision. She spent considerable time showing the property, answering our questions and clearly was interested in accommodating us. Everything from the showing to fmal settlement went very smoothly and orderly. All of our questions (and there were many) were answered promptly, courteously and Ann was always positive and pleasant. We really appreciated Ann's services to us and would recommend her highly to other prospective buyers.

Sincerely,
Roberta G. Lloyd

LOST SOULS

Rated R - Running Time: 1:37 - Released 10/13/00

Every Halloween brings its share of spooky-ooky-ooky releases, and this year's current entry is Janusz Kaminski's Lost Souls, the first directorial effort for the long-time Spielberg cinematographer. Although Kaminski's art can be seen in such masterpieces as Schindler's List, Saving Private Ryan, and Amistad, the directing talent of his influential pal has apparently not rubbed off. Written by Pierce Gardner and Betsy Stahl (first outing for them, too), Lost Souls is a mangled mess of Catholic idolatry and boogie-man mumbo-jumbo — boring, uneventful, and primarily stupid. Kaminski tries to use some jittery camera work to keep us awake, but the Gardner/Stahl script and the phoned in performances of Winona Ryder and Ben Chaplin make it a first class yawn fest and a tragic waste of time and celluloid. Even a cameo by John Hurt fails to make this film worthwhile.

Lost Souls takes an obscure passage from Deuteronomy and tries desperately to make something of it: at the film's opening, we see the words, "A man born of incest will become Satan and the world will be no more." Next we witness a failed exorcism which is attempted on a convicted killer thought to be possessed. But although psychopath Bergson (John Diehl) is not the devil in disguise, he seems to know who is. Through a numerical code he constantly scribbles down, he communicates to former possessee Maya Larkin (Ryder) that the Beast is hiding in the body of one Peter Kelson (Chaplin), an author who studies the psychology of killers and who does not believe that evil, per se, exists. He believes instead in a condition he calls "malignant narcissism," which is never properly explained, but which apparently causes people's evil behavior without the need for any dark lord of the underworld to control them.

So Maya goes to the famed author and explains to him that not only does the devil exist, but it's him. He is not amused.

Lost Souls has no redeeming qualities. I have never seen Winona Ryder so indifferent to a role; it's as if she had to do this film in order to fulfill a court-ordered agreement, like community service. Maybe she got caught smoking doobie on the set of Girl, Interrupted. Meanwhile, Chaplin has the emotional depth of a French poodle. He can't seem to manage anything but a look of confusion, perhaps because he's baffled at how his career has progressed from The Remains Of The Day to The Thin Red Line to this. The story is dreadfully boring; it is a full hour into the film before anything remotely interesting happens and the ending is no less than idiotic. Director Kaminski shows his cinematographic roots by utilizing color desaturation and a couple of different film stocks, not to mention handheld cameras, dark, brooding sets, and pretentious camera angles. But it's all just a show of technical knowhow with no . . . well, soul. ★

DIGIMON: THE MOVIE

Rated PG - Running Time: 1:22 - Released 10/6/00

I've seen some crappy kids' cartoon movies in my day, but I have to say I have never been so appalled as I was trying to make sense out of Digimon: The Movie, the latest release in the Japanese-originated-manufactured-cartoon-heroes-for-the-purpose-of-selling-overpriced-merchandise-to-innocent-unsuspecting-kids-and-their-justifiably-annoyed-parents category. If you thought Pokémon was bad, this stuff will knock your socks off. A mass of technobabble and loud noises "written" by Jeff Nimoy and Bob Buchholz and "directed" by Mamoru Hosoda, Minoru Hosoda, and Shigeyasu Yamauchi, the film tells the story of characters created in the computer (hence "digital monsters"), and is patterned stylistically after the craze started by Pikachu and his pals, but the story is incomprehensibly stupid and the production values vehemently soulless. Not only is the animation visibly jerky, ugly, and unprofessional, about 50% of the words in the script either begin with the prefix "digi-" or end with the suffix "-mon," a phenomenon that seems intentionally designed to produce a nervous breakdown among parents in the shortest possible time.

Perhaps my personal dissatisfaction was caused by the fact that from about halfway through the movie I was fighting desperately to stay awake, but even the children in the audience at my showing were running up and down the aisles toward the end, blissfully unaware of the seizure-inducing events unfolding on the screen. What ever happened to Bugs Bunny tying Elmer Fudd's shotgun barrel into a bow? Now, that's cartoon entertainment.

The story, if you can call it that, which features the nearly indistinguishable voices of Joshua Seth and Mona Marshall, comes in three acts: first we have some Japanese kids who get a digimon out of their computer (this apparently happens from time to time in the "digi" world), and ultimately witness a huge fight between it and another creature for no apparent reason. Act two, arguably the most interesting and followable portion of the film, has one creature living in the Internet, spreading computer viruses all over the place and threatening to take complete control, while our pre-pubescent heroes and their pixellated pals fight to turn the situation around. The segment features a surrealistic but visually interesting trip into cyberspace with some eye-pleasing images. Act three involves some sort of major battle between good and evil digimon, the result of which will determine the fate of the world as we know it.

Apparently, the whole gimmick of Digimon is the concept that unlike Pokémon, these creatures "evolve" every so often (actually it's called "digi-volving"), turning into more and more powerful and menacing cyber-fighters, going through various levels with names like the rookie level, the champion level, and the ultimate level. This concept is primarily designed to sell the ridiculously expensive digimon cards (I've heard that some are priced upwards of $20 each), and not to make interesting or watchable stories. After all, if you've got a card with a certain digmon on it, you have to get all the various permutations of that character as he "digivolves," so you can impress your friends with the complete set. This Pokémon/Digimon phenomenon seems to have every American kid between the ages of 3 and 10 by the throat right now, and it's making money faster than they can print up the coveted cards, computer software, and other digi-merchandise. So one would think that the Japanese producers could afford production values to make a film like this more watchable. Guess again. ★

In Loving Remembrance of William "Jack" Frantz's Birthday
October 17, 1936 - June 5, 2000

My brother made that journey,
We all have to make someday.
How we wish he was here,
So that we could wish him a "Happy Birthday".

His leaving was so unexpected,
That we didn't get to say, "Goodbye".
It has left us with heartache,
And we still question, "Why?"

As a young boy,
He loved picnics and swimming, or taking a hike.
He became quite adept at baseball,
And riding his bike.

He graduated from High School,
Then volunteered for "Uncle Sam".
He trained in the Signal Corps,
And his assignment was in Japan.

He received an Honorable Discharge,
Then college became his quest.
He found that teaching Science,
Was what he liked best.

He loved the beauty of our country,
And wished to see more of this nation.
So, in Summer, he worked as a Park Ranger,
Instead of taking a vacation.

Whether in the Rocky Mountains,
Or beside an Alaskan stream,
He felt that land should be protected,
As a part of the "American Dream".

The Man of La Mancha,
Was his favorite story, by far.
He admired Don Quixote,
As he followed his star.

We were a caring, loving family,
Sharing our ups and downs.
I loved my brother very much,
Even when he teased my about a "Royal Clown".

Our family has grown smaller,
Life will never be as it was before.
For our brother, and son,
The quest has ended - and he has found his star.

He will forever remain in our Loving Memory:
Sister - Thelma Jean Humberson
Mother - Gladys I. Frantz

THE DANGER OF MAIL ORDER PRESCRIPTIONS

Often over the years, the danger of mail order prescriptions has been cited in many medical journals. Here is one example:

"The dangers of mail order prescriptions include delays encountered in obtaining the medication, the absence of the physician-pharmacist relationship, the difficulties of checking the prescription files for strength and dosage, and the possibilities that prescriptions will be filled by non-professional personnel. All physicians should cooperate by keeping their patients informed relative to the dangers of these schemes." (end of quote)

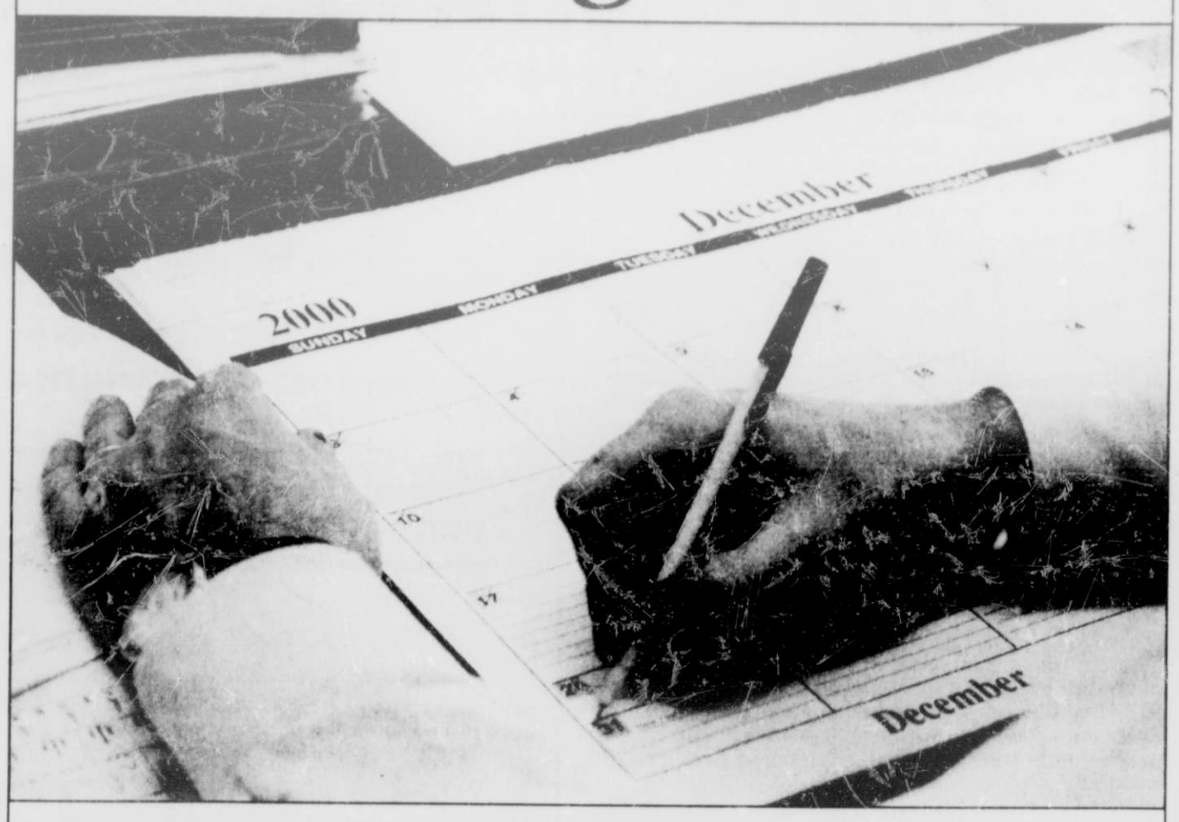
Making Plans



"Excuse me, let me check my calendar."

Arranging appointments and maintaining scurrying social schedules is an almost impossible task. Days and weeks fly by in a whirlwind of stressful planning. Occasionally we need to assess our expenditure of time in order to be sure we are using it wisely.

Is God marked on your calendar? This consideration affects all of your plans. God wants us to make Him a part of each day. Our stress level will decrease as our faith in God's power increases. The Bible tells us, "A man's mind plans his way, but the Lord directs his steps." (Proverbs 16:9)

Most importantly, plan to worship God this week. God's plans include you, so make this your most important engagement.

What Shall I Do?

October 22, 2000

Background Scripture:
2 Samuel 2 through 5; 1 Chronicles 11:1-3.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 78:67-72.

During this past week, two different people came to me for counseling. Although they verbalized it somewhat differently, both said their greatest concern at this point is to determine what God wants them to do now. I think that both of them already know what God wants of them and that they just wanted to try out their understanding with someone else.

We begin and process through life with goals—to start school, graduate from high school, get into college, graduate from college, find a job, wed a mate and settle down to raise a family. We may also aspire to getting promoted in our business or achieve a certain financial status. But, then, somewhere along the line, we seem to run out of goals and we get to the point where we do not live for something; just live. No longer seeking a goal, we begin just to drift.

In the church we have held that people who want enter the Christian ministry must have a call of some kind. We had to be convinced that God was calling us and be able to convince others of that call. But we realize now that, not only does God call people to the ordained ministry, but that he calls everyone to be and achieve something. All Christians have a calling. So all of us need to ask God what he wants us to do to.

What Now, LORD?

After this the memorial for King Saul and Jonathan David inquired of the Lord" (2:1). David did this because he believed that God had been guiding and directing his life from the day he sent Samuel to anoint him. So, David was not asking God for his guidance for the first time. God told him to go to Hebron, beginning a long and convoluted path from King of Judah to King of all Israel. But the path was begun because David in

Why Regis says, 'You can't see us right now'

Regis Philbin

Q: On Who Wants to Be a Millionaire, Regis Philbin often says to the people he phones during the game, "I know you can't see us right now." Why can't those people see the show? –Irene T., Pinellas Park, Fla.

A: Simple, Irene. The show is not live; it's taped – so when Philbin actually makes the calls you see on the show, that episode is not being broadcast to the home audience.

Q: I say Michael DeLorenzo of Showtime's Resurrection Blvd. started out on Fame and New York Undercover, but my friend insists I am confusing him with a different actor. Who is right? –Lavern Elliott, Marietta, Ga.

A: You're right. DeLorenzo made his movie debut as a dancer in Fame and then had a small featured role in the TV version. He later played Detective Eddie Torres on New York Undercover. The 40-ish New York native, who plans to release a CD in the near future, also appeared on Head of the Class.

Q: I seem to be the only person who remembers a sitcom called Hey, Landlord. What can you tell me about it? –P.M. Geary, Grand Junction, Colo.

A: TV's former Sugarfoot, Will Hutchins, starred in this 1966-67 NBC sitcom as Woody Banner, a naive Ohio boy fresh out of college who moved into a Manhattan brownstone bequeathed to him by an uncle. He immediately found himself over his head trying to cope with the eccentric residents' demands.

Q: Who starred in the TV series version of No Time for Sergeants? –Dennis P. Albert, Leominster, Mass.

A: Based on the hit play and movie starring Andy Griffith, Sergeants (ABC, 1964-65) starred Sammy Jackson as simple country boy Will Stockdale, with Harry Hickox as his nemesis, Sgt. King.

Q: Several years ago I saw a great movie starring Sigourney Weaver as a journalist during the riots in Indonesia. Whatever became of the dwarfish actor who played another major role in the movie? –Bernard David, Berkeley, Calif.

A: That "actor" was Linda Hunt, who scored a well-deserved Academy Award as best supporting actress for her astonishing gender-bending performance as Billy Kwan in The Year of Living Dangerously. Hunt, now 55, has a recurring role as Judge Zoey Hiller in The Practice.

Bloomington Youth Raising Memorial Funds

The students of Bloomington School are working to raise money to help build the proposed World War II memorial in Washington, D.C., and are asking for community support in this effort. One event for this purpose will be a yard and bake sale, to be held this Saturday, Oct. 21. Persons having clean, usable, prepriced items to donate to the yard sale, and/or baked goods for the bake sale are asked to telephone the school at 301-359-0331, or drop the items off at the school.

In preparation for a field trip to Washington, Bloomington students completed a project that involved doing research on the Internet and then constructing large replicas of buildings and memorials that line the Mall in the District of Columbia. According to a spokesperson for the school, the gymnasium was transformed into a replica of the Mall, and students conducted tours and shared the knowledge they had gained with other students in their school, and with those of another school.

"It was this research that led them to the realization that there was no memorial for the veterans of World War II," the spokesperson said, "so they decided to raise money to help build one."

The students are also soliciting visits and information from area World War II veterans, and asking that they contact the school at the above telephone number. They plan to host the veterans for a time of information sharing, and then hold a reception and social time in their honor.

Rotary Christmas Project Gearing Up For Holidays

The Oakland Rotary Christmas Project will be getting under way for another holiday season when the Rotary Christmas trees, a fixture of the local community for many years, will make their annual appearance at local businesses during Thanksgiving week.

As before, each tree will be decorated with cards that list a name and the requested gift of a Garrett County child in need. The gifts, which must be returned by Dec. 12, will be prepared on Dec. 15 and delivered on Dec. 16. Volunteers can sign up now to assist with gift preparation and delivery by contacting Kathy Zimmerman at 301-334-2820 or Doug Riley at 301-334-8798.

Prospective volunteers should take note of the new location for the Rotary project preparations. This year the gifts will be prepared at the Simon Pearce glass factory at 265 Glass Drive, Oakland (the old Bausch & Lomb plant).

Persons interested in making a tax-deductible contribution to the project can send a check to: Oakland Rotary Club, P.O. Box 741, Oakland, MD 21550.

League To Study Charter Schools; Meeting Slated

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County will hold a public meeting at Southern High School next Wednesday, Oct. 25, beginning at 7 p.m., for the purpose of sharing and gathering information about the topic of charter schools. The meeting will be held in room 1145, and members of the league will receive by mail information about charter schools, as well as 10 questions which will serve as the focus of the discussion. The public is invited and encouraged by the league to attend.

According to a spokesperson for the league, at its convention in June of 1999, the League of Women Voters of Maryland adopted as part of its education study the topic of school choice. The study is being done to develop positions on charter schools, vouchers, and possibly other alternatives to the traditional public education system. As part of that study, all local leagues are holding consensus meetings in their communities.

The spokesperson explained that charter schools are established for a variety of reasons, and that the founders generally fall into one of three groups: grassroots organizations of parents, teachers, and other community members; entrepreneurs; or existing schools converting to charter schools. The three reasons most given for creating a charter school are to: realize an educational vision, gain autonomy, and serve a special population. Parents and teachers choose charter schools primarily for education reasons: high academic standards, small class size, innovative approaches, and/or educational philosophies in line with their own.

Thirty-six states and the District of Columbia have charter schools, with an enrollment in excess of 250,000. A state consensus will enable the Maryland LWV to advocate for or against any law that is proposed in the state legislature and specific provisions in regard to charter schools in such a law.

Proposed legislation was introduced in the Maryland General Assembly in the 1999 and 2000 sessions, and is expected to be reintroduced again in the 2001 session.

CLASSMATES GATHER - Members of the Grantsville High School class of 1945 met at St. Ann's hall in Avilton on August 26 to hold a reunion marking 55 years since graduation. There were 17 of the graduates in attendance, accompanied by their spouses. Memorials were offered for deceased class members and former teachers. This was the third reunion held by the group, the first of which was in 1965 (in the old school building) and the second was held in 1995. Another such get-together is planned for 2005. As one graduate said: "It was a heart-warming evening — seeing old friends and sharing school memories." In the photo, seated, from left are Retha (Folk) Oester, Marilyn (Wilburn) Edwards, Wanda (Beachy) Sheffield, Jean (Buckel) Cope, Helen (Durst) Oester, Mary Allene (Broadwater) O'Neal, and Ruth (Walls) Gindelsperger. Standing are William Layman, Dalton Stanton, Robert Glotfelty, Rita (Edwards) Hiller, Pauline (Miller) Georg, Hayward Broadwater, Fern (Brenneman) Meyers, Evelyn (Crowe) Boone, George Edgar, and John Patton.

T'ai Chi Class Slated At GCC

A course in the physical and mental exercise T'ai Chi Ch'uan will be offered Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 4-5, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. each day at Garrett Community College. T'ai Chi is described as a series of soft, fluid exercises designed to promote good health and well-being between mind, body, and spirit, with an emphasis on quality, not quantity, of movement.

"T'ai Chi is very physical, developing strength, balance, and flexibility, it is 90 percent a mental exercise," course instructor Stan Swartz explained. "The exercises are performed in a calm and peaceful manner so that everyone, regardless of age, may benefit."

Swartz has studied T'ai Chi Ch'uan since 1973 with four senior students of Grand Master Chen Man-ch'ing. He has taught in Europe, Puerto Rico, Florida, and New York City, and in Pittsburgh since 1982.

Interested persons may contact GCC's Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3088 for registration information.

Jennings ELCA Women Convene

Women of the ELCA of Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting in the church on October 12.

Marjorie Wan led the topic "Proclaim the Name of Jesus." The principle endeavors of the lesson were to study the meaning and use of the phrase "in the name of Jesus," and to explore creative ways, including storytelling and personal sharing, to witness to others.

Devotions closed with the prayer for the day of St. Luke, followed by the reading of the hymn "Lord of All Nations, Grant Me Grace."

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

Announcement was made of the fall retreat for the Monongahela Valley-Mountain and the Ohio-Kanawha Valley clusters of Women of the ELCA. Held annually at Jackson's Mill, near Weston, W.Va., the retreat is being held November 4-5, under the theme "The Joys of Our Faith."

A thank-you card was received from the Lutheran Home at Kane, Pa., upon receipt of a package of practical items sent by Zion's unit.

A package of eight baby quilts and three sets of hand-knit scarves and caps was sent to Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Box Elder, Mont., for their layette and clothing ministries on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation.

The annual ingathering of the thank offerings will be observed at the November meeting.

CHANGING MANAGEMENT - Egle Nursing Home Inc., Lonaconing, and its related management company, Egle Nursing Home Management Inc., were recently purchased by G.C. Healthcare Inc. of Lonaconing, the principals of which are Jeffrey Metz, president, David Lauder, vice president, Troy Raines, secretary, and Barbara Lauder, treasurer. The facility will continue to operate under the name of Egle Nursing Home and will retain all of its current management and staff, which has been operating the facility for over 8 years. Egle Nursing Home was established in 1977 by Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Egle and was privately held by Vera Egle until the recent acquisition. Egle is a 66-bed skilled nursing facility staffed by over 80 employees, serving western Maryland. A full range of services are offered, including extensive rehabilitation services. Financing for the project was handled through F&M Bank and the Small Business Development Center. Pictured are Kathy Getty of F&M Bank, Metz, Vera Egle, Lauder, Lauder, and Mark Malec of the Small Business Development Center.

GCC Schedules Therapeutic Touch Course

An introductory course in Therapeutic Touch is slated for Saturday, Nov. 11, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College. Instructor Mike Voelkel will cover the perception, assessment, and treatment of the dynamic human energy field basic to therapeutic touch, which was first conceived as an extension of professional nursing care.

GCC is approved by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork to provide Category A continuing education for licensed massage therapists, who are eligible for six continuing education units if they provide proof of licensure at the time of registration.

For additional information, persons may call 301-387-3088, or visit the Continuing Education and Training Division Office in Room 300 at GCC's McHenry campus.

Mike Green To Speak At FSU

Mike Green, a nationally respected leader in the field of alcohol and drug education, will present "Kegs, Kicks, Kompetition" on Monday, Oct. 30, at Frostburg State University.

This event, which is free and open to the public, will take place at 7 p.m. in the Lane Center's Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall, formerly known as the Multi-Use Room. It is the last in a series of talks sponsored by the S.A.F.E. Office and BURG as part of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Month.

Green has brought his message to more than 1,000 campuses nationwide during the past decade. As a recovering alcoholic, he offers a personal perspective on the social and peer pressures unique to college, as well as the myths versus the realities of alcohol abuse and its impact on the individual student and the institution. He says his goal is to make drug and alcohol awareness an integral part of every student's life.

As president of Collegiate Consultants on Drugs and Alcohol, Green consults with student affairs and athletic departments at numerous universities, including Temple, Villanova, Akron, and Hobart. At Senator Bill Bradley's request, he developed drug and alcohol programs for the New Jersey high schools. He has produced a series of videotapes that include many of his acclaimed "think before you drink" techniques.

A graduate of West Chester University, Green was recently named a Distinguished Alumnus. He has played and coached football at both the high school and college levels.

For more information, persons may call the S.A.F.E. Office at 301-687-4761.

Mrs. Darlene Schmidt and Rachel. The statement was made by Duane Rice that "he can sew better than I can" when the youth were asked what they had learned on the trip. Several youth were fascinated with the band saw that he used to cut material.

The club decided to have a record-project meeting on Saturday, Nov. 4, at 10 a.m. at the Accident fire hall. The youth will be served a soup and sandwich lunch after the meeting.

The club decided to sell Little Caesar's pizza for a fund-raising event. It was also decided to have a Christmas dinner on Tuesday, Dec. 12, with the exchange of a $5 jingle gift.

Demonstrations were given by Annamay Broadwater on her cat, Missy and Tonya Broadwater on "How You Feed and Take Care of an Infant" and also on infant CPR.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 14, at the Accident fire hall.

CLUB SUPPORTS HOSPICE - The Deer Park Sportsman's Club recently presented a donation to Hospice of Garrett County. G.P. Halterman Sr., president of the club, said that the sportsmen want to support a local charity. "We are aware of the comfort and support that Hospice gives to the terminally ill. This is our way of expressing our appreciation of the good work of the staff and volunteers," he noted. In the picture, from left, are Halterman, Brenda Butscher, executive director of Hospice, and Fred Wolfe, treasurer of the Deer Park Sportman's Club.

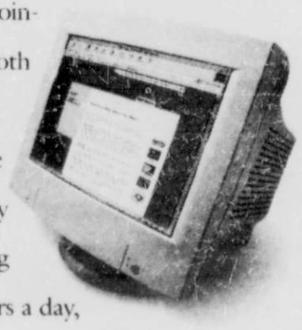
What Does M&T Stand For?

IN 1856, IT STOOD FOR MANUFACTURERS & TRADERS.

Now that Keystone Financial is M&T Bank, you're probably wondering who we are and what you can expect from us. Well, M&T was founded more than 140 years ago, and since then, we've built a reputation for reliability, accessibility and providing our customers with responsive service. That's a tradition we're going to continue here.

TODAY, IT STANDS FOR MUCH, MUCH MORE.



Putting you first is what M&T is all about. And by joining with Keystone, we can bring you the best of both banks. You can still bank at the same branches and ATMs, and with the same friendly people you've always known. But now they can offer you a lot more, including access to your accounts, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with M&T Web Banking. Plus, they can offer you more flexible home equity lines of credit, and for businesses, new and innovative lending and cash management solutions. See for yourself what M&T really stands for. THE PENGUIN IN YOUR REFRIGERATOR

Q. The light inside my refrigerator stays on, even when the door is closed. I unscrewed the bulb because it was actually heating up the food near it. Why won't the light go out? — Jamie S., San Antonio

A. That's easy. Your refrigerator penguin is on vacation.

Just kidding.

Actually, tiny penguins do not toddle out and switch off the light every time you close the door. The light goes off when the door closes over a small, spring-loaded switch, pushing it in and opening the circuit. This switch is sometimes located at the top of the refrigerator compartment, near the light itself; it can also be found on the side of the compartment where the door closes against it.

Locate the switch and push it in a couple of times. Does the switch pop out when you let go of it, as it's supposed to? Or does it stick? Can you see any damage?

If the switch sticks, clean it with mild soap and a damp cloth, then dry it.

Unplug the refrigerator for a moment, screw the light bulb back in — protect your hand with a dry cloth — and flick the switch a few more times. If the light stays on, you may have a wiring problem, which can only be solved by a repairman. Unplug the fridge again to remove the light bulb from its socket, then plug it back in to keep the food cool until the repairman arrives.

Q. The light in my oven burned out, and I'm not sure what type of bulb to buy or even how to replace it. Can I use just any light bulb in there? — Gretchen L., Oviedo, Fla.

A. Don't use any old light bulb in the oven! Regular light bulbs aren't meant to handle the extreme temperatures generated by your stove. Instead, go to the nearest hardware or home improvement store, and ask for a 40-watt appliance bulb specially designed for use in ovens.

Turn off the light at the main circuit, then remove the glass or plastic shield. Use a dry cloth or gloves to unscrew the old bulb and replace it.

If the new light doesn't work, it could indicate a larger problem. Call a professional repairman to check the oven's wiring.

Advertising signs of all ages are selling for high prices. The early handmade signs are popular with folk-art collectors.

Late-19th- and 20th-century tin lithographed signs can sell for thousands of dollars if the graphics are appealing and the brand is known. Kings of the collectibles are cola and soda-pop advertising pieces, especially signs.

Patent medicines became popular in the 1860s. The public wanted to find a drink that would make them feel healthy. Druggists often made their own drinks, which usually had alcohol mixed with herbs, drugs like cocaine and some flavoring. A Georgia druggist mixed a kola nut extract, fruit syrup, coca-leaf extract and water and sold it in an Atlanta drugstore as Coca-Cola. In 1887 the formula was mixed with carbonated water. Dozens of other soft drinks or medicines were sold at drugstores. Food and drug laws have changed the contents of soft drinks sold today, but they still contain carbonated water, flavoring and, possibly, caffeine and herbs. The ads in the past stressed the medicinal value — "aids digestion," "renews vigor," "freedom from fatigue" — and even suggested that the drinks cured headaches and diseases of the vocal cords.

Look for old ads of any sort: paper signs, trays, glasses, figures, lights or clocks. Save new items, like drink cups from ball games, Olympic pins, printed shirts or ties, bottles and cans. They will all have value in the future.

Tip: If you have a battery-operated 1940s toy like "Smoking Grandpa," you might want to replenish the smoke-maker when it wears out. Just put a few drops of sewing-machine oil into the smoking tube. An electric spark in the toy causes the oil to smoke, and allows the toy to puff on a cigarette, pipe or cigar.

Paw's Corner
by Samantha Mazzotta

Here's a bit of pet behavior you probably already knew about: According to British biologist Rupert Sheldrake, dogs, cats and birds may actually "sense" when their owners are coming home, and begin preparing for their return up to an hour ahead of time.

I can't say that my pet can sense, telepathically, when I'm packing my briefcase for the drive home. However, my cat is always curled up faithfully on the welcome mat when I arrive home each evening. And I've seen the neighbor's dog peeking out the window at regular intervals in the evening, waiting for his master to show up.

The longer he waits, the more agitated he becomes. And the same is true of Dodge, who is quick to voice his displeasure on those nights I work overtime. I've come home to shredded carpets, carved-up furniture, and — the ultimate expression — little "gifts" left well away from the litter box.

To keep Dodge calm, I try to get home around the same time every night. I also leave a couple of lights on, tune the stereo to a jazz station and make sure he has plenty of food and water. And as soon as I get home, I spend about 30 minutes playing with my cat. He's still not happy about my work schedule, but my carpet and furniture are no longer in danger.

State Forest Work Plans To Be Presented

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) State Forest and Park Service will host public meetings to present the proposed Fiscal Year 2002 work plans for Potomac Garrett and Savage River state forests on Nov. 4.

During the meeting, staff will present proposals for new construction and changes in forest use and harvests. A question/answer and public comment opportunity will follow the presentations.

"DNR manages state forests and parks to improve wildlife habitat, to offer limited sustainable forest harvesting, and to offer recreational opportunities for the public," said DNR State Forest and Park Service superintendent Rick Barton. "I encourage citizens to participate in the public meeting process and contribute ideas and suggestions that will improve the quality of our state forests and parks."

Forest managers formulated work plans last winter, presented plans for a DNR interdisciplinary review in June, and they were reviewed by forest advisory boards in October. A copy of the annual plan will be available at the public meetings or can be obtained from the state forest headquarters. A 30-day comment period will run through Dec. 4, and the public is encouraged to submit comments in writing if unable to attend.

Written comments should be mailed to: Potomac Garrett State Forest, 1431 Potomac Camp Rd., Oakland, MD 21550 (301-334-2038); and/or Savage River State Forest, 349 Headquarters Rd., Grantsville, MD 21536 (301-895-5759).

The public meeting date, location, and time for the Potomac Garrett and Savage River state forests are Saturday, Nov. 4, at 10 a.m., at the Bittinger fire hall.

Local Church Hosting Praise, Worship Service

Crellin Assembly of God, located four miles southwest of Oakland along Highway 39 in Crellin, will be hosting a Praise & Worship Revival Rally this Friday, Oct. 20, at 7 p.m. Praise and worship will be the main agenda of the service, with prayer being offered at the end of the service. "A special prayer time will be designated during the service, as those gathered will intercede asking God to send revival to the mountaintop, giving all our churches both favor and power to reap the harvest," stated a church spokesperson. All are invited to attend. For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-3867.

Christmas At Spruce Forest To Be Dec. 1-2

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Grantsville, will celebrate its 15th annual Christmas in the Village on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1 and 2.

"One of our biggest crowd pleasers are the nearly 500 candle luminaries that are set throughout the village, lighting the paved pathways between the old log cabins and schoolhouses," said village administrator Trish Morgan. "Each evening at about 5 p.m. our volunteers begin lighting the candles, lending a wonderful, peaceful ambiance for the thousands who come to the festival."

When the festival opens at 4 p.m. on Friday, visitors will find eight artisans who have decorated their cabin studios and who will be present throughout the festival. On Saturday, the festival will begin at noon. Christmas in the Village ends both evenings at 8 p.m. or until after the evening concerts.

Artisans who will be welcoming visitors at the two-day festival will include Jody Best, blacksmith; Jim and Mary Ann Cummings, stained glass artists; Connie Stark, teddy bear artist and herbs specialist; Peggy Nixon, slate painter; Meriam Brode, basket weaver and spinner; Ann Jones, weaver; and Lynn Lais, potter. These artisans will have many works for sale during the festival hours. The Compton School will feature the holiday tree, decorated with hand-crafted ornaments made by fourth grade students at a local elementary school. The Miller House and Village Office will be decorated with numerous candlelights and nativity scenes.

Other attractions of the "free admission" festival include complimentary refreshments, door prizes, holiday shopping, cookie art for children in the Compton School, and strolling carolers. Each evening at 6:30, Mt. Top Youth For Christ will perform a live nativity outdoors amidst the 75-year-old spruce forest. Following the nativity, festival-goers can venture inside the Village Church for the evening concerts: St. John's UCC Handbell Choir will perform on Friday and the Grantsville Community Choir will perform its annual cantata on Saturday. Visitors may also take the time to visit each of the 12 authentic buildings on campus, including the artisans' studios, the Compton School, the 1835 Miller House, and the church. The Village Office will be hosted by volunteers, who will offer complimentary beverages and recipes for the Courtin' Fudge that visitors can sample in the Miller House while hearing the stories of the Benedict Miller family.

"Our gracious neighbor Penn Alps Restaurant & Craft Shop will be open each day of the festival until 9 p.m. so that, after the evening concerts, some may choose to enjoy coffee and dessert, or even the special festival buffet that will be offered during the two days," added Morgan. "And Penn Alps will be extending generous discounts for items purchased at their crafts shop during the festival, which we hope will add to the entire festival experience this year."

There is no admission to the Christmas in the Village festival. "And even though we do not require an admission fee, we will gladly accept donations of any amount near the village entrance, where we will have a box established for those who would like to contribute to our organization," Morgan said.

This event is sponsored in part by the Maryland State and Garrett County Arts councils and also in part by Penn Alps Inc. For more information about the festival or any other upcoming village activities, or to inquire about local accommodations, persons may visit the web site at www.spruceforest.org, or call Ms. Morgan at 301-895-3332.

Power Plant Pollution Blamed For Hundreds of State Deaths Annually

By Sean Mussenden
Capital News Service

BALTIMORE - Power plant emissions cause more than 900 Maryland deaths each year, according to a nationwide study commissioned by an environmental watchdog group.

The findings of the Clear the Air study, released Tuesday by the U.S. Public Interest Research Group (PIRG), tie more than 30,000 nationwide fatalities each year to microscopic airborne particles released from power plants.

In the Baltimore metropolitan area alone, "More than 500 people die every year as a result of soot from power plants," said Dan Shawhan, energy program coordinator for the Maryland Public Interest Research Group. Six of the state's 16 largest power plants are located in or around Baltimore.

Spokesmen for two of the largest power companies in Maryland, PEPCO and BGE, called the study flawed for not providing the results of conflicting industry-funded studies that have downplayed the link between power plant particles and negative health effects.

"Clearly this group has an agenda," said Nancy Moses, a spokeswoman for PEPCO.

In per capita terms, the study lists residents of Allegany County as the most at risk. The Cumberland metropolitan area ranked eighth worst in the nation, with 46.5 deaths per 100,000 residents attributed to power plant pollution.

Maryland's 28.8 deaths per 100,000 adult residents put the state in 15th place. Kentucky residents are the most at risk, with 44.1 deaths per 100,000 adults.

Researchers produced the fatality and other ill-health statistics by analyzing fine particle emissions from the nation's power plants. The emissions totals were run through existing health models to determine an estimated number of deaths caused largely by heart and lung diseases. The effects of those diseases, including the number of asthma attacks, reduced activity days, and missed workdays, were also tabulated.

Shawhan noted that other factors contribute to heart and lung diseases, but that the health models used in this study were designed to remove those factors. Other Environmental Protection Agency studies have linked microscopic particle emissions from a variety of sources — including power plants, automobiles, and industry — to ill-health effects, The Sun newspaper of Baltimore reported Tuesday.

The Clear the Air study only looked at power plant emissions.

The state PIRG is urging a 75% reduction in emissions, which it said could reduce the number of fatalities and health risks by two-thirds. The group called for better enforcement of current clean air laws, a reduction in consumption of energy, and promoted cleaner sources of energy, such as wind power.

Clear the Air: National Campaign Against Dirty Power is a joint project of the Clean Air Task Force, National Environmental Trust, and the U.S. PIRG Education Fund. The study was funded by the Pew Charitable Trusts.

TELLING TALL TALES - From the verbal dueling about whose dog is smartest to rhymes about monsters, the tall tales told by youngsters at the Autumn Glory Tall Tale Story and Book Festival entertained an audience of parents, friends, and visitors to Garrett County. This scholarship fund-raising by the Association of American University Women showcased talents of students from Broad Ford and Dennett Road elementary schools and Southern Middle School. In the elementary school division, the first prize of a $50 U.S. savings bond went to Morgan Anderson and Krista Hollingsworth for their story about losing and finding animals on their way to school. Second place went to Nick Sharps and Jackie Fries for a "verbal duel" on whose dog was smartest. Third place was earned by Sara Stork, with her original story called "Stories of Tall Tales." Three friends — A.J. Stork and Jimmy and Rebecca Wilkes — joined her on the stage for her presentation. Other winners were Paige Carr, best characters; Cory Murphy, best folk tale; Katie Saba, best animal story; Willard Ashby and Tyler Ewing, most tall story; Chris Keeler, best facial expression; Samantha Griffin, most humorous; Catherine Baker, Corinne Weaver, and Lara Schad, most poetic; Sara Harvey, best winter story; Jerica Bennett, best adapted story from facts; Lauren Neville, most original; Rose Jackson, most expressive; Megan Viar, best voice; and Marshall Miller, most courageous, for volunteering to go first. In the middle school division, Daniel Carr, (above left) was named the best overall storyteller in the festival. In the photo above, right, festival coordinator Dr. Gail Herman passes out certificates to the youngsters, who took part in this storytelling event.

4-H Club News

SNOWY CREEK
by Stacey Glover
Reporter

The Snowy Creek 4-H Club held its meeting on October 12 at the Betty Guard residence, Friendsville. There were 28 members, 14 adults, and 5 guests present. Treasurer Shelby Glover collected the beef tickets and money; the rest are due by October 21.

Members who attended the Garrett Community College Agricultural Department tour on September 23 were: Shelby and Drew Glover, Mitchell and Michael Guard, David and Henry Smearman, Randi Rodeheaver, and Willi Gallagher. On September 23, Keith Artice, Amanda Frantz, Stacey Glover, Shelby Glover, and leader Wanda Guard attended the Woodmen of the World awards banquet, where our club was recognized with an Environmental Citation award. For National 4-H Week, posters were made by some members and placed throughout Friendsville, and a booth was placed in the Friendsville Library. The Adopt-A-Highway crew will be cleaning up sometime in October. The club voted to make Christmas decorations for the Friendsville Library. Re-enrollment forms will be passed out next month. We will need to come up with programs and speakers for the 2001 meetings.

Demonstrations were given by: Stacey, Shelby, and Drew Glover and Hannah Sines. The program for our meeting was Experimenting with the Five Senses. Each group was given objects to identify with one of their senses.

Our next meeting will be on November 9. We will have the election of 2001 officers, and it will also be demonstration night.

BANDS HOSTED BY OTT - The members of the Southern and Northern high school bands were treated to dinner by Our Town Theatre, Oakland, last Thursday evening prior to their participation in the Autumn Glory Festival Firemen's Parade. The theatre's board of directors prepared and served a lasagna dinner to the young musicians. Above, from left, with dinners in hand, are Northern High School "harem girls" Valerie Mastej, Amanda Bell, and Lindsay Swearman. Below, members of both bands socialize with some after-dinner conversation.

RAM Notes

•Students may now pick up parking applications from Mrs. Wilson. Mr. Quick will process them as soon as possible. Students will begin to use the upper student lot on October 23, 2000.

•A gymnasium lobby grand opening will be held during the Southern vs. Northern volleyball game on October 25.

•Ninth grade students should be preparing for Maryland State Assessment Tests to be held later this semester.

•Staff development in-service will be held on Friday afternoon, Oct. 20. Students will be dismissed from school at noon on that day.

•At the end of this week the Garrett County Board of Education will make two activity buses available to carry middle and high school students home from after-school activities. The bus will be free to all participants, and will depart from Southern High School daily at 6:05 p.m. The buses will attempt to cover most points of the southern end of the county. Students can pick up permission slips in the main office and must turn them in to the bus driver in order to be able to participate. An announcement will be made informing students of the exact date the program will begin and routes to be covered.

•The sophomore class of SHS will be selling Joe Corbi's pizza, from October 19 through November 2. Pizzas will be delivered Tuesday, Nov. 14. The proceeds will benefit the prom, senior trip, and other projects for the class of 2003. Please see any member of the sophomore class or contact Athena Wilson or Angie Teagarden at SHS at 301-334-9447 if you are interested in supporting the class of 2003.

Business Plan Course Offered

The Small Business Development Center at Garrett Community College is offering "Developing a Business Plan and Finances for the Small Businesses" beginning in November. This course is designed for entrepreneurs in need of funding to get their small business venture "off the ground." Serving as instructor for the course is Clay Garland, CPA.

Topics to be covered during this four-session class include: developing the business plan; financing options; financial statement analysis; business taxes; cash flow analysis; and budgeting and cash flow strategies.

The class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, November 7-16, from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. at the McHenry campus. For registration information, persons may contact the GCC Small Business Development Center at 301-387-3080.

Salisbury VFD To Serve Roast Beef Dinner

The Salisbury Volunteer Fire Department and Ambulance will sponsor an "all-you-can-eat" roast beef dinner on Sunday, Oct. 22, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Salisbury fire hall along Ord Street in Salisbury, Pa. The dinner will consist of roast beef, mashed potatoes and gravy, noodles, vegetables, cole slaw, a choice of beverage, and a dessert.

Take-outs will be available. The cost is $6 for adults, $3 for children 5-12, and free for children under 5.

NHS Graduate Is AP Scholar

Peter B. Winter, a former student at Northern High School, has been named an AP Scholar by the College Board in recognition of his exceptional achievement on the college-level AP (advanced placement) examinations. Only about 13 percent of the more than 700,000 students who took AP examinations in May 2000 performed at a sufficiently high level to merit such recognition.

Students take AP Examinations in May, after completing challenging college-level courses at their high school. The College Board recognizes several levels of achievement based on the number of year-long courses and exams (or their equivalent semester-long courses and exams).

Winter qualified for the AP Scholar award by completing three or more AP examinations, with grades of 3 or higher.

Most of the nation's colleges and universities award credit, advanced placement, or both based on successful performance on the AP exams. More than 1,400 institutions award a year of credit (sophomore standing) to students presenting a sufficient number of qualifying grades. There are 33 AP examinations offered in 19 subject areas, each consisting of multiple-choice and free-response (essay or problem-solving questions.)

Oakland Man Nets 18 Months In Ecstasy Case

An Oakland man was handed an 18-month jail term after pleading guilty to possession of the illegal drug MDMA, commonly known as "ecstasy," during a recent Garrett County District Court hearing.

Jamie Allen Ferguson, 20, received a three-year sentence, half of which was suspended, and was placed on two years' supervised probation by Judge Ralph M. Burnett. Additional charges of possession of ecstasy with the intent to distribute and possession of drug paraphernalia were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

Ferguson's charges stemmed from his August arrest by sheriff's deputies, who had stopped his vehicle along Fingerboard Road. During an ensuing search, approximately 20 ecstasy pills were found in one of his vehicle's hubcaps, and located in the passenger compartment were numerous plastic sandwich bags common to the distribution of illegal drugs.

In other district court news, a Grantsville man was sentenced after pleading guilty to possession of marijuana and driving while intoxicated (DWI).

Randy Lee Wiley, 36, was handed a total sentence of two years, all but 15 months of which was suspended, and placed on three years of supervised probation. His March arrest by state troopers stemmed from a March traffic stop along Interstate 68. A vehicle search following his DWI arrest uncovered a bag of marijuana underneath the driver's seat.

William Henry Cogley, 36, Swanton, pleaded guilty to illegal possession of a prescription medication and was handed a 60-day jail term. An April traffic stop led to his arrest when state troopers, who were searching him for weapons, found that he was carrying 45 Xanax pills.

Rhonda Lee Meinhart, 37, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to obstructing and hindering a police officer as he was carrying out his lawful duties. She received a six-month jail term, all but one month of which was suspended, and was placed on one year of supervised probation. Meinhart was arrested in May after she interfered with state troopers as they were arresting her husband in Friendsville on a separate charge.

Randy Lee Smith, 21, Kitzmiller, who had entered a "not guilty" plea to a second degree assault charge, was nonetheless convicted and handed a 60-day suspended sentence, fined $100, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. He had been arrested in December by sheriff's deputies following a domestic altercation at his residence, during which he had allegedly grabbed a pregnant woman by the arms. Alcohol was cited as an influence on his behavior at the time of the incident.

Terry Lynn Ford, 37, Oakland, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and was handed a 60-day suspended sentence, fined $305, and placed on one year of supervised probation. The charge stemmed from his July arrest by sheriff's deputies after a domestic altercation at his residence. Ford refused to comply with repeated requests to stop yelling obscenities in earshot of passers-by.

A number of drug cases were heard recently in district court and each of the following six defendants pleaded guilty to marijuana possession, which led to sentences that included a probation before judgment (PBJ), a 30-day jail term, all but two days of which were suspended, a fine (as specified in each account), and one year of either supervised or unsupervised probation.

Robert Vincent Vanderbilt, 29, Oakland, was sentenced in the wake of his arrest by state troopers in January after a traffic stop along Route 219 in the McHenry area. A vehicle search uncovered several smoking pipes containing burnt marijuana residue. In addition to the afore-mentioned sentence, he was also fined $355 and placed on one year of supervised probation. An additional conviction of failure to display license plates drew a $40 fine as well.

Robert Eugene Booker, 40, Chestnut Ridge, Pa., was sentenced in the wake of his July arrest by state troopers after a traffic stop along Route 219 in the McHenry area. A passenger in the vehicle, Booker admitted stuffing a bag of marijuana and a smoking pipe under his seat at the time of the stop. In addition to the afore-mentioned sentence, he was fined $300, placed on one year of unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Joseph William Dorr, 30, Pasadena, was sentenced after his arrest by state troopers in January after a traffic stop along I-68. A search uncovered two smoking pipes containing burnt marijuana residue and two containers of the drug. In addition to the afore-mentioned sentence, he was fined $325 and placed on one year of unsupervised probation.

Douglas William Dennis, 22, Markleysburg, Pa., was sentenced in the wake of his June arrest by state troopers after a traffic stop along Route 219 north of Northern High School. A passenger in the vehicle, Dennis was observed throwing what was found to be a bag of marijuana and several smoking pipes and rolling papers out of the passenger window at the time of the stop. He was also fined $200, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Rebekah Kay Newman, 19, Oakland, was sentenced in the wake of her May arrest by sheriff's deputies, who uncovered a smoking pipe and a bong from a car she was riding in that was stopped in Loch Lynn. In addition to the afore-mentioned sentence she was fined $200, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Aaron Linn Renner, 23, Frostburg (Allegany County), was sentenced in the wake of his June arrest by state troopers after a traffic stop along I-68. A bag of marijuana was found in his pocket, and in addition to the afore-mentioned sentence he was fined $200, placed on six months of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

A "not guilty" plea to a charge of telephone misuse drew a PBJ for Chester Field Gaither, 50, Oakland. Gaither was also handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation for repeatedly calling his estranged wife at her home and her place of work. Additional charges of violation of an ex parte order and harassment, also filed at the time of Gaither's July arrest by sheriff's deputies, were not prosecuted.

Brian Edward Irwin, 19, Bethel Park, Pa., pleaded guilty to misdemeanor theft and was handed a PBJ along with a 30-day suspended sentence, a $100 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation. He was arrested in May by state troopers after allegedly taking a pair of cameras from the McHenry residence of a homeowner, who had let him into the house to use the phone.

Thomas Ray Thorne, 19, Masontown, W.Va., pleaded guilty to unlawful taking of a motor vehicle and was handed a PBJ along with a 60-day suspended sentence, a $100 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation. State troopers filed the charge, along with a felony theft charge that was not prosecuted, after investigating a March incident when he allegedly took a car from a McHenry residence of an acquaintance without permission.

James Ora Vansickle, 51, McHenry, was handed a stet ruling on a second degree assault charge. He was arrested by state troopers after several alleged domestic assaults in June.

Geraldine Marie Birchland, 34, Accident, faced charges of disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace, obstructing and hindering a police investigation, and failure to obey a lawful order, each of which was stetted. She was also ordered to perform 40 hours of community service. Birchland's June arrest by state troopers came at the scene of a party in McHenry, where she allegedly interfered repeatedly with officers as they were issuing civil citations to underage drinkers.

Shawna Marie Lenhart, 21, Accident, was handed a stet ruling in connection with four counts each of forgery and uttering false documents, and one count each of misdemeanor theft and misdemeanor theft scheme. She was arrested by Garrett Bureau of Investigation detectives in August after she allegedly signed several checks belonging to another person, using the victim's name.

Alicia Jean Upole, 19, Winchester, Va., was handed a stet ruling, with an order to complete 40 hours of community service, on a charge of carrying a concealed deadly weapon. She was arrested in July by sheriff's deputies after a switchblade was recovered from her person during a traffic stop in Mtn. Lake Park.

Harry Francis Lewis Jr., 21, Morgantown, W.Va., was not prosecuted on possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia charges that resulted from a March traffic stop along I-68. State troopers reportedly uncovered a bag of marijuana and a smoking device from the vehicle he was driving.

Jamie Edward Droppleman, 20, Swanton, was not prosecuted on charges of trespassing and failure to obey a lawful order that stemmed from his April arrest by sheriff's deputies for allegedly loitering in the parking lot of the former Treasure Island store, after being warned not to do so.

Bryan Howard Sypolt, 25, Terra Alta, W.Va., was handed a not guilty verdict after an alleged domestic assault victim refused to testify against him in court. He had been slated to appear for a hearing on charges of two counts each of second degree assault and animal cruelty, and one count of adultery.

Jeremy Ryan Dawson, 18, Accident, was deemed not guilty of a destruction of property charge.

DWI/DUI Hearings

Several DWI and DUI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) cases were heard in district court recently.

Carl Wesley Tyler, 41, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a one-year sentence, half of which was suspended, and was ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Mountain Mist
It is difficult to tell a history of this region before 1800. The land was sparsely populated and so little was written down. Still there are people who can help us gain a feel for what it was like to live here while the land was being settled.
There is the factual information and there are the stories told around the dying fires of the kitchen stove, the Warm Morning or the old Burnside to a young boy.
These are the mist and shadows of the distant past. The people who blazed the trails. The people who lived, laughed, suffered and died to make a home in the mountains, coping with incredible odds and difficulties. Some were ordinary people. Others were Army deserters, scoundrels and bitter angry men who had seen too much bloodshed. Some were women who suffered hardship, privation, captivity and public scorn. Others were children who were required to grow up much too soon.
The book is written in twenty-two stories, each in some way related. Just enough flesh and blood has been added to give a feel for what it must have been like to live through the ordeals. The stories are told the only way it can be, ignoring state lines and boundaries. The people ignored them so this is an account of the people. A lot of territory is covered but surprisingly, so did the people.

A GRAND DAY FOR A ROYAL RIDE — King and Queen Autumn Glorious the 33rd (Audrey Shipe and Michael Fratz), along with their royal court (Amanda Pagenhardt, Leigh Ann Schefft, Brian Cathell, and Jaime Bosley), rode in style down the street in the Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade, held Saturday in downtown Oakland. Bright sunshine and colorful autumn leaves were the theme of the day, along with a vast variety of floats and special guests. The Grand Marshal Award was won by the Terra Alta Bank float, pictured above right. In the photo below left, well-known sportscaster Jim McKay is pictured fulfilling his role as grand marshal of the parade. The popular shriner units were a featured part of the event, delighting the crowd with their driving feats. One such unit is pictured below right. Not only humans were watching Saturday, as evidenced in the photo at the bottom. This bird was happy to perch on his pal and take in the sights of the day.

by Joan Sussman

Amid all the activity of Autumn Glory that stormed the county, Bittinger found some excitement of her own over the weekend. The Bittinger 4-H Club served at the wedding reception for Juan and Kimberly (ne: Miller) Perez at the fire hall on Saturday evening. The "Bittinger Boys" gave an impromptu performance of the N-Sync hit "Bye, Bye, Bye," at the urging of the bride and groom. Who was to know they would be entertaining guests in addition to serving them a great dinner? Members of the Bittinger Boys included the groom Juan Perez, Andrew Hady, Scott and Matthew Bass, and Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty. They were really something!

On Sunday afternoon Claire and Meredith attended the No-Hands ice cream sundae eating contest at the Creamery on the lake. Mere won her division, which is no surprise to me. She even had an extra helping of ice cream when she got home. My girls have always amazed me with their ability to really put away food. Sometimes they remind me of stories that I have heard about lumberjacks and their appetites. With all the activity of the weekend, I find that I am somewhat relieved that the business of Autumn Glory is over. I was not happy to watch my maple tree shed its leaves faster with every passing day. Now I feel that we are on a fast slide to winter.

Last week I forgot to mention Eileen Schlosnagle's trip to London. She will be going the first week of November. She hopes to clip this article and take it with her on the trip to visit her niece Kathryn Smith and her fiancé, along with her brother Eugene and his wife Marian of West Hampshire, England. Kathryn will be getting married to her fiancé Matthew at the Westminster Register Office, which is near Westminster Abby. Maybe it is good luck that they aren't getting married in the Abby since it hasn't proved very lucky for royals that have been wed there lately. Eileen will be accompanied by her son Leo. Since Eileen's family also has Irish roots, they plan an Irish celebration at the bride's home, in addition to a reception at the Landmark Hotel. Lucky Eileen and Leo. I hope they will bring back some English coins for Claire's coin collection.

I was delighted with a surprise guest after church on Sunday. Ethel Buckel dropped off some of her daffodil bulbs from her wonderful gardens. Their home along 495 has always been so beautiful with the various fruit trees and bushes, and spectacular flowers. Ethel used to be a 4-H leader in Bittinger, and a lot of kids here today owe some of their mom's cooking talents to some of her lessons.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Lynne and Bill Halladay and daughters from Fairfax, Va., along with Michelle Geis of Blacksburg (or should we refer to it as Vicksburg), Va., were recent guests of Ellen and Sam Housley. Their main stated purpose to visit was to revel in the autumn scenery.

News has also reached us that upon her return to Virginia Tech, Michele Geis took the plunge (literally) when she agreed to serve as an official crowd surfer for the #2 Hoakies. We hear that she was a little sore after being thrown into the air every time the Hoakies scored a touchdown or extra points. In a game where the score was 47-20 she did a lot of high flying. We are just glad that Michele lived to tell about it. Hope you caught her on ESPN.

Steve and Mary Ellen Presgraves and Matthew Stempen, all of Berwyn Heights, were weekend guests of the Poholskys, and the Stanton and Ferne Beachy families. Other Saturday night dinner guests included Blair Buckel, Grantsville, and John and Mac Peterson of Darnestown. Pam Poholsky of Munnipville, Pa., was a weekend guest of the Poholskys.

Ferne Beachy was busy socializing recently. She visited Mabel Miller at the Town View Village in Accident. Ferne and the Stanton family also were visited on Thursday by some relatives from LaVale. They included Ruby Orendorf and June Green. Another recent visitor of Ferne was Ruth Beachy of Heston, Pa. She spent several days with Sam and Cindy and Ferne.

Margaret and Jim Wagner recently had a house full of company when Jim's out-of-town relatives came to Garrett County for the funeral of Jim's brother Nile, better known as "Dick." Dick died Oct. 3, after a long illness.

A recent weekend visitor of Carol and Kevin Bass was Janet Beyea from Taylorsville.

Jim, Donna, and Tim Glotfelty accompanied Julius and Karmen Carey, Frostburg, to Hanover Sunday, where they visited Jeff, Sheli, and Ashlin Gray. Also joining them in Hanover were Linda Oester, Salisbury, Pa., Anthony Carey and Mandy Wilson, Frostburg, and Tom and Cheryl Glotfelty. They all had dinner at the Lone Star Steakhouse in celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Jim and Donna Glotfelty, who were married October 13, 1950, by Rev. Curt Runze in the Bittinger Lutheran Church. The couple have four children, Linda Oester, Karmen Carey, Tom Glotfelty, and Lisa Platter, seven grandchildren, and one great-granddaughter.

Dwaine and Lisa Platter and children Adam and Amanda, Smithsburg, spent the weekend with relatives here. The Platters were celebrating their 17th wedding anniversary, which was Sunday, October 15.

Kowalczyk, Green Vows Exchanged

Christina Maria Kowalczyk and Keith David Green were united in marriage in a nuptial mass that took place June 10, 2000, at the United States Naval Academy Chapel in Annapolis. The bride was escorted by her brother, Benedict Kowalczyk. Father William Petruska officiated and Deacon Albert Chesnavage assisted.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jean F. Kowalczyk, Baltimore, and the late Benedict C. Kowalczyk. The groom is the son of Katherine Green, Bel Air, and William Green, Baltimore. The bride is also the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arch Chase Friend, who were residents of Friendsville.

Serving as matron of honor was Stephanie Dziwulski, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Teresa Kowalczyk, sister of the bride; and Susan Calafiore and Terri Baich, friends of the bride. The flower girl was Natalie Dziwulski, niece of the bride.

Serving as best man was Gregory Green, brother of the groom. Ushers were Jeffrey Klapka and Richard Baich, friends of the groom; and Benedict Kowalczyk, brother of the bride. The ring bearer was Andrew Klapka, son of groomsman Jeffrey Klapka.

Melissa Kowalczyk, Kerry Skarda, and Joan Kriss were lectors for the mass. Jim Kosowski, John Heyel, Chris Nickels, and Chuck Cash were honor guards for the sword arch.

Following the wedding, a dinner reception was held at the United States Naval Academy Officer's Club.

Following a two-week honeymoon trip to Italy, the couple established residence in Crofton. The bride is a special education teacher employed at Arbutus Middle School, Baltimore, and the groom is a manager of North America Professional Services for Network Associates Inc.

Out-of-state guests at the wedding were from West Virginia, Michigan, Texas, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Florida, North Carolina, and South Carolina.

State's New "Ag Tag" License Plate To Support Ag Education Foundation

Maryland's new agricultural license plate will be unveiled Nov. 2 at the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation's annual dinner at Michael's Eighth Avenue in Glen Burnie. The first five tags will be auctioned to the highest bidder at the fund raising event.

The license plate will join the Chesapeake Bay Trust's "blue heron" tag, commemorating the state's other great historic treasure, its farmers and farmland. The ag tag, now in the final stages of design, was approved by the legislature and Gov. Parris Glendening earlier this year. Funds from sales of the ag tag will support the Ag Education Foundation, created by the legislature in 1989 to promote agriculture in the state's schools. MAEF currently operates several mobile ag education labs which travel around the state for use at elementary schools. The foundation has trained some 550 Maryland teachers through its workshops and it provides grants to teachers who use agriculture as a teaching tool in an innovative manner.

MAEF's president, Cecil County farmer Ewing McDowell, said this event will be a crowning moment for Maryland's ag community. "This license plate will be a point of pride throughout the state," McDowell said. "Not only should farmers have these tags on their vehicles, but all those Marylanders who love the rural nature of this state and support the continuation of our ag heritage should be sure to purchase an ag tag."

Tickets for the dinner are $50. A reception begins at 6:30 p.m., dinner is at 7:15 p.m. Interested persons may call the Foundation at 410-489-9030 for additional information.

SHEEP CITIZENSHIP AWARD - A new award, the Sheep Citizenship Award, was presented this year at the Garrett County Fair. This award was presented by the Wilhelm family of Grantsville in memory of Roger Wilhelm. Roger was very involved in the Grantsville 4-H Club for 10 years, held many offices, and was always willing to help other 4-H'ers with their market sheep project. Roger was also a four-year member of Northern Garrett FFA and served on the Garrett County Livestock Association Board. Roger's mother, Alice Wilhelm Smith stated, "Roger lived for fair week, he loved it!" That is exactly why the family wanted to sponsor this special award in his memory. The family presented a plaque to Arthur Pysell of the Country Kids 4-H Club. Arthur received the award because he is always helping other 4-H'ers or leaders with various projects, is polite and courteous to others, and is very involved in the fair. Pictured in the front row, left to right, are: Heather Wilhelm, Wilhelm family member; Arthur Pyseli, award recipient; and Brittany Wilhelm, Wilhelm family member and member of the Grantsville 4-H Club. In the back row, from left to right, are: Dwayne Wilhelm, brother of Roger, and Alice Wilhelm Smith, Roger's mother. Not present for the picture is Karen Wilhelm Smith, Roger's sister and a former member of the Grantsville 4-H Club and current leader.

FSA Committee Nomination Forms Due October 30

Local FSA executive director Michael Kozier reminds farmers that the election of responsible agricultural producers is important to all farmers and ranchers.

"It is crucial that every eligible producer take part in this election because the county FSA committee is a direct link between the farm community and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Elections for committee membership are a critical component of the day-to-day operations of FSA," Kozier said.

He explained that the county FSA committees help run FSA farm programs at the local level. Farmers who serve on committees help decide the kind of programs their counties will have and how they will be run. They make FSA agriculture programs fit the needs faced by local producers, he said.

Committees make decisions on:

- commodity price support loans and payments;
- establishment of allotments, yields, and marketing quotas;
- farmer loans;
- conservation programs;
- incentive, indemnity, and disaster payments for some commodities; and
- other farm disaster assistance.

FSA committees operate within official regulations designed to carry out federal laws and committee members apply their judgement and knowledge to make local decisions.

October 30 will be the last day to file nomination forms; on November 24, ballots will be mailed to eligible voters; December 4 will be the last day to return voted ballots; and on January 1, 2001, elected committee members and alternates take office.

Kozier said that farm owners, operators, tenants, and sharecroppers of legal voting age can vote if they are eligible to take part in any FSA program.

A nomination form signed by the nominee is needed to nominate a farmer candidate. The form includes a statement that the candidate agrees to serve if elected. Almost anyone eligible to take part in a county FSA program may be a candidate for the committee.

The 2000 election will end Dec. 11. Ballots will be mailed to voters by Nov. 24, and must be returned to the FSA county office or postmarked by Dec. 4.

Oilseed Program Signup Begins

The Garrett/Allegany FSA office announced the signup for the 2000 Oilseed Program, offered by the USDA Farm Service Agency, began Oct. 16 and runs until Jan. 12, 2001. The program will assist eligible oilseed producers who planted an oilseed crop in 2000. To be eligible, producers must have planted or shared in the production of an eligible oilseed in 2000 and must report oilseed acres to FSA. Eligible oilseeds are soybeans, canola, crambe, flaxseed, mustard seed, rapeseed, safflower seed, sesame and sunflower (oil and confectionary).

Payments will generally be based on the highest number of acres planted in 1997, 1998, or 1999 and the producer's highest proven yield (or the five-year county average) for each individual oilseed. Only producers who planted an oilseed for the first time in 2000 can use the 2000 acreage and yield for payment purposes. A producer who planted an eligible oilseed in 2000 is eligible for payment only for that specific oilseed.

An application must be submitted to the FSA county office that serves as the producer's control county and only one application should be filed for all of the producer's farms. Whenever possible, FSA will prefill the application form with the producer's reported oilseed acres and the county averag yields so that if the producer does not wish to prove actual yields, then the producer only has to verify the application's accuracy of reported oilseed acreage and sign it.

Those interested in signing up should contact the local FSA office in Garrett County by calling 301-334-6954 or in Allegany County by calling 301-777-1536, ext. 2.

Farmers are urged to apply, however no payments will be made until sign up has ended.

Crop Harvesting Continues On Maryland Farms

Maryland continued to experience pleasant weather conditions across many areas of the state. State statistician Ray Garibay said that mild temperatures accompanied by little precipitation continued to provide a suitable environment for harvesting crops.

Corn harvest continues to run behind normal despite favorable harvesting conditions this week with 54% harvested for grain, which is 9% behind the five-year average of 63. Corn harvested for silage is 94% complete, which is 2% lower than the five-year average. High corn yields continued to be reported in many areas, harvest was slowed in some locations because of bottlenecks at elevators. Currently soybeans are 16% harvested, 3% below the five-year average.

Lack of precipitation continued to lower topsoil moisture conditions. However, moisture levels on area farms are maintained mostly at adequate levels with topsoil moisture rating 1% very short, 16% short, 80% adequate, and 3% surplus this week. Subsoil moisture rating was 1% very short, 3% short, 94% adequate, and 2% surplus.

Crop progress for the week which ended Oct. 15, listing the crop and percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average, in that order, follows:

Small grain seeded: barley 57, 33, 66, 62; wheat 21, 9, 22, 24; rye 31, 20, 38, 43.

Crop harvesting: apples 84, 65, 71, 71; sorghum harvested 40, 30, 40, 35.

Crop progress: corn mature 99, 96, 96, 97; corn harvested for grain 54, 37, 71, 63; corn harvested for silage 94, 86, 94, 96; soybeans harvested 16, 6, 16, 19.

Crop conditions for the week ending Oct. 15, listing the crop and percentages for very poor, poor, fair, good, and excellent, in that order, are: barley 0, 0, 13, 72, 15; rye 0, 0, 5, 84, 11; winter wheat 0, 0, 6, 93, 1; range and pasture 1, 3, 14, 55, 27.

Dairy Situation and Outlook, October 16, 2000
by Bob Cropp
Dairy Marketing and Policy Specialist University of Wisconsin Cooperative Extension-Madison

The short run outlook for farm level milk prices is not good. While the September Class III price did show some strength from August going from $10.13 to $10.76, this will be the high for the year. Since the milk production report for August cheese prices have deteriorated considerably. As of October 16th, on the CME 40-pound cheddar blocks were $1.045 per pound, $0.077 below the $1.122 support price and cheddar barrels were $1.00 per pound, $0.092 below the $1.092 support. Cheese prices this low have not been experienced since August, 1978. Cheese prices at this level would generate a Class III price below $9.00 per hundredweight. However, I am confident that the cheese market will improve enough to avoid Class III below $9.00. But Class III prices in the $9.40 to $9.70 range for November and December may well be the best the market will provide. The October Class III price should still be near $10.00.

A major key to this continued increase in milk production is milk cow numbers. Milk cow numbers not only are higher than a year ago, they continue to increase from the previous month. For the U.S. milk cow numbers were 92,000 head higher than a year ago and 80,000 head higher than January of this year. Not until milk cow numbers stop increasing will milk production slow enough to generate significant milk price improvements. I have been surprised at the length of this continued increase in cow numbers with low milk prices. As we move into the winter months, I expect cow numbers to cease building. But it will be several months before cow numbers drop below year ago levels.

West Nile Virus - Encephalitis
Questions and Answers

Q: What is West Nile Encephalitis?

A: 'Encephalitis' means inflammation of the brain, which can occur for a number of reasons, most commonly a bacterial or viral infectious disease. West Nile Encephalitis is an infection caused by the West Nile virus, which is closely related to the St. Louis Encephalitis found sporadically in the United States.

Q: Does West Nile Encephalitis commonly occurs in the United States?

A: West Nile Encephalitis typically occurs in Africa, West Asia and the Middle East, and has been found less frequently in Eastern Europe. 1999 was the first time it has been found in the US.

Q: How do humans get West Nile Virus?

A: Through the bite of an infected mosquito. Although not yet documented in the United States, ticks have also been shown to transmit the disease in Asia and Africa.

Q: If we normally don't have the virus, how do mosquitoes get it?

A: The virus is kept alive in wild animals, mainly birds. There is a cycle of bird to mosquito transmission that occurs naturally. People and other animals are infected when they are bitten by mosquitoes that have fed earlier on infected birds.

Q: How long after being bitten will a person get sick?

A: 5-15 days.

Q: What other animals can get the disease?

A: The virus has been found in sheep, cattle, horses, lemurs, camels, dogs, at least one cat, and some monkeys and rodents. Only horses, sheep, some monkeys, and (recently in New York) some birds, actually get sick from natural infection. Pets have not been shown to get sick from this disease, and no sick pets have been reported in the outbreak in New York, New Jersey, or Connecticut.

Q: Can people get West Nile Virus from other people or animals?

A: West Nile Virus is not transmitted from person to person. There is no evidence that people can get it from handling live or infected birds, but people should avoid barehanded contact with dead birds and animals. Use gloves and place carcasses in double plastic bags before discarding them in a garbage can.

Q: What are the signs and symptoms of West Nile Encephalitis?

A: Asymptomatic infections are the most common, although mild infections can occur. Symptoms include fever, headache and body aches, often including skin rashes and swollen lymph nodes. Severe headache, high fever, disorientation, tremors, convulsions, and paralysis mark severe infections and encephalitis. Severe infections may progress to coma and death.

Q: How many people who get sick die from West Nile Virus?

A: The death rate in infected people is between 3-15%. In most cases, higher mortality occurs in the young and elderly age groups. In this outbreak, mortality only seems to be higher in the elderly. Prompt diagnosis and symptomatic treatment of the encephalitis greatly improves patient recovery.

Q: Is there a vaccine available for either humans or animals?

A: Not currently, but scientists are working to develop a viable vaccine.

Q: How can horses be protected from the virus?

A: In affected areas, it is recommended that horses be stabled inside when mosquitoes are most active (typically between dusk and dawn). It is recommended that horse owners in the affected areas use insect repellent on their horses.

Q: How can I tell if a horse has WNV?

A: Clinical signs are often confused with Equine Protozoal Myelitis. Contact your veterinarian if any of the following occur: lethargy, weakness in the hindquarters, stumbling, lack of awareness, head tilt or head twitch, convulsions, circling, hyperexcitability, or partial paralysis.

Q: What can be done to reduce the risk of becoming infected with West Nile Virus?

A: When mosquitoes are active: Stay indoors at dawn, dusk, and in the early evening, when mosquitoes are most active. Wear long-sleeved shirts and long pants whenever you are outdoors. Apply insect repellent sparingly to exposed skin. An effective repellent will contain 20% to 30% DEET (N,N-diethyl-meta-toluamide). DEET in high concentrations (greater than 30%) may cause side effects, particularly in children; avoid products containing more than 30% DEET.

Repellents may irritate the eyes and mouth, so avoid applying repellent to the hands of children. Insect repellents should not be applied to very young children (< 3 years old). Spray clothing with repellents containing permethrin or DEET, as mosquitoes may bite through thin clothing. Whenever you use an insecticide or insect repellent, be sure to read and follow the manufacturer's DIRECTIONS FOR USE, as printed on the product. Note: Vitamin B and "ultrasonic" devices are NOT effective in preventing mosquito bites.

Although there is no documented evidence of person-to-person, or animal-to-person transmission of West Nile virus, handling of dead animals or animals known to be infected should be avoided. If unavoidable, take precautions by using proper protective garments, especially gloves. This is especially important for those interacting with wildlife and equines.

The Maryland Cooperative Extension's programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, disability, religion, age or national origin.

Farm Labor Numbers Are Down In U.S.

There were 1.37 million hired workers on the nation's farms and ranches during the week of July 9 to 15, down 7% from a year ago. There were 1.08 million workers hired directly by farm operators. Agricultural service employees on farms and ranches made up the remaining 289,000 workers.

Migrant workers accounted for 11.1% of the July hired workforce compared to 12.4% last year.

Farm operators paid their hired workers an average wage rate of $7.89 per hour during the July 2000 survey week, up 31 cents from a year earlier.

Field workers received an average of $7.32 per hour, up 27 cents from last July. Livestock workers earned $7.65 per hour compared with $7.22 a year earlier. The Field and Livestock Workers combined wage rate was up 31 cents from last year.

The leaves have turned and the air is chilly. It's that time again. . .

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the fourth year, The Republican is asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is The Republican Newspaper's WARM THE CHILDREN FUND?

The Republican newspaper's Warm the Children Fund is, basically, neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds will be used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administrates the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special core of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. Those selected for applications will be receiving them soon. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will soon be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Volunteers will take the families shopping either through the J.C. Penney catalog store in Oakland or at the Ames in Frostburg. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, jeans, long johns, boots, or other needed winter items, spending up to $80 per child. Bobby Andersen and Bobbie Henderson, along with members of the Civic Club of Oakland, are coordinating the Penney's volunteers. Lisa Broadwater, the office manager of the newspaper's Grantsville location, is coordinating those who will shop at Ames.

How can I help?

We need two things: volunteers and donations. To volunteer as a shopper at Penney's, please call Bobby Andersen at 301-334-4459. To volunteer as a shopper at Ames, please call Lisa Broadwater at 301-895-5827 or 301-746-8223. For general information, you may call Mary McEwen, program coordinator, at 301-334-3963.

THE REPUBLICAN

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children Fund.

Please make your donations before Nov. 30, 2000. Those collected after Nov. 30 will be saved for next year.

Glickman Expands USDA Assistance For Farm Storage

Agriculture secretary Dan Glickman recently announced an expansion of USDA's efforts to help farmers meet their tremendous grain storage needs during this period of continued high production. He said the department's Farm Storage Facility Loan Program, which offers low-interest loans to farmers building on-farm storage facilities, will be expanded to include structures designed to store SILAGE. In addition, the required down payment for loans will be reduced from 25 percent to 15 percent.

"On-farm storage gives farmers marketing flexibility," said Glickman. "USDA is broadening this program to help provide farmers the resources they need to segregate crops and decide when to sell them."

Seven-year financing is provided through the program for on-farm storage of wheat, soybeans, corn, barley, oats, etc.

Loans are also available to farmers who previously bought or built grain storage facilities between Feb. 2, 2000, and May 30, 2000. Farmers may apply for loans and may be approved if they meet eligibility and loan security requirements.

These changes in the loan program will become effective after publication of the final rule in the Federal Register, which is expected in the next several weeks.

Farmers are encouraged to visit the Preston County Farm Service Agency at 300 Tunnelton Street in the Kingwood USDA Service Center, or phone 304-329-1923 to obtain further information on the Farm Storage Facility Loan Program. Information may also be obtained on the web at www.fsa.usda.gov

U.S. egg production totaled 7.06 billion during July 2000, up 2% from the 6.90 billion produced in 1999. Production included 5.95 billion table eggs and 1.10 billion hatching eggs, of which 1.04 billion were broiler-type and 65 million were egg-type. The total number of layers during July 2000 averaged 326 million, up 2% from the total average number of layers during July 1999. July egg production per 100 layers was 2,167 eggs, up slightly from 2,158 eggs in July 1999.

Egg-type chicks hatched during July totaled 33.1 million, down 3% from July 1999. Eggs in incubators totaled 30 million on Aug. 1, 2000, up 2% from a year ago. Domestic placements of egg-type pullet chicks for future hatchery supply flocks by leading breeders totaled 352,000 during July 2000, up 52% from July 1, 1999.

The July 2000 hatch of broiler-type chicks, at 740 million, was down 2% from July of the previous year. There were 614 million eggs in incubators on Aug. 1, 2000, down 2% from a year earlier.

Statistics Serv. Reports On Chickens & Eggs

Maryland's laying flocks produced 60 million eggs during July 2000, of which 54 million were table eggs and 6 million were hatching eggs. The average rate of lay was 66.5%. The average number of layers on hand during July was 3,003,000. On Aug. 1, none of the layers in Maryland were being molted but 34% of all layers had been

Experts Say The Test Of A Healthy Pumpkin Stems From The Stem

by Capital News Service

While color, size and shape may be the qualities most people look for when shopping for a pumpkin, experts agree the most important thing to check if you want a pumpkin to last the season is the stem.

If the pumpkin has a solid, firm, green stem, you can be sure it is a healthy one, said Bill Marose of Marose Ag-Consulting.

When picking a pumpkin, try picking it up by the handle. If the handle and pumpkin are healthy, the pumpkin is good. Avoid stems that feel spongy.

Experts also recommend avoiding pumpkins that do not have any stem. Most growers leave a 6- to 8-inch handle and wouldn't cut it short, Marose said.

There is no need to manhandle the pumpkin. "Just pick it up and if it (the stem) doesn't fall off" it should be OK, said Bob Rouse of the Wye Research and Education Center on the Eastern Shore.

After that, look for a pumpkin with a bright orange color, said Tom Wheatley of Wheatley Produce.

Revival Services Begin Tomorrow In Loch Lynn

REV. JANICE HALL

The Loch Lynn Church of God has slated revival services for tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 20, at 7 p.m., and this Sunday, Oct. 22, at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Visiting evangelist Rev. Janice Hall of Bonham, Texas, will be leading the services.

An ordained minister with the Assemblies of God, based in Springfield, Mo., Hall and her late husband served together in the ministry for 31 years. They served as pastors at churches in Texas and Oklahoma, and were instrumental in training several young couples for pastoral and evangelistic ministries.

Revs. Ivan and Cindy Ackerman are the pastors of the Loch Lynn Church of God, which is located along First Avenue. For more information, interested persons may call 301-359-2277.

WWII Veterans Entitled To High School Diplomas

An honorary high school diploma may now be awarded in Garrett County to World War II veterans who entered miliary service prior to graduation. The decision was made by the Garrett County Board of Education during its monthly meeting this week. The members voted to participate in the diploma program in compliance with the Maryland annotated code.

To qualify to apply at the Garrett County Board of Education for the diploma, an individual must have been a full-time student in an accredited public or private school in the state of Maryland, who withdrew during his/her senior year to enlist in the armed forces of the United States during World War II, and subsequently received an honorable discharge.

An application form for this honorary diploma may be received from the board of education. Proper documentation will then be submitted for verification from the Maryland Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Once the information is confirmed by the MDVA, the Garrett County Board of Education will award the diploma. "The diploma will be designed in a manner consistent with that of the high school from which the individual would have graduated at the time of his or her enlistment in the armed forces. However, if the applicant prefers, the diploma will be typical of the one currently granted by Northern and Southern Garrett high schools," said Martin Green, director of secondary education.

For more information on this program, persons may address an inquiry to the Garrett County Board of Education, 40 South Fourth Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

AFTER-SCHOOL PROGRAMS UNDER WAY — The After-School programs have begun for another year at Southern and Northern middle schools. The programs operate from 3:30 to 6 p.m. each weekday, as staff from the AmeriCorps volunteer service program and the Garrett County Health Department lead a variety of activities, including recreation, field trips, hobby developments, computer instruction, character education, career development, and service learning projects, as well as homework time and prevention activities. Any middle school student is eligible to participate in the free program, and transportation from the school to home communities is provided. For more information about the program, interested persons may call the health department at 301-533-0113, and for the NMS After-School Program, ask for Melissa Green, while for the SMS After-School Program, ask for Connie Glotfelty. Some of the SMS After-School Program participants are shown above: from the left are Christopher Miller, Jeremy Brown, Jenny Vonhagel, Christin Miller, and Sarah Lewis.

ACE Committee Meeting At GCC

The second meeting of the school year for the Garrett County Board of Education's Advisory Committee on Education (ACE) is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 7 p.m. in Room 315 of the Continuing Education building at Garrett Community College.

The agenda includes an update on revisions to the technology curriculum by Jo Ann Vent, supervisor of career/technology education, and the election of a new ACE chairperson.

Family Life Text, Program Guide, Video Displayed

The Garrett County Board of Education Health Advisory Committee recommended that the board of education adopt various materials for use in Family Life class. These resources, reviewed by the board members during the October meeting, are currently on public display at the board office in Oakland.

The materials recommended include the Family Life Program of Studies, Grades 10-12, the Human Sexuality, Responsible Life Choices textbook for the Family Life class, the resource video: Reproductive Health and Contraception, a four-minute guide to pregnancy prevention (for grades 9-12), and a resource video: Breaking the Silence: Kids Against Child Abuse, Grades 7 and 9-12.

Copies of the materials presented to the board will be exhibited through November 10. Members of the community are welcome to view and comment on these items at the board of education office on weekdays between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

St. Paul's UM Hour Of Praise Set For Oct. 24

"How to get to Heaven" will be the theme of St. Paul's United Methodist Church's Hour of Praise for Everyone (HOPE) program, slated for next Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 7 p.m. The service will include a humorous presentation by Scott Buckingham as Forest Gump and Richard Buckingham as St. Peter at the Pearly Gates, plus a dramatic monologue. Special music will also be provided by Scott Buckiggham. Bill Grant is the leader for this service.

HOPE is a family-oriented worship time to which all are invited, according to Pastors Roger and Ann Harrison. The church is located at the corner of Oak and Fourth streets in Oakland.

Read. Then Recycle.

COVE

The women of Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, are sponsoring a fall bazaar this Saturday, Oct. 21, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Lunch will be served the entire time. Arts and crafts, comforters, woven rugs, holiday items, baked goods, homemade soup, and homemade sauerkraut will be for sale. Parking is available behind the church. Handicapped-accessible entrances are located in the front off Highway 219. The public is invited.

The Cove Kids 4-H will be going bowling and for pizza on October 21. The group is asked to meet at the Frostburg Pizza Hut at 1 p.m. The next meeting of the club will be November 14, at 7 p.m. Election of officers will be held that evening.

BLOOD DRIVE

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Friendsville fire hall on Friday, Oct. 20, from noon to 6 p.m. There is a shortage of blood and all are urged to respond.

THE GREAT ESCAPE is the theme of this year's Fire Prevention Week. Taking the message of safety and prevention to the children at Route 40 School, th[illegible] unteers of the Eastern Garrett Fire and Rescue Department talked to each class. "We do this each year and we really seem to make an impression on the children. We see them year after year and they do remember what they learn," said Jesse Opel, deputy chief of Eastern Garrett. The firefighters dress in full gear so the children will be less likely to be frightened by the appearance and sounds of that gear. "We will be crawling when we approach you in a fire because we need to stay below the smoke," Opel said. Even the first grade students already knew the answers when asked things like What do you do if your clothes catch fire? "Stop, drop, and roll," was the quick response, followed by a demonstration by one of the children. The youngsters knew not to try to call 911 from the house if it is on fire, but to get out and get to a neighbor's house to make the call. They also knew that they should never hide in a closet to get away from the fire because the firefighters might not find them. In the photo above, Opel goes over some do's and don'ts for fire prevention. Below, children are pictured as they have the chance to climb on the big red fire truck and see it firsthand. "We would like to spend even more time working with the children in the schools," Opel said. Photos by Jeremy Carr.

PERSONALS

Ralph and Edna Sines spent the weekend with their daughter, Norma Efremenko, of Wexford, PA. Also visiting with them were daughter Ethel and husband Richard Artice.

ENTERTAINING HER KING AND QUEEN, and a couple hundred "loyal subjects" at last week's Autumn Glory Festival Kickoff Reception at the Wisp in McHenry, was none other than AGF Princess Leigh Ann Schefft, who is trained in ballet/classical dance. Leigh Ann, a senior at Northern High School, shed her royal gown and donned this costume for her performance, then changed back into her gown and returned to her place of honor on the stage with her sister princess, Amanda Pagenhardt of Southern High School, Queen Audrey Shipe (SHS) and King Mike Fratz (NHS), and Princes Jamie Bosley and Brian Cathell (SHS).

Laundry, housekeeping and three home-cooked meals a day free their residents to enjoy planned activities, their own personal projects and each other's companionship. Assisted Living At Frostburg Village's caring staff believes in dignified and personalized care and provides assistance with bathing, dressing, personal care and medication management as needed. Medical care can be arranged immediately. Most importantly, their assistance is unobtrusive with respect for the individual.

Should your loved one require independence in a safe and caring environment, you are invited to contact Chelle Broadwater at Assisted Living At Frostburg Village to discuss their services or to arrange a visit to their facilities. Let them help ease your mind about caring for your loved one.

Hudgens Named Oct. Employee Choice Winner

Juanita Hudgens has been named Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Employee Choice Winner for October. An employee for nearly 16 years, Hudgens works in the Health Information Management Department as a medical transcriptionist.

Hudgens and her husband Harvey reside in Horse Shoe Run, W.Va. They have five children and five grandchildren. Juanita spends her leisure time playing the piano, watching football games, and working in the garden.

When asked how she felt about being the recipient of this award, Hudgens replied, "The hospital is a great place to work, and all the people who work within are all caring, kind, and supportive. Thank you all!"

Md. Attorney General Notes Tire Options

Maryland State Attorney General Joseph Curran is urging consumers to replace, as soon as possible, any Bridgestone/Firestone tires listed on the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration Consumer Advisory tire list. The NHTSA web page (www.nhtsa.com) provides a complete list of consumer advisory tires covered under the recall.

"Consumers have a number of options," stated Curran. "They can either get free replacements at a Bridgestone/Firestone dealer, or obtain a reimbursement up to $140 per tire if they go to a competitor to have the tires replaced with a different tire company's brand."

If the tires are taken to a Bridgestone/Firestone dealer, they will be replaced absolutely free regardless of use and condition and will be replaced at their full value, not at a pro rated payment. Tires can be replaced even if they are not currently on a vehicle. Bridgestone/Firestone will select the brand and type of tires used as a replacement under this option.

As mentioned above, if a consumer does not want to go to an authorized Bridgestone/Firestone dealer for replacement tires, the company will provide reimbursement of up to $140 per tire. The consumer must deliver the advisory tires and an original receipt to an authorized Bridgestone/Firestone retailer where appropriate reimbursement forms will be provided. It will likely take four to six weeks for the check to be processed and mailed to the consumer.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND
PROCLAMATION OF THE GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND
DIRECTING THE PUBLICATION OF BALLOT QUESTION TITLES AND BILL SUMMARIES

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 1999, the General Assembly enacted Chapter 119; and

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 2000, the General Assembly enacted Chapters 205, 75, 111, 163, 194 and 202; and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of the Governor, under the State Constitution and Article 33 of the Annotated Code of Maryland to order the publication of the ballot question titles and bill summaries of these Acts of the General Assembly; and

WHEREAS, the publication of the ballot question titles and bill summaries must take place for three weeks immediately preceding the General Election of November 7, 2000; and

WHEREAS, there will be presented on the ballot at that election the following questions for adoption or rejection by the voters:

CHAPTER 119
(Senate Bill 510)

QUESTION NUMBER 1

Constitutional Amendment
Cecil County – Election and Terms of Office for the Board of County Commissioners

Excepts the Board of County Commissioners of Cecil County from the constitutional requirements that all State and County elections be held only in every fourth year on a particular date and that all State and County officers hold four-year terms, in order to allow staggered terms with elections held every second year.

Summary

Amends Section 7 of Article XVII (Quadrennial Elections) of the Constitution of Maryland to exempt all of the members of the Board of County Commissioners of Cecil County from the requirement that county officers who are elected by the voters of the County must run for election or reelection at the same election every four years. The adoption of this Constitutional amendment would allow the General Assembly of Maryland to provide for the election of the five Cecil County commissioners to provide that their terms of office are staggered so that the terms do not all begin at the same time.

CHAPTER 205
(Senate Bill 400)

QUESTION NUMBER 2

Constitutional Amendment
Prince George's County – Property for Redevelopment Purposes

Expressly authorizes the Prince George's County Council to take property immediately upon a finding of immediate need for redevelopment purposes; designates properties eligible for taking as those located between Suitland Federal Center and Silver Hill Road that are also within any two certain designated areas (a revitalization tax district, an enterprise zone, or a priority funding area); requires the Council to pay at the time of taking the appraised fair market value and also to pay any additional amount later awarded by a jury; and requires the Council to offer financial assistance and payments to displaced owners or tenants.

Summary

Amends Section 40A (Eminent Domain) of Article III of the Constitution of Maryland to allow the Prince George's County Council to provide for the immediate "taking" (that is, acquisition) of property by Prince George's County that is located both in the County between the Suitland Federal Center and Silver Hill Road and within two of the following three areas: a revitalization tax district, an enterprise zone, or a priority funding area, but only after the Prince George's County Council:

(1) has made a judgment and a finding that there is an immediate need for the property for redevelopment purposes;

(2) has appointed a real estate appraiser licensed by the State of Maryland to appraise the property to determine its fair market value;

(3) has paid to the owner of the property or into court the fair market value of the property as determined by the appraiser and has assured payment of any additional amount of money that may be later awarded by a jury; and

(4) has promised to the owner–occupant or tenant of the property who is displaced by the County's "taking" of that property to offer, at the very least, assistance and payments for which the owner–occupant or tenant would qualify as a displaced person under the federal law.

CHAPTER 75
(Senate Bill 509)
For Baltimore County Only

QUESTION NUMBER 3

Countywide Referendum
Baltimore County – Neighborhood Renewal Authority

Expressly authorizes Baltimore County to acquire and develop or dispose of property within certain described areas (Essex Middle River Waterfront area, the Yorkway area in Dundalk, and the Liberty Road area) for declared public neighborhood renewal purposes by amending a public local law; designates specific properties eligible for acquisition by eminent domain following the adoption of an implementation plan; requires the County to pay the owner just compensation for property acquired by eminent domain and to offer financial assistance and payments to displaced property owners or tenants; authorizes the County to sell properties acquired by eminent domain only if investment in the property equals or exceeds the purchase price paid by the County; and terminates the granted eminent domain powers on July 1, 2007.

Summary

Petitioned to a referendum of the voters of Baltimore County for their approval or rejection in accordance with Article XVI – The Referendum – of the Constitution of the State of Maryland

Repeals four sections from and adds six sections to the Code of Public Local Laws of Baltimore County to allow the County to:

(1) acquire, by purchase, lease, or gift, land and property within the boundary lines of the Essex–Middle River Waterfront, the Yorkway, and the Liberty Road renewal areas in the County, as set forth in the legislative enactment, for the purpose of residential, commercial, or industrial development or redevelopment of that property;

(2) acquire, by using the power of eminent domain (that is, the right of a government to "take" private land and property for public use, provided that just compensation is paid to the owner of the property), land and properties in the three renewal areas that are listed in the enactment by street address or by map, block, and parcel number for the purpose of residential, commercial, or industrial development or redevelopment;

(3) develop or redevelop land and property in the three renewal areas for residential, commercial, or industrial purposes; and

(4) sell, lease, convey, or transfer, for any value, to any private or public corporation, partnership, association, or other legal entity, land or properties in the three renewal areas that are acquired by Baltimore County under the authority of the legislative enactment, for residential, commercial, or industrial development or redevelopment.

The following restrictions or conditions are also imposed on Baltimore County by the legislative enactment:

(1) Before acquiring listed properties by eminent domain, the Baltimore County Council must adopt plans on how it will carry out the acquisition and development or redevelopment of the properties and must allow an opportunity for public comment on the plans;

(2) The County must provide compensation, including relocation costs, to a displaced person in accordance with State real property law, except that if a property owner–occupant or tenant is displaced because of the county's exercise of eminent domain under the legislative act, the County must offer assistance and payments for which the owner–occupant or tenant would qualify as a displaced person under federal law;

(3) The County cannot sell or dispose of property it acquires by eminent domain under the legislative enactment unless the proposed capital investment (that is, the acquisition price, plus the cost of improvements) equals or exceeds the price paid by the County for the property; and

(4) The county administration is required to submit an annual report to the Senators and Delegates who represent Baltimore County in the General Assembly of Maryland on or before February 15 of each year on how the legislative act is being implemented, the number of properties that have been acquired and are being sought for acquisition, and the displaced persons who have been provided relocation assistance.

By the terms of the legislative enactment, the authority of Baltimore County to exercise the power of eminent domain under the enactment will terminate on July 1, 2007, except as to those properties which before July 1, 2007, Baltimore County has approved for purchase or by an agreed sale which the County has filed a petition to acquire by eminent domain.

CHAPTER 111
(House Bill 201)
For Worcester County Only

QUESTION A

Pursuant to Chapter 111 of the Acts of the 2000 General Assembly

Straw Vote – Method of Selecting School Board Members

Do you favor changing the method of selection of the members of the Worcester County Board of Education from appointment by the Governor to election by the voters of Worcester County?

Summary

Requires that a question be placed on the ballot in Worcester County at the November, 2000 general election to determine the sense of the voters of the County on the issue of changing the method of selecting the members of the Worcester County Board of Education from the current method of appointment by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate of Maryland to election by the voters of Worcester County. The outcome of the vote is advisory only.

CHAPTER 163
(House Bill 1049)
For Cecil County Only

QUESTION A

Local Referendum

Development Excise Tax

Authorizes the Board of County Commissioners of Cecil County to impose a development excise tax on all new residential units, which are defined to include apartments, mobile homes, townhouses, single–family homes, and any other type of dwelling unit up to three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500.00) per residential unit to fund capital projects of the County and the Board of Education, debt incurred for capital projects, and additional or expanded public facilities or improvements.

Summary

Adds Section 34–16 to the Code of Public Local Laws of Cecil County to authorize the County to impose by law a development excise tax on new residential units in order to provide funding for the construction of additional or expanded public facilities and other improvements in the County. Any tax imposed by the County under this enactment cannot exceed $3,500 for each new residential unit. A residential unit includes a house, an apartment, a residential condominium, a mobile home, and any other structure used primarily as a dwelling. The money collected by Cecil County from the tax imposed under the authority of this enactment must be deposited by the Board of County Commissioners into a special account. The money in the special account can only be used to pay, in whole or in part, for the costs of the additional or expanded public facilities or other improvements or to pay the debt for which the County becomes responsible if it borrows money to fund the additional or expanded public facilities or other improvements. Before the Cecil County imposes or alters the tax authorized by this enactment, the Board of County Commissioners must:

(1) hold a public hearing on the proposed tax or alteration of the tax and publish notice of the time, date, and subject of the hearing;

(2) ensure that the development tax is imposed on a countywide basis, including within municipal corporations in the County; and

(3) require that the tax be paid at the time a building permit is issued for a new residential unit in Cecil County.

CHAPTER 194
(House Bill 1390)
For Queen Anne's County Only

QUESTIONS A and B

Question A

Question submitted by General Assembly

Board of County Commissioners – Election of County Commissioners Who Reside in Designated Districts

Do you favor altering the method of election of commissioners to the Board of County Commissioners for Queen Anne's County from the current system where the voters of the entire County elect commissioners who reside in any area of Queen Anne's County to a system where the voters of the entire County elect commissioners who reside in designated districts in Queen Anne's County?

Question B

Question submitted by General Assembly

Board of County Commissioners – Number of Commissioners

Do you favor altering the number of commissioners of the Board of County Commissioners for Queen Anne's County from 3 commissioners to 5 commissioners?

Summary

Requires two questions to be placed on the ballot in Queen Anne's County at the November 2000 general election to determine the sense of the voters on two issues. The first question is whether the voters from the entire County should continue to elect candidates for the Board of County Commissioners from any part of the County or should the voters from the entire County elect candidates who reside in designated districts. The second question relates to whether the membership of the Board of County Commissioners of Queen Anne's County should be increased from three to five members. The outcomes of the votes are advisory only.

CHAPTER 202
(House Bill 1437)
For Somerset County Only

QUESTION A

Straw Poll

Somerset County High School Consolidation

Are you for or against a proposal for a Consolidated High School?

Summary

Requires that a question be placed on the ballot in Somerset County at the November 2000 general election to determine the sense of the voters on whether to consolidate the two public high schools in Somerset County – Crisfield High School and Washington High School. The outcome of the vote is advisory only.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, PARRIS N. GLENDENING, GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND, by virtue of the power and authority conferred upon me by the Constitution and Election Laws of Maryland, do by this proclamation ORDER that these ballot question titles and bill summaries be published in at least two newspapers in each county where so many may be published, and where not more than one may be published, then in that newspaper, and in three newspapers published in Baltimore City, once a week for three weeks immediately preceding the General Election to be held on November 7, 2000, at which election these ballot questions shall be submitted, in the form prescribed by the General Assembly to the qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection.

GIVEN Under my Hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, at the City of Annapolis, this 21st day of August in the Year of Our Lord, Two Thousand.

Committee Has Open House At Ticket Office

An opening celebration of punch and cookies was held recently at the newly refurbished Amphitheater Ticket Office at the corner of Spruce and G streets in Mtn. Lake Park. The town's historic committee assembled a display of photographs of the park from as long as 100 years ago. The committee also produced a self-guided tour brochure of the town's historic district.

Karen Wooddell, chairman of the committee, introduced Mayor Paul Shockey, who greeted those attending and congratulated the committee members for their success in opening the Ticket Office, and in preparing "an excellent" tour brochure. The mayor also thanked the audience for attending and supporting the work of the Historic Committee. About 150 residents were there.

Oakland mayor Asa McCain and Garrett County commissioner Ernest Gregg and his wife Teresa also attended the opening, as well as town councilmen Fred Learey and David Gangler.

AN OPEN HOUSE was held recently at the historic Amphitheater Ticket Office in Mtn. Lake Park, at which residents and visitors had an opportunity to view various old photos and items from the early days of the town, which was a cultural, educational, Chautauqua-like community for several decades after its founding by a group of Methodist ministers in the late 19th century. The Amphitheater, which was razed in the 1940s, seated 5,000 people, and had a stage that could seat 500 people. Pictured above center, from left, are Mayor Paul Shockey, Councilman Dave Gangler, Historic Committee members Shirley Munford and Karen Wooddell (chairperson), and Councilman Fred Learey. Above right is a close-up of Wooddell and Munford, who organized the event and also chaired the creation of a brochure that gives information for a self-guided tour of the town's historic district. Tours via horse-drawn wagons were held over the Autumn Glory Festival weekend. Below left with Mayor Shockey are two of the honored guests at the open house, Garrett County Commissioner Ernie Gregg and Oakland Mayor Asa McCain. Below right are Kristin Baker and Karen Gallagher, students of Southern High School who served as hostesses.

Shirley Munford was involved with the details and was an assistant to Mrs. Wooddell. Ann Proudfoot assisted with flower arrangements. Susan Weisbrod and her brother supplied the music.

Munford obtained the help of several young students from Southern High School. She plans to train them as guides and speakers on Mountain Lake Park history. The students are: Coy Ware, Natalie Dominick, Kristin Shaffer, and Sharon Gallagher.

The historical display will be expanded with more pictures and memorabilia. The Ticket Office will also be used for meetings and other activities of public interest. Viewing hours will be set. Persons may call the town hall for more information (301-334-2250).

Mountain Lake Park Observer

by Dan Whittelsey

As a by-product to our successful opening of the Ticket Office at Spruce and G Street, we now have trained guides developed by Shirley Munford and students from Southern High. Last weekend out initial guide was Natalie Domenick, who rode the two-horse wagon, giving a talk on the homes in the Historic District of Mountain Lake Park. There were three trips on Saturday and four trips on Sunday.

I hope that on other holiday occasions we can hold the same program. We had a very good turnout, which tells us that our community is interested.

One of the purposes, if not the primary purpose, of this column is to focus attention on the town council and appointed committees. Town council meetings have been reasonably well attended (we could do better). Other committees have not been visited by the community. Attendance by residents of Mountain Lake Park tell the appointed members we appreciate their time and efforts. Give them your support.

The Zoning Appeals Board recently held a meeting which for various reasons did not reach a conclusion on the matter at hand. It was interesting that the person asking for a variance was faced by the town attorney, Bob Watson, Zoning Manager John Nelson, and two committee members (The chairman was absent due to illness). I mention this because the person seeking a variance was pretty well out-gunned. Therefore the committee should make every effort to see the individual resident receives the fairest treatment possible.

So much of the town's business is handled in front of the public, as it should be. In this situation it is important that all the niceties be followed. For instance, no minutes from a previous meeting were read, which indicated they do not keep minutes. There was not a roll call or public acknowledgement that the committee was reduced to two members, which did make a quorum.

Most of us are not involved with variances. the small size of the committee is of concern when matters very important to a resident are judged by so few.

This committee already this year has provided what residents who attended call a very poor and unpopular verdict regarding washing machines being allowed at Martin's store. Hopefully future meetings of this committee will be on track.

You are welcome to attend any meetings of any committee. While town council meetings are regularly scheduled, meetings of other committees and boards are posted at town hall. Please attend whenever possible.

The next meeting of the Zoning Appeals Board is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 1. Come if you can.

Fall leaf removal starts next Monday, Oct. 23, and will continue for that week.

Residents are encouraged to volunteer their time to serve on committees of any type. If you have any special training that you think may be helpful to the town council and mayor, please let them know.

Eva Long is continuing to recuperate at home after sustaining a dislocated and fractured elbow in a fall. Her son and daughter-in-law, Ed and Kathy Long, spent the first few days with her.

Recent visitors were Robert Witt, Wade Sherman, Louise Sherman, Dorothy Sines, Alma Knotts, and Charlotte Fike.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ahern traveled to New York City recently, where they toured the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island. Accompanying them on the trip were their granddaughter, Marcia Ahern, and their grandson Donald Edward Ahern.

The towns of Oakland, Mountain Lake Park, Deer Park, and Loch Lynn will have

NOTICE TO OAKLAND TOWN RESIDENTS

The Oakland Street Department will begin the annual process of leaf collection on Monday, October 23. Oakland Town residents are requested to have their leaves raked out to the curb or sidewalk for collection. PLEASE DO NOT RAKE APPLES AND STICKS IN WITH YOUR LEAVES. Those items could cause harm to Town employees or damage to the equipment. The Street Department will continue leaf collection until November 10, 2000, weather permitting.

Residents are reminded that weekly bulk pick-up on Fridays by the Oakland Street Department will end October 20, 2000, and will resume in the spring 2001.

Please call the Oakland Street Department at (301)334-3253, if you have any questions.

Friendsville Man Charged With Rape

A Friendsville man is being held in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $125,000 bond stemming from rape charges filed by the Garrett County State's Attorney's Office this week.

John Joseph Hovatter, 41, was served with a warrant Monday charging him with first- and second-degree rape and false imprisonment. The papers were served at the jail, where Hovatter was already incarcerated in the wake of his Oct. 4 arrest by Maryland State Police troopers in connection with the same incident.

According to the charging statement of TFC P.L. Bittinger, Hovatter allegedly assaulted a woman at a Friendsville residence shortly after midnight Oct. 4. He allegedly made threats to kill her with a hunting knife to force the suspected victim to comply with his demands for sex, and he reportedly beat her in the process.

Hovatter was arrested that same day on charges of first degree sex offense, first degree assault, and reckless endangerment.

Upon further investigation into the incident, State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch filed additional charges of first- and second-degree rape, and false imprisonment against Hovatter on Monday afternoon.

IN THE SPIRIT OF THE SEASON — Keith and Sandra Blamble have a no-holds-barred attitude about the fun of decorating for Halloween, and their yard is proof of that. Located along Wilson-Corona Road near Gorman, the scene includes just about every Halloweeny item one can think of. "We have been doing this since our kids were little," said Mrs. Blamble, who then reported with some sheepishness that her "kids" are now 19 and 20. "She goes all out every year," Mr. Blamble said. "It's a lot of fun." A number of seasonal activities are planned in the county, as that bewitching time of the year creeps up. The annual Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club parade in Oakland will take place this evening at 6:30 p.m., with participants directed to meet on Center Street for the event. A Halloween party is slated at the Grantsville Plaza on Oct. 30, beginning at 6 p.m. "Trick-or-treating" will take place in several towns, mostly on Saturday evening, during various hours. For detailed information about dates and times, persons should contact their local town halls during regular office hours. In the meantime, find those old rubber masks, dust them off, and make the most of this lighthearted time.

Local Student Big Winner On TV Game Show

Jimmy Brown, a 1997 honor graduate of Southern High School and currently a senior at the University of Maryland, was a contestant and major winner this week on NBC Television's game show Wheel of Fortune. Brown, who has a scholarship to the university, walked away from Constitution Hall in Washington Sunday, where the show was taped, with cash and prizes worth just under $40,000.

Not only did Brown win the regular game and advance to the grand prize round, but he won the grand prize of a trip to Europe for four with a wild guess of the word "gopher." Brown had guessed only the final two letters of a six-letter "thing," and blurted out "gopher" on his first guess.

Pat Sajak, host of the show, and Vanna White, his assistant, were stunned when Brown guessed correctly. "I was thinking, 'It's OK. I've already won $19,000'," Brown said. "Pat said beforehand to just say the weirdest thing I could think of, and for some reason I just thought of 'gopher'.

"I thought I was going to pass out on stage and Pat was going to have to catch me," he continued. "It was insane — the greatest feeling of my life."

$100K Worth Of Marijuana Seized From DCL Home

Detectives with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force arrested two Garrett County residents on multiple drug charges after a search of a Deep Creek Lake area home Tuesday afternoon. Approximately 100 suspected marijuana plants, worth in excess of $100,000, where seized during the 4 p.m. search of the 4014 Mayhew Inn Road residence, according to Task Force spokesperson Sheriff Dick Sanders.

Thomas Dean Sharpless, 23, and Amy Christine Baker, 26, both of whom resided in the home, were arrested after the search, which uncovered a quantity of suspected processed marijuana, marijuana manufacturing equipment (including heat lamps), and drug paraphernalia, in addition to the suspected marijuana plants. Both suspects face charges of manufacturing marijuana, possession with intent to distribute marijuana, maintaining a common nuisance, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Sharpless was released from the Garrett County Detention Center after posting a $25,000 bond as set by a district court commissioner. Baker was released on a $25,000 unsecured bond.

Seven Injured In Accident On Rt. 219 Saturday

An accident Saturday afternoon on Route 219 at the Deep Creek Lake Bridge injured seven people, who were transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital for treatment.

According to a report filed at the McHenry barrack of the Maryland State Police, Jing Dong Chen, 34, Morgantown, W.Va., was driving his 1994 Nissan Ultima northbound on Rt. 219, when he stopped for traffic, which had slowed for a vehicle attempting to turn left onto Lake Shore Dr.

Jearl D. Barnett, 46, Rock Castle, W.Va., was operating a 1987 Peterbuilt tractor northbound on Rt. 219, hauling an empty trailer. As he approached the stopped traffic, he tried to stop, then started to pull to the right shoulder of the road, Tfc. Greg Becker said. The front left side of the tractor's bumper reportedly struck the right bumper of the Nissan, pushing it into the southbound lane of Rt. 219.

Paula S. Sholty, Boonsboro, who was driving a 1998 Plymouth Voyager southbound on Rt. 219, struck the Nissan head-on as it traveled into the southbound lane, Becker said. The Voyager turned onto its left side and slid into the right roadside ditch of southbound Rt. 219, as the Nissan was turned around to the south, the report stated.

Paula S. Sholty and Sara Jane Trevey, Boonesboro, trapped inside the Voyager, were freed by the rescue squad and taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital. Also injured were Jing Dong Chen and the following passengers in the Nissan: Mi Xiao, 31, Shao Wei Zhang, 58, Yunging Chen 6, and Xiao Lan Chen, 55, all of Morgantown. They were taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by the Deep Creek VFC, Accident VFD, and Northern and Southern rescue squads.

Investigation is continuing at this time.

Garrett County Memorial Has New Dual-Slice CT Scanner

Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently enhanced its radiology services with the purchase of a new state-of-the-art, dual-slice spiral CT scanner, making Garrett Memorial only the second hospital in the area to have "multislice" technology.

Dr. James Benjamin, radiologist, compares the upgrade from the old scanner to the MxTwin to going from an 8-track tape to a CD. "The three-dimensional imaging enables us to answer physicians' questions that we weren't able to answer before," Benjamin said.

A scan that used to take 40 minutes can now be done in less than 10. Conventional CT requires that patients hold their breath and remain completely immobile during the scan. The MxTwin can scan in a single breath. This speed is especially critical for trauma patients, Benjamin explained, where the speed with which the patient can be diagnosed and treated can often be the difference between life and death.

"Patients can now get the best quality CT scan right here at Garrett County Memorial Hospital," stated Mike Reed, director of radiology. The diagnosis of kidney stones can now be done quicker and safer. Pulmonary emboli, which affects 5 out of 10,000 people each year in the United States, can be diagnosed at Garrett Memorial rather than sending patients to Cumberland. The MxTwin provides the hospital with greater resolution power and provides the ability to detect smaller tumors earlier.

The MxTwin CT imaging system is a multislice computer tomographic scanner that can acquire two slices of data simultaneously. In this procedure, an x-ray beam is rotated around an area of the body to be visualized. Using complicated mathematical processes called algorithms, the computer is able to generate three-dimensional images of a section through the body. Manufactured by Picker, the MxTwin is the world's first multislice CT scanner.

Dr. Thomas Johnson, speaking on behalf of the hospital's medical staff, noted his "deep appreciation" to the hospital's foundation for its commitment in funding the new CT scanner, thus enabling Gar-

MULTISLICE TECHNOLOGY is something that only two hospitals in the area can offer, and one of those is Garrett County Memorial, which recently purchased a new spiral CT scanner. Murder Charge Dismissed In April Drowning

Judge Ralph Burnett dismissed a second-degree murder charge faced by Mark John Johnston, 43, Friendsville, stating that the accusation demonstrated "lack of probable cause" during a preliminary hearing Monday in Garrett County District Court. The murder charge stemmed from the April drowning death of Gary Lee Swift on the Yough River Lake.

The judge determined that related allegations of manslaughter and reckless endangerment charges did have probable cause, and ordered that a trial be forthcoming. The trial date for those charges has not been set.

Johnston was arrested September 20 by detective Steve Bennett of the Garrett Bureau of Investigation, four months after the April 28 drowning death of Gary Lee Swift on the Youghiogheny River Lake. According to the charging statement, Johnston and Swift were allegedly intoxicated as they were fishing the night of April 28, when, as Swift was standing in the stern of the boat, Johnston grabbed a gunwale and the windshield and began rocking the boat. Swift fell into the water and drowned after Johnston was unable to rescue him.

During the early stages of the investigation, Johnston told police that Swift had dropped him off on the shore, and gone back out onto the lake to continue fishing by himself before disappearing. Johnston maintained that accounting of the events in its basic form until September 11, when he gave a statement in which he reportedly admitted to rocking the boat at the time Swift fell overboard.

Breeding Bull Disappears From Grantsville Farm

A registered breeding bull, valued at $1,500, is missing from a Grantsville area farm in what the Garrett County Sheriff's Office is investigating as a possible felony theft incident.

The animal was discovered to be missing from its Hetrick Road farm, located northwest of Grantsville, early Saturday morning. The bull is described as a miniature Dexter breeding bull with a black body and white horns with black tips. It stands 40 inches at the shoulder, weighs approximately 500 pounds, and resembles a shorter version of a Black Angus bull.

There were no signs of forced entry to, or forced exit from, the barnyard, and the gate was latched at the time of the discovery of the bull's disappearance.

Persons with information concerning the matter are asked to contact the sheriff's office at 301-334-1911.

GC Officials Guarded In Reaction To Taylor's Bi-Co. Tourism Plan

Speaker of the House Casper Taylor met Monday with nearly 60 individuals representing the tourism industry in Garrett and Allegany counties to discuss the idea of combining the counties' tourism efforts. Taylor presented a rough draft of proposed legislation that would add Garrett County, or parts of the area, to the already established Heritage Area in Allegany County.

The legislation would also create a bi-county "Mountain Maryland Tourism Promotion Council," funneling state and federal monies to the western Maryland region for tourism, rather than dividing the funds among the separate counties. This council would fall under the proposed Canal Place "Gateways" Preservation and Development Authority, a modified version of the present Canal Place Preservation and Development Authority.

A number of elected officials were present for the meeting, including Delegate George Edwards, Senator John Hafer, Commissioner Wendell Beitzel, Commissioner Fred Holliday, and two commissioners from Allegany County. Also present were Rodney Little, director of Maryland's historical and cultural programs; Dick Pfefferkorn, executive director of Cumberland's Canal Place; and J. Glenn Beall, chairman of Canal Place.

Although he reported last Wednesday to The Republican news staff that no proposed legislation had been written, Taylor did distribute a 20-page document Monday, prepared by Little. It was a rough draft, officials said, showing a mixture of Allegany County's Canal Place legislation, which has already been enacted and is functioning, and added language proposing the inclusion of Garrett County in certain aspects of the plan.

The Canal Place Preservation and Development Authority, a certified Maryland Heritage Area, is the only such area in the state, making it eligible for state and federal grants and/or tax credits in the areas of tourism and cultural preservation. The process to become certified can take as long as three years, but if Garrett County goes along with Taylor's proposition of joining the counties in tourism, then it too would become part of the Maryland Heritage Area almost automatically.

The advantages of joining the neighboring county's organization include enhanced cultural and recreational development, plus historical preservation, which are all keys to the marketing of tourism, Little said, adding that "tourism is an important form of economic development." Taylor said 11 other areas in the state are seeking to earn the Heritage Area certification.

The proposed addition of Garrett County in this plan would change the present make-up of the Authority. The membership currently consists of six members appointed by the governor, one representative each of the Maryland Historical Trust and the U.S. Department of the Interior, and one representative of the mayor and town council of Cumberland. The new make-up of the Authority would include four persons who reside in Allegany County, four who reside in Garrett County, one representative of the Allegany County commissioners, one representative of the Garrett County commissioners, and the senior member of the General Assembly resident in Allegany County and the senior member of the General Assembly resident in Garrett County (these would be non-voting members), along with the Historical Trust and Department of Interior persons. It would retain the one representative of the Cumberland town council, equaling seven members from Allegany County and six from Garrett County.

All of these positions, according to Taylor's draft, would be appointed by the governor, who would also appoint the chairperson of the Authority.

Also to be formed is the Mountain Maryland Tourism Promotion Council, which would be a subgroup of the Authority. This council would be made up of five individuals from Allegany County and five from Garrett County, also appointed by the governor upon the recommendation of the Authority. The governor, according to the rough draft, would also appoint the chairperson of this council.

The funding of this entity was a point of discussion, as the draft states the following:

"No state funds may be expended in any state fiscal year for tourism marketing and public relations in a county until the county has transferred to the council for that fiscal year monies at least equal to the funds budgeted by the county in fiscal year 2001 for tourism marketing and public relations."

This has been interpreted by local officials as equaling $400,000 from Garrett County, the amount budgeted for the chamber of commerce, and $225,000 from Allegany County, the amount that county spent on tourism for this fiscal year. Local officials are critical of this funding formula, although Taylor has maintained that the wording can be changed to satisfy both counties.

Another point of contention is the authority given to the governor in the selection of members to the organizations. Commissioner Beitzel asked why the governor would be the one to do so, and ... Taylor said the wor... could be changed, and th... the draft had been written based on previous legislative documents.

When asked what the new role, new funding formulas, and authority would be for the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, Little said, "It can be whatever the county wants it to be."

Beitzel also voiced his concern about the location of the proposed council's office, noting that since Canal Place is already established in Allegany County, would the proposed council also be based in the neighboring county? If the weather is foul, members from Garrett County could be hampered in their attempts to attend meetings in Allegany County, although a quorum of seven might be there and might be made up of mostly Allegany County members. Again, the speaker and other officials said that would be something to be agreed upon in further discussion of the proposal.

Taylor stressed time is of the essence because the 2001 General Assembly is "just around the corner," and he would like to have this legislation passed and enacted by July 1, 2001. In an effort to "hammer out the differences," the suggestion was made on Monday that the commissioners of each county appoint a small

BPW Names Dr. Margaret Kaiser Both Woman, Employer Of Year

Dr. Margaret Kaiser was recognized last week as both Garrett County's Woman of the Year and Employer of the Year by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

"Dr. Kaiser has distinguished herself in her career and community," said past president Phyllis Trickett. "She has been outstanding in her career as a mentor and in offering guidance to young women. As an employer, she has promoted women employees and created a family environment."

BPW president Donna McClintock listed some of Dr. Kaiser's accomplishments and activities as a practitioner of internal medicine.

"Dr. Kaiser has given public support of public health," said McClintock. The physician was recognized in People magazine last year for her home visits to elderly patients, and has received a variety of awards for her work with diabetes and nursing homes.

Nurse Judy Wilt said she was excited about the award and the fact that BPW was recognizing what the employees have know for many years.

"She provides on-site care for babies, encourages family togetherness, and allows staff members time to further their education," Wilt said. "She is also deeply concerned with end-of-life care, always stressing dignified, pain-free death."

Physician assistant Barbara Monn, also on Kaiser's staff, said she has appreciated the emphasis on family care at the workplace, noting such things as cribs, changing tables, flexibility, and allowing the staff to arrange schedules around their children.

A bird watcher, Dr. Kaiser has placed bird feeders outside the windows of her office, including one outside the waiting room so patients can watch the birds, Trickett noted.'

Renaté Gaither, who has worked in the office for 13 years, stressed Dr. Kaiser's compassion for her patients, her love of nature, and concern for the people who work for her.

"She is an excellent teacher, and encourages personal growth and career development," said Gaither.

Dr. Kaiser said she felt strongly about being a female professional, and that her life has been blessed by a number of people who encouraged and supported her.

"I have had a wonderful life and I'm glad to be able to give something back," she said.

Kaiser was given flowers by her staff and her husband, Eric Tribbey, and a plaque from BPW recognizing her achievements.

DR. KAISER HONORED — Dr. Margaret Kaiser was joined by her staff October 19 as she was recognized as Woman of the Year and Employer of the Year for 2000 by the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club. Her medical contributions to the homebound and to those afflicted with diabetes, as well as her attention to the needs of her staff, were among the many characteristics praised by the BPW and co-workers. Student Service Alliance Honors Reichenbecher

Gary Reichenbecher, principal of Northern High School, was recently honored by the Maryland Student Service Alliance of the Maryland State Department of Education at a ceremony during the fifth annual Convening of Service-Learning Leaders held September 26 in Timonium. He was among the principals selected for exhibiting outstanding leadership in promoting high-quality service-learning experiences for students.

More than 200 service-learning leaders from around the state — including principals, other administrators, students, teachers, parents, community-based organizations, and higher education institution staff — attended the event.

Nine principals were recognized for their exemplary service-learning leadership efforts during a Celebration of Excellence Ceremony. The Blue Ribbon Principal Service-Learning Leadership winner received an award plus $1,000 to be used to support service-learning in his school. Honorable Mention principals each received an award plus $200.

The Blue Ribbon winner was Bob Cullison of Gateway School in Carroll County.

In addition, four local school systems received excellence awards for their efforts to enhance the quality of service-learning programs within their systems. The Convening of Service-Learning Leaders is held each year so leaders from around the state can share effective practices and strategies for program improvement.

Resources Of GC Community To Be Topic Of Survey

The Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families will conduct a survey at polling places on Election Day, Nov. 7, asking citizens to take five minutes after voting to answer a few questions about community resources.

The one-page survey will include questions about the strengths of the community, the challenges to children and families in the county, and the resources available to support families. Local public and non-profit organizations will use the survey data for writing grant proposals and for strategic planning, a spokesperson said.

Data collected from each of the 18 county polling sites will be used to target funds to the neediest areas, the spokesperson said. Survey results will be used to access additional state and federal funding.

Volunteers are being recruited to help hand out the survey forms at the polling places.

"We are asking clubs, organizations, and other groups to take responsibility for one polling place for the whole day," said Phil Schenk, coordinator of the survey. An informational session for volunteers is scheduled Thursday, Nov. 2, from 7 until 8 p.m. at Garrett Community College in Room 308 of the Continuing Education building.

"This is a great way for organizations to do a community project," said Schenk. Coordinators have been identified for nine of the 18 polling sites. Volunteers are needed for all polling sites, and they will be assigned to a polling place near where they live. Older high school students who are looking for service learning hours may sign up at school or cali to volunteer.

Interested groups, organizations, and/or individuals may contact Sue Sharpless at the Garrett Partnership office at 301-334-1189 to volunteer. The election board has requested the names and addresses of all volunteers. The site coordinators will contact volunteers to schedule a few hours to hand out the surveys at the polls.

Over 1,400 voters completed this survey during the November 1998 election. Fred Sanders, director of the Garrett County Board of Elections, has again granted permission to conduct the survey for the November 2000 election, the spokesperson noted.

Halloween Parade Slated At Plaza In Grantsville

A Halloween Parade and celebration will take place at the Grantsville Shopping Plaza on Oct. 30 from 6 until 7 p.m. All area children are invited to take part in the event.

Participants should meet beside Foodland at 6. The parade will proceed through the plaza and stop at participating businesses, where treats will be handed out.

The costume judging will take place at 6:45 p.m., with prizes being given to children in different age groups and in the categories of most original, prettiest, and scariest. The judging will be done by Fred and Joan Holliday, and the prizes will be provided by Foodland.

This event is being sponsored by the Grantsville Shopping Plaza and organized by Foodland.

Bring A Book, Save A Buck On Haunted Hayride

In the spirit of Make A Difference Day this Saturday, Oct. 28, anyone who brings a child's book to donate to the Western Maryland Reads literacy program will save $1 on the cost of the Dark Forest haunted hayride at Bietschehof Farm, Grantsville.

Sponsors of this fundraising event, Puzzley Run Folklife Center and the Western Maryland Reads Alliance, said they decided to offer this reduced price special to encourage people in the community to "make a difference" by supporting a literacy program.

"The volunteers in the Western Maryland Reads group work with students in kindergarten through 12th grade, and they can really use some more children's books. The books don't necessarily need to be new; they just need to be in good condition," said Jean Durst of the folklife center.

The haunted hayrides in the "Dark Forest" have been running for the last two weekends. This will be the final Friday and Saturday night for the seasonally "scary" adventure. The hayrides will also be offered on Tuesday evening, Oct. 31. "This special reduced price for a book donation is only good for this Saturday," Durst noted.

The Dark Forest will be open on Friday and Saturday nights, 8-11 p.m., and on Tuesday, Oct. 31, 8-10 p.m. The cost is $5 for everyone over 12; $2.50 for children 4-12; and free for children under 4.

Garrett CC To Inaugurate New CIBIT Program

An inauguration ceremony for the Career Institute for Business and Information Technology (CIBIT) at Garrrett Community College is slated for Friday, Nov. 10, at 1 p.m. in Room 305 of the Information Advanced Technology Center.

Following a welcome by college president Dr. Steven Herman, Dr. Terry Norris, director of the Institute and of GCC's academic programs in Business, will explain the multiple functions of the Institute. These will include the academic offerings, the practicum/internship opportunities, the computer certification programs, the high school computer academy, the center for telecommuting professions, and the CIBIT speakers bureau. Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of academic affairs, will speak about CIBIT from an academic perspective, and Lowell Bender, dean of continuing education, will speak about the Medical Transcription program.

Guests will be invited to tour the Information Advanced Technology Center, and will be able to observe the High School Computer Certification Academy class meeting that afternoon.

Persons interested in attending the CIBIT inauguration should call 301-387-3054 to confirm attendance.

Clarification

On the front page of last week's Republican, a photo of Jane Avery riding a vehicle in the Autumn Glory parade was published in the upper right corner. Because the identity of the driver was not known at press time, his name was not included in the information below the photo. The driver was in fact Jim McCartney, business manager of Team One, and the vehicle was provided by Team One. Because the photo information did mention Avery's dog Max, who was also in the car, friends and family of McCartney have apparently been confusing him with the canine and have been offering him dog treats all week. Sorry about that, Jim.

made fun of, or to be told that I was "out of line." Yes, and Mr. Friend was always the first one to say this.

Remember, if you have a house that is a little run down, all that Mr. Friend wants to do is have it torn down. Also remember this, we have had a mayor who has kept our taxes down for years and has tried to work with everyone all of these years. THANKS, CHARLIE!

Remember, when going to vote on November 6, do we really need Mr. Friend and his clique? We do not need Mr. Friend as our mayor. We need someone who will work with us all.

Nationally Noted Victims' Advocate To Speak At GCC

Roberta Roper, director of the Stephanie Roper Committee and the Stephanie Roper Foundation, will speak to the Juvenile Justice class at Garrett Community College Wednesday, Nov. 1, at 6:30 p.m. in Room 314 of the Continuing Education building. The presentation is open to the public.

A nationally known crime victims' advocate, Roper has been honored by Presidents Reagan in 1988 and Clinton in 1994 for her outstanding service to victims of crime. Mike Lewis, principal of the Department of Juvenile Justice Youth Centers in Garrett and Allegany counties and instructor of the course Principles and Practices of Juvenile Justice, calls Roper "an inspiration."

Following the 1982 murder of their daughter Stephanie, who was an art student at Frostburg State University, Roper and her husband Vince founded the Stephanie Roper Committee and the Stephanie Roper Foundation. Both non-profit, volunteer, advocacy, and assistance organizations are nationally recognized as effective voices for victims of criminal violence.

The committee advocates for the victims' rights and services in Maryland. The foundation provides free services that include dissemination of criminal justice proceedings information, assistance in exercising victims' rights, court accompaniment, legal assistance for financially eligible crime victims, and peer support for families and friends of homicide and drunk driving victims.

Roper has actively participated in a number of victims' services, assistance, and advocacy groups since her daughter's murder. She currently chairs Maryland's State Board of Victim Services, is co-chairperson of the National Victims' Constitutional Network, and is a member of the advisory board of the National Institute of Victims Studies.

She successfully led the Maryland coalition for a constitutional amendment for crime victims' rights from 1988 until the amendment passed in 1994, and serves as a technical resource for the National Organization for Victim Assistance and the National Victim Center.

Agency On Aging Seeks Seniors' Input On Issues

Garrett County Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging and the Commission on Aging have scheduled two "town meetings" to obtain community input on topics of importance to senior citizens and their family members. The first meeting is set for Monday, Nov. 6, at 10:30 a.m. at the Mary Browning Senior Center, 104 E. Center St., Oakland, and the second meeting will take place Thursday, Nov. 9, at 10:30 a.m. at the Grantsville Senior Center, Durst Ct., Grantsville.

Slated for discussion are the issues of prescription drug coverage and the elderly, transportation initiatives, Medicaid Waiver and state funded community-based long-term care programs, and the Long-Term Care Ombudsman program. Town meetings are being held throughout the state at the suggestion of the Maryland Commission on Aging, which has developed four discussion papers on the proposed topics. Input from the state's senior population will help the commission formulate legislative recommendations pertaining to the discussion papers, according to a spokesperson.

"The issues to be addressed at the town meetings are or should be of great importance to the senior population as well as their family members," stated Adina Brode, AAA director. "We are all concerned about the fact that many seniors must decide between medications and food or heat, or that a frail senior is placed in a long-term care facility because he/she cannot safely remain in his/her own home due to the lack of community based services.

"Now is the opportunity to make your voices heard to assure that appropriate services are developed, funds are allocated and that emerging initiatives continue to be funded in the future," she concluded.

Senior citizens, family members, caregivers, senior advocates, and concerned citizens are invited and encouraged to attend one of the meetings. The county's legislators and commissioners have been invited to attend. For more information interested persons may contact the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431 or 888-877-8403.

Traffic Stop Leads To DWI, Drug Charges

Roger H. Jarrell Jr., 32, Accident, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated, possession of marijuana, and possession of drug paraphernalia following a traffic stop on Sunday, Oct. 22, on Rt. 219 near Mosser Road, according to the Maryland State Police at the McHenry barrack.

Jarrell was detained but later released on $500 bond.

Loch Lynn After-School Program Sets Open House

The Loch Lynn after-school program opened its doors recently, and will mark the 2000-2001 school year of operation with an open house event slated for Friday, Nov. 3, from 6 to 7 p.m. Staff members will be on hand to explain the program and answer questions from interested parents.

Thirty-three students are currently enrolled in the after-school program, which operates weekdays from 3:15 to 6 p.m. The program offers a variety of activities for participating students in grades 3, 4, and 5, including a tutoring service, homework assistance, mentoring, and recreational activities, all which are offered on a daily basis.

The Loch Lynn after-school program is a cooperative effort between the Partnership for Children and Families, the town of Loch Lynn, and the Garrett County Community Action Committee. Melinda Paugh coordinates the program with assistance from Rebecca Rush, Tracy Welch, and AmeriCorps volunteer Connie Herman. The program received a donation of used books from the Ruth Enlow Library recently.

Rural Expo Plans Include Items Of Interest For Kids

Rural Expo 2000, scheduled for this Sunday afternoon, 2-5 p.m., at Bietschehof Farm, Grantsville, will offer information and activities for children as well as adults. The expo will be held in the 1800 Dutch barn, adjacent to the farm yard, where children can see Dexter cattle, Jacob's sheep, a wide assortment of goats and chickens, and llamas.

"Children who have been to Bietschehof before know Lamar Llama. His family now includes a new baby, born last month," said Bill Durst of Bietschehof. In addition to the animals, there will be some children's activities in the barn, and some "favors."

The youth group from the Family Agricultural Project of Garrett and Preston Counties will provide an exhibit and a presentation. The group works in conjunction with Heifer Project International, which will also provide a display and video for the expo.

Information will be available on a variety of programs that encourage conservation of natural resources. Rural Expo is sponsored by Maryland Mountain Trust, a non-profit organization dedicated to fostering stewardship of resources.

Bietschehof, located just west of Grantsville, is accessible from Route 40 by taking Zehner Road north to Hetrick Road. For more information, persons may call 301-746-8989 or 301-895-3742. Rural Expo is free and open to the public.

Will the world's educational institutes destroy your child's faith in God's Word?

Many Christian young people start out with a strong belief in God and the Bible, thanks to support from their Christian family and Church.

Then it's off to college. While they're alone and vulnerable, intimidating professors soon begin tearing down their faith.

These "scholars" give "proof" that man evolved over millions of years, and preach that there is no Creator. Worst of all, they purposely withhold evidence that proves their theories are impossible.

This tactic has shaken or destroyed the faith of many impressionable Christian youth. Don't let it happen to your young people!

A Bad Idea...

A meeting was held at Garrett Community College Monday for members of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and local elected officials to hear about a proposal by Delegate/Speaker of the House Casper Taylor to combine tourism marketing efforts of Garrett County with those of Allegany County. This would be accomplished via expansion of Allegany County's Canal Place Preservation & Development Authority's designation as a Heritage Area to include parts of Garrett County. The authority's membership would be changed to include residents and elected officials from both counties. (See front-page story for details.)

After listening to the presentation, comments by various individuals, and responses to a number of questions, we have concluded that this is a bad idea for Garrett County. Tourism promotion in Allegany County is disjointed, in that there is no central tourism office. Three or four different agencies are each doing its own thing, with little coordination of efforts. Tourism in the county is decreasing, while in Garrett County, which has a central agency for such marketing (the GC Chamber of Commerce), tourism is increasing dramatically on an annual basis. So Garrett County is the strong player here, meaning we have the most to lose in such an arrangement and the least to gain, while Allegany County is on the opposite end of that same stick. We have no assurances that the benefits of being part of a designated heritage area outweigh the negative effects of the added baggage.

Speaker Taylor is pushing hard to get this proposal introduced in the 2001 General Assembly, which is only about two months away. The commissioners of both counties are going to appoint a committee to go over each item in the proposal, make changes, and "iron out" the differences. This is a tall order in a relatively short time.

While we are opposed to the idea of any such merger, if there is going to be such a committee formed, then we strongly urge those committee members from Garrett County to make no compromises and no concessions. Once again, we are the strong player here. We have the prime tourism "products" in Garrett County and we know how to market them successfully. If this new agency is to be, then it absolutely must be totally equitable between the two counties. As defined in the current proposal, it is nowhere near equitable, as Allegany County will provide less funding and have more representation on the authority board.

It also seems prudent to us that this should not be a railroad job, but one that perhaps should wait until the 2002 General Assembly. With such little time for this committee to work, the risk of missing something is much greater.

Delegate Taylor closed the meeting on Monday by stating that "cooperation" and "trust" are essential for the long-term economic well-being of both Garrett and Allegany counties. But just a few days prior he told our own reporter that "nothing was in writing yet" about this new proposal, meaning that the 20-page document distributed at Monday's meeting had to have been written in just a few days. We don't believe that.

We also have a problem with the speaker's plea for trust when we continue to see state conference/convention business diverted away from Garrett County businesses and into that financial black hole known as Rocky Gap.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I have been a resident of Loch Lynn since November 1993, and I have been a registered Independent voter for as long as I can remember. I urge all voters to talk to candidates on both sides of the issues and make your own choices, then vote.

If the candidates, incumbent and opposing, and the citizens will work as hard in identifying the issues, then put as much energy into solving the problems as they do in tearing the community apart, this will again be a great town to live in.

Remember the adage: If you are not part of the solution, you are probably part of the problem.

Get involved, attend meetings, make informed decisions using the facts, and vote.

Sincerely,
Fern Foley

To the Editor:

The millennium 2000 edition of the Burlington Old-Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival was an unqualified success! We thank you and your staff for helping to make that success possible with your assistance in publicizing the festival.

The Burlington OldFashioned Apple Harvest Festival has earned the reputation for producing a well-planned, affordable, family-oriented event year after year. For the past 27 years, the event's planners, all hailing from the tiny village of Burlington and the surrounding community, have worked tirelessly to see that the festival runs smoothly. Their diligence has paid off, as the Apple Harvest Festival has become one of the largest weekend festivals in West Virginia.

On behalf of all of the infants, children, youths, and families that we serve, and also on behalf of our auxiliary and our staff, we would like to thank all of those who worked long hours to make the 2000 Burlington Old-Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival a reality. More than 1,000 volunteers worked throughout the week prior to the festival peeling 1,200 bushels of apples, stirring kettles, and canning a festival record 2,418 gallons of Burlington's Famous Apple Butter. Hundreds of additional volunteers helped to staff and operate the booths and activities throughout the festival weekend.

We hope you will join us next year when we celebrate the 28th Burlington Old-Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival, set for October 6 and 7, 2001.

God's blessings to all, and again, "thank you" to all who had a part in our festival's success.

Grace and Peace,

To the Editor:

I was amazed at the amount of money the county commissioners are willing to pitch in for the new adventure sports complex. It seems very out of proportion when you consider that some of our schools and classrooms are overcrowded and some don't have enough books.

Here are a few examples of the space problems in the schools. At Northern Middle School, they had to create a classroom out of a large closet. The students are packed in like sardines, with about a foot of space between the front row of desks and the chalkboard. At several schools, classes are taught in small, open areas adjoining the library or hallways, where students are easily distracted. Both students and teachers throughout those areas must always try to be as quiet as possible, which is far from the best atmosphere for learning. The community college is using portable classrooms and offices. In fact, the Board of Education building itself should probably be replaced.

I am currently assisting at another county school where the English classes have about 30 students in them, with some as high as 34. Try helping 34 students edit their papers in 55 minutes; see how far you get. An optimal class size is 20. This is the single most important determinant of classroom progress.

In many classes at several schools I know of, there aren't enough books to go around. Students have to do their reading in class instead of for homework. This cuts the learning time in school and the amount of material covered in a school year in half.

Until reading the plans for the sports complex, I thought: Oh, it's a very poor county and we're doing the best we can. Well, guess what? We're not doing the best we can for our students. With the amount of money the commissioners have pledged for the sports complex for the next five years, we could add classrooms to buildings, hire more teachers, and buy more books. Why wait for a trickle-down effect five years from now, which may not ever materialize from this sports extravaganza?

After we address these pressing needs, I can see how an ice skating rink, a public pool, and a performing arts center would be desired improvements for the county, but as for the rest of the complex, let's get our priorities straight. We already have a very successful downhill ski area. Cross-country (Nordic) ski opportunities already exist just about everywhere you look in this county, including groomed trails at two state parks. And we have here in Garrett County two of the best whitewater boating rivers in the world, with various stretches appropriate for all levels of boaters. To build an artificial course is like building an artificial mountain in the Alps.

Besides all these reasons, the complex sounds like a financial black hole. It's way too big to be manageable. If there is a business plan, as Hinebaugh says, where is it? Let some people with business sense read it over and let's heed their warnings before pledging our money. At the very minimum, if we must go through with even part of the complex, let's rectify the situations in the schools first.

Sincerely,
Susan Haydel

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to the Loch Lynn town elections. I think it's very sad when neighbors and friends turn against each other just to get into office. It's bad enough when the presidential election starts with the dirt and lies, but when it happens in a small town like Loch Lynn, it's just plain silly. What has happened to a good clean election?

I read the newsletter that was mailed to me with information about some of the candidates running for office. I had to laugh when I read how someone took credit for collecting overdue tax and sewer bills, helped so much with town picnics and other projects, and used the town charter so often. What really got my attention though was how he was the one to push the ballfield through. The two people who were instrumental in getting the fields ready were Dr. Karl Schwalm and my husband Roger. Actually, if it were not for Roger, the land might never have been purchased for the ballfields.

Getting back to the charter, how many people know that the candidate I'm talking about was on the council at the time of the pay raise and he voted on it also? Too bad he did not read the charter as carefully as he said; then the town would not be going through this problem. As for the tall tales that have been going around about our town treasurer, if she is seven months behind in her books, how could she pass an audit every year? And for the record, it's she who has always collected the town taxes and sewer bills. After all, it's her job.

Citizens of Loch Lynn, I know a few people have been going from door to door telling you things that have been going on in town and at the town meetings. Please don't listen to them, but make up your own mind about these issues. There is going to be a meeting where all your questions will be answered truthfully, and you will be able to see the town records yourself and see where your money is being spent. The date for the meeting will be next Wednesday, Nov. 1, at 7 p.m. at the Loch Lynn Restaurant.

The last comment I want to make is, when I first heard of the candidates running for office, I could have gone either way with my vote. Now after the rumors and the downright lies, I am proud to cast my vote for the other candidates who were left out of the newsletter. So here's to you, Sheila, Robin, David, and Scott. Our prayers are with you. Hang in there!

Sincerely,
Lynn Shaffer

To The Editor,

Listen up, people of Loch Lynn!

I have lived in Loch Lynn for over 15 years. I have seen and heard a lot about our town. I have never said too much about what goes on in town. I have been to some of the town meetings and tried to make out what was going on. I think that it is time that we, the people of Loch Lynn, think hard about the people we vote into office. It looks to me like this town cannot run without someone trying to make someone else look bad. Our town has seen how Larry Friend runs things when he gets a chance. Yes, Mr. Friend was on the council at one time.

When Mr. Friend was on the council he had a clique that he would work with, but if you were not in his clique you were looked down on. Now he has gone out and gotten another clique of his own to run with him. If Mr. Friend could/would not work with other people while on the council, what's to make us think that he will as mayor? When you ask Mr. Friend something about the town he will tell you to come to the town meetings. Ha Ha! I have tried that, just to be

HARRY POTTER AND HALLOWEEN

How many children will do their trick-or-treating this year as a boy in his early adolescence with round tortoise shell glasses, a lightning-like scar on the forehead, and a magic wand? Harry Potter is the rage.

Perhaps you have no acquaintances among the 10- to 14-year-old crowd, and neither recognize the name nor the description of Harry Potter. Until six months ago I was one of you. Only when the parent of such a son called me a "muggle" did I have the faintest idea of who Harry Potter is.

Once Harry Potter came onto my radar screen, I discovered him everywhere, and so will you. The Harry Potter books, written by J.K. Rowling, are stacked so high and thick in bookstores that passage along the aisles is difficult. Serious journals debate whether Harry Potter is a good thing or a bad thing.

Harry is a fictional wizard living in Great Britain who, as a baby, was attacked by the prince of bad wizards. Saved by his mother's sacrifice, Harry received his unique scar from the dark lord's attack. He is famous among wizards and witches, as he learns when it is time for him to leave the uncomfortable security of his muggle relatives' home in order to attend a wizard's boarding school, called Hogwarts.

"Muggles," by the way, are what I am and — I hope — what you are too, namely, non-members of the wizarding and witching population. Therein is the rub. Some readers, intelligent and thoughtful people, read the Harry Potter books as promoting witchcraft or, at very least, unwittingly making young people vulnerable to the occult.

I do not believe that the Harry Potter books promote witchcraft. At the same time, I think the possibility of their making young people vulnerable to the occult needs to be taken seriously. It is easy to ask how one distinguishes the wizardry of the Harry Potter books from, say, the wizardry of Merlin in books about King Arthur. The difference is not so much in the portrayal of wizardry, rather the change is in the culture into which the portrayal is released.

We live at a time when witches, wizards, warlocks, and their like are active. I do not mean people whom I or someone else might identify in this way. I mean people who identify themselves in this way. People who intentionally practice the occult are increasing, and, paradoxically, they are becoming more open about their practices. They present a very real danger to our children and young people.

Given that danger, why not simply take a hard-line position against the Harry Potter books, rather than taking the risk of tolerating them? The problem is that they are wonderful books. They are funny parables about surviving adolescence and even perhaps managing to mature into a caring, thinking, well-balanced adult.

The characters are superbly drawn, and the author's sense of plot is flawless. The actual writing occasionally sinks to the trivial, and thus the fourth volume needs 200 pages cut out of it. All in all, however, the Harry Potter series inculcates values important for all of us and essential if children are to emerge at the other end of schooling as human beings.

The headmaster (or principal, as we Americans would say) of Hogwarts is Albus Dumbledore, who possesses such beneficence, wisdom, and foresight as to be unbelievable, except that he reminds me of the man who was president of my college when I was at Oxford.

J.K. Rowling writes to a formula so that at the end of each volume we can expect Dumbledore to give Harry a few words of wisdom, summing up the lesson of the book. He says, at the end of The Chamber of Secrets, "It is our choices ... that show what we truly are, far more than our abilities." Isn't that what we, parents, are always trying to say to our children? If they can get that lesson from a book which is all the fashion to read, then I suggest it may be the healthiest fashion of our time.

Garrett County Chamber of Commerce UPDATE

By Ken Wishnick, Chamber President

THE PROPOSED BI-COUNTY CULTURAL HERITAGE TOURISM LEGISLATION — WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT?

Since I was in attendance at the Governor's Tourism Conference last Monday, I was unable to be at the meeting called to review Speaker Taylor's proposed bi-county tourism legislation. I have since had a chance to read this in detail and to be briefed on the many comments made at Monday's meeting.

In essence, the legislation alters the Cumberland Canal Place Authority to extend this state agency's jurisdiction over all of Garrett and Allegany counties. It also expands its mission into becoming the designated tourism marketing agency for both counties, thereby assuming roles previously fulfilled by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and several entities in Allegany County, including the Western Maryland Scenic Railroad, Canal Place, Allegany Convention and Visitors Bureau, Thrasher Museum, and other independent marketing efforts.

The advantages of the legislation have been well stated by its advocates — economies of scale in marketing, working cooperatively rather than competing, and additional funding for potential cultural heritage development projects. It is true that the chamber has been marketing tourism on a limited budget compared to our competitors.

However, the devil is always in the details and there are many aspects of, and consequences to, this proposal that should be carefully considered by all before it proceeds. Speaker Taylor has emphasized that nothing in the draft is "set in stone." With this in mind, chamber members are encouraged to become involved in this issue and voice their opinions.

A copy of the current proposal is available by contacting the chamber office. Outlined below is a brief summary of how tourism marketing would change if this legislation were to be enacted as is currently drafted:

New Organizational Structure

Cumberland's Canal Place Authority would have its jurisdiction expanded to cover all of Garrett and Allegany counties. Local representation on the Authority board would include four governor-appointed citizens from each county, one delegate from each county, one commissioner from each county, and the mayor of Cumberland.

A new Mountain Maryland Tourism Promotion Council would be formed under the Canal Place Authority. It would have 10 members (five from Garrett and five from Allegany). The governor would both make the appointments and designate the chairman.

How will this new organization be funded?

The legislation calls for the Garrett County commissioners to contribute at least $400,000 annually. This amount is currently used by the chamber on marketing to attract the many hundreds of thousands of visitors who drive Garrett County's economy. Allegany County would also contribute, based on how much it spent on tourism marketing during fiscal year 2001.

The chamber's annual $46,000 marketing grant from the Maryland Office of Tourism Development would also be redirected to this new bi-county entity. Allegany County would put its $20,000 grant into the pot.

In addition, new cultural heritage grants would be obtained from the state.

How Would the Mountain Maryland Tourism Council Impact Current Chamber Tourism Promotion Activities?

The new bi-county entity would direct regional tourism marketing and public relations. The chamber would no longer produce a vacation guide. This would become a two-county Mountain Maryland Guide to be prepared by the new council. The chamber would also give up responsibility for tourism, promoting advertising, attendance at travel shows, hosting of travel writers, conducting familiarization tours to travel industry professionals, promoting of TV and media coverage, administration of festivals, and possibly the visitors center operation.

The Garrett County Vacation Guide, state marketing grant, accommodations tax funding, and other tourism related income make up 90% of the chamber's budget. If these funds are diverted to the Canal Place Authority, the role of the chamber, or its very existence, will need to be rethought.

It should be realized that tourism promotion efforts in Garrett County have been highly successful in the past two years. We've seen 12.4% and 15.5% increases in accommodations taxes collected, and requests for information and visitors guides have never been higher. In addition, many chamber members are reporting record revenues. Internet requests for information have more than doubled, and call volume to our fulfillment center has dramatically increased.

During the past year, chamber staff successfully promoted Garrett County at 18 travel shows in four states and Washington, D.C. The chamber also placed over 50 strategic advertisements in target markets and hosted live radio and TV remote broadcasts from Deep Creek Lake. It should be noted that if the visitors center falls under the Canal Place Authority, there will need to be a formula worked out for fairly referring visitors to restaurants, accommodations, and services in both counties.

How do chamber members feel about this issue? We are told that the legislation is being "fast tracked" with an intended introduction date in January, with an official enactment date of July 1, 2001. Please take the time to do the research, ask many questions, and pass on your views to your elected local officials and chamber board members.

Brown has never been in Europe, and is still undecided as to whom he will ask to go with him. As for the $19,740 in cash, he said, "I have some credit card debts and student loans."

He also won a folding bicycle and will receive $10,000 spending money for his trip overseas.

Brown, who is the son of James and Karen Brown, Oakland, was one of four University of Maryland students featured in the five "College Week" shows which were taped Sunday and will not air until the week of February 5-9 of next year. Together, the four students won over $75,000 in cash and prizes.

Bloodmobile To Visit Oakland And Kitzmiller

American Red Cross bloodmobiles will be collecting blood in two Garrett County locations next Friday, Nov. 3. One drive will be at the Kitzmiller fire hall, and the other will be at Proctor Kildow Post 79 American Legion in Oakland. Both will receive donors from noon to 6 p.m.

The national appeal for blood continues, according to an ARC spokesperson, who "strongly encourages" all eligible donors to respond to these visits. In order to be eligible to donate blood, persons must be at least 17 years of age, weigh a minimum of 105 pounds, be in generally good health, and must not have donated within the last 56 days.

A bloodmobile will also be held Monday, Nov. 6, from 12:30 to 6 p.m. at the Grantsville fire hall.

Noise Complaint In Bloomington Nets Drug Bust

Two men were arrested on drug and disturbance charges by Garrett County sheriff's deputies early Sunday morning at the Bloomington Apartments building at 20960 Maryland Highway.

Kenny Barmore, 22, Barton, and Davy Crocket Jr., 21, Keyser, W.Va., were taken into custody by DFC Rob Corley, who had been summoned to the complex at 2:22 a.m. for a loud music complaint. When he knocked on the door to the apartment in question, the deputy reportedly heard scrambling throughout the interior, and after a delay Crocket opened the door.

The deputy noted the smell of suspected burnt marijuana coming from within the apartment, and observed Barmore exiting a bedroom and entering the kitchen/living area where he and Crocket were speaking. Further investigation uncovered several pieces of burnt rolling papers in an ashtray and a suspected burnt marijuana cigarette floating in a toilet.

Both men were arrested on identical charges of possession of marijuana and disturbing the peace. Crocket remains incarcerated in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $35,000 bond, while Barmore was released when he posted a $2,500 bond.

Deer Encounters Cited In Single-Vehicle Accidents

A pair of separate daytime single-vehicle accidents resulted in injuries to several county residents, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Both drivers, one of whom was charged with speeding, reportedly lost control of the their vehicles when they swerved to avoid striking a deer

At approximately 12:30 p.m. Friday, a 16-year-old male Oakland juvenile was driving a 1990 Pontiac sedan westbound on Jasper Riley Road in the Pleasant Valley area at a high rate of speed when he swerved to avoid striking a deer. He lost control of the car, and it left the roadway and ran into a ditch. The driver and two juvenile passengers were transported by the Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Personnel from the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department also responded.

Sheriff's deputies charged the juvenile driver with speeding.

Late Sunday afternoon, shortly before 5 p.m., a 1990 Plymouth Voyager traveling along Herrington Manor Road swerved to miss a deer near the entrance to Herrington Manor State Park. The minivan traveled off the roadway and over an embankment. The driver, Karen Ann Perron, 32, Oakland, and two children were transported by Southern Rescue to Garrett Memorial.

Home Energy Program Notes Changes In Assistance Criteria

The Home Energy Program of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, formally known as MEAP (Maryland Energy Assistance Program), has slated several events to further publicize the program and solicit participation on the part of qualified households.

Two new changes to the Home Energy Program were noted as very important for potential participants, according to a Community Action spokesperson. First, applications for the program will not be mailed to households this season as in previous years; this development makes it necessary for participants to fill out applications and submit them in person; second, households with heating bills that are included in rent payments are now eligible for assistance, which was not possible in the past.

The Electric Utility Service Program (EUSP) is a newly funded program designed for low income households in need of assistance with electric bills. All qualified households are encouraged to apply for assistance in an effort to limit the number of electric terminations, according to EUSP director Linda Green.

Applications for energy and electric assistance will be taken at the Home Energy Program office at the Community Action building in Oakland during regular office hours, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Additional evening hours extending to 6:30 p.m. will be offered on Oct. 31; Nov. 14, 21, and 28; and Dec. 5 and 12.

Community Action staff will also be available to take applications between 4 and 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 27, at the Grantsville Senior Center; Wednesday, Nov. 1, at the Swanton Senior Center; Friday, Nov. 3, at the Accident Senior Center; Monday, Nov. 6, and Thursday, Nov. 9, at the Friendsville Senior Center; and Monday, Nov. 20, at the Grantsville Senior Center. Applications will also be taken at the cafeteria of Garrett Community College on Monday, Nov. 13, from 10 a.m to 4 p.m.

An ongoing series of outreach sessions slated to explain the Home Energy Program to interested qualified citizens will conclude this coming month with two final meetings:

Thursday, Nov. 2, 9 a.m. to noon, at Yough Glades Square, West Liberty Street in Oakland; and Wednesday, Nov. 8, noon to 2 p.m., at the Friendsville community building, Old River Road.

Income guidelines are based on set household size standards. Yough Glades Elementary School over the weekend. A 2-by-6 board found at the scene was apparently used in the incident, which resulted in $200-$300 damage to the Wolf Acres Drive facility.

A number of items were reportedly taken from two unoccupied apartments at 406 N Street in Mtn. Lake Park sometime during the past month. Among the missing items are a refrigerator, dryer, stove, sofa, end tables, chest of drawers, dresser, curtains, and a push lawn mower.

A breaking and entering incident took place early Saturday morning at an Oakland residence. A kitchen window screen was removed from the rear of the home, located at 6075 Garrett Highway, and the window was opened. A set of blinds inside the kitchen was knocked down, and number of leaves were found in the room. Nothing appeared to have been taken during the incident.

PATRICIA A. BEITZEL

Patricia Ann (Oester) Beitzel, 37, Salisbury, Pa., died Wednesday, Oct. 25, 2000, at Shadyside Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Born Feb. 24, 1963, in Meyersdale, Pa., she was the daughter of Eileen (Spiker) Oester, Salisbury, and the late Edgar A. "Dick" Oester.

She was a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church, West Salisbury, Pa., and the American Legion Home Aid Association, and also attended the World Lighthouse Worship Center in Grantsville.

In addition to her mother, she is survived by one son, Jack Ryan Beitzel, at home; one daughter, Jill Renee Beitzel, at home; and four brothers, Joseph Oester, Pittsburgh, Christopher Oester and Ronald Oester, both of Salisbury, and Charles Oester, St. Augustine, Fla.

Friends will be received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday. A Christian Wake Service will be conducted at the funeral home at 8 p.m. on Friday

A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at St. Michael's Catholic Church on Saturday, Oct. 28, at 1 p.m., with the Rev. Albert Anselmi as celebrant. Interment will follow in the Salisbury Cemetery.

FLORENCE V. FAITH

Florence Vivian Faith, 79, Catonsville, died Saturday, Oct. 21, 2000, at her home.

She was born in Henry, W.Va., and in 1921 moved to Grantsville, where her father, a physician, established his medical practice.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Lawrence Sherwood Faith.

After graduating from high school in 1937, she started college at the University of Maryland, College Park.

She taught in elementary schools in Garrett County, worked for the Social Security Administration as a claims examiner in Catonsville, and retired in the early 1980s.

Survivors include one daughter, Alice L. Trauger, Fairfax, Va.; one son, Andrew D. Faith, Catonsville; one brother, N. Robert Davis, Kissimmee, Fla.; and three grandsons.

A memorial service will be conducted Sunday, Oct. 29, at the Witzke Funeral Home.

MARY M. KYLE

Mary Margaret Kyle, 93, Barton, died Monday, Oct. 23, 2000, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born at Firm Rock on July 24, 1907, she was a daughter of the late Ferdinand C. and Clementine Michael. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Frederick Kyle, in 1962; her son, Richard L. Kyle, in 2000; one brother; and two sisters.

She was a member of the Barton United Methodist Church, the Barton Hose Co. Ladies Auxiliary, Barton Senior Citizens, and the Bethlehem Chapter #14 Order of the Eastern Star. She retired in 1972 from the Celanese Fibers Corp.

Survivors include one daughter, Ruth Largent, Glen Burnie; six grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Boal Memorial Chapel, Barton, where a service was conducted earlier today, Oct. 26, with the Rev. John Park officiating. Interment was in the Mt. View Cemetery, Moscow Mills.

Are you concerned about prescription drug coverage and affordable transportation for the elderly? Do you wonder about the quality of care in long-term care settings or how you or a loved one will be able to remain independent as you age and suffer a debilitating illness? If so, join the Garrett County Commission on Aging and Area Agency on Aging for frank discussion about four position papers proposed by the State Commission on Aging. Legislative representatives have been invited.

Seniors, family members, advocates, caregivers, and concerned citizens are welcome and encouraged to attend.

Thank You

I wish to take this time to thank everyone who was so helpful and kind to me during the extended illness and death of my beloved wife, June A. Landon.

Thanks to Dr. Margaret Kaiser and Barb Monn and the entire staff for their years of care and thoughtfulness during our hard times.

My thanks to our Garrett County Memorial Hospital admission staff, ER staff, and especially the third floor nursing staff and their very able nurses' assistants and support people.

Thank you Dr. Dona Alvarez for not only your surgical skills, but for your pop-in visits just to say hi, even when June was no longer your patient. She really liked that.

Thanks to Clemmie the cashier for always getting the necessary summary bills to help me expedite my supplemental insurance claims, and for the friendly wave and smile as we passed in the lobby. I'm so proud that we have such a fine hospital and have personally used this facility since 1953.

I wish to thank all the clergy for their visits and the various churches all around the county who had her on their prayer lists. We attended the Laurel Run Church of God, when she was able, and the support we have had is overwhelming. Pastor Cathy Harman is such a devoted and caring person, and spent countless hours visiting June and me, bringing tapes of our missed services.

Thanks to the Friendsville VFD Fire and Rescue unit, Terry Spear, Kenny Harding, Dick and Tim Sisler, for their quick response and their professional ability to assess what needed to be done while awaiting the Northern Rescue Ambulance who also responded quickly and transported June to the ER.

I want to thank Newman Funeral Home, Lynn and Carol Newman for the comfort they afforded while conducting this service.

I want to thank my six fine grandsons for serving as pallbearers.

As a family, we thank all those who sent food to our various homes, and for all the beautiful flowers, and to those who contributed monetary gifts or to other charities in June's name. The monetary gifts will be directed to the Friendsville Fire and Rescue Squad. We appreciate all the visitors and kind words and condolences that were expressed to us during this time.

A very special thanks to the Home Health Agency, for their close care, and especially to Peggy Chappel, Jeanie Thayer, Debbie Friend, Marcie, and other nameless persons who supported the program.

I'm sure I have missed some people who have touched our lives but please forgive me if I have not mentioned you by name. You are remembered. Again, thanks and God Bless.

The Rose Beyond the Wall

A rose once grew where all could see, sheltered beside a garden wall.
And, as the days passed swiftly by,
it spread its branches, straight and tall...
One day, a beam of light shone through a crevice that had opened wide ~
The rose bent gently toward its warmth
then passed beyond to the other side...
Now, you who deeply feel its loss,
be comforted ~ the rose blooms there ~
Its beauty even greater now, nurtured by God's own loving care.

Miss Freeland, Mr. Skipper Married In July 15 Ceremony

Tina Lynn Freeland and Daniel Park Skipper were united in marriage on July 15 at Faith United Methodist Church, Cranesville, W.Va. The Rev. Berlin H. Wilhelm, assisted by the Rev. William Skipper, performed the afternoon double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the only daughter of Jay and Jody Freeland, Cranesville, and the granddaughter of Donald and Charlotte Freeland, Terra Alta, W.Va., Thelma Gibson, Cranesville, and the late Glen Gibson.

The groom is the son of Roger and Connie Skipper, Oakland, and the grandson of Sibre and Geraldine Skipper, Oakland, and Park and Joann Opel, Accident.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin with chiffon overlay and gold accents. Designed by the bride and sewn by Paige Dopson, Cranesville, the gown featured a scoop-neck and princess bodice which was delicately trimmed with appliquéd cut-out lace, simulated pearls, and gold beads. Gold lamé rosettes embellished the back waistline. The bodice trim was repeated in the semi-cathedral length train, edged with a wide band of gold lamé to match the skirt. Her headpiece was a wide-brimmed hat trimmed to complement her gown and train, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Maid of honor was Katie Casteel, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Michele Loughry, Front Royal, Va., cousin of the bride, Christy Hamilton, Fairmont, W.Va., and Brandi Lewis, Oakland, both friends of the bride. They wore matching gold floor-length gowns.

Best man was David Schofield, Bittinger, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Jason Skipper, Bolivia, brother of the groom, Jason White, Oakland, and Jamie Bernard, Swanton, both friends of the groom, and Joshua Freeland, Cranesville, brother of the bride. All, including the groom, wore black tuxedos.

The flower girl, Sierra Propps, Martinsburg, W.Va., and ringbearer, Austin Friend, Terra Alta, W.Va., are both cousins of the bride.

Organist was Barbara Metheny and soloist was Rhonda (Metheny) Poling, Denver, N.C., who sang "Love In Any Language" and "I Will Be Here." Both are friends of the bride. Marty Friend, cousin of the bride, attended the guest book and also distributed the programs.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Wisp Resort's McHenry House.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Lewis Pavilion.

The bride is a 1998 graduate of Preston High School in Kingwood, W.Va., and received a degree in nursing in May from Fairmont (W.Va.) State College. She is currently a board-certified registered nurse.

A 1996 graduate of Southern High School, Oakland, the groom graduated in May from West Virginia University, where he earned his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering. He is currently employed by Ford Motor Company in Dearborn, Mich.

The couple honeymooned in the Pocanos and currently reside in Belleville, Mich.

New Arrivals

A son was born October 9 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Tom and Justine Burrows Moran, Terra Alta, W.Va.

Mrs. Haenftling Celebrates 85th

Mrs. Mabel Haenftling, Accident, was recently honored on her 85th birthday with a celebration party.

A dinner was held at the banquet room of the Ponderosa Steakhouse in LaVale. Twenty-eight family members and friends were in attendance. Hosting the celebration were James and Helen Fike and family, Hazel Haenftling, Bob and Freda Border and family, and George, Bonnie, and Kevin Haenftling.

A large "basket weave" cake, accented with pastel roses, was designed and baked by Linda Meyers, granddaughter of the honoree. The banquet room was decorated by the Border family.

Among Mrs. Haenftling's many cards and gifts, she received a birthday card from President Bill Clinton and wife Hillary.

Wagner-Bolyard Vows Exchanged

Julie Wagner and Dayton "Bucky" Bolyard II were united in marriage on Sept. 29 in a private ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Larry and Nancy Wagner, Oakland, and the groom is the son of Dayton and Betty Bolyard, Eglon, W.Va.

Both are employed by Julie's Greenhouse and Landscaping, LLC, Oakland.

They have established their home in Nest Lick Acres, Oakland.

Leo Bretholz To Speak At FSU For Kristallnacht

Leo Bretholz, author of Leap into Darkness: Seven Years on the Run in Wartime Europe, will speak at Frostburg State University's annual observance of Kristallnacht, the event that is considered by many to be the beginning of the Holocaust. The observance will be Wednesday, Nov. 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Pealer Recital Hall.

Collegium Musicum will perform, and Hillel will conduct a candle-lighting ceremony. Bretholz's talk will be followed by a question-and-answer session.

Leap into Darkness, which Bretholz wrote with Baltimore Sun columnist and WJZ commentator Michael Olesker, is the gripping account of Bretholz as a young boy and his series of audacious escapes from the Nazis' Final Solution. He survived the Holocaust by escaping from the Nazis (and others) not once, but seven times during his almost seven-year ordeal, crisscrossing war-torn Europe.

He leaped from trains, outran police, and hid in attics, cellars, anywhere that offered a few more seconds of safety. First he swam the River Sauer at the German-Belgian border. Later he climbed the Alps on feet so battered they froze to his socks — only to be turned back at the Swiss border. He crawled out from under the barbed wire of a French holding camp and hid in a village in the Pyrenees while gendarmes searched it. And in the dark hours of one November morning, he escaped from a train bound for Auschwitz.

Bretholz arrived in the United States in 1947 and settled in Baltimore, where he worked in the textile business and then as a bookseller for many years. He continues to lecture extensively about his Holocaust memories.

Collegium Musicum will sing two pieces. One is "Zot Jerushalayim" (This is Jerusalem), arranged by Karen Sarnaker. The other is "Zol Shoyn Kumen Di Ge'vleh" (Let the Redemption Come), a poem by Shmerke Kaczerginski, set to music by Joshua Jacobson. Kaczerginski was one of those Holocaust survivors who traveled around Europe visiting the displaced persons and sending a message of courage and hope. His poem expressed the feelings of the survivor trying to make a new beginning, determined never to give up on life, faith in humanity, or the vision of a better world.

Nov. 8, 2000, will be the 62nd anniversary of Kristallnacht, called the "Night of Broken Glass" because of the litter of glass shards left in the streets in the aftermath of the two-day campaign of violence in 1938 by the Nazis against German Jews.

According to Encyclopedia Brittanica, the toll of the night's violence included 91 Jews killed, hundreds seriously injured, and thousands more humiliated and terrorized. About 7,500 Jewish businesses were gutted, and an estimated 177 synagogues were burned or otherwise demolished. Kristallnacht and its aftermath marked a major escalation in the Nazi program of Jewish persecution.

Area Writers To Share Works At Public Reading

One hundred twenty-nine contemporary writers, aged 8 to 90, are featured in Weavings: The Maryland Millennial Anthology, now available for sale. Two area authors will be the featured readers at a public reading in Oakland on November 2 at 7:30 p.m.

Edited by Michael S. Glaser, Weavings 2000 is a tapestry of Maryland's finest contemporary poetry, fiction, memoirs, and essays. Available for purchase from the Maryland Commission for Celebration 2000 (Maryland 2000), Weavings 2000 takes its place as the most complete collection of modern-day Maryland writers ever published, according to a spokesperson for the Maryland Commission for Celebration 2000.

The public reading from Weavings 2000 will take place at Our Town Theatre in Oakland. Two local authors, Barbara Hurd and Karen Zealand, will read their works. Hurd, from Frostburg, has two pieces in the anthology. "The Country Below" has appeared in the Yale Review and The Best American Essays, and will also be included in her forthcoming collection of essays Stirring the Mud: On swamps, boys, and the human imagination. Zealand, from Cumberland, is a counseling therapist and co-editor of Nightsun, a literary journal published through Frostburg State University.

Glaser, editor of Weavings 2000, will also participate in the program. He is a professor of literature and creative writing at St. Mary's College of Maryland.

As one of Maryland 2000's six education initiatives, Weavings 2000 also features original works by nationally renowned writers Lucille Clifton, William Meredith, Henry Taylor, and Linda Pastan. The anthology includes the works of two Pulitzer Prize winners, three former consultants in poetry to the Library of Congress, four past and the current Poet Laureate of Maryland, and lesser known writers.

"This anthology represents the quality and variety of literature being produced in Maryland today," said Maryland 2000 executive director Louise Hayman. "Not only does this publication provide a legacy for the future, it is a useful tool for reflecting on how the literary arts will shape our lives and communities in the new millennium."

In conjunction with the book's release, six public readings by writers included in the anthology are being held across the state.

"Literature, like this anthology, provides windows inward and windows through which we might look at worlds that are different than our own," said Glaser. "And often, literature enables us to see how the people who inhibit those worlds are not as radically different as we first imagined."

The anthology costs $15 (tax included), plus shipping and handling, but has been distributed at no charge to all public libraries, state colleges and universities, public and private middle and high school libraries, and senior centers. To purchase the book, persons may contact Angela Parks at 410-260-6352, or toll free at 1-877-MD2-0001.

Maryland 2000, officially designated a Millennium State by the White House Millennium Council, is sponsoring events and activities in the arts, education, environmental stewardship, historic preservation, and human services through the 2000 calendar year. For more information regarding Maryland 2000, persons may visit the commission's web site at www.maryland2000.org.

Novelist John Dufresne Will Appear At FSU

Writer John Dufresne will come to Frostburg State University for a fiction reading and book signing on Thursday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lane Center's Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall (Multi-Use Room). Sponsored by FSU's Department of English and the Western Maryland Writers' Workshop, this event is free and open to the public.

A native of Worcester, Mass., Dufresne brings an eclectic background as social worker, cab driver, bartender, house painter, and actor, among others, to his fiction. He holds an M.F.A. in creative writing from the University of Arkansas.

Dufresne's novel Louisiana Power and Light, named a Barnes & Noble Discover Great Writers selection and a New York Times Notable Book, is being made into a movie by Miramax Films. Oscar-winner Billy Bob Thornton will star in and direct the production, with the screenplay to be written by Dufresne.

His second novel, Love Warps the Mind a Little, also named a New York Times Notable Book, inspired the following comment from the New York Times Book Review: "It is the ability of Mr. Dufresne ... to render big-picture agony in its tiniest domestic moments that makes his book both astounding and wise." Dufresne has also published a collection of short stories titled The Way That Water Enters Stone. He is now working on a new novel, Deep in the Shade of Paradise, due out from Norton in fall 2001, and a novel about love and death in Louisiana titled Shiver-de-Freeze.

Dufresne lives with his wife and son in Dania Beach, Fla., and teaches advanced fiction in the M.F.A. Creative Writing Program at Florida International University. He is working with actor Wayne Maugans and the 42nd Street Workshop in New York City on the production of his full-length play Trailerville, and an evening of monologues titled We Hear a Lonely Voice.

Director Of Md. Arts Council To Speak To GLAF

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) will hold its annual meeting next Monday, Oct. 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the Bausch and Lomb Gallery at Garrett Community College, McHenry. The featured guest will be James Backas, executive director of the Maryland State Arts Council. One of the topics he will cover will be "The Arts in Maryland from 1969 to 2000."

Backas has been involved in government funding for the arts for over 25 years, serving as the executive director of the Maryland State Arts Council from 1969 to 1976, and again from 1986 to the present. He has also been the executive director of the American Arts Alliance, the Southern Arts Federation, and the D.C. Commission on the Arts and Humanities, and was a special consultant to the chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts.

According to Backas, the future of the arts in Maryland is positive. "The single most noteworthy event, it is probably safe to say, was Governor Glendening's increase to the Arts Council budget for the fiscal year 2001," Backas said. "With the support of the Maryland General Assembly, this increase of $2,053,301 raised our Maryland General Fund appropriation to $12,686,641. When federal and private funds are added, the Arts Council's budget for fiscal year 2001 is $13,280,870. It is too soon to know where this places Maryland in per capita ranking with other states, but before this last increase, we were 10th in the country."

As a result of the recent appropriation, the MSAC awarded matching grants totaling approximately $9.6 million to Maryland organizations for fiscal year 2001 (July 1, 2000, to June 30, 2001), with $85,783 being awarded to Garrett County.

The agenda for the meeting will also include seasonal GLAF reports and an election of nominees to the board of directors. Members of GLAF have voting eligibility at the meeting. Members consist of those individuals who have either volunteered services or contributed funds to Garrett Lakes Arts Festival in the amount of $35 or more for the 2000 season.

All members of GLAF and the public are encouraged by Beth Johnson, executive director, to attend. For more information, persons may contact the GLAF office at 301-387-3082.

Kobayashi, Gray To Perform At PSC

Laura Kobayashi, violinist, and Susan Keith Gray, pianist, will present "Music by Women Composers" at the Church-McKee Auditorium, Potomac State College, on Sat., Nov. 11, at 7:30 p.m. The program is offered to the public by a co-sponsorship of Potomac State College and a donation of Harvey and Betty Moses of Petersburg, W.Va.

In 1993, Kobayashi and Gray toured South America and the West Indies as USIA Artistic Ambassadors, and in 1995, they received second prize in the Contemporary Record Society's National Competition for Performing Artists. They frequently tour throughout the United States performing standard works as well as compositions by women composers. They recently completed a compact disc recording—Boldly Expressive: Music by Women—on the Albany Records label.

Laura Kobayashi performs extensively as a soloist and chamber musician and has participated in numerous music festivals throughout the United States. She has appeared as a soloist with such orchestras as the Seattle and Spokane symphonies, the Northwest Chamber Orchestra, and Grand Junction Symphony Orchestra. A former member of the San Francisco Opera Orchestra, Kobayashi has taught at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, the University of Georgia, the University of Nebraska at Omaha, and the Brevard Music Center.

Currently, Kobayashi is serving on the faculty at West Virginia University, where she teaches violin, chamber music, and string pedagogy, and performs with the West Virginia Piano Quartet.

Gray is heard frequently as a collaborative pianist. Artists with whom she has performed include cellists Wendy Warner and Anthony Elliott; flutists Leone Buyse and Torkil Bye; clarinetists Richard Hawkins and Theodore Oien; and singers Earl Coleman, Bruce Rameker, Patricia Prunty, and Nicole Philibosian. She served on the instrumental accompanying faculty for three summers at the Music Academy of the West and has accompanied for numerous national competitions. Currently, Gray is on the faculty of the University of South Dakota, where she teaches piano and piano pedagogy and coordinates student accompanists. As a member of the University of South Dakota Rawlins Piano Trio, Gray has recorded two compact discs of American piano trios, also on Albany Records, and twice has performed the complete cycle of Beethoven piano trios.

Gray holds degrees from Converse College and the University of Illinois and earned a D.M.A. from the University of Michigan. She has studied piano with George Lucktenberg, Ian Hobson, Theodore Lettvin, and Louis Nagel, as well as collaborative piano with Martin Katz and Echkart Selheim.

There will no admission charge for this program. For more information persons may call the PSC Marketing/Communications Office at 304-788-6811 or 304-788-6872.

Kimberly Andrews To Present Piano Concert at FSU

Frostburg State University Department of Music's Faculty Artist Series will present Kimberly Andrews on piano, Sunday, Oct. 29, at 3 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall.

She will perform Beethoven's "Apassionata Sonata," Brahms' "Three Intermezzos," Prokoviev's "Toccata," and Bartok's "Sonata for Two Pianos and Percussion." She will be joined by percussionists Ronald Horner and Mike Matteo and pianist Shirley Tseng.

The concert is free and open to the public.

Andrews graduated from Frostburg State in 1982 with a bachelor's degree in music performance, receiving the departmental honor in music. While in graduate school at the University of Missouri-Columbia, she was a semi-finalist in the International Young Keyboard Artists Association piano competition and placed as first runner-up in the National Music Teachers Association piano competition.

Andrews has premiered works for the American Society of University Composers and NMTA conventions. She is also a published composer and has performed at the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival in McHenry.

She is currently assistant choral director and accompanist for FSU's Department of Music, as well as accompanist for the Dance Department.

Frostburg State Jazz Ensemble Concert Nov. 3

The Frostburg State University Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of Jon Bauman, will present its fall concert Friday, Nov. 3, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Pealer Recital Hall.

The 18-piece big band will open the program with "Jump, Jive an' Wail." This swing-style selection features solos by Erin Frankenberry on tenor saxophone and Bryan Cohen on guitar. Alto saxophonist Matt Dalton is featured in the next selection, the ballad "If I Should Lose You."

"Hey!" from the Canadian big band of Rob McConnell continues the program and includes a trombone solo by Jonas Amoonnarquah. The Latin-style tune "Los Gatos" brings the first half of the concert to a conclusion with solos by Dalton on alto saxophone and Matt Growden on drums.

The second half of the program begins with Lionel Hampton's swing-era tune "Red Top." Brent Paris on trombone, Diana Ezerins on vibraphone, and Stevyn Carmona on trumpet will be featured in solos. Vocalist Lauren Aycock will join the band to sing "Some of My Best Friends are the Blues."

"Attitude Dance," a funk-rock tune, will continue the program, featuring solos by Laurence Brunner on trumpet and Frankenberry on tenor saxophone. In light of the pending election, the ensemble will provide an appropriate ending with "Billy May for President."

The concert is free and open to the public. It is suitable for the entire family.

Huskies Drop Three In A Row; Will Host Rams In Playoff

It has been a tough week on the soccer field for the Northern High School boys' varsity, as the Huskies dropped their three final Western Maryland Interscholastic League and regular season matches, two to Beall and one to Allegany. Nonetheless, the Huskies played some of their best soccer to date in the second match against undefeated Beall.

The Huskies were topped by visiting Beall last Thursday, 3-0, dropped a 2-1 heartbreaker to the same team in Frostburg on Monday, and were then upset Tuesday night by host Allegany, 4-2, at Greenway Avenue Stadium. Northern finished with an overall record of 6-5-1 (3-2-1 WMIL), and will host cross-county rival Southern next Tuesday in a 1A quarterfinal West Region match.

There was no scoring in last Thursday's match with Beall until the 21:21 mark of the first half when Beall's Darren Johnson scored an unassisted goal. The score remained 1-0 until just over three minutes into the second half when Johnson scored again, this time on a penalty kick at the 36:52 mark.

Johnson had a hand in Beall's third goal of the evening, as he fired an assist across the field to Bradley Greig, who put the ball into the net.

The Huskies trailed in shots by a 20-15 margin and in corner kicks, 7-0. Woody Kenner was credited with a dozen saves in net for Northern, while Josh Michaels recorded 13 for the shutout. It was Beall's 12th win in as many starts.

The Mountaineers had to work extra hard against the Huskies to earn their 13th victory on Monday, as the Huskies battled the home team to a scoreless tie at halftime and scored the first goal of the match.

Senior striker Ronny Lipscomb gave the Huskies a 1-0 lead with a goal about 10 minutes into the second half off an assist by Mike Fletcher.

Minutes later (time not reported), the Mountaineers began their rally, as Darren Johnson scored his third goal in two matches against the Huskies. It was an unassisted shot, which knotted the score at 1-1.

Neil O'Driscoll hit the winning goal for the Mountaineers off a feed by Johnson with 9:48 left in the match.

The Huskies were outgunned in shots on goal by an 18-9 margin, but finished with a 6-5 edge in corner kicks. Kenner had six saves,

Northern Girls Conclude With One Loss, One Win, Two Ties

It was a totally mixed bag of results for the Northern High School girls' varsity soccer team this past week, as the Huskies recorded a 2-0 Western Maryland Interscholastic League victory over Westmar last Thursday at Greenway Stadium in Cumberland, tied with host Allegany, 2-2, in another WMIL contest on Saturday, then dropped a 2-0 league match to host Beall on Monday night, and tied another WMIL match last night at Fort Hill, 1-1. The four-match run concluded the Huskies' regular season and left them with an overall record of 6-6-2.

Northern will host Westmar in a 1A West Region tournament match next Tuesday.

Emily Rawe, who is the area's seventh leading scorer, did all of the scoring in last Thursday's match against Westmar, with one in each half. Her first was an unassisted shot (no times reported) to give the Huskies a 1-0 lead at intermission.

Her second goal came off an assist by Lyndsi Butler in the second half.

The Huskies dominated in shots on goal, with Ashley McCutcheon being credited for nine stops in goal for the Wildcats. Ashley Warnick turned away three Westmar shots for the Huskies.

The defeat dropped Westmar's overall record to 3-8-1.

Rawe also put the first goal in the net in Saturday's match with Allegany, an unassisted shot at the 29:20 mark of the first half.

Bethany Heavener tied it at 1-1 with an unassisted goal at the 10:00 mark, and the score stayed that way until late in the second half.

The first two thirds of the second half was scoreless, but then the Campers took a 2-1 lead when Koosie Boggs scored on a penalty kick with 12:20 remaining in the match.

A goal by Lyndsi Butler off an assist by Kara Kenner with 9:27 to play knotted the score once again at 2-2.

Both of the 10-minute overtime periods were defensive standoffs. The Huskies finished with a 21-16 advantage in shots on goal, while the Campers held a 4-3 edge in corner kicks.

Getting 14 saves in goal for the Huskies was Warnick, while Marjorie Gray recorded 19 for the Campers, whose record went to 7-4-2.

The Huskies just could not get their offensive effort on track in Monday's match against a good Beall team. The Mountaineers took a 1-0 lead when Jenna McCullough scored on a direct kick less than two minutes into the match (38:12).

The score remained 1-0 until Beall's Whitney Wilson recorded a goal off an assist by Becky Skidmore with about seven minutes left in the match.

The Huskies were outshot by a 13-7 margin and trailed in corner kicks, 4-0. Warnick had eight saves in goal for Northern, and Crystal Martz recorded seven for the Mountaineers, who improved their record to 9-4-1.

In last night's match against Fort Hill, Karie Kamp put the Huskies on top 1-0 when she scored an unassisted goal with 13:56 remaining in the first half.

The Sentinels (3-9-2) rallied for a goal at the 27:50 mark of the second half by Sherry Chungo, which ultimately sent the contest into overtime. But neither team could put the ball in the net through two 10-minute overtime periods.

The Huskies controlled the ball throughout most of the match, finishing with a 15-8 advantage in shots on goal and a 5-3 lead in corner kicks.

Warnick stopped six shots in front of the goal for the Huskies, while Becky Beeman earned a dozen saves for the Sentinels.

The winner of next Tuesday's playoff match between the Huskies and Westmar will advance to the semifinals on either Nov. 3 or 4 to face the winner of the Beall-Allegany quarterfinal.

while Michaels turned away 10 shots by the Huskies.

Northern was down 4-0 in Tuesday night's contest at Allegany until Eric Durst scored a pair of goals in the second half.

Aaron MacGray hit the first of his two goals for the Campers with 24:19 left in the first half, and then put another one in the net exactly two minutes later off a feed by Asa Simmons.

Tim Reineke put Alco up 3-0 with a goal off an assist by Ryan Rebuck with only 39 seconds left in the first half.

The Campers maintained the momentum early in the second half, and Simmons netted a goal off an assist by Rebuck at the 35:31 mark to make it a 4-0 match.

A shutout was averted when Durst scored off an assist by Lipscomb with 29:21 left in the match, and scored again, unassisted, with 21:38 remaining. But that was the last goal of the evening, as the Campers upped their record to 8-4.

The Huskies were outshot by an 18-12 margin, while both teams finished with two corner kicks. Kenner had five saves in goal for Northern. Jon Poland recorded six and Justin Schellhause one for Allegany.

Tuesday's meeting in the playoffs against the Southern Rams will be the third of the season between the two teams. The Huskies won the first two, each time by one goal. The winner of that match will then play the winner of the Williamsport-Westmar match on Nov. 3 or 4.

SHS Girls Up Record To 12-1 With Pair Of Wins

Two final regular season and Western Maryland Interscholastic League victories were recorded this past week by the Southern High School girls' varsity, the top-ranked team in the area, as the Rams shut out Beall, 3-0, last Thursday in Frostburg and defeated host Westmar on Tuesday, 3-1. The pair of wins gives Coach Ron Petrella and his WMIL championship squad a 12-1 overall record and a perfect 7-0 mark in the league.

The Rams top ranking in the area garnered for them a bye in the first round of the 1A West Region tournament, which will begin next Tuesday. Southern will play the winner of the Clear Spring-Williamsport contest in a semifinal round on either November 3 or 4.

Last Thursday's win over Beall was the second in two days against the Mountaineers, as the Rams whipped them 6-0 the previous Tuesday. Robbin Gregg and Sabrina Scheffel, both freshmen, recorded goals in the first half, and sophomore Brittany Naylor tacked on an insurance goal in the second half.

Gregg's goal was scored just 3:40 into the match off an assist by yet another freshman, Casey Taylor. Scheffel then added an unassisted goal with 10:30 to play before intermission.

Most of the second half was scoreless defense, but Naylor finally hit an unassisted goal with just 4:39 left in the match.

The Rams finished with a 15-10 advantage in shots on goal, while each team had one corner kick. Gina Reeves stopped eight shots in goal for the Rams and Crystal Martz had nine saves for Beall (7-4-1).

All four goals in Tuesday's match with Westmar at Lonaconing were scored in the first half and unassisted, with Scheffel netting the first just one minute into the match to give the Rams a 1-0 lead.

Natalie Sloan tied the score with a goal for the Wildcats at the 27:51 mark.

Kristen Oxford gave the Rams the lead for good when she scored 21:29 before intermission, and Casey Taylor put Southern up 3-1 with a goal at the 10:03 mark.

The Rams continued to control the ball through most of the second half, but could not get any more shots past Westmar keeper Ashley McCutcheon and her defense. Southern finished with a commanding 17-6 lead in shots and a lopsided 9-1 advantage in corner kicks.

McCutcheon was credited with eight saves for the Wildcats, and Reeves had five stops for the Rams.

The loss dropped the Wildcats to 3-10-1 overall, and 0-7-1 in the WMIL.

Taylor is currently the second leading scorer in the area, as she has 11 goals and four assists in 12 matches, while Scheffel is fourth with 10 goals and five assists in 12, and Naylor is sixth with six goals and six assists.

Becky Martin is second in goalkeeper save percentage for the area with a .912 mark. She has saved 52 shots in 10 matches and allowed only five goals.

Overall, the Rams have scored a total of 44 goals and allowed only seven in 12 matches.

Rams Blank Sentinels, Fall To Beall, Upset By Westmar

The boys' varsity soccer team of Southern High School concluded its regular season this week, and the word inconsistent continues to be applicable to the Rams' performance this year. The team recorded an impressive 4-0 Western Maryland Interscholastic League victory over visiting Fort Hill last Thursday evening, played well, but lost a WMIL match to undefeated Beall, 4-2, on Friday in Frostburg, and then sustained a major WMIL upset Tuesday night at the hands of the host Westmar Wildcats, 3-2 in overtime. The results left the Rams with a final regular season mark of 5-7.

Southern will begin its 1A West Region post-season play next Tuesday in a quarterfinal match with Northern on the Huskies' field.

Most of the first half against Fort Hill last Thursday was scoreless defense, as there were still no points on the board with just four minutes to play. But then Southern's Chris Remley no doubt set a scoring record for the Rams when he hit two goals in a span of 37 seconds to give his team a 2-0 lead.

His first was a shot off a feed by Clem Chauzat with 3:31 left in the half. The Sentinels then kicked off, the Rams quickly seized control of the ball, and Remley recorded another goal, unassisted, with 2:54 remaining.

The Rams' third goal came less than three minutes into the second half when Don Parsons scored off another assist by Chauzat at the 37:23 mark.

Then with 9:28 left in the match, Ryan Ewing added an insurance goal for the Rams, unassisted.

Southern finished with a 20-13 lead in shots on goal and a 5-1 advantage in corner kicks. Getting 13 saves in goal for the Rams, and earning his third shutout of the season, was Chris Menker. Jake Sullivan turned away 12 shots by the Rams.

Carl Hillen recorded a hat trick for Southern in the junior varsity match, which the Rams won, 4-1. Bryan VanBoglen had the other goal, and Adam Miller finished with a pair of assists.

The Rams enjoyed a 1-0 lead for much of the first half of Friday's match with top-ranked Beall, but the Mountaineers (13-0) responded with three goals before halftime to take the lead for good.

Parsons put the Rams up 1-0 with an unassisted goal with just 2:22 gone in the match.

With 11:19 remaining before intermission, Beall's Darren Johnson scored a goal on a penalty kick to knot the score at 1-1. Cass Martin followed with a Beall goal off an assist by Justin Weimer with 7:23 left on the clock. Then Martin, off a feed by Neil O'Driscoll, scored the Mountaineers third goal with just 1:31 left in the half.

The Rams re-grouped and rallied for one goal by Chris Remley, unassisted, at the 33:34 mark of the second half to cut the Beall lead to 3-2, but with 5:30 remaining in the match, O'Driscoll scored the final blow for the Mountaineers off an assist by Johnson.

The shots on goal were almost even, with Beall ending with a 10-9 edge, and the Rams finished with a 5-1 advantage in corner kicks. Menker and Beall's Josh Michaels were each credited with five stops.

The Southern junior varsity lost the preliminary match, 3-0.

It was a penalty kick by Westmar's Travis Beeman less than three minutes into the first 10-minute overtime that gave the Rams a final loss for the regular season.

The underdog Wildcats (5-9) took a 2-0 lead off a pair of goals by Ryan Devlin. The first was scored with 13:46 left in the first half off an assist by Travis Beeman.

The score remained 1-0 until less than two minutes into the second half when Devlin struck again, this time off a feed by Jason Wampler at the 38:46 mark.

With less than nine minutes to play it appeared that the Wildcats would shut out the Rams, but Brian Cathell finally answered with a pair of goals within about two minutes to knot the score at 2-2.

His first came on a penalty kick with 8:29 remaining, and his second was an unassisted shot at the 6:24 mark, which ultimately sent the match into extra minutes.

The referees called a trip of Westmar striker Matt Shier inside the box at the 7:14 mark of the overtime period, and Beeman blasted home the winning goal past Southern keeper Chris Menker.

The Rams finished with a 19-18 edge in shots on goal and a 3-2 advantage in corner kicks. Menker had a dozen saves, while Brandon Kimble stopped 16 shots.

The winner of Tuesday's playoff match between the Rams and the Northern Huskies will advance to the West Region semifinals and face the winner of the Westmar-Williamsport match on either November 3 or 4.

Laker Netters Close Out Season With 1-3 Week; Region Ahead

The Garrett County Community College volleyball team finished its regular season this week by losing its first three matches, 2-0 to Potomac State College, 3-1 to Cecil Community College, and 2-1 to Allegany College of Maryland, but rebounded to take a 3-2 win over Anne Arundel Community College in the season finale. The Lakers finished the year with a 14-11 record, and have a week off to prepare for the Nov. 4-5 Region XX Tournament at CCBC-Catonsville.

Saturday in McHenry the Lakers fell to the Catamounts in a hard-fought opener, 17-15, and 15-9 in the second match. Lauren Stillwagon paced Garrett with an 8-for-9 serving tally, and Tameka Graves was 6-for-6 on attacks with three kills. PSC's Jen Teagarden, a Southern High graduate, was 48-for-56 on sets with five assists.

GCC took Game 1 of the Cecil battle by a 15-11 score, but dropped the next three 15-13, 17-15, and 15-8. Crystal Kimble was 20-for-22 on serves with three aces and finished with a team-high 18 assists. Northern High alumnae Mimi Harvey was 20-for-20 on attacks, and SHS alumnae Jessica Saturday was 24-for-27 on attacks, tallying 12 kills and four solo blocks.

The end of the season came Tuesday on Garrett's home court, as the Lakers opened with a 15-10 win over Allegany before falling in the next two matches, 15-3 and 15-13. NHS graduate Melissa McKeever and fellow former Husky Harvey both went 8-for-8 from the service line, and Graves accumulated a match-high 10 kills on 17 attacks. Saturday was 9-for-15 on attacks.

The Lakers' sole win of the week came that same evening over Anne Arundel, as the visitors won Game 1 by a 15-12 margin, GCC took the next two by 15-10, 15-11 scores, Anne Arundel roared back in Game 4 for a 15-4 win, and Garrett took the final contest by a 15-12 score. Kimble had 21 assists, Graves had 11 kills and went 19-for-24 on attacks, and Kimble went 30-for-33 with four aces and tallied a Laker-high 21 assists. Stillwagon was 32-for-38 in sets with 10 assists.

On an individual note, Saturday finished the week ranked eighth in the JUCO with a .287 hitting average and 147 kills, the second consecutive week the sophomore Laker co-captain held the eighth spot in the conference. The Oakland native was ranked in the JUCO's top 10 in kills and hitting average for the last five consecutive weeks of the season.

NHS Netters Defeat Knights, Rams; SHS Also Falls To Alco

The Northern High School girls' volleyball team came out the victor in both of its matches this week, sweeping Preston in three straight games Monday before last night's hard-fought 3-2 victory over Southern. The Rams, in turn, fell twice, as their loss to NHS was preceded by a Monday night 3-1 defeat at the hands of the Allegany Campers.

Northern took convincing 15-4, 15-4, and 15-9 victories over the Knights in Accident Monday. Juniors Nicole Sisler and Karla Buckel had 16 and nine service points, respectively. Classmates Christie Flockhart and Bridget Frazee added five and three kills, respectively, as well. Cassie Huggins's seven service points led Preston.

The contest was the final home regular season appearance for senior Huskies Malia Collins, Kola Artice, Kelly Carr, and Amanda Nazelrod.

The Huskies took the junior varsity match by 15-7, 15-9 margins. Sophomore Molly Wolf had nine points and classmate Brandi Wagner had seven points.

While NHS was taking that match, the Southern Rams were playing Alco in Oakland. The Campers took Game 1 by a 15-11 margin, SHS responded with a 15-13 win in the second game, then Allegany put the Rams away with 15-8, 15-3 wins. Senior Aimee Parrack paced Southern with 11 points and three aces, and junior Marianne Unger had three kills.

Southern won the junior varsity match 2-1, opening with a 15-12 win, losing 15-7, then coming back to take the third game 15-7. Sophomore Stephanie Niner led all scorers with 13 points.

The two Garrett County high schools squared off last night in Oakland, and the Huskies came out on top after five sets. Game scores for the seesaw contest were 15-5 Southern, 15-10 Northern, 15-12 SHS, and 15-13, 15-6 NHS.

The Huskies were led by Frazee, high scorer for the match with 15 points. Flockhart had eight kills and two points, and junior Jolene Brenneman tallied

Unbeaten Huskies Down Vikings, 28-14; Friday Homecoming Ahead

"We have our destiny in our own hands," Northern High School head coach Phil Carr commented after Friday night's 28-14 victory over Petersburg. "Our time to shine is now, because we need to play at the top of our game to take our last three outings against Beall, Westmar, and Southern. These games will tell the tale of how good we really are." Fans can get the first answer of that three-part question by coming out for tomorrow night's homecoming contest against the Mountaineers, which will be the Huskies' final game on their home field for the year regardless of their playoff status.

Carr's troops have a 6-0 mark heading into homecoming by virtue of a strong-second half performance at Petersburg. "We didn't execute too well during the first half," Carr commented. The lack of execution showed on the halftime scoreboard, as the Huskies found themselves on the short end of a 14-13 score.

"We kept shooting ourselves in the foot with turnovers, and if we didn't give the ball away we'd fumble a snap or a handoff and recover the ball," remarked Carr. "Wasted plays like that kept costing us on offense, and our defense looked a little sluggish. To be fair, however, Petersburg had a fine team. We knew going in that their winless record was not a reflection of their talent, because they've been hit hard with injuries this season."

Viking second-string quarterback Simon Buric put the first points on the scoreboard with a 29-yard first-quarter scoring strike to Daniel Kessel, which was followed by a Josh Wratchford extra point. Northern responded on its next possession when halfback Mark Wolf capped a scoring drive with a two-yard plunge into the end zone. Trey Brenneman connected for the extra point to knot the score at 7-all.

Northern took the lead in the second quarter when halfback Rob Dozier scored from a yard out, but the conversion try was unsuccessful. Shortly before the half ended, one of those turnovers Carr alluded to rose up to bite the Huskies when they fumbled the ball away. Petersburg capitalized on the miscue when Buric hit Wratchford for a second 29-yard touchdown pass, and Wratchford's extra point put the hosts up by a one-point margin at the half.

Northern	7	6 6 10 - 28

N - Mark Wolf, 2 run (Trey Brenneman kick).

The halftime locker room, scene of some of Northern's best coaching over recent years, came into play again as the NHS staff and players worked together to make the proper adjustments. "Coach Frank Ewing did a great job with the defense," Carr said. "Petersburg's offense was showing us some formations we hadn't seen them use before, and our defensive ends got burned on both scoring passes when the quarterback rolled out and got beyond their containment zone. Coach Steve Savage, our 'eyes in the sky' up in the stands, came up with some observations that helped both sides of the line work out new strategies.

"What was really important was that the kids maintained their composure and didn't get down on themselves or each other. No one panicked, and everyone kept saying 'We can win this game.' They've done it before, coming back from behind to beat Tucker, so they believe in themselves—that's invaluable to any team in any sport."

The Huskies came out in the second half ready to play. Linebacker Bill Rodeheaver scooped up a Viking fumble on the hosts' first possession of the stanza, and returned it five yards to set up the first of three scores by quarterback Trey Brenneman. "Trey had some good reads and used the option scheme real well," stated Carr. "His eight-yard keeper of the third quarter [which put the Huskies up by five] was an excellent effort. He made a perfect fake to fullback Bill Rodeheaver as they came down the line for our first score of the second half, and it seemed like eight Vikings went for the fake as Trey took the ball into the end zone."

With NHS up 19-14 at the opening of the fourth quarter, a clutch third-and-nine play kept a scoring drive alive when split end Jeremy Frazee picked up 23 yards on an end reverse.

Brenneman scored again in the fourth quarter on a 24-yard field goal, then put the final points of the 28-14 win on the board a short time later with a 15-yard touchdown carry.

Pass Comp.	11	5
Interceptions	0	2
Passing Yards	63	24
Rush Att.	30	48
Rush Yards	132	269

Among the many individual efforts Carr noted were Wolf's game-high 13 tackles and an interception in the fourth quarter. "Mark played tough, he had a bad case of the flu that's still got him down a little this week," Carr stated. "But he and Toby Gilpin, who was playing with a stomach injury he sustained in practice, both toughed it out and set a fine example for the younger players. Those two are warriors, and a third, Bill Rodeheaver, had six tackles, second only to Wolf for us." In addition to Wolf's interception, strong safety Aaron Mitchell picked off a Petersburg pass on the last play of the game.

Offensively, the Huskies racked up 293 total yards, including 184 rushing yards by Wolf.

Tomorrow night's homecoming match-up with Beall will bring a 3-4 Mountaineer squad to Half-Mile High Stadium. "They've had a lot of injuries, and are a lot better than their record indicates," said Carr. "There's no love lost between our two schools, and we know they'll want to come up here and knock us off after we beat them in a really tough battle last year in Frostburg.

"Coach Roy Devore, who coached as an assistant here for several years in the early '90s, runs a wishbone option offense a lot like ours, so our defense shouldn't be seeing anything new. On defense Beall will be putting both odd and even man fronts across the line, so we have to be ready to read for the weakness and react

Southern High Homecoming Set For This Week

Homecoming will be this weekend at Southern High School, with the homecoming game Friday night between the Rams and Tucker County, and the annual homecoming dance set for Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m. in the school cafetorium. The 2000 SHS Homecoming Court will be introduced during halftime of Friday's game, and reintroduced at about 9 p.m. Saturday during the dance.

Music for the dance will be provided by the Music Express. The event is being sponsored by the Southern cheerleaders.

Hampshire Proves To Be 33-15 Too Much For Rams

Despite a gallant effort to rally in the second half of Friday night's game against host Hampshire, the Southern High School Rams were handed a 33-15 defeat by the 7-2 Trojans, who had built a commanding lead of 27-0 by halftime. It was the third loss in seven starts for Coach Fred Gregg and his squad.

Hampshire's Danny Alkire proved to be one of the best, if not the best, quarterbacks faced this year by the Ram defense, as he completed nine of 13 passes, three of which were touchdown strikes. When Alkire did put the ball in the air, he usually handed it to running back Bryan Wright, who amassed 173 yards on 21 carries and scored a pair of touchdowns.

The Trojans took a 7-0 lead with 5:51 remaining in the first quarter when Alkire hit Chuck Braithwaite with a 51-yard scoring bomb, and Wright booted the extra point.

Wright made it 13-0 at the 1:43 mark of the first period when he broke through the Ram defense and raced 66 yards to the end zone. Wright's kick for the conversion was no good.

Most of the second quarter was a scoreless defensive struggle, but Hampshire put two quick touchdowns on the board in the final 1:19 before halftime. The first was a 16-yard TD run by Wright with 1:19 remaining (the conversion kick was again no good), and the second came on the final play of the half when Alkire connected with Todd Buckley through the air again, this time on a 22-yard play. Alkire passed to Braithwaite to record the two-point conversion and give the Trojans their 27-0 advantage.

The Rams did not quit, however, as quarterback Josh Sharon engineered a scoring drive on their first possession of the second half. It was capped by an eight-yard run by Joel Helbig with 8:05 remaining in the third quarter. Jeremy Hayhurst kicked the extra point to cut Hampshire's lead to 27-7.

The Trojans responded with a final touchdown, as Alkire again hit Braithwaite with a 44-yard scoring pass less than three minutes later. The conversion pass by Alkire was incomplete.

The fourth quarter went scoreless until Sharon fired a 13-yard touchdown pass to Josh Fitzwater with just 13 seconds left in the contest. Sharon's conversion pass to Ryan Uphold concluded the point production for the night.

Braithwaite finished with four catches for 117 yards, two touchdowns, and a conversion, while teammate Alex Lee caught three passes for 38 yards. Leading Southern's ground game was Hayhurst, who carried the ball 17 times for 82 yards. Sharon added 67 yards on 14 carries.

"We did not play a great game, obviously," stated Coach Gregg, "but I give Hampshire all the credit in the world. They are a very good team and played a heck of a game. They were bigger, faster, and stronger, and they simply ran over, through, and past us all evening. Their players have made a real commitment to the weight room, which is something our kids are going to have to do, or we will continue to have nights like this one.

"Even if we had played a great game, we still may not have beaten this team," Gregg added, "but I was proud of our kids for coming back out in the second half and playing much better, even though we were down by such a large deficit. They didn't quit."

Late last week Josh Sharon was listed as "very doubtful" for Friday's game because of a concussion sustained the previous week in the game against Martinsburg. "Josh was cleared to play on Friday," Gregg said, "but we only played him on offense." Sharon is usually also a defensive starter in the Ram secondary.

Sharon and the rest of the team are "generally healthy" for this week, Gregg added, as the Rams prepare to host Tucker County, a team that has a modest 3-6 record, but one that Gregg describes as "greatly improved."

"They had a rough start, but have continued to improve all season," Gregg said. "This will be their last game, so it could be their best effort of the year."

The Mountain Lions have found success mainly through the air, with talented sophomore quarterback Jake Baza (5-11, 160) at the helm and running almost entirely from the shotgun position.

"Baza is a talented young man who has grown up playing against our kids in the youth league," Gregg said.

Baza has at least four capable targets for his aerials, including juniors Josh Arnold (5-10, 155), David Gsell (5-9, 135), and Adam Wilfong (6-1, 165), plus senior Jared Milliron (5-7, 140).

"They have a lot of skill kids, they run well, and Baza is fearless in their passing game, so we have to be ready for everything," Gregg said.

Tucker's 6-2, 4-4 defensive unit is anchored by massive junior lineman Jeff Helmick (6-1, 328) and sophomore lineman Jacob Roberts (6-1, 255).

"They also have a couple fine linebackers in Matt Smith (6-0, 217, senior) and Nathan Miller (5-10, 245, senior)," Gregg said. "They are just huge inside, so we're going to have to try to run around them or throw over them.

"It will be great to be back home, though," Gregg continued. "It seems like we've been on the road a long time, and some of those trips were also long, such as to Martinsburg and Hampshire."

This will be the Rams' homecoming game, with the 2000 SHS Homecoming Court introduced during a halftime ceremony.

Friday's kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

PLACES 29TH IN TRIATHLON - Joel Getty, a 1996 graduate of Southern High School and 2000 graduate of Grove City College, recently participated in a triathlon (swimming, biking, running) in Chicago that benefitted the Leukemia Research Foundation. It was Getty's first-ever triathlon, and he placed 29th overall out of 454 competitors. He finished 13th in his age division (19-29). The event consisted of a 400-yard swim in Lake Michigan, a six-mile bike ride, and a 1.5-mile run. Getty, who is the son of Dr. Albert and Gail Getty, Swanton, plans to use his father's 27-year-old Sears road bike again in next year's race since it worked so well for him this year. Getty is currently a student at the Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago.

Southern Girls Successfully Defend WMIL CC Title

All-State runner Melissa Durst led the reigning state 1A champion Southern High School girls' cross country team in a successful defense of its Western Maryland Invitational League title last Thursday at Allegany by being the top female runner on the day. The Rams finished with 34 team points to defeat Fort Hill with 40, Allegany with 71, Beall with 79, and Westmar with an incomplete score.

Durst recorded a time of 20 minutes, 32 seconds, 15 seconds ahead of Fort Hill's Stephanie Fleming. In third place was Durst's teammate, freshman standout Natalie Domenick, who recorded a time of 21:16. Other top finishers for the Runnin' Rams were Emily Cosner in eighth place (22:37), Stephanie DiSimone in 10th (22:48), Amber Stewart in 12th (23:07), and Erin Lucas and Anissa Jamison in 18th and 19th places, respectively (23:46 and 24:09).

Southern's Lisa Wade and Melissa Flanagan placed 23rd and 24th, followed by Laura Preston, Fallon Farley, and Kelly Wade in 26th, 27th, and 28th, respectively. Maria Hines was 30th, Kara Paugh, 37th, and Katie Moomau, 38th.

The Southern boys placed fourth as a team, as Fort Hill edged Westmar for the league title. Fort Hill finished with 35 points, Westmar recorded 39, Beall was third with 84, Southern had 89, and Allegany was a distant fifth with 193.

The Rams top runner was Matt Frederick, who placed 10th with a time of 18:20. Tony Cerrito finished 17th (19:39), Steve Eiswert was 19th (19:48), Tom Crozier was 22nd (19:59), and Coy Ware placed 28th (20:09). Other Rams finished as follows: Jordan Swerbinsky, 31st; Jared Reckart, 35th; Russell Patterson, 36th; Kyle Conroy, 38th; Chris English-Ramsay, 40th; and Emmit Michael, 42nd.

Winning the boys' race was Ryan Foster of Beall with a time of 16:18, followed by Sid Bittinger of Westmar (16:46) and Fort Hill's Justin Faith (17:00).

The younger members of the Southern girls' team dominated the junior varsity race, as they finished with a perfect score of 21 by taking the top six places. Lisa Wade was first with her time of 25:11, followed by Melissa Flanagan, Laura Preston, Fallon Farley, Kelly Wade, and Maria Hines.

The Runnin' Rams, coached by Louis Newcomb (girls) and Carl Booth (boys), will compete again in the West Region Championships, which will be held next Thursday, Nov. 2, at Allegany College in Cumberland. The state championships will be held Nov. 11 at Hereford High School.

Tryouts For Service Club Teams Slated

Tryouts for spots on a total of 12 different teams in three different divisions of the Service Club Basketball League will be held next Tuesday through Thursday at Southern High School.

Any 5th through 8th grade girl who is interested in trying out for a team should report to the Southern High School gym on Tuesday, Oct. 31, at 6:30 p.m. The tryout will last until 8 p.m. Any 5th through 8th grade boy who is interested in trying out for a team should report to the Southern High School gym on Wednesday, Nov. 1, at 6:30 p.m. The tryout will last until 8 p.m. Any boy or girl who cannot attend Tuesday's or Wednesday's tryout may attend a makeup tryout on Thursday, Nov. 2, between 6 and 6:30 p.m. Those who are drafted from this tryout will be no-tified by the coach who drafts them.

Draftees will be chosen to play on teams in one of three divisions: Junior Division, for boys in the 5th and 6th grades; Senior Division, for boys in the 7th and 8th grades; and Girls' Division, for 5th-8th grade girls. Practices will begin the week of November 13-18. League games will begin in January and run through February.

The Service Club Basketball League serves over 140 boys and girls in grades 5-8 in the southern area of Garrett County. League sponsors include Oakland-based service clubs such as the Rotary Club, Lions Club, Elks Club, Knights of Pythias, Masonic Lodge, Fraternal Order of Police, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Catholic Daughters of America, Women's Civic Club, American Legion Women's Auxiliary, and Business and Professional Women's Club. For more information, persons may call Dave Bender at 301-334-4390, Fred Gregg at 301-334-8416, or Russ McConnell at 301-334-0710.

Husky JVs Fall To Wildcats By 14-6 Margin

The Northern High School junior varsity football team dropped a 14-6 contest to the Westmar Wildcats Monday evening in Lonaconing. The Huskies' JV is still in search of its first win of the season.

Westmar's Andy Morgan, who carried the ball 15 times for a total of 102 yards on the night, reeled off a 55-yard touchdown run in the second quarter to open the scoring. Northern knotted the score at 6 in the third quarter when Andrew Frantz scampered 11 yards for a touchdown.

Westmar scored the winning blow in the fourth quarter when Billy Preston found the end zone from two yards out. Dan Duncan's two-point conversion pass to Michael Gould made the score 14-6, where it remained until the clock expired.

Steve Smith gained 70 yards to pace NHS's offense, which was handcuffed by five turnovers.

Northern's record fell to 0-7, while Westmar's rose to 4-2. The Huskies' next scheduled outing is a season finale showdown against Southern on Monday, Nov. 6.

KYLE HITS MARK - Kyle Gillum, 9, of Grantsville showed his skill with a bow and arrow during this year's bow season, taking his first deer. Though this was his first bow hunt, he has previously taken two deer during rifle season. Kyle's proud parents are Greg and Ramona Gillum.

Fall Turkey Season Will Open Saturday

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) secretary Sarah Taylor-Rogers reminds hunters that Maryland's traditional fall turkey hunting season will open this Saturday, Oct. 28, and close on Saturday, Nov. 4, in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties.

"Many families in western Maryland have, for generations, hunted this great American game bird in the fall," Taylor-Rogers said. "Fall turkey hunters will find turkeys throughout much of the forested area across western Maryland. However, due to mostly average food supplies, these birds will probably be somewhat scattered across the region."

Wild turkey populations in western Maryland have stabilized after several years of decline. Field surveys conducted by DNR staff this year reveal that turkey poult production in western Maryland was below last year, which was the highest since 1996. Consistent rains throughout the early poult rearing period may have contributed to lower poult survival this year. Despite the apparent reduction in poult survival, there appears to be an ample supply of birds for the avid turkey hunter.

Hunters harvest from 300 to 600 turkeys every fall. When hatching success and poult production are high, fall harvests are also high. In 1994 and 1995, poult production was at historical highs in western Maryland, and fall harvests were at record levels of 559 and 570, respectively. In 1998, poult production was at a very low level, and the corresponding fall harvest was 301 turkeys. In 1999, hunters harvested 336 turkeys following an above average poult year.

Another factor that affects the success of fall turkey hunters is the availability of food in the form of hard and soft mast. Hard mast, such as acorns and beech nuts, are preferred fall foods of wild turkeys. Soft mast, like wild cherries and crabapples, are also preferred by turkeys, especially when hard mast is

Steelers Drop 38-14 Contest To Warriors

The Northern Steelers fell to the Braddock Warriors, 38-14, in a Saturday Cumberland Area Youth Football League contest in Cumberland.

Braddock scored the first six touchdowns of the battle, five on the ground, over the first three quarters. Northern found the end zone in the fourth quarter when Robert Stark threw touchdown passes of six yards to Chris Fickes and eight yards to Eric Johnson. Ian Wooden kicked a two-point conversion after the first Steeler score.

GARRETT COUNTY BLACKPOWDER HUNTERS GRACED WITH FINE WEATHER

Muzzleloaders were out last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday and made the most of excellent fall weather. Local hunters fairing well were Bill Bray, who got a nice eight-point buck in the Steyer area. Also bagging an eight-pointer was Lynn Wilson, who got his near Short Run. In the Bethlehem area, they are still talking about the big 11-point buck shot by George Tasker.

LOST LAND AREA PRODUCES WELL RECENTLY FOR ARCHERS

Bow hunters working the Lost Land area have been quite successful recently. Hunters with recent trophies include Jimmy Thomas, who got a nice four-pointer, Clifford Tasker, who tagged an eight-pointer, Brian Tasker, who tagged a three-pointer, and Clifford Tasker Jr., who got a spike. Jay Tasker broke ranks and tagged his four-point buck off the Oakland-Sang Run Road.

SPECIAL CONGRATULATIONS

A special commendation is in order for young Josh Paugh, who bagged his first grey squirrel last week. Josh got his squirrel near Boiling Springs and will be only one of many who will make it into a squirrel casserole. Way to go.

by Joan Sussman

Saturday was a perfect day for college football games, especially for fans of big powerhouse teams like West Virginia University and Notre Dame, who met Saturday at Morgantown. Over 60 thousand fans enjoyed the sunny day to watch Notre Dame once again defeat the Mountaineers. Two groups of fans from Bittinger shared a block of tickets, but on opposite sides of the battle.

John and Pam Braskey, Grantsville, cheered Notre Dame on to victory and also shared an extra ticket with Sheila Southerly, a diehard fan for West Virginia. Pam and Sheila were together on the Northern High cheerleader squad during the '70s.

Lesa Whittemore finished the Marine Corp Marathon in Washington, D.C., on Sunday, in spite of a bum knee which hurt like crazy, but not enough to stop Lesa. Twenty-six miles (about the distance from Bittinger to Oakland) and running on a bad knee. Better she than I. Unfortunately, while Lesa was down in Washington preparing for her big run on Sunday, David Whittemore of Las Vegas was tending to things around their home in Bittinger, including watching their son Greg, who played in a football game on Friday evening between Northern and Petersburg. Greg injured one of his knees, so David had to take him to the emergency room, and then Lesa took him to the doctor on Monday. It looks like just a bad sprain and no ligaments torn. Bad enough to have to wear a brace and walk with crutches.

Another of my friends, Walter Haydel, injured his knee on a whitewater run on the Upper Yough. Walter and Mike Hall tested their new boat on that treacherous run. Mike also hurt his shoulder. Neither was seriously hurt. With weekend athletes who are past their 40th birthday, injuries are always possible, especially to the knees.

If you could call it a good ride on a four-wheeler, Cindy Stanton and I had a successful ride to the beaver dam. However, my camera was empty of film, and I was so frustrated that I could have screamed. The beaver dam is always changing. This year it is almost empty of water, even with all the rain we got this summer and fall. It is still very pretty, filled with tall pale green grass. We also collected a few leaf specimens for Mere's leaf collection for school. We tried to get some hickory nuts in the hickory grove on Dave Ramsey's property, but Cindy could only find three nuts.

She reminded me when we were young we really found huge hauls. Unfortunately, all we could find were the wrong kind, which were pig hickory nuts from smooth bark hickory trees. Those kind are not good to eat, and they are bitter tasting. While we buzzed around we met up with Dave Ramsey. We apologized for riding on his property without asking prior permission. But since we were little girls we always thought that everywhere that was in reach to us either on foot or on ponies was fair ground.

Cindy and I are proud of our Native American blood, and we claim ownership anyway. At the end of our ride we buzzed the house and screamed "suckers!" While we might be over-the-hill (40 plus), we still are not grown up. I hope we never will be. We giggled as much at our old memories as my girls do now. Caitlin and Mere also took a short ride with Cindy after I got off, and also visited Gram.

Terah Sines is still on crutches, but she is much improved from her recent car accident. We should buy a large volume order of crutches in Bittinger and then rent them out. After soccer, football, running season, etc., we still have lots of skiers around. I remember busting up one knee pretty bad one day at the Wisp, and in the same crash dislocated my shoulder. It has never been the same since. Let's hope this winter will be injury-free.

Everyone I have talked to predicts a real winter with lots of snow. We already got the first snow very early this year, so who knows how bad it will be, or good for all those ski fans, or for school kids who cheer every snow flake in hopes they will get a free day from school. Actually that includes a lot of teachers too. I know when I was teaching at college, it was a huge relief when classes were canceled due to the snow. It gave me much needed time to catch up with grading papers and exams.

After months of intensive practice, the state high school band show was held in Towson last weekend. The members of Northern High Marching Band were dead serious about it. They wanted to take first place, but they were nosed out, placing second out of huge competition. They did great, according to Rodney Glotfelty, who took the opportunity to pay a visit to his in-laws in the Baltimore area. Rodney, Robbie, and Blakely spent the night with Marci's sister Lynn and her husband Mike. The twins, Darryl and Elliot, spent the night with Pop and his wife, Chris Farmer.

Marci's family was quite impressed with the Northern Band. Meanwhile, Marci had to stay home with a heavy work schedule at Meyersdale Manor Nursing Home, as well as tending the animals at home (the chickens, puppy, cockatiels, cat, fish, and Gram's little dog, whose name is Sassy, a perfect name for her except when her mommy is out of town).

Ruth returned last Saturday night after a two-week swing trip down south. She and her close friends, Margaret Hatcher and Betty and Ellis Sacra, from Partlow, Va., first visited their time-share condo in Kissimmee, Fla., and then boarded the Sovereign of the Sea at Port Canaveral for a four-night cruise. While in Kissimmee they took a cruise out on the water to watch the space shuttle launch, but alas, the launch was canceled. They visited Nassau in the Bahamas and also Coca Cay. While she was away, her kitten, who was one from our last litter, followed Claire back to her old home for a visit until her new mommy came home and they were reunited.

Claire saw another of her former kittens while cleaning up the highway on Rt. 495. A group of Bittinger 4-H'ers and their parents picked up the litter on Saturday afternoon after the Autumn Glory Parade. Carol and Matthew Bass, Marci, Rodney, Robbie, and Blakely Glotfelty, and my Claire and Caitlin participated. The twins, Scotty Bass, Meredith, and Emma Bass are still too young to participate. Claire paid a visit to the Hare home and saw the black kitten with no tail, who was a birthday gift to Heidi Hare recently. Claire said he was as fat and sassy as can be, and ready for Halloween.

Lenny, Sally, and Torrey Poholsky visited with Andy and Mary Salak of Kittanning, Pa., on Saturday.

Potato Bar To Be Offered At Dry Run School

A potato bar will be held at the Dry Run Mennonite Church and school gymnasium along Route 495 in Bittinger on Friday, Nov. 10, 4-8 p.m.

The potato bar will feature baked potatoes with a variety of toppings, jello salads, bread, rolls, coffee and iced tea, and homemade ice cream with toppings for dessert.

Tickets are $5.50 for adults and $3.50 for children ages 5-12. Children under 5 eat free. (Walk-in prices are $6 for adults and $4 for children.) For tickets for information, persons may call 301-245-4079 or 301-895-5660. Tickets are also available at Shady Grove Market on Springs Road and Buckel's Store in Bittinger.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the church-operated school.

Mt. Zion UMC Plans Buckwheat Cake Breakfast

Mt. Zion United Methodist Men will hold their annual "all you can eat" buckwheat cake and sausage breakfast on November 4 from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The meal will be held at the Mt. Zion U.M. Church, which is 6 miles east of Grantsville on National Pike.

Prices are $5 for adults and $2 for children under 10.

For more information, persons may call Jim Conner at 301-729-5405.

Thayer Named To Who's Who

The 34th edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students will contain the name and biography of Brianna Thayer, daughter of Colleen Mouyard, Mtn. Lake Park, and Jerry Thayer, Oakland. It's the third time that she has been named to the national list of outstanding students.

Thayer, a 2000 graduate of Southern High School, is currently a freshman at Columbus College of Art and Design, Columbus, Ohio, where she is attending on an art scholarship.

Students are named to Who's Who for high achievement in academics, as well as leadership in school activities, athletics, and/or community service. Traditionally, 99% of selected students have a grade point average of at least a B.

HISTORICAL ITEM TO BE SOLD AT GALA — A clock from the home originally lived in by George W. Loar will be auctioned at Garrett County Memorial Hospital's 50th Anniversary Golden Gala on November 4. Loar was the original benefactor of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The clock, donated by Judge and Mrs. Lewis R. Jones, is a 30-hour clock perched on a pot metal statue with bronze finish. The clock was attached to the newel post at the bottom of the Second Street home, now Durst Funeral Home. The clock reportedly came from the Loar Jewelry Store in Grafton, W.Va., which was managed by Lawson Loar, a brother of George Loar. It had been removed from the home for many years before being given to Judge and Mrs. Jones. The Golden Gala, sponsored by the hospital's foundation, will help raise money to assist in funding the hospital's new state-of-the art CT scanner. The event is sold out.

Domestic Violence Damages Victim Emotionally, Physically

by Peggy Santamaria

"The physical abuse was nothing compared to the mental and emotional abuse...."

It is a second marriage for both Paul and Deborah. They had known each other for many years, but never once had Paul suspected that Deborah's marriage to Mike was anything but idyllic. "My wife's abusive first marriage was what you might call anti-stereotypical," Paul stated. "Her husband was a Fortune 500 executive. They were always flying to big meetings and conferences in San Diego or Hawaii. I thought she was the happiest person on earth."

But that smiling couple making the rounds of the business cocktail-dinner party circuit was the façade created to enhance the career of the young executive and fuel Mike's successful rise in the business world, Paul explained. "He looked like the model citizen."

When the business deals fell through, Deborah said she knew what was coming next. "He would take out his anger about business failure by beating her," Paul said, adding that it was always done when the children were absent. Deborah didn't want to subject the children to their father's rage, so she would make sure they were in bed early when she sensed Mike was about to become violent.

"Mike played into the whole corporate mentality," Paul noted, describing him as a "very controlling, hard driving, hard drinking" individual.

Over the 18-year period of her marriage to Mike, Deborah suffered such injuries as a broken jaw and broken foot, in addition to multiple bruises and contusions. She told Paul that while Mike was beating her she would recite "Mary Had a Little Lamb" to herself over and over again to block out the pain.

"The beatings she sustained were bad, but Deborah told me that they were not the worst of it. The physical abuse was nothing compared to the mental and emotional abuse," Paul reported. Deborah told him that the injuries Mike inflicted on her would heal, but that the psychological damage was far worse. "Mike was a very controlling person," he said.

Deborah and Mike had lived on a farm, Paul explained, so she felt physically isolated. To this was added the psychological isolation that resulted from the need to keep her abusive marriage a secret. "Mike didn't want her working or doing anything outside the home. I asked her to do volunteer work at an agency where I worked. This was before I knew there was anything wrong. She told me later that she really got it for that," Paul relayed.

In addition to keeping his wife physically isolated through location and refusal to let her work, Mike also manipulated Deborah by depriving her of basic needs, though they were, in fact, very wealthy, Paul said. There were times that Mike would travel on business, "wining and dining" with corporate leaders, and would leave Deborah and the boys at home with very little money to live on. "One time Mike left them with $7 for food for the whole week. Deborah and the kids would often scrounge under couch cushions looking for the money to buy an RC Cola for a treat," Paul recounted.

At every turn, Mike, the successful executive, would insult and degrade his wife, Paul said. Deborah had little sense of self and no confidence. Life was a series of emotionally and physically painful events. "If it weren't for the children, she would have 'checked out' altogether."

Now in a loving and supportive marriage to Paul, Deborah carries "the baggage" of the pain and cruelty she experienced for nearly two decades. "My wife doesn't trust many people. I would say there are three people that she loves and trusts," Paul said, referring to himself and Deborah's two sons.

RED RIBBON WEEK CONTINUES - The outreach workers at the Garrett County Health Department remind local residents that this is Red Ribbon Week. The red ribbon is the symbol of the efforts of individuals and agencies in the community to prevent drug and alcohol abuse. Students have been given ribbons to wear, and activities in the schools will continue into next week. In the photo from left are Michael Gibbons, Nancy Brady, Sandy Sutton, Gail Dever, and Brenda Frazee of the health department.

She fears change and wants to stay always where she feels safe. "I approach people with the idea that they are good until they do something to prove they aren't. My wife approaches from the opposite perspective," Paul explained.

When Deborah married Paul, she found she had not only a new husband but a large, caring, extended family. "I grew up in a very loving environment. It has been hard for Deborah to understand this love and trust. She was deprived of this for so long. You know, she still doesn't understand Christmas morning," he said.

Flu Vaccine May Be Delayed, But Will Be Available

by Barbara Burnham
Capital News Service

Maryland health officials recently announced that flu vaccine supplies will not be widely available until the holidays, but they assured residents there should be enough doses for everyone who needs it.

Greg Reed of the state's Center for Immunization asked for "everyone to exercise patience," saying early doses of the vaccine may need to be parceled out to those who need it most.

The news follows a recent meeting in which officials with the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention confirmed that a vaccine manufacturer will produce 9 million more doses than originally planned to make up for a possible shortfall. With that extra production, there should be about 75 million doses of vaccine available this winter — about the same amount that was used last flu season.

State and federal officials plan to start the season by targeting those individuals at high-risk for complications from the flu. As more vaccine becomes available later in the year, efforts would focus on vaccinating individuals at lower risk of developing flu complications.

Even with the recommendations, local health officials say that there will have to be some exceptions. "We see all ages and all income levels," said Mary Anderson of the Montgomery County Department of Health and Human Services. "We don't turn people away."

Anderson said Montgomery County immunization clinics should begin mid-November, one month behind schedule, and she expects most Maryland counties to be in the same situation.

Reed said local health departments have been working to help private physicians in the state identify high-risk patients and available doses of the vaccine. "They (local departments) are being the eyes and ears of the community," said Reed.

The CDC said the peak flu season occurred between January and March over the past 14 years. Last year in Maryland, 56 percent of the flu cases were reported in January. One health official said the delay in vaccine this year could be interpreted as a blessing.

The flu vaccine has its strongest effect for only four to five months, said Mary Novotny of St. Mary's County Health Department. "If you get it too early, you're not fully protected when the flu season hits in January and February," she said.

St. Mary's County Health Department recently announced a "very low" supply of the vaccine in the county and that regular flu clinics would not be available until December. The county's clinics usually start in November.

The largest distribution of doses — about 30 million — will be available by the end of November. Once administered, it generally takes two weeks for the vaccine to take effect. Predicting vaccine need is a "dicey" business: Last year 80 to 85 million doses of flu vaccine were produced, but only 74 million doses were used, and only 63 million doses were used the season before, said officials at a recent CDC meeting.

Four companies were scheduled to manufacture the flu vaccine this season, but Parkedale Pharmaceuticals recently announced that it will drop production of its version of the vaccine. The announcement came the same day that the Food and Drug Administration disqualified the company from further production until manufacturing issues had been resolved. The following day, one of the three remaining manufacturers, Aventis Pasteur, said it would produce the additional 9 million vaccine doses.

Cancer Survivor Group To Meet

The Garrett County cancer survivor support group will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 31, 7 p.m., in the Community Services building, next to Garrett Memorial Hospital. The guest speaker will be Dr. Charles Walch, who will discuss colorectal cancer.

This support group meets on the last Tuesday of each month. These sessions are free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3737.

committee to review the proposal and to suggest changes to it. The officials all agreed that this would be the best next step.

The Garrett County commissioners reported yesterday that they will announce on Tuesday the members they have chosen to serve on the local committee.

In later interviews with officials about this proposal, the general sentiment was that the county should look into the idea, but that it should also maintain an "eyes wide open" stance.

"First of all, that name has to be changed," said Delegate Edwards, referring to the Canal Place Gateways Preservation and Development Authority. "And we absolutely have to have equal representation. If we do it at all, we do it on terms that everyone can agree on. We shouldn't put $400,000 into this thing. I suggest that each county put in $20,000 to begin with, and that the Heritage Area certification be the umbrella for all expenditures. I don't think the Council should have to work through the Authority — they should both fall under the same umbrella.

"But these are all things that must be worked out, and absolutely must be agreed upon by both sides. If we can't agree, then we don't do it," Edwards said.

Because Little stated that the proposal ultimately will enhance economic development, James Hinebaugh, director of the county's economic development office, was contacted for his views.

"I do understand the hesitation to join in on this proposal, but I also think we have to look at all the angles very carefully," Hinebaugh said. "Cas Taylor has done some things that have greatly benefited us here in Garrett County. If it weren't for the One Maryland legislation, we wouldn't be able to offer nearly as nice a package to incoming businesses as we can now."

At the time of the development of One Maryland, a plan to help economically struggling counties, Taylor, the author of the plan, had left Garrett County out of two of the funding eligibility portions. Hinebaugh and Edwards, among other officials, worked to have that section changed, and were ultimately successful in including Garrett in those two sections. In the interview with Hinebaugh, he was reminded of that effort.

"That is true, but we really had very little trouble amending that section," Hinebaugh said. "And we can continue to work with the Speaker if we keep our eyes open and pay attention to details. It's okay to maintain our independence here in Garrett County, but sometimes that characteristic has a negative effect. We just need to stay on our toes in the negotiations."

Hinebaugh also praised the success of the Western Maryland Economic Development Strategies Task Force, another entity spearheaded by Taylor.

"The task force has been a great success," Hinebaugh said, "and it proves that we can work together. If the Speaker of the House were from, say, Howard County or somewhere else, we wouldn't have some of the benefits we've gained over the last few years. We should remember that, although we should also stand our ground in these discussions."

THE EXORCIST

Rated R - Running Time: 2:11 - Re-Released 9/22/00

You know, it's a shame in this ultra-sophisticated age of special effects when the best movie one has seen all year is 27 years old. On the other hand, when the film in question is one of the best movies ever made, it will probably continue to pose stiff competition for many years to come. William Friedkin's classic 1973 treatise on good versus evil, The Exorcist, with all its controversy, parody, and the subsequent material it inspired, is still a thrill to watch after all these years, so full it's hard to absorb in one showing, so affecting it will still keep you awake at night. But maybe for different reasons.

William Peter Blatty's novel and his adapted screenplay, based on a real story that happened to a 13-year-old boy in Maryland in 1949, is more than just a creepy tale designed to frighten moviegoing teenagers. His intricate text is steeped in symbolism, with layer upon layer of meaningful interactions and subtly evocative images. Moreover, Friedkin's direction meshes ever so perfectly with Blatty's work, incorporating not only stunning visuals and memorable scenes, but seemingly minor choices that reveal their importance later in the film. The movie is so packed with meaning, it remains riveting even when we're not in Regan's bedroom watching her spit pea soup. It's just a well-made film, and the fact that it's also seriously disturbing is an added bonus.

Of course, another aspect which gives The Exorcist the stature it holds is the purely consistent excellence in the acting. It's hard to say who deserves more credit; it's no wonder the principals were practically all nominated for Oscars in '74. The fact that Linda Blair, only 13 at the time of shooting, could not only be so convincing as the child possessed, but also maintain such a simple, subtle realism in the earlier scenes, is remarkable. The section where she and Ellen Burstyn are saying goodnight is one of the most touching scenes in the film; it sets up the innocence and charm of Regan so perfectly before she is taken over by evil. Of course, the possessed Regan cannot be attibuted wholly to Blair, since many of the scenes featured the voice of veteran actress Mercedes McCambridge and the body of Eileen Dietz, not to mention dummies that were constructed to look like Blair for purposes of head spinning and the like.

Meanwhile, Burstyn is astounding as the atheist forced to seek a priest as a last resort after exhausting all medical and psychological possibilities concerning her daughter's increasingly disturbing behavior. Burstyn, an actress playing an actress, can travel through several emotional colors in a few seconds, and make every one believable, showing the fragile mental state of a woman at the end of her rope. And Jason Miller is also excellent as Father Damien Karras, a character whom Blatty makes a truly complex individual—a priest and psychologist with a crisis of faith, who feels guilty for the death of his mother, who could have had a successful career as a boxer but chose another path and lived to question it... Miller shows us all these things. And finally, Max Von Sydow as Father Merrin, the title character, the only one whom the devil fears; he is also a more complicated character than he would have to be; in a lesser movie, he could be a minor part, but there's a reason why we meet him first, and why Blatty named the book after him instead of the event, or the girl, or the beast within. Also deserving mention is Lee J. Cobb, who is believable as Lieut. Kinderman; again, more so than he needs to be.

Perhaps the most legendary aspect of The Exorcist is its special effects, done before computers, but still so real after all this time (with a few exceptions — the doll still looks like a doll). This new release contains many augmentations to those classic scenes, and even a few deliciously freaky new ones added. One such addition is the much-talked-about "spider walk" scene, where Regan comes down the stairs upside down, crawling on her hands and feet; this was omitted from the original because Friedkin couldn't figure a way to resolve the scene, but a way has been found, and this is added to the list of the film's disturbingly memorable images.

Also concerning the special effects is the controversial, and sometimes questionable, manner in which Friedkin achieved them, occasionally abusing his actors in ways which today might provoke litigation; this is an unfortunate corollary to the story of The Exorcist, but one cannot argue that what resulted is a truly excellent piece of work. Friedkin, however, has apparently voiced some opposition to this version being released, since the more upbeat ending (which Blatty wanted in the original version) is added against his wishes.

So many movies that try to be scary turn out laughable, and some, like The Blair Witch Project, can't sustain their edge for more than one showing. But this film is so much more than the sum of its parts; there are things to think about, talk about, and argue about long after the car trip home. Do yourself a favor this Halloween season: go see it again, and if the pea soup and creepy voices turn you off, just forget about the devil and watch it for the sake of art. ★★★★★

BEDAZZLED

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:33 - Released 10/20/00

I would rate Bedazzled as sort of the cinematic equivalent to cheese curls: lightweight, fluffy, insubstantial, but a guilty pleasure nonetheless. That could be said for most of Brendan Fraser's films of late; Fraser has not exactly tried to challenge Olivier, but he's remarkably talented in his light, fluffy way, and his recent output has been fun if not life-changing. Opposite Fraser is Elizabeth Hurley, the dancer-turned-Estee Lauder spokesperson-turned-actress most recently known for appearing in the Austin Powers films. Hurley looks fabulous throughout the film, of course, in a fetching wardrobe of red and black (except for one notable exception); if there were ever a reason for being drawn to wicked ways, she's it. The film, a remake of the 1967 version starring Peter Cook and Dudley Moore, is written and directed by Harold Ramis (Groundhog Day, Analyze This), with writing assistance from Larry Gelbart and Peter Tolan, based on the '67 Cook/Moore screenplay.

Fraser's role of Elliot Edwards is just the kind of geeky-but-nice guy he's played in films like Blast From The Past, The Mummy, and Dudley Do-Right; he's identified early on as a lonely, desperate, eager-to-please doormat. Openly ridiculed by his co-workers at Synedyne, a computer support facility where scores of cubicles house headset-clad phone operators ready to assist customers with their computer problems, Elliot tries to fit in and dreams of scoring a date with the beautiful Allison Carpenter (Frances O'Connor), who, although she works at the same office, doesn't know he exists. After one particularly pathetic scene in the local bar, Elliot is visited by none other than Satan herself (Hurley), who promises to turn his sad life around. In exchange for the mere act of signing over his soul (which, she says, most people don't even miss), Elliot may have not one, not three, but seven wishes. After some agonizing and perusing the several-inches-thick contract, Elliot agrees, mainly because the devil reminds him that with the right wishing strategy, he could make Allison his own.

Elliot's first wish is to be rich, powerful, and married to Allison; although this seems like a fool-proof plan, being a Columbian drug lord with an estranged wife is not exactly what he had in mind. As he tries to refine the stipulations of his wishes, he goes through several permutations, including a simpering romantic, a thick-headed sports star, and a pretentious socialite, but none of them really work out, mainly because Satan is trying intentionally to bugger up his plans. Soon Elliot is out of wishes and no closer to happiness nor to Allison.

The two main things that make this film enjoyable are Fraser's various characterizations/make-up jobs, which usually involve a dental prosthesis and a wig, and Hurley's wardrobe changes. The short scenes devoted to his wishes all have drastically different settings, temporal as well as physical, all involve O'Connor, who appears as "Allison" in her own diverse series of characterizations, and also usually include Elliot's co-workers in key supporting roles. The performances of Fraser, Hurley, and O'Connor, while not called on for anything but the broadest stereotypes, are fun and engaging, the script breezy and carefree. So what can I say? It's not going to win any awards, but...well, if you like cheese curls, you'll understand. ★★★★

THE LADIES' MAN

Rated R - Running Time: 1:24 - Released 10/13/00

I have oft discussed the abundance of sub-par material that has sprung from the loins of the Saturday Night Live star-making machine; there is no doubt that 25-year SNL producer Lorne Michaels has an eye for talent, but he has also repeatedly demonstrated his lack of discretion in selecting quality scripts. The few good movies to come out of the show (The Blues Brothers) is outweighed by the dreck (Coneheads, It's Pat, A Night At The Roxbury), and this pattern is based not so much on bad performances as on the poor quality of the screenplays.

However, in the case of The Ladies' Man, the star vehicle for long time SNL member Tim Meadows, the fault lies in the script and the actor. I have never thought Meadows a very versatile performer — his lack of range sticks out like a sore thumb among the many talented SNL co-stars he has performed with all these years — but his attempt to promote radio talk show host and sex advisor Leon Phelps to the big screen is hampered as much by the film's third-rate script as Meadows's own weakness as an actor. Written by Meadows, Dennis McNicholas, and Andrew Steele, and directed by Reginald Hudlin (House Party), The Ladies' Man demonstrates just how low Michaels's SNL production company can go.

As anyone who has watched SNL in recent years is doubtless aware, Leon Phelps is a crass, sexist, afro-wearing '70s throwback who advises callers seeking sex-related advice on his talk show, "The Ladies' Man." Surrounded by incense, candles, a set full of '70s afro-kitsch, and his ever-present bottle of Corvoisier cognac, Leon boasts to have "done" a lot of ladies (admitting, however, that most of them have been "skanks"), and answers people's queries about sexual/romantic concerns with advice that inevitably bears outdated sensibilities and a sexist slant. "If you are under 50, and are not freaky or disgusting, please give me a call," he says. But his propensity for offending his audience costs him his job, and while he and his producer, the lovely and intelligent Julie (Karyn Parsons) search for work at other stations, a group of incensed husbands led by former Olympic Greco-Roman wrestling contender Lance DeLune (Will Ferrell) seek to destroy him for seducing their wives and thereby ruining their marriages.

Meanwhile, Leon receives an anonymous letter from a wealthy woman he used to call "Sweet Thing," saying that she still loves him and wants to get back together. In reality, the mystery woman is Lance's neglected wife Honey (Tiffani-Amber Thiessen), who is frustrated by Lance's obsession with wrestling and his desire to spend all his time with his sparring partner. Feeling that his future is made, Leon sets out to find the woman unaware that Julie herself has developed feelings for him.

The first among many questions any rational person would have upon seeing this film is why Leon and his show are so popular, given his offensive manner with his callers. He outrages everyone he speaks to, on and off the air, except Julie and his loser friends at the local bar (whose owner is played by Billy Dee Williams, taking a major career hit). Julie's affection for him is the second such unanswered question. Moreover, the sex-related humor, most of it merely ineffective, is not nearly as bad as one particularly disgusting scene which devolves from a pointless exercise to a scatalogical gross-out, adding nothing to the film but a sophomoric attempt to copy Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me.

I will admit that "The Ladies' Man" is one of Meadows's funnier characters, but his work here is hardly worthy of big-screen exposure, and the thin scattering of chuckle-inducing material (mainly contributed by Ferrell) is far outweighed by the lack of inspiration in the script. ★½

GARRETT COUNTY HUNTERS BRING HOME SOME TROPHY ELK

Just back from an expedition to Colorado with great tales along with nice trophy elk are Ralph Livengood (sometimes known as Gilbert), Neil Winters, and Harland Bernard. Ralph brought home a 5x5, Neil a 6x7, and Harland, a 6x6.

John Richards, on his first elk trip, got his elk after only one hour in the woods.

Heading for Kremmling, Colo., are Craig Collins and Carl Whitaker. They will be gone for two weeks. Both are hoping for the same good weather experienced by our previously mentioned hunters and would be pleased by the same success I'm sure.

GARRETT FLY FISHERS MEETING SITE CHANGED

Beginning with the November meeting, the Garrett Fly Fishers will be meeting at McClive's Restaurant instead of the Point View. This next meeting will be the second Wednesday of November (Nov. 8). Anyone interested in attending for the first time can get more details from Bob Lancaster at 301-334-6124 or from Spring Creek Outfitters at 301-387-2034.

MORE HUNTERS RELYING ON GPS

Anyone spending time in remote areas can benefit from the latest generation of hand-held GPS receivers. And, with the recent elimination of signal error created by the government, GPS systems now offer even greater levels of accuracy.

GPS consists of a constellation of satellites deployed by the U.S. government that continually transmit precise information on time and location. Using GPS receivers, hunters can determine their position by locking onto at least three satellites and their elevation by locking onto four.

Once a position has been logged in, the GPS will guide the user back to it in any kind of weather. The value to hunters and fishermen is apparent. Hunters can find exact spots located during pre-season scouting. Fishermen can figuratively put an "x" on the water to mark underwater structure and particularly productive areas.

Mountaineers to watch include senior halfback Zack Roberts (6-1, 185), son of NHS art teacher Theresa Roberts, who may be moved over to quarterback if junior Nick Durst (6-1, 170), isn't fully recovered from injuries and sickness to play. Another Beall standout is senior lineman Ted Langan (6-1, 250), whose mother, Bonnie Langan, teaches math at Northern Middle School.

Northern has won 16 consecutive regular season games, by far the longest winning streak in the area, and its defense has not given up a score on the ground (neither touchdown nor two-point conversion run) all year.

"This is our last home game no matter what," Carr said. "We've noticed that the home crowds have been unusually quiet this year, and we hope to have a big, loud crowd for homecoming. It's senior night as well, and all senior football players, cheerleaders, and band members will be recognized in a 7 p.m. ceremony before the game. We hope everyone comes out and makes some noise for their Huskies." Kickoff is slated for 7:30 p.m.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

FALL FUN FEST

The annual Fun Festival at the Aurora School will be Saturday, Oct. 28, with food and games starting at 5 p.m. The costume parades begin at 6 p.m. All are invited to join in the evening's food and games with prizes. All promised items for the festival are to be at the school prior to the beginning of the serving.

BUCKWHEAT DINNER

Maple Spring Church will hold its annual buckwheat cake and sausage dinner, Nov. 4, at the church, located about ½ mile south of Eglon on Rt. 24. Serving will be from 4 until 8 p.m. and it will be an all-you-can-eat meal of cakes, sausage gravy, syrup, applesauce, and beverages, plus two cakes of sausage. Donations are $5 for adults, $3 for children 6-12, and pre-schoolers may eat free.

65TH ANNIVERSARY FOR LAYMANS

Sixty-five years of marriage for Sheridan and Nina (Pifer) Layman of Aurora, were celebrated on Oct. 23. Cards may still be addressed to them at Rt. 1 Box 341-A, Aurora, WV 26705. Mrs. Layman observes her 89th birthday today, Oct. 26, also.

AHS CLASS HAS REUNION

Meeting for a 25th anniversary of their graduation from Aurora High School were members of the class of 1975. They met Saturday evening, Oct. 21, at the Union Ambulance squad hall for a ham dinner served by the squad. Prizes were awarded and gifts given after class members responded to trivia questions about their class.

A fund was established for class use and another reunion is planned for 2005. Bonnie Harsh Friend, who had lost her yearbook in a fire which destroyed her home, was presented with a yearbook which was signed by all those present.

Those in attendance were Pennie Wotring of Morgantown; Rhonda (Stieringer) Fox and Jeff Lawrence of Warrenton, Va., Dan and Martha (Wilt) Poling of Parsons; Jeff and Tammy Sisler of Kingwood; Debbie (Brown) Reckart of Bruceton Mills; Jerry and Jeanie Myers of Oakland; Tony and Lyndia Sue Lewis of Mtn. Lake Park; Richard and Sandy (Moats) Nice and daughter, Mtn. Lake Park; Dick and Connie (Calcamp) Knotts, George and Bonnie (Harsh) Friend and Amelia, Connie Harsh and Ernest Knotts, Tony and Doris (Bolyard) Sullivan, Allen and Annette (Arnett) Strawser, Donald and Maxine (Moats) Dumire, Richard and Mary (Winters) Norwish and Caitlin, and Claud and Brenda (Harsh) Hartsell, all local. Teachers attending were Melvin and Sharon Jackson, Martha Bolyard, and Virginia Martin.

PERSONAL MENTION

Hassaleah Snyder of Amboy remains a patient in Preston Memorial Hospital after experiencing a reported second heart attack there.

Millie Moats of Stemple Ridge was taken Sunday by ambulance to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Hancell and Mildred Teets of Aurora spent the weekend in Weirton, where they visited with Doyle and Gladys Wiles.

Ellis and Marie Teets of Silver Lake went last week to Harrisonburg where they accompanied their daughter and son-in-law, Martha and Merlin Reish, on a visit to Knoxville, Tenn., with the former's son and daughter-in-law, Scott and Sharon Teets.

Don and Elaine Roth have returned home from a western visit and hunting trip. On their return Tuesday of last week, they went to South Carolina to bring their son, Danny Roth, to their home to recuperate from foot surgery. He returned to his home in Greenville this week.

Sheridan and Nina Layman visited last week in Flatwoods, Ky., with his sister, Neva Kincaid.

Kathryn Harvey of Clarksburg was a Saturday visitor in Aurora with her brother, Paul Stemple.

Kenneth and Helen Shaffer of Baltimore and Betty Trickett of Oakland were recent visitors with Barbara Heckert in Eglon.

Julie Baker and her children, Grayson and Madison, returned Sunday to their home in Virginia Beach, Va.

During the 10 days spent recently with John and Florence Minnig at Eglon, their daughter, Faith Zenker and her son, Nathanial, visited also with her sister and family, Kim, Wayne, and Taryn Pifer, and her grandfather, Donald Teets, in Morgantown. Faith and Nathanial have returned to their Grand Arroyo, Calif., home.

Louella Fike of Aurora was a surgical patient on Monday at Monongalia General Hospital for a heart procedure.

Delores Liston has removed her trailer home to a location near her mother, Virginia Cole, Eglon.

Aurora School, fourth, fifth, and sixth graders attended a matinee performance of "Streets of Gold" last week at the State Theater in Uniontown, Pa.

WEST VIRGINIA SUPPORTS AURORA HISTORICAL SOCIETY — West Virginia state senator Jon Hunter met with the Aurora senior citizen group and the Aurora Area Historical Society recently, to announce the approval of an $8,000 funding request for renovations to the Historical Society's Community Building. Hunter acquired the funds through the W.Va. Budget Digest; the W.Va. Soil Conservation group added $2,000 through the efforts of Hancell Teets. Renovations to the community building will include rewiring and the installation of track lighting for exhibits, a security system, and a handicap ramp. Shown above, from left, are Historical Society secretary Virginia Martin, president Alice Penzo, Senator Jon Hunter, and Society curator Michelle Mouré. Other Historical Society officers not pictured are vice president James Slawter, treasurer Joann Helton, treasurer, historian David Teets, and librarian Martha Bolyard.

Events Set At Grant Memorial

Grant Memorial Hospital, Petersburg, will participate in the "Make a Difference in Your Health" county health fair this Saturday, Oct. 28, from 7 to 11 a.m. at the Petersburg Elementary School.

The first 100 people to visit the hospital displays will each receive a free ColoCARE kit to check for gastrointestinal diseases. There will also be a display by Chris Petsko, director of the hospital's cardiac rehabilitation center, and a display by Melissa Whetzel, R.N. and asthma program coordinator for GMH, about the asthma program for children in Grant County.

Grant Memorial will also host its first Diabetes Awareness Day on Saturday, Nov. 7, as part of American Diabetes Month. It will be held in the hospital's multi-purpose room from 7 to 11 a.m. There will be free blood pressure and blood sugar tests, plus other screenings, available.

Sandy Ford, certified diabetes educator and GMH pharmacist, and Chris Petsko will be the facilitators for this program. For more information, persons may telephone GMH, extension 374.

The annual "Light Up a Life" bow project, sponsored by the hospice staff of GMH, is also under way. The bows, which cost $5 each, will be used to decorate two Christmas trees in December, with red bows in memory of someone, and white bows in honor of someone.

Persons will find the purchase forms in the local newspaper, or may telephone GMH, extension 550, to receive one in the mail.

A Card of Thanks

The family of Lynne Grove would like to express a heartfelt thank you to all who offered support and prayers during the recent illness and passing of their wife and mother.

A special thank you to Hospice of Garrett County, Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Newman Funeral Homes, PA, and The Sand Spring Church of God Ladies Organization.

12 points and a pair of aces. Senior Malia Collins contributed four kills and two blocks.

Playing in the last home game of the SHS career, seniors Parrack and Heather Boyce turned in fine performances. Parrack tallied a team-high 11 points, along with three aces and seven assists, and Boyce contributed three kills and two blocks. Junior Holli Harris added three kills. The match was also the last regular season home game for seniors Laura Johnson, Nikki Ravenscroft, and Carrie Steyer.

SHS won the jayvee match 2-1. After dropping the opener 15-13, the Rams took the next two by 15-10, 15-12 margins. The Southern junior varsity finished the year with a 10-5 record, while the SHS varsity concluded with a 3-12 mark.

The 5-9 Huskies have one more match to go for the regular season, a Monday night visit to Lonaconing to take on the Westmar Wildcats.

Turkey Season

minimal.

To ensure a safe fall turkey season, hunters are reminded never to assume they are alone in the woods, and until one positively knows otherwise, assume that every sound one hears is being made by another person. In addition, hunters should always be sure of their target, and shoot only when the whole bird can be seen.

The Natural Resources Police also recommend that hunters wear blaze orange when entering or leaving the woods.

Hunters are encouraged to try their luck on public hunting areas throughout western Maryland. Wildlife management areas and state forests provide excellent opportunities for fall turkey hunters, with more than 150,000 acres of public land available to the hunter. Interested hunters may contact wildlife managers in western Maryland for more specific information on where to hunt.

THE SIGN OF AN EXCEPTIONAL SALES ASSOCIATE.

Dear Mr. Huebner,

Recently we completed the sale of our property at Deep Creek Lake, working with your associate, Ms. Arlene Murray. We found Arlene to be helpful, responsive and, in general, a great pleasure to work with. . . we especially appreciated her ready and competent assistance in accomplishing the various on-site elements of the sale and her thorough attention to details that we might very well have missed.

As we looked for a new property that would better meet our current vacation needs, Arlene was just terrific. She was sensitive in picking up on the type of home we were seeking. She is highly knowledgeable with respect to both the lake region and property considerations, so her counsel is wholly reliable. Equally important, she has excellent judgement as to when to provide it.

In short, Arlene is a consummate real estate professional and Coldwell Banker is fortunate to be able to "claim" her! We thank both her and you for making this a wonderful experience.

Sincerely,
Lyle and Sandra Byers

DNR Unveils Statewide Stream Quality Survey; GC Ranks High

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources, in conjunction with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, recently unveiled the results of the first comprehensive survey of the state's freshwater streams ever conducted. "From the Mountains to the Sea: The State of Maryland's Freshwater Streams" details the impacts of man's activities on the state's small and medium-size streams, and will be used to provide guidance for restoration efforts.

The three-year survey sampled fish, aquatic invertebrates, reptiles, and amphibians at 1,000 randomly selected sites stretching from Garrett County to coastal bays. Water quality was tested, and physical and habitat conditions were noted, as well as land use upstream from each testing site. The streams examined comprised about 90 percent of all flowing waters in the state.

The survey concludes that only about 10 percent of Maryland's 9,000 miles of freshwater streams can be termed "healthy," while approximately half of the streams are rated "unhealthy." The remaining 40 percent of the streams, while not unhealthy, show obvious evidence of stress.

Six Garrett County streams were rated among the 20 healthiest streams in the Maryland, one of which tied for the second-highest score in the state — Little Laurel Run, located in the Casselman River watershed between Interstate 68 and the Pennsylvania state line.

The other five healthy streams in the county are Piney Creek of the Casselman River watershed and an unnamed tributary flowing into Mill Run, Mill Run itself, and Bear Creek, each located in the Youghiogheny River watershed. The report indicated a clear correlation between the amount of undisturbed or relatively little-disturbed forest land within a watershed and the health of all that watershed's flowing streams.

Only two streams in Garrett County were listed among the state's 20 unhealthiest streams. Cherry Creek, which carries acid mine drainage from an abandoned mine into the Cherry Creek Cove of Deep Creek Lake just north of the state park, was one of 10 sites tied for lowest score in the state.

Three Forks Run, which is subject to acid mine drainage from an abandoned Vindex area mine and which flows on into the Upper North Branch of the Potomac River, was also rated unhealthy. Mitigation efforts over the past couple of years involving the installation of a lime doser that buffers the water's acidity have steadily been helping that stream's situation improve.

The report warned that more Maryland streams "will likely degrade in the years to come" if development "continues to consume our forests and farmlands as it has in the past," adding that a widespread stressor on the health of streams is physical habitat degradation." Most such degradation "occurs where the upstream land use is changed from its natural (forested) state to urban or agricultural uses, or where the stream channel has been changed locally, such as the straightening of a stream to create an agricultural ditch, the construction of a culvert under a bridge, or armoring the stream channel with riprap or concrete to increase storm flow runoff.

The survey revealed that when the amount of hard, non-porous surface, such as buildings and the paved-over roadways and in parking lots, in a particular watershed exceeds 15 percent of the total area, the health of streams declines greatly. Brook trout, a species that requires cold, clean water to survive, were never found in watersheds where impervious surfaces totaled more than two percent of the land area.

The survey also revealed that almost 1,500 miles of Maryland's freshwater streams have been channelized, which results in more nutrients and sediments being transported to the Chesapeake Bay.

As a result of the survey effort, Maryland has become one of the few states in the nation to develop a comprehensive scientifically accepted method of determining the health of its freshwater resources.

"Aquatic life provides the best measure of a water body's overall health, but too often the needed data is unavailable. Maryland's new study is among the best in the country, making the state a leader in developing comprehensive and accurate biological indicators that will help us in the fight to maintain and restore the quality of our waters," said EPA regional administrator Bradley Campbell.

For more information, interested persons can consult the DNR web site at www.dnr.state.md.us and click on the "bay and streams" site. "From the Mountains to the Sea: The State of Maryland's Freshwater Streams" can be viewed on the EPA's web site at www.epa.gov.

CAC Home Energy Outreach Program Schedule Noted

The home energy program of the Garrett County Community Action Committee, formally known as MEAP (Maryland Energy Assistance Program), will be explained to interested qualified citizens during a pair of outreach sessions slated for this coming month.

November's schedule is as follows:

Thursday, Nov. 2, 9 a.m. - noon, at Yough Glades Square, West Liberty Street in Oakland; and Wednesday, Nov. 8, noon - 2 p.m., at the Friendsville community building, Old River Road.

The Electric Universal Service Program (EUSP) is a newly funded program designed for low income households in need of assistance with electric bills. All qualified households are encouraged to apply for assistance in an effort to limit the number of electric terminations, according to EUSP director Linda Green.

For further information on energy assistance through Community Action's MEAP and EUSP programs, or to schedule an informational presentation for a local organization by a Community Action representative, interested persons may call the CAC at 301-334-9431 or 1-888-877-8403, ext. 114.

Promises of things to come

Bread baking in the oven on a winter day...an aroma that promises of things to come. It reminds us of mealtime in a warm home with family and the expectation of a full stomach. Some of us might even associate it with feeling special and loved as children. Yet the smell of baking bread requires that we follow the recipe, be patient as it rises, and have faith that if we do all of these things the combination of ingredients will emerge as a golden satisfying loaf.

A life as a child of God is made in much the same fashion. As we follow God's Word and patiently wait while He works His way in our hearts and minds, we believe in the wisdom of the Father's will and we begin to realize a life of peaceful satisfaction.

Worship in God's House each week. In God's House you are loved and special for you are a child of the Heavenly Father. Through faith and patience you will inherit His promises of things to come.

DANGEROUS GUESSING

One great cause of serious home accidents is trying to guess the contents of an unlabeled container. Potent drugs are easily mistaken for simple home remedies.

Do as we pharmacists do. We leave nothing to chance. The contents of any unlabeled bottle are immediately destroyed. The least doubt about potency means the medicine is discarded. We will not gamble with anyone's health.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

YOU ARE THE MAN!
Nov. 5, 2000

Background Scripture:
2 Samuel 11:1 through 12:25.
Devotional Reading:
Numbers 15:30,31.

The tragic story of David and Bathsheba is never obsolete because it speaks, not only of something that happened more than two thousand years ago, but of what happens today, too. It is difficult to read it without thinking about our nation's recent agony over the personal conduct of some of our own political leaders. The sordid episode of King David is instructive for us. The uncompromising honesty with which it presents its characters is one of the Bible's great strengths. Ganse Little says "No recorded history, either sacred or secular, is so blunt in its handling of the weaknesses of its heroes."

It is not just a story about what David did, but about what so many of us do. It also helps us realize that David's terrible sin did not keep God from using him. God is able to use sinners to do what he wants accomplished. Incredible as it may seem, although David committed adultery and murder, he was still the Lord's anointed.

His sin caused great tragedy, not only to the people closely involved, but to the nation as well. But God did not take away the throne from him. Why? Perhaps because it suited God's purposes to keep him there. Under Jewish law, David should have lost his life. According to our sensibilities today David should have been replaced, thrown out of office—there was no impeachment in those days!

Rationalizing Sin

Some of his subjects probably defended him with the same kind of logic that is so prevalent today: his sin was the product of a combination of circumstances. If the Ammonites had not rejected his treaty, there would have been no war and Uriah would have been home. So, David would not have been able to follow up on his temptation and that would have ended it. When we are pinpointed with our sin it is remarkable how easily we can spread it around, like Adam telling God that it was because Eve offered him the forbidden fruit that he ate of it. Somebody is always offering us something to which we need to say NO!

It begins with the temptation of the eye. David saw Bathsheba bathing on a nearby rooftop. That could have been the end of it right there, but it wasn't. Then came the lustful thought. It didn't have to follow, but most of us can understand how it did. If it had stopped there, we could say: no real harm done! But there was a next step—an inner decision to do something about the temptation of the eye and the lustful thought. David "saw," David "inquired," and "David sent." The thought became a deed.

We speak of "David and Bathsheba, as

GCC Hosts Annual Meeting For High School Staffers

An annual breakfast meeting for high school principals and guidance counselors from across the region was held at Garrett Community College recently to provide information on a number of opportunities available for potential college students. Presentations were made by college faculty and administrators, and participants toured the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies where the GCC's three land-based programs are housed.

Dr. Lillian Mitchell led off the meeting and spoke about GCC's transfer programs, then guests heard from the following persons on the following offerings: Kevin Dodge - Natural Resources and Wildlife Technologies program; Terry Norris, Career Institute of Business Information Technologies; Virginia Broaddus, Honors Program; Joan Crawford, Juvenile Justice program; Darlene Reed, Global Education Center; Pat Bennett, Financial Aid; Stacie Upole, Career services and job placement; and Ed Wildesen, intercollegiate athletics.

Mike Logsdon, director of the Adventure Sports program, explained the AVS program and conducted a tour of the rental center and equipment bay. Willie Lantz, instructor of the Agriculture Management program, conducted a tour of the goat and rabbit barn and the aquaculture building as he spoke about opportunities in his field.

The breakfast meeting with high school principals and guidance counselors has been an annual event for the past six years, according to Joan Crawford, director of enrollment development. "We always plan this event for early fall so that we can update the high school administrators on new programs and services at GCC and they can then inform their students," Crawford said. "Everyone seemed to appreciate our having the meeting at the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies this year and they appeared to be very impressed with the facilities and resources available here."

MARYLAND FORESTS

Forestry in the New Millennium - Who will Lead the Way? is the theme of the Maryland Forests Association's annual meeting, October 27-28 in Columbia. The keynote speaker Friday evening will be Dr. Patrick Moore, founder of Greenpeace, according to information from association director Karin Miller, Grantsville.

Moore, head of Greenspirit, Vancouver, B.C., a consultancy on environmental policy and communications, has been a leader in the international environmental field for more than 25 years and was a founding member of Greenpeace. He served as president of Greenpeace Canada and as a director of Greenpeace International.

Currently, as chair of the forest practices committee of the Forest Alliance of B.C., he leads the development of the "Principles of Sustainable Forestry," which have been adopted by the majority of the industry, Miller said.

The event is open to nonmembers, but preregistration is required. Persons may contact Miller at 301-895-5369.

The Maryland Forests Association is a nonprofit organization of forest landowners, forest resource professionals, hunt clubs, businesses in the forest products industry, and other interested individuals, agencies, and businesses. Founded in 1976, MFA is dedicated to promoting the maintenance of a healthy and productive forest land base.

Garrett SGA Officers Begin New Semester

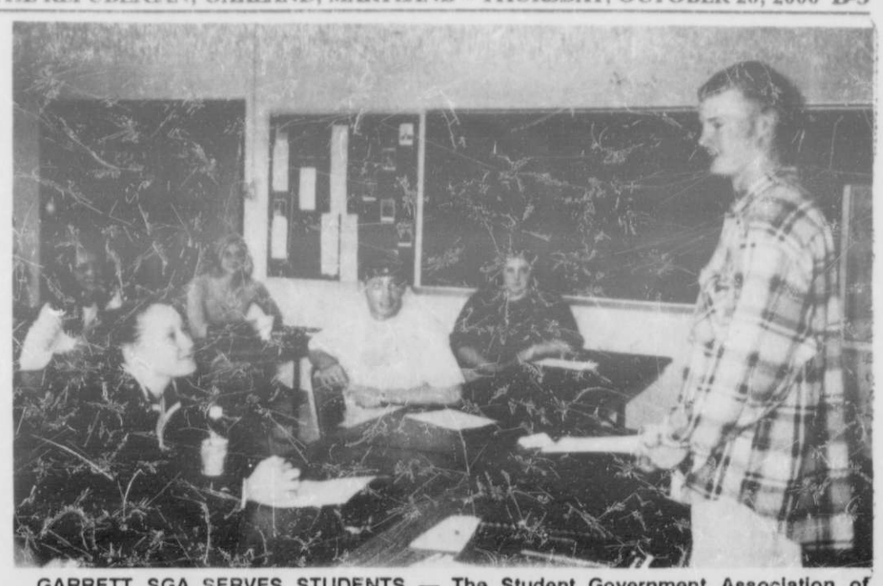
The Student Government Association of Garrett Community College has begun the semester with a full complement of newly elected officers. The SGA has already undertaken several projects, and is sponsoring a variety of activities for the fall semester, according to Tim Foster, coordinator of student activities.

Led by Nathan Gayman, president, and Bill Swart, vice president, the group meets weekly to plan events and allocate funds requested by campus organizations. Other officers elected for this year are Michelle McCartney, secretary; Jessica Saturday, treasurer; Tiffany Morris and Jarrod Vleit, sophomore representatives; and Lauren Stillwagon and Erica Grillo, freshman representatives.

Two co-curricular events are being sponsored by the SGA—the performance of storyteller Shindana Cooper this month and the planned appearance of the Native American Piscataway Indians in November. The organization is also sponsoring the adventure sports ultimate frisbee contest now under way and the three-on-three intramural basketball league scheduled for next month. A Halloween dress-up day with a pumpkin carving contest and a Red Ribbon Drug Awareness day are also being planned.

The SGA has purchased a new pool table and two ping pong tables for the loft, as well as new furniture and a coffee maker for the reception area in the Student Center.

In November, all eight officers and Foster will attend the Leadership Conference of the American Student Association of Community Colleges in New Orleans, and in December the group will travel to Penn State University, State College, Pa., for the conference of the Association of College Unions International. The SGA will also fund a trip to Louisville, Ky., by members of the Agriculture Club to attend a cow-judging contest.



GARRETT SGA SERVES STUDENTS — The Student Government Association of Garrett Community College is undertaking a variety of projects to provide the entire student body with additional activities to broaden their academic and social life on the McHenry campus. The SGA officers are gaining experience in matching the needs and desires of their constituents with appropriate outlets and activities. SGA president Nathan Gayman is shown above leading a meeting of the new officers. From the left are, in the front row, sophomore representative Tiffany Morris, vice president Bill Swart, and secretary Michelle McCartney. In the back row are Melissa Upole, president of the Agriculture Club, and SGA treasurer Jessica Saturday.

Citizen Samaritans Rescue Trapped Bittinger Man From Burning Truck

by David Foster

A husband and father of two is alive today thanks to a pair of quick-thinking passersby who rescued him from his truck as it burst into flames minutes after a head-on collision on Rock Lodge Road the night of September 30.

After nearly three weeks in the hospital, Donald Beitzel returned home to Bittinger last Wednesday, where he will recuperate well into the winter. Bedridden for the foreseeable future after three major surgeries to repair numerous broken bones, Beitzel still says he's a blessed man after Alex Hicks and Bill Graham "without a doubt saved my life.

"I call them my guardian angels and my heroes, because I think at the most I had five minutes from the time of the accident to when I would have been severely burned," Beitzel said from his hospital bed in the family living room. "Without Alex and Bill, I could be in a burn unit for months, or my wife Sheera and our children Tessa (10) and Dylan (8) might have been attending my funeral a couple of weeks ago."

The accident, which is still under investigation by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, took place as an oncoming car skidded out of a sharp curve and collided with the 1997 Chevrolet pickup truck Beitzel was driving, which bounded off the road and down an embankment. Semi-conscious and trapped in his mangled truck off a lightly traveled country road, his right ankle completely shattered and his left hip, leg, and foot snapped like a matchstick in numerous places, Beitzel's situation seemed hopeless.

Hope nonetheless arrived moments later when Friendsville resident Alex Hicks and then McHenry resident Bill Graham and his wife Nancy happened along just after the 11:44 p.m. crash. "I was on my way to visit my fiancée in McHenry," Hicks recalled, "when I rounded a sharp curve and saw a wrecked car sideways in the road and a bloodied young woman [a relative of Beitzel's who was riding in the truck] flagging me down."

Hicks pulled over and ran to the Mercury Cougar, but didn't see anyone inside in the darkness; he then noticed the wrecked pickup truck down an embankment. "I ran to the truck, and Donald Beitzel, who was semi-alert, asked if I had a phone, but I didn't."

The plea was answered seconds later when the Grahams, who were returning to their Mosser Road residence after taking their daughter home to Swanton, pulled up in their car. "For a year I've been carrying a cell phone in my car for emergencies," Bill Graham said. "We called Garrett Central immediately, and my wife tended to the young lady while Alex and I worked at the truck.

"Don was bleeding from his head and nose, and yelling that his legs, which we could see were turned at a very unnatural angle and wedged up under the crushed dash, were broken. Shortly I realized Alex was not the other driver involved — he wasn't injured — and I thought someone might still be inside the wrecked car."

Graham ran to the mangled 1999 Mercury Cougar, just a few feet away, and looked inside to see the other driver pinned on the floor, almost completely obstructed under the crumpled dashboard. He called Garrett Central again to report two entrapments. Hicks got a hammer from his car, which the pair used to break out a window to get to the door handle, but they couldn't open the jammed door.

The pair decided to turn their efforts back to the truck and the trapped Donald Beitzel. Graham got up in the truck's bed, kicked out the rear windshield, and looked in to see that Beitzel's feet were not as totally trapped as it had first appeared. Hicks commented on a burning smell, and the pair looked under the truck and saw a glow along the firewall and began hearing a hissing noise.

"At that point we knew we had to get him out right away," recalled Graham, so he and Hicks grabbed the muscular Beitzel around his shoulders and upper torso and began to pull him out through the driver's window. "Flames were coming out from under the vehicle and starting up its sides," Graham stated. "As soon as we cleared the door, I grabbed Donald's thighs while Alex kept a grip on his shoulders." As the flames began licking over the hood, the pair momentarily laid Beitzel down on the ground just outside the truck to adjust their grip.

The flames began whooshing 10 to 15 feet into the air as the citizen rescuers swooped Beitzel up again to carry him less than 10 feet to the shoulder of the road. Nancy Graham brought a blanket that was fashioned into a makeshift stretcher, and they dragged Beitzel another 20 feet from the truck.

With Beitzel safely removed from the vicinity of the burning truck, Graham called Garrett Central a third time to tell them the other driver was still trapped in a car just a few feet from the flames. "If the truck's gas tank blew, the car would go too."

"The dispatcher told us that fire units had been dispatched less than five minutes before," Graham said. "That tells us how fast all this happened — from our first phone call, it took three or four minutes to get Donald out of his truck, and maybe another minute to get the blanket and drag him away. The entire series of events couldn't have taken more than a total of five minutes."

Fire trucks began to arrive as Hicks and Graham were preparing to hook a chain to the wrecked Cougar to pull it safely away from the fire. Among the firefighters who attacked the truck fire and used the "jaws of life" to get the other driver out of his car were Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department chief Pete Buckel. "People talk about angels, and there were definitely angels there for Mr. Beitzel that night," Buckel remarked afterward.

"We knew we were heading into a situation involving entrapments, and I was praying all the way. When we got there the flames were shooting 15 feet into the air, and the heat was starting to melt the plastic on the other car. All the emergency personnel did a great job knocking down the fire and getting the other driver out, but the real saviors were Alex Hicks and Bill Graham," stated Buckel.

"The true hero was Alex Hicks," commented Graham, a retired Maryland state trooper who has seen his share of car accidents that ended in tragedy. "He never had any training in rescue work but hung in through the whole thing without regard for his personal safety, thinking only of Donald's and the other driver's safety. My training helped me but we had to work together, and Alex had to provide the muscle."

Hicks was quick to salute his partner's efforts. "I was working off my instincts; had Mr. Graham not been there with his training, I would have done the best I could, but don't know what would have happened. I'm interested in getting emergency service training now, and I wish everyone would do the same.

"I feel connected to Don now, especially from holding his head and talking to him, trying to keep him from going into shock, while we were working to free him. I give thanks to God that he made it out alive."

Beitzel gives thanks that his good Samaritans, once strangers, now forever to be counted as friends, came down a dark country lane at the same time from separate directions and changed the course of his life from sure tragedy to one of future years of watching his children grow. "If you think about how little traffic travels that road at night [Rock Lodge Road, one mile north of Mosser Road], it's a miracle that Alex and Bill came by when they did right after the accident."

Lying in a hospital bed in his living room, surrounded by friends and family, and a basket filled with over 100 cards from well-wishers sitting on a nearby table, Beitzel said, "Alex and Bill had to be put there that night for a reason, and I thank God for the both of them."

TV PIPELINE

Raymond has had only one Debra

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Patricia Heaton

Q: When did Everybody Loves Raymond first air on TV, and was his wife played by a different actress back then? –C.E., Dothan, Ala.

A: Patricia Heaton, who recently won a best actress Emmy for her work on the CBS sitcom, has played Debra Barone ever since Raymond premiered on Sept. 13, 1996.

Q: My friend and I can't remember: Was the actor who played Paul Drake Jr. on the Perry Mason shows the son of Hedda Hopper or Barbara Hale? –R.K. in Pennsylvania.

A: Your confusion is understandable. William Hopper, son of gossip columnist Hedda Hopper, played Paul Drake in the original 1957-66 weekly CBS series with Raymond Burr and Barbara Hale. Hale's son, William Katt, played Paul Drake Jr. in some of the later Perry Mason TV movies.

Q: What happened to Steve Shaw, who played Eric Fairgate on Knots Landing? I remember an episode that ended with flashbacks about his character. Also, where can I find a Website for shows like Knots? –K.J., Madisonville, Ky.

A: I'm sorry to report that Shaw was killed in a Los Angeles road accident in 1990, at age 25.

As I've said before, the Internet Movie Database (www.imdb.com) is an excellent first place to visit in search of links to Websites relating to both movies and TV shows. There's a lot of other invaluable information there as well, so happy surfing!

Q: Whatever happened to Pamelyn Ferdin, who used to be a very popular child actress in the '60s and '70s? –Ernest Quick, Lynchburg, Va.

A: Ferdin, who also provided the voice of Lucy in some of the animated Peanuts specials, recently resurfaced as the voice of perky Shelley Kelley in Fox's cartoon show Detention! Now 41, Ferdin has devoted much of her time in recent years to her work as an animal rights activist. She maintains a Website, www.pamelynferdin.com, to keep fans and supporters advised of her work. The site includes a link to send personal e-mail to Ferdin.

Q: My girlfriend says the actress who plays Lily's mother on Once and Again also played Dr. Greene's mother on ER. Is she right? Also, before Pat Sajak and Vanna White, wasn't there an earlier Wheel of Fortune with Chuck Woolery and Susan Stafford? –N.R. and F.V., Fairview, N.J.

A: Your girlfriend is correct; Bonnie Bartlett, who has a recurring role as Barbara on Once and Again, also played Ruth Greene on ER. And yes, Woolery and Stafford worked on Wheel from its 1975 premiere until 1982, when Sajak and White began their long run.

In Focus

Victoria Claflin Woodhull, the first woman to run for president, is profiled in Intimate Portrait, airing Friday, Nov. 3, on Lifetime.

A woman before her time, or perhaps in spite of it, Woodhull also was the first woman to publish a newspaper, open a Wall Street brokerage firm and speak before the U.S. Congress during the late 1800s.

The program features statements by former vice presidential nominee Geraldine Ferraro and narration by former Texas Gov. Ann Richards.

TRIVIA

In 1999, Rob Reiner received a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. It is next to the one dedicated to his father, Carl Reiner.

Tom Hanks was uncertain about hiring Tom Everett Scott for That Thing You Do! Hanks thought Scott too closely resembled him.

HUSKY Notes

by Brandon Butler and Brandon J. Hoover

•There are now two activity buses that will transport students from after-school activities to various sites throughout the county. The buses will not make stops at individual homes, but will make stops in Accident, McHenry, Friendsville, Grantsville, Finzel, and at the Rt. 40 school. The buses will depart from Northern High School at 6:05 p.m. Parent permission forms are required. Buses are currently available for any student involved in any after-school activity. Anyone interested should stop by the main office for further details and a parent permission form.

•Attention, seniors: The senior panoramic picture will be taken on October 31 at 8:45 in the gym. Picture order forms and money are due that day.

•This week is Spirit Week. Show your school spirit by participating in the weekly activities.

•A fly-tying and fly-fishing class is now being offered Thursday afternoons from 4 to 6 p.m. at Grantsville Elementary School. This class is open to the residents of Grantsville and Friendsville. Stop by the main office for more information.

Rounds Named To Who's Who

Miranda Rounds, a senior at Northern High School, has been selected for inclusion in the 1999-2000 edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students. This is Miranda's second consecutive year to be selected for this honor. Only 5 percent of all high school students receive the annual award and only 1 percent are chosen for consecutive years.

Miranda is an honor roll student at NHS and maintains a 3.6 average. After graduation, she plans to continue her education in business administration. A member of the Glade Mennonite Church, Miranda is active in the youth group. She is the daughter of Terry and Shirley Rounds of Accident.

AP Students Vie In Physics Class Projectile Launch

Students in Dave Mayfield's Advanced Placement (AP) physics class at Southern High School tested their skills in the Physics Projectile Apparatus Olympics, held recently. The competition required that each student launch tennis balls with a homemade projectile apparatus.

In the accuracy of shooting the tennis ball into the bucket category, medal winners were: gold, Andrew Grant and Amanda Pagenhardt (who was the only student to put the ball in the bucket); silver, Keith Steyer; and bronze, Bryan Panther. In the longest field goal, medal winners were: gold, Keith Steyer for making a 35-yard field goal; silver, Andrew Grant and Bryan Panther, both for missing a 70-yard goal; and bronze, Chris Remley for missing a 40-yard goal.

In the category of shooting the tennis ball highest into the air, medal winners were: gold, Andrew Grant — 84 feet; silver, Bryan Panther — 74 feet; and bronze, Amanda Pagenhardt — 64 feet. Other participants were Chelsea Stuck, Haley Gillespie, and Dave Schofield, a student intern this semester.

Ram fans who attended the football game against Allegany last Friday were given a demonstration by these students, as the small footballs, usually thrown into the stands by the cheerleaders after each touchdown, were instead projected into, and sometimes over, the stands by these physics students.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the fourth year, The Republican is asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is The Republican Newspaper's WARM THE CHILDREN FUND?

The Republican newspaper's Warm the Children Fund is, basically, neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds will be used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administrates the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special core of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. Those selected for applications will be receiving them soon. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will soon be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Volunteers will take the families shopping either through the J.C. Penney catalog store in Oakland or at the Ames in Frostburg. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, jeans, long johns, boots, or other needed winter items, spending up to $80 per child. Bobby Andersen and Bobbie Henderson, along with members of the Civic Club of Oakland, are coordinating the Penney's volunteers. Lisa Broadwater, the office manager of the newspaper's Grantsville location, is coordinating those who will shop at Ames.

How can I help?

We need two things: volunteers and donations.

To volunteer as a shopper at Penney's, please call Bobby Andersen at 301-334-4459. To volunteer as a shopper at Ames, please call Lisa Broadwater at 301-895-5827 or 301-746-8223. For general information, you may call Mary McEwen, program coordinator, at 301-334-3963.

THE REPUBLICAN

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children Fund.

Please make your donations before Nov. 30, 2000. Those collected after Nov. 30 will be saved for next year.

Local Women Attend Women's GOP Convention

Three local Republican women attended the statewide Republican Women's Convention held in Ocean City, October 20 and 21. Brenda Butscher, chairman of the Republican Central Committee, Ruth Umbel, Western Maryland regional chairman, and Sheila O'Neill, member of Loch Lynn town council, joined 100 delegates from throughout Maryland at the 79th annual event.

Speakers included U.S. Congressman Wayne T. Gilchrest (Md. 1st District), who briefed the group on the latest issues before the Congress; Maryland Senator J. Lowell Stoltzfus (38th District), Republican minority whip, who discussed the merits of charter schools; and MFRW outreach chairman Jackie Jones, who offered tips on increasing minority group club members.

Newly re-elected Ocean City mayor Jim Mathias presented a key to the city, and Worcester County commissioner Louise Gulyas presented a welcome proclamation.

The Maryland Federation of Republican Women, headed by Marilyn Dankner of Montgomery County, includes 40 local clubs with more than 1,900 members from throughout the state. Its goals are to educate, train, and encourage women to become active in politics. Every elected Republican woman in the Maryland Legislature, the Maryland Delegation to the U.S. Congress, and in most of the county governments is an MFRW member.

Garrett Community College will host a national videoconference for community colleges titled "International Students: Recruitment, Support Services, and Retention" on Wednesday, Nov. 8, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the college's Interactive Television studio. Led by moderator Clyde Sakamoto, provost of Maui Community College in Hawaii, the videoconference's panel of guest experts will explore all facets of international student recruitment and retention.

By hosting the videoconference, GCC is following a trend among colleges in the United States to attract more diverse student populations into their classrooms. In Maryland this effort has been supported by the Maryland National Guard and its outreach to the Baltic country of Estonia. The Guard program has resulted in visits by elected offficials and educators from both countries, establishment of "sister" towns and cities, and the enrollment at GCC this fall semester of four students from Estonia, with an additional six Estonian students expected to enroll in the spring.

GCC president Dr. Steve Herman, whose visits to Estonia have generated interest in attending the local college, has pointed out the benefits of a culturally diverse college population. "Diversity goes to the very heart of preparing our communities to compete in a global economy," he said. "This videoconference should be helpful as we prepare to receive more international students on our campus."

Members of the college faculty, administration and host families are expected to attend the videoconference. Any members of the community who are interested in attending the videoconference, or in hosting an Estonian student, should contact Darlene Reed, coordinator of Global Education, at 301-387-3010.

Eastern Star Chapter Meets

Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday, Oct. 17, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple for the observance of Friendship Night. Worthy Matron Dottie Csamer and Worthy Patron Richard Csamer presided.

The Worthy Matron's opening thought was "The Golden Chain of Friendship" by Helen Steiner Rice. Her closing thought was "Halloween." Following the closing, a Halloween skit was presented by the Worthy Matron, Worthy Patron, and other officers. Refreshments followed the meeting.

The next meeting will be on November 7 at 8 p.m. at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple.

After-School Group In Grantsville To Receive New Books

The after-school program in Grantsville has been selected to receive new books as a gift from First Book, a non-profit organization dedicated to encouraging children to read. This contribution will coincide with the Make a Difference Day, October 28.

Sponsored by USA Weekend and the Points of Light Foundation, Make a Difference Day is a national day for volunteering, in which nearly 2 million individuals participate each year. First Book will express this spirit of volunteerism by giving over 1 million books to programs working with children, according to a spokesman from the organization.

"The primary goal of First Book is to work with existing literacy and mentoring programs to distribute new books to children who may have limited access to books," the spokesman said. The Grantsville after-school program, coordinated by Garrett County Community Action and funded in part through the HotSpot initiative, offers tutoring and mentoring for elementary and middle school children.

Random House, Harper, Collins, and other publishers will participate with First Book in this project.

Cautions Noted For Landowners Burning Leaves

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources is encouraging landowners to observe safety cautions when burning leaves on their property. "Before you burn, be sure to obtain all necessary permits and take all proper precautions to ensure a safe burn," a spokesperson said. "Better yet, DNR recommends that property owners consider alternative disposal methods to burning. Fires can quickly burn out of control and are costly to contain, both in property loss and fine."

Permits are required in Garrett County and all Maryland jurisdictions for open burning. October, November, and December (along with March, April, and May) are considered the year's most dangerous time for wildfires in the state. Fallen leaves and twigs are drying out, and temperatures are still warm.

Although Maryland does not see the huge wildfires that have become common in the western United States, the state does experience a number of woods, brush, and field fires every year. Last year, over 800 wildfires burned more than 3,000 acres in Maryland.

Alternatives to debris burning include composting, disposal at a local landfill where the yard debris can be turned into mulch, or periodic curbside pick-up by a trash collector.

A permit is required for all open air burning except for small campfires contained within a fire ring. For permit information, persons may call the Environmental Health Office of the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-8980 or the DNR's Mt. Nebo district office at 301-334-4255.

An additional permit is required from the DNR Forest Service if the burn will take place in woodland or within 200 feet of woodland, and the following four conditions cannot be met: burning must occur between 4 p.m. and midnight; there must be a firebreak at least 10 feet wide completely encircling the fire; adequate personnel and equipment must be on the scene to prevent the fire from escaping; at least one responsible person must remain at the location of the fire until the last spark is out.

Burning regulations are enforced by the Maryland DNR Forest Service. Violations carry fines up to $1,000 and/or one year in prison.

Recorded music today comes on tapes or CDs. A few years ago it was on plastic or wax records.

In the 1880s, the music often came from metal discs made with holes that could activate the right notes on a machine. The disc music box was popular from 1895 to 1905, when the phonograph captured the market. Popular brands included the Regina, Kalliope, Polyphon and Symphonion. Discs varied in size from 11 inches to 26 inches in diameter.

A working example of any of these large music boxes is expensive. Recently a Kalliope Panorama was offered at an auction for more than $20,000. The machine plays a 25-1/4-inch disc. The bottom half of the machine has a panorama of a race-track. As the music plays, horses race. It was originally made to be used in taverns so the patrons could bet on the results of the race.

Q: My painted-iron garden settee once sat on our family farm in upstate New York. It has a simple, openwork seat. The back, arms, seat border and legs are decorated with elaborate, leafy grapevines. The grapes are three-dimensional, and the leaves are large. Can you help with age and value?

A: The design of your settee was a standard one used on cast-iron garden furniture from about 1850 to the early 1900s. The ornate Victorian pattern was called grape, grapevine or piazza. Different manufacturers varied the design, but most examples have three-dimensional bunches of grapes with connecting leaves and vines. Keep your settee painted to prevent rust. Depending on its size, age and condition, it could be worth $1,000 or more.

Tip: Fresh air and limited sunlight are good for fabrics. Cotton and linen should be washed once a year, even if stored in a drawer, because dirt will cause damage. Dry-clean wool and silk if cleaning is needed. Protect fabrics from moths with the usual precautions. Paradichlorobenzene will do the job.

HOME MAINTENANCE GUIDES

Q. I'm looking for a guide to fall maintenance. Besides checking my furnace, what do I need to do to get ready for winter? — Jane L., Monroe, La.

A. Most reputable home repair books offer checklists, guides and schedules for year-round maintenance. The best guide is one that offers instructions for most procedures, so flip through a few of these guides at your local bookstore before settling on one or two.

Winter preparation emphasizes checking and repairing any area of the house where heat might escape, as well as preparing for cold-related problems like frozen pipes. Such a complete check could take a full weekend or more, so do it efficiently by starting from the top of the house and working downward.

- Inspect the roof for loose shingles, deterioration or leaks.
- Check the chimney for damage like broken masonry, or a rusted or damaged spark arrestor. Remove rust with a wire brush and tighten any connecting screws.
- Clean out and check gutters and downspouts for leaks or damage.
- Look for loose siding or trim (that might blow away in a windstorm) and repair.
- Caulk and patch exterior cracks, and window and door frames.
- Clean and degrease outside concrete surfaces, like the driveway and patio.

Inside the house:

- Check attic insulation; replace older (more than 20 years) insulating material.
- Spray foam sealant into small openings between the attic and living area. Spaces around ventilation ducts, plumbing vents, and ceiling light fixtures are prime examples.
- Inspect heating ducts for damage and clear debris from floor registers.
- Get your fireplace ready: Open the damper, clean the screen and doors, and make needed adjustments or repairs. Have a professional inspect and clean the inside of the chimney.
- Clear lint from the dryer duct (built-up lint can cause a fire); inspect the washing machine's water supply hoses and clean the filters.
- Inspect, repair and insulate all water pipes to prevent them from freezing.
- Check the crawlspace or basement for efflorescence, fungus, mold, or other deterioration.
- This inspection — in addition to regular monthly maintenance — will keep your house warm, save on heating bills, and can prevent expensive cold-weather disasters.

Paw's Corner
by Samantha Mazzotta

Q. I'd like to surprise my six-year-old son with a new pet for his birthday. What's the best type of pet for a child? What pets should I avoid?

A. For a child as young as your son, a small, contained pet such as a hamster or a goldfish is your best bet. Both types are easy to care for, while still teaching your son responsibility.

Avoid high-maintenance pets like dogs, unless you have experience with them and are willing to shoulder much of their care. Children often beg for a new puppy or kitten because they're cute and cuddly, but they don't know how much time it takes to properly care for and train these animals.

Visit your local pet store for information on small pets like hamsters, guinea pigs, frogs and fish. Pick up some reading material about the pet you choose — all creatures have special dietary needs, and require clean cages or aquariums.

Once your son shows that he is responsible by taking good care of a smaller pet, you can talk with him about adopting a larger animal, like a kitten.

Send your pet tips or questions to Paw's Corner, c/o King Features Syndicate, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, Fla. 32803.

Southern High School Students Of The Month Selected

The Student of the Month winners for the month of September as chosen by the faculty of Southern High School are: Rachel Sincell, music and instrumental; Brian Guthrie, auto mechanics; Nathan Fitzwater, math; Russell Patterson, science; Sarah Mullanex, English; and Brandon Mason, social studies.

Rachel Sincell, a senior, is the daughter of Don and Suzie Sincell, Mtn. Lake Park. In school, Rachel has been involved in marching band, concert band, and winter percussion. She has also participated in the local Ecumenical Youth Ministry, performing in many concerts and plays, and is active in her church youth group. In the near future, she plans to attend Fairmont State College, where she will major in early education and child care.

Brian Guthrie, also a senior, is the son of Betty Guthrie. He helps out at Deep Creek Lake State Park and is a member of the Trucks Unlimited Club, located in Cumberland. In the near future, he plans to attend Wyotech and complete a chassis fabrication and high performance engines program.

Nathan Fitzwater is a sophomore and the son of Ralph and Joyce Fitzwater. He is a member of the Jay Vee basketball and baseball teams and played baseball for the Oakland Senior League. Nathan is undecided as to what college he is going to attend, but plans on majoring in architecture or mechanical drafting.

Russell Patterson, also a sophomore, is the son of Frank and Nancy Trotta. In school, Russell has participated on the boys' cross country team and the boys' track team. He has also helped out with the Blind Skiers program. In the future, he plans to attend North Carolina State College to study marine biology.

Sarah Mullanex, a freshman, is the daughter of Larry and Zanea Mullanex. Sarah recently received the "Success in School" award for maintaining honor roll status. In the spring, she plans to participate on the girls' softball team for SHS. She is also active in the youth group at Faith Evangelical Free Church, and for the past two years has helped out with vacation Bible school there. In the summer, Sarah participates on the Oakland Senior Fast-pitch Softball League for Rush Excavating. She plans to go to a four-year college or university, where she will study to be either a physical therapist or a marine biologist.

Brandon Mason, a senior, is the son of Donald and Heidi Mason. In the future, Brandon plans on attending a four-year college to major in political science or liberal arts.

Faith Church Slates Conference

CAROLE SWAIN

JOHN NIEMEYER

Faith Evangelical Free Church, Mtn. Lake Park, will be holding its annual Missions Conference Friday, Nov. 3, through Sunday, Nov. 5. The featured speakers will be Dr. Ken Moon, pastor of Perry Hall Baptist Church, Perry Hall, and two missionaries the church supports: Carole Swain, missionary to Brazil through Unevangelized Field Mission, and John Niemeyer, missionary to Spain through the Evangelical Alliance Mission.

The weekend schedule includes nightly services at 7 p.m., Sunday morning Sunday school at 9:30 a.m., and the Faith Promise Commitment Service Sunday at 10:45 a.m. Child care will be provided. All services are open to the public. Saturday's schedule also includes a men's breakfast at 8 a.m., ladies' brunch at 10 a.m., and youth rally at 2 p.m. Sunday's evening service will be preceded by an international dinner, sponsored by the Fellowship Committee, at 5:30 p.m.

The church is located one mile east of Oakland along Route 135 (Maryland Highway). For more information, persons may call the church at 301-334-4172.

Best Lawyers In America Includes County Resident

Michael G. Hendler of Deep Creek Lake and Baltimore will be included in The Best Lawyers in America 2001-2002, according to a statement released last week by the Baltimore firm of Adelberg, Rudow, Dorf and Hendler, LLC. Hendler is one of only three Maryland lawyers dedicated to the practice of family law to be included in this edition.

Since its inception in 1983, Best Lawyers has been regarded as the "definitive guide to legal excellence in the United States," a spokesman for the law firm said. The publication is based on a peer-review survey in which 15,000 attorneys nationwide cast more than ½ million votes on the legal abilities of other lawyers in their specialties. "Because lawyers are not required or allowed to pay a fee to be listed, inclusion in Best Lawyers is considered a singular honor," the spokesman noted.

Hendler, managing member of the firm and family law attorney for more than 30 years, focuses his practice on all aspects of family law, including divorce, pre- and postnuptial agreements, child custody and visitation, property valuation and division, and alimony and child support. He is past chair of the Family Law Section Council of the Maryland State Bar Association and is a fellow of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers, and currently is serving as president of its Maryland chapter.

Pa. Man Nets 18 Months For DWI, Resisting Arrest

A Uniontown, Pa., man will spend the next 1½ years in jail after being convicted in Garrett County District Court recently on charges of driving while intoxicated (DWI), resisting arrest, and driving with a revoked license.

Carl Wesley Tyler, 41, was handed a total sentence of five years, all but 18 months of which were suspended, and placed on three years' supervised probation after pleading guilty before Judge Ralph Burnett. Additional charges of alcohol intoxication to the point of endangerment, negligent driving, failure to drive to the right of the center line, driving with a suspended license, driving with a canceled out-of-state license, and not wearing a seat belt were each not prosecuted by the Garrett County state's attorney's office.

Tyler's July arrest by Oakland City Police Department officers came after the vehicle he was driving swerved into the shoulder of southbound Garrett Highway and nearly struck an Oakland police cruiser waiting to enter the highway from the Genus Center parking lot. Tyler's vehicle was observed containing south along the shoulder for approximately 100 yards, then it crossed back into the traffic lane and on across the center line into the northbound lane.

After the officer stopped his vehicle near Food Lion, Tyler was arrested for DWI and placed in the back of the police cruiser. At that point he began striking his head against the rear window and slipped out of a pair of handcuffs. He resisted initial attempts to re-apply the handcuffs, and used loud, vulgar language throughout the incident.

In other district court news, an Oakland man received a 15-day sentence that will be added to the current jail term he is serving on an unrelated conviction.

Jeffrey Charles Minnick, 35, smashed a television set that belonged to the family of another inmate at the Garrett County Detention Center. The incident was recorded on jail surveillance cameras that were monitoring the cellblock, and a charge of malicious destruction of property was filed by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Minnick was handed a 60-day sentence, 45 days of which were suspended, placed on two years of supervised probation, and ordered to pay $75 restitution to the owner of the TV set.

In an unrelated case, Minnick was handed a stet ruling in connection with a second degree assault, misdemeanor theft, and disorderly conduct charges that had stemmed from a July arrest by Oakland police officers. After being questioned by a roommate about a $20 bill that was missing from a wallet, Minnick allegedly struck the roommate and fled on a bicycle. He was apprehended a short time later carrying a bag that belonged to the suspected victim and which contained a number of miscellaneous items that belonged to the victim. Minnick was ordered to make a $20 restitution payment as a condition of the stet ruling.

Roger Lee Keiper, 46, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a second degree assault charge that had stemmed from his September arrest by the Oakland police for assaulting a relative at his Water Street residence. He was handed a six-month sentence, all but 10 days of which were suspended, fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Theodore Luanderson Wakefield, 43, Oakland, pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace and was handed a 60-day suspended sentence, fined $100, placed on six months' supervised probation, and ordered to pay $850 in restitution to another Oakland resident. Oakland police officers arrested Wakefield in September after he kicked and damaged the front door of a Woodland Drive residence. He was reportedly confused about his whereabouts, and alcohol played a factor in his behavior.

James A. Horning, 42, Pittsburgh, pleaded guilty to telephone misuse through repeated phone calls and was handed a one-year sentence, all but two days of which were suspended, fined $100, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. He had been arrested in September by Garrett County sheriff's deputies for making numerous threatening phone calls to a McHenry residence, many of which were recorded on an answering machine, over a period of several months.

Robert Alan Chockey, 31, Derwood, pleaded guilty to second degree assault and was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) and a 30-day sentence, all but five days of which were suspended. He was also placed on six months unsupervised probation and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. An additional charge of disorderly intoxication in a public place was not prosecuted. Chockey was arrested in September by Oakland police officers for disorderly conduct at the Oak-Mar Motel and the Oak-Lee Dairyland, where he allegedly grabbed an employee who was trying to calm him down. Alcohol was cited as a factor in his behavior.

Charles J. Speers, 25, Norristown, Pa., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ and a 30-day sentence, all but two days of which were suspended. He was also fined $255, placed on six months' unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. Speers's August arrest by sheriff's deputies came after his vehicle was stopped for speeding along Crellin Road. A consent search of the car uncovered a bag of marijuana and a smoking device bearing burnt marijuana residue. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Alexander Daniel Watson, 21, Reedsville, W.Va., pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed

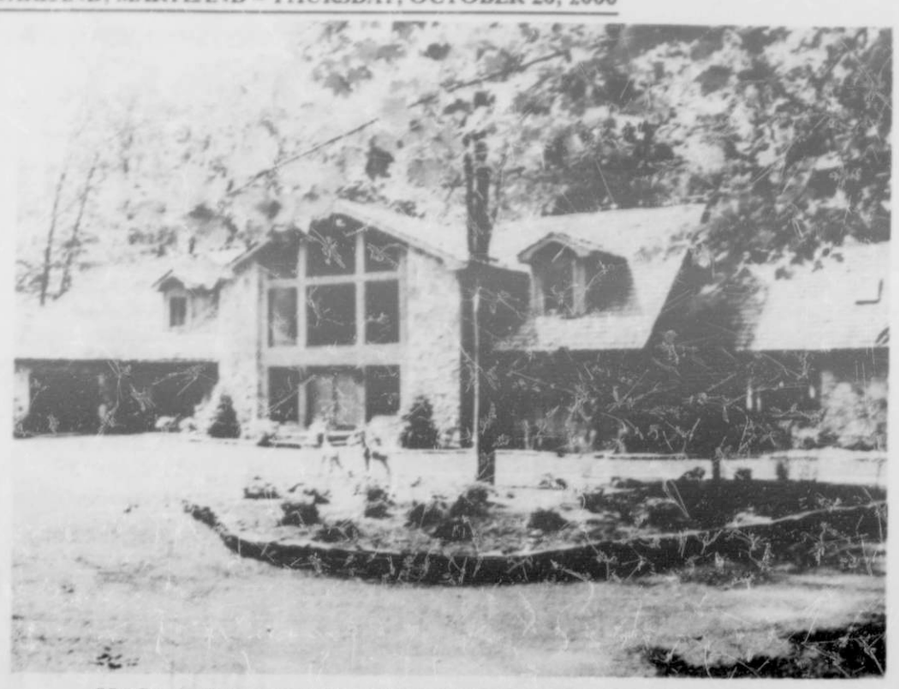
Red Cross House Tours To Include Bell Residence

"Casa de Campanas," the home of Howard and Chan Bell, will be featured in this year's American Red Cross Home for the Holidays House Tours. The tours, which will feature four homes and the Oakland train station, will be held on Dec. 1 from 4 until 9 p.m., and Dec. 2 from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. This annual event is a key fund-raiser for the local chapter of the ARC.

"Casa de Campanas," located at 2788 Stockslager Road, is the result of combined efforts of mother, son, and father, according to the Bell family. The mother envisioned the home, and the site was selected. She then drew the plans to scale and picked out all the materials, hardware, and decor for the house. The son started the house in 1987, building it from the mother's plans, as the father paid the bills, the family members said. The Bells moved into the house, a "dream come true," during July 1988.

An ideal home for entertaining, the house is also warm, comfortable, and practical, the Bells said. Much of the flooring on the first level is done in native stone, and cedar is used extensively on both the interior and exterior of the house. The family room and kitchen, as well as other areas of the house, are finished in hickory, a very hard but light-toned wood.

A game room adjoins the kitchen, which is complete with a bar, pool table, ping pong table, hot tub, and sauna. A fireplace is in the sight-line from nearly every downstairs room, as well as a view of Deep Creek Lake. A den (which is suitable for use as a sixth bedroom if necessary) and an unusual master bedroom are located away from the busy areas of the house on the first level, while the remaining four bedrooms to accommodate family or weekend guests are on the second floor.



"CASA de CAMPANAS," HOME OF HOWARD AND CHAN BELL

A large deck is found outside, often the location of outdoor events. "Many an evening in the summer, it accommodates those who enjoy the beautiful Garrett County sunset and its reflection mirrored on Deep Creek Lake," a family member said.

At the time of the tours, directional signs will be placed at intersections to help guests find each house. Red Cross yard signs will be placed in front of each home as well. A raffle will be held at each location for gifts donated by local businesses.

Tickets for all ages will be $5 in advance or $7 at the door. Advance tickets can be purchased at Proudfoot's and Gregg's pharmacies, Flowers By Webers, Arrowhead Market, and the Deep Creek Pharmacy.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Navy Fireman Shaun A. Herring, a 1997 graduate of Northern Garrett High School, recently returned from a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and Arabian Gulf, where he participated in Exercise Dynamic Mix while assigned to the guided missile destroyer USS Mahan, home ported in Norfolk, Va.

Dynamic Mix 2000 was designed to enhance U.S. military warfighting and interoperability skills and to develop a common understanding of NATO operational procedures that could apply to future missions.

Herring visited several ports of call, including cities in Croatia, Greece, Italy, and Turkey. The crew also had the opportunity to shop, sightsee, and enjoy the culture and cuisine in each port. During these visits, sailors participated in community relations projects.

According to a Navy spokesperson, the USS Mahan is one of the most powerful warships ever put to sea. The computer-based AEGIS weapons system is the heart of the ship's warfighting capability. It centers around a powerful radar that enables the crew to detect, track, and fire on more than 100 targets at a time.

a PBJ and a 30-day sentence, all but two days of which were suspended. The judge also imposed a $255 fine, six months of unsupervised probation, and 40 hours of community service. Sheriff's deputies arrested Watson in the wake of an August traffic stop for speeding along Crellin Road, after a pipe with burnt marijuana residue was observed in plain view inside the glove box. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Matthew Brooks Pennington, 18, Bel Air, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a PBJ and a 30-day suspended sentence, all but two days of which were suspended. He was also fined $200, placed on six months' unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service. Pennington was arrested in August after sheriff's deputies stopped his vehicle for speeding along Hutton Road, and a search uncovered a small bottle containing marijuana in his pocket.

Russell Gordon Zuber Yates, 19, Gloucester Point, Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day suspended sentence, a $200 fine, six months' unsupervised probation, and 80 hours of community service. Sheriff's deputies arrested Yates in August for an expired registration violation noted as his vehicle traveled along Crellin Road. Deputies reported noting an odor of burnt marijuana emanating from his vehicle, and a K-9 drug scan uncovered a film canister containing marijuana and a glass smoking pipe bearing burnt marijuana residue. An additional charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Diana Lynn Chambers, 35, Waynesburg, Pa., pleaded guilty to obstructing and hindering a police officer in the performance of duty and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day suspended sentence, fined $100, and placed on one day of unsupervised probation. Additional charges of resisting arrest and illegal possession of a prescription medication were not prosecuted. Chambers had been arrested in July when she interfered with a DWI arrest of another individual, and a search that followed her own arrest revealed that she was carrying several prescription pills that were allegedly not prescribed to her.

Billy Joe Eugene Thomas, 29, Mtn. Lake Park, was handed a stet ruling in connection with a charge of causing an ambulance to respond by making a false call for emergency help. His December 1994 arrest by sheriff's deputies came after allegedly telling a 911 dispatcher that a subject was having a heart attack; he subsequently admitted to fabricating the call and stated that it was made in connection with a domestic-related matter.

William Ray Hildreth, 43, Albright, W.Va., was not prosecuted on numerous charges: four counts each of felony uttering and felony theft; three counts each of misdemeanor uttering and misdemeanor theft; and one count of felony theft scheme. The charges stemmed from a one-day series of events during which he allegedly uttered $2,100 worth of bad checks to several McHenry area businesses all on the same day.

Terry Wayne Conley, 31, Hagerstown, was not prosecuted on a misdemeanor theft charge stemming from his June arrest by sheriff's deputies for allegedly stealing flowers from the front yard of a Deep Creek Lake area residence.

Johnny Jason Thomas, 39, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted on a misdemeanor theft charge stemming from his August arrest by sheriff's deputies for allegedly selling a vacuum and a rug that belonged to his landlord without his knowledge or permission.

LIONS DONATE TO BRAILLE PROJECT — The Deep Creek Lake Lions Club made its annual donation to the Lutheran Braille Workers project recently. The local Lutheran Braille Workers Center, located in Accident, produces over 700 books in Braille annually, which are distributed across the globe free of charge. The Lions' principal mission is to support vision-related charities, and the Lutheran Braille project was for many years a charity of the Deep Creek Lake Lioness Club; when the Lionesses amalgamated with the DCL Lions, the Lions Club continued the contribution. Shown from the left at the donation presentation are DCL Lions president M. Sue Shockey, Lion Betty Malloy, and Teresa and Carl Haenftling of Accident, who accepted the contribution. The Lutheran Braille Workers will hold a fund-raising dinner Saturday, Nov. 4, from 4:30 to 7 p.m. at Northern High School.

DWIs/DUIs

Several driving while intoxicated (DWI) and driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) cases were heard by Judge Burnett recently.

Daniel Bruno Zanin, 48, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, fined $455, given a 60-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 60 hours of community service.

Sheldon Ray Sisler, 37, pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, fined $355, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Jerrold F. Taylor, 41, Pa., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ, fined $355, given a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 40 hours of community service.

Valerie Marie Shoemaker, 37, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, fined $300, given a 60-day suspended sentence, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Eric Lee Wolford, 28, Jason Shawn Reall, 26, and Alice Marie Murphy, 18, all of Maryland, were each not prosecuted on respective DWI charges.

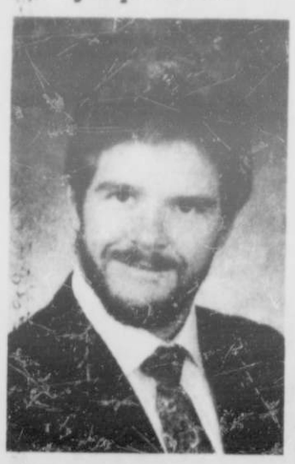
FCSI President Huxford Honored At Symposium



David C. "Dusty" Huxford, president and CEO of Financial Computer Support Inc. (FCSI), was one of four individuals recently honored at the third annual Investment Advisor magazine's Portfolio Management Symposium, held in San Diego, Calif.

The yearly announcements are eagerly anticipated by the financial planning community, an FCSI spokesperson said.

"The symposium was designed to be interactive, providing financial advisors with a forum to 'pick the brains' of the best portfolio managers and investment strategists on how they can use technology to improve their practices," the spokesperson said.

The award recipients were recognized as leaders among those who strive to advance the art and science of managing client portfolios.

"They are considered to be the people who have reached the summit by their continuous hard work and insight, company-building and consensus-building, and by foresight," the spokesperson said.

Joining Huxford as recipients for the award were Bob Goss, Phil Wilson, and George Kinder.

"There are two dominant trends in the financial advisory business: technology and determining client goals. Dusty was one of two individuals honored for pioneering the use of technology and harnessing data to meet client needs," the spokesperson said.

Because of Huxford's prior commitments, Karyn Seilhamer accepted the award in his stead.

FCSI is a company located in the Southern Garrett Industrial Park that produces specialized financial computer programs for individual, self-employed planners. The company's flagship software product is dbCAMS+ (data-base Client Asset Management System). FCSI is a leading technology based industry that employs 40 Garrett Countians and serves over 1,200 clients.

Mountain Lake Park Observer

by Dan Whittelsey

She made my day. A young lady at the lab window at Garrett Memorial Hospital, on seeing my name on the papers I turned in, complimented me on my column. But what impressed me as significant was that there are some young folks interested in happenings in our town. I wonder how many there are. I wonder if we could persuade them to attend meetings and help on some of our projects.

Years ago when my wife and I were first married, living in NYC and had yet to start a family, we became involved in NYC politics. We thoroughly enjoyed the experience. We met a broad range of other volunteers, who became friends. I think I shall always remember their sincere decision to improving and supporting good government.

So why not here? Do not be discouraged by the general age of those currently active. You have every right to participate and be heard. Come join us. Come and meet some of the young people already active and working to improve our town. Meet the mayor and members of the town council. They, too, devote many hours of time to conduct the town's business.

I believe it was on the Jim Lehrer report on PBS that someone noted that the world is watching this election with great concern and interest. The United States at the turn of this century stands as a dominant power and leader in the free world. What we do and say impacts many other citizens of other countries. Our next president will stand as a leader of the world. Awesome and humbling.

And so, dear voter, you have a tremendous constituency looking to you to make the right choice with your first vote of the 21st century. Don't let them down. Don't let us down. Vote on Tuesday, Nov. 7.

Gabriele Says Change Clocks, Alarm Batteries

State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele reminds Marylanders to change their clocks this Saturday night, Oct. 28, and use the occasion to change the batteries in all of their smoke alarms. "When you turn your clocks back one hour, remember that it is a good time to pop out the old battery and put a fresh one in each smoke alarm in your home. By changing batteries when you change your clocks, you will always know that your smoke alarm battery is not more than six months old," Gabriele said.

Smoke alarms are proven to save lives and reduce loss from home fires. It is estimated that 95% of American homes have smoke alarms; however, only 30% are believed to have fresh batteries in them.

Gabriele added, "Smoke alarms can virtually eliminate home fire deaths, and most fire companies provide them free of charge. At less than $5 each there is no excuse for any home not to have at least one."

Sarbanes Scores On Efforts To Help Farmers Recover From Last Year's Drought

Senator Paul S. Sarbanes announced this week that Congress has approved his initiative to increase the amount of money family farmers are to receive for their farm commodities. As a result of Sarbanes' efforts, farmers will receive an increase in their loan deficiency payments from $75,000 to $150,000.

Last year's drought devastated farmers throughout the country, including those in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic regions. As a result of the low crop yields, the United States Department of Agriculture doubled the amount that farmers could receive in the form of market loss payments, known as loan deficiency payments, from $75,000 to $150,000 for the 1999 crop year only.

For example, with farmers realizing an unreasonably low average of only 85 bushels of corn per acre last year as a result of the drought conditions, the increased USDA loan deficiency payment enabled many farmers to make ends meet from their disastrous crop yields. This year, however, with corn crop yields almost doubling at present, farmers have already reached or will soon reach their $75,000 maximum benefit allowed under current conditions.

Last month Sarbanes was joined by eight senators from the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic states in urging the Senate Appropriations Committee to maintain the $150,000 payment for the year 2000 as well. The committee approved Sarbanes' request, and the provision was included in the Department of Agriculture Appropriations bill for FY 2001, which was approved by the Senate on October 18 and sent to President Clinton for his signature.

"Even though we have had a banner year for many crops in Maryland, our farmers are still recovering from last year's devastating drought," said Sarbanes. "This effort extends the safety net available to our farmers for another year in order for them to balance out the good year with the bad."

Farm Loans Available From Local FSA

Local Farm Service Agency (FSA) executive director Mike Kozier has announced that operating and real estate loans are offered by the office's Farm Loan Team to assist family-sized farmers who are unable to obtain credit from commercial sources.

"These loans are a temporary source of credit, the ultimate goal being to graduate to commercial credit," Kozier said. "Loans are made directly from FSA, or as a guarantee to your commercial lender.

The FSA director said loans are available for the following:

- to begin a new operation;
- to buy livestock or equipment;
- for annual operating expenses;
- to expand or change enterprises;
- for youth (10 to 20 yrs.) for FFA or 4-H projects;
- to assist in a temporary financial setback due to a natural disaster or economic conditions; and
- to purchase a farm.

"New loan allocations are available now, so this is the time to think about one's financial needs for next spring.

More information and application packages are available at the local FSA office.

FSA Issues Reminder To File Nominating Petitions

Eric McCartney, executive director of the Preston County Farm Service Agency, reminds farmers in Local Administrative Area 3 (Lyon, Reno, and Union Districts) that the deadline to nominate persons for the FSA Committee Election is Mon., Oct. 30.

Eligible persons may nominate themselves or other eligible persons in LAA 3 as candidates. Persons nominated must be active farmers and well qualified to serve on the committee.

Nomination forms are available from the Preston County FSA Office. For further information regarding the committee election, you may visit the Farm Service Agency located in the USDA Service Center at 300 Tunnelton Street in Kingwood, or telephone 304-329-1923. The Farm Service Agency invites all eligible producers, including under-represented groups, to participate in this year's election.

Conditions For Crop Harvest Are Excellent

Mild temperatures accompanied by little precipitation continued into this week, allowing for 6.1 days suitable for field work, reported Ray Garibay, Maryland state statistician. Maryland farmers took advantage of the dry conditions to continue their harvesting activities, he said.

While corn harvest is advancing, it continued to run slightly behind schedule, with 70% harvested for grain, which is 3% behind the five-year average. Delays at the elevators have been reported in some areas. High corn and soybean yields continued to be reported in many areas. Currently, soybeans are 34% harvested, 1% above the five-year average.

The persistent dry weather experienced last week in Maryland has lowered soil moisture conditions from the previous week. However, adequate moisture levels have been maintained, with topsoil moisture rating 1% very short, 25% short, 73% adequate, and 1% surplus this week. Subsoil moisture rating was 1% very short, 7% short, 91% adequate, and 1% surplus.

Crop progress for the week which ended Oct. 22, listing the crop and percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average, in that order, follows:

Small grain seeded: barley 72, 57, 80, 77; wheat 32, 21, 40, 40; rye 46, 31, 51, 58.

Crop harvesting: apples 90, 84, 84, 81; sorghum harvested 55, 40, 56, 47.

Crop progress: corn harvested for grain 70, 54, 78, 74; soybeans shedding leaves 89, 64, 86, 91; soybeans harvested 34, 16, 27, 33.

Hay harvested: other hay, 4th cutting 80, 74, 86, 79; alfalfa, 4th cutting 93, 90, 78, 90; alfalfa, 5th cutting 45, 43, 34, 37.

Crop conditions for the week which ended Oct. 22, listing the crop and percentages for very poor, poor, fair, good, and excellent, are: barley 0, 0, 24, 71, 5; rye 0, 0, 10, 89, 1; winter wheat 0, 0, 17, 74, 9; range and pasture 0, 2, 20, 64, 14.

Number Of U.S. Cattle On Feed Is Up 7%

Cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market in the United States for feedlots with capacity of 1,000 or more head totaled 11.0 million head on October 1, according to the National Ag Statistics Service (NASS). The inventory was 7% above October 1, 1999, and 13 percent above October 1, 1998. The inventory included 6.56 million steers and steer calves, up 6% from the previous year.

This group accounted for 60% of the total inventory. Heifers and heifer calves accounted for 4.40 million head, up 9% from 1999.

Placements in feedlots during September totaled 2.69 million, 3% below 1999 but 1% above 1998. Net placements were 2.63 million.

During September, placements of cattle and calves weighing less than 600 pounds were 775,000, 600-699 pounds were 612,000, 700-799 pounds were 681,000, and 800 pounds and greater were 618,000.

Marketings of fed cattle during September totaled 1.99 million, 2% above 1999 and 7% above 1998.

Other disappearance totaled 54,000 during September, 13% below 1999, and 11% below 1998.

Cattle on feed October 1, 2000, in the historic 7 states for feedlots with capacity of 1,000 or more head totaled 9.50 million, up 8% from the previous year and 13% above October 1, 1998. The inventory included 5.58 million steers and steer calves, up 6% from the previous year. This group accounted for 59% of the total inventory. Heifers and heifer calves accounted for 3.88 million head, up 11% from 1999.

Placements in feedlots during September totaled 2.29 million, 3% below 1999 but 1% above 1998.

Other disappearance during September was 48,000 head, 13% below 1999, and 6% below 1998.

Garibay Releases Report On U.S. Hogs And Pigs

Maryland state statistician Ray Garibay reports that the U.S. inventory of all hogs and pigs on Sept. 1 was 60.2 million head. This was 1% below Sept. 1999, but 1% above June 1, 2000.

Breeding inventory, at 6.27 million head, was down 1% from Sept. 1, 1999, but up 1% from June 1, 2000.

Market hog inventory, at 53.9 million head, was 1% below last year, but 1% above last quarter.

The June-August 2000 U.S. pig crop, at 25.7 million head, was 1% less than 1999, and 4% less than 1998. Sows farrowing during this period totaled 2.90 million head, 1% below last year. The sows farrowing during this quarter represented 47% of the breeding herd.

The average pigs per litter was 8.85 pigs saved per litter for the June-August period, compared to 8.86 pigs last year. Pigs saved per litter by size of operation ranged from 7.40 for operations with 1-99 hogs to 9.00 for operations with more than 5,000 hogs and pigs.

LILLYS EARN STATE FAIR HONORS — Ryan's Glade 4-H club members Stephen and Brad Lilly, shown above and below respectively, earned recognition in the Maryland 4-H Bicycle Safety Contest at the Maryland State Fair recently. Stephen Lilly, a June graduate of Southern High School, represented the county in the 17-year-old age category, and Southern Middle School eighth grader Brad Lilly represented the county in the 12-year-old category. The contest included written and practical examinations, a skill riding event, and bicycle safety inspection. The fair took place on the state fairgrounds in Timonium. The brothers are sons of Kathy and Allen Lilly of Oakland.

NOTICE GARRETT COUNTY TAXPAYERS!

According to the laws governing my office (Section 14-808/Tax Property), the Treasurer must advertise and sell properties for delinquent county, state, town, and/or taxes due other taxing agencies.

Garrett County tax bills become delinquent 15 months after mailing. Therefore, 1999-00 (purple) tax bills and prior years were delinquent October 1, 2000. The 2000-01 (red) bills WILL NOT BE delinquent until October 1, 2001. Personal Property taxes for 1999-00 and prior years are also delinquent and become a lien on real estate.

If you took advantage of the semi-annual payment option, the 2nd coupon amount will be due by Dec. 1, 2000. A small service charge will be assessed at the time of the 2nd payment.

Final delinquent notices will be mailed on or about March 1, 2001, allowing 30 days for payment. After this time, all delinquent accounts will be given to the Attorney for preparation for tax sale. To avoid additional costs, please pay delinquent accounts before March 31, 2001.

If there are any questions, don't hesitate to call the office anytime between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.

"Reinventing the Appalachian Shepherd Conference"

Within the Appalachian region of the United States lies a group of counties—eastern Ohio, western Virginia, south-central and western Pennsylvania, and most of West Virginia—that shares a topography and climate, as well as location well suited for sheep production. This combination provided the region a rich sheep history; a time when many counties reported agriculture as their leading industry and sheep as the most profitable and largest enterprise. Those days are gone. Sheep numbers have fallen steadily for the last 130 years. The tragedy lies in the fact that even though the economy has changed and the sheep industry of the past will never return to the previous level of profit or numbers, this area possesses every resource necessary for sheep farming to become a sustainable source of income for farm families. In fact, ewes eating forages from Appalachian mountainsides might be the management model best able to compete in the current agricultural order of narrow margins and severe price swings.

For sheep to again make an important contribution to farm income and family well being, the industry will have to be rebuilt with new farmers, new management systems, and new alliances; this means "reinventing the Appalachian shepherd."

A conference with that title scheduled for Nov. 9 and 10 at the Ramada Inn in Morgantown, W.Va., is planned to consider what is required for a new sustainable and financially important sheep industry. This conference will become the gathering point for all the researchers, business folks, educators, and producers from the mid-Appalachian region to share their work and consider production models for the future. Many bright and energetic people from all sectors of the regional sheep industry are working on more projects than most of us know and solving more problems than most knew existed; this conference will provide a platform for them to share their ideas and everyone else to consider and react to them. This conference will not be limited to just local presentations and ideas. Some management models from other sheep-producing regions will be shared. Those attending the conference should leave with a better understanding of where our sheep industry needs to go and how to get there.

The program includes reports from the following research and industry leaders:

Congress Fails To Address Farm Bill Shortcomings, Says NFU

According to the National Farmers Union (NFU), the FY 2001 agricultural appropriations conference report will be beneficial to farmers and ranchers because it contains emergency assistance, but the farmer and rancher organization is disappointed that Congress again missed an opportunity to address important long-term concerns of farmers, ranchers and rural communities.

"We commend the members of Congress for their work to provide needed assistance to crop, livestock and dairy producers who have suffered greatly from weather-related, production and quality disasters, as well as market-related losses that are out of their control," said NFU president Leland Swenson.

"We are, however, disappointed that Congress, once again, has not chosen to address the failures of current farm, trade and competition policy that have led to the lowest commodity prices in 20 years and economic crisis in our rural communities."

Farmers Union cites the legislation's failure to include long-term farm policy provisions that could stem the price crisis faced by producers today through an adequate safety net and meaningful trade sanctions reform.

The bill severely limits U.S. farmers' opportunities to trade with Cuba by restricting export funding and codifying travel restrictions to the island country.

"Farmers and ranchers are under tremendous economic pressure," said Swenson. "There is no excuse for not having these vital issues addressed when farm commodity prices are at crisis levels. We are grateful that the bill provides needed assistance to crop, livestock and dairy farmers.

Still, Congress needs to address the structural problems that have led to the record low prices and promote an aggressive posture in ensuring fair and open competition in all markets in which farmers and ranchers buy and sell."

Farmers Union is supportive of the pending measure for its inclusion of economic assistance, conservation and economic development measures. The farmer and rancher organization also endorsed a trade measure offered by Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., that sets aside funds generated from anti-dumping case resolution to help economically injured producers in the U.S. who are harmed by unfair trade practices.

Small Grain Report Released

The Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service has released the September small grain report for Maryland and the entire U.S.

The winter wheat yield in Maryland for 2000 averaged 63 bushels per acre, 3 bushels more than last year's estimate of 60 bushels per acre, but 5 bushels below the record yield of 68 bushels per acre set in 1997. Winter wheat production, at 12.6 million bushels, was 5% more than 1999's production level of 12 million bushels. Harvested acreage for 2000 was 200,000 acres, unchanged from 1999. This is the lowest harvest level since 1993.

Barley production amounted to 4.1 million bushels, up 3% from last year's 4.0 million bushels. The barley yield was estimated at 82 bushels per acre, up 2 bushels from 1999, and was harvested from 50,000 acres. This year set a record high yield for the state.

All wheat production across the United States totaled 2.2 billion bushels in 2000, down 3% from both the last forecast and 1999. The decline from the last forecast is the result of both acreage and yield decreases. Area harvested for grain is down 2% from the last forecast and 1% from last year. The U.S. yield is 42.1 bushels per acre, down 0.2 and 0.6 bushels from the last forecast and last season, respectively.

Barley production in 2000 was estimated at 320 million bushels, up 3% from the last forecast and 14% above last year's estimate. Average yield per acre, at 61.4 bushels, was up 2.2 bushels from 1999. The area harvested for grain was estimated at 5.2 million acres, 10% above a year ago.

New Ag & Resource Economics Dept. Chair Announced At Md.

Bruce L. Gardner, distinguished university professor at the University of Maryland, is the new chairperson of the Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

A University Park resident, Dr. Gardner has been a faculty member at Maryland since 1981 and director of the Maryland Center for Agricultural and Natural Resource Policy since 1996. He will continue in the latter role for the present, along with his new duties as department chair.

Gardner's appointment was effective on Oct. 1, according to Thomas A. Fretz, the college dean, who commented, "I am confident that the department will continue to grow and excel under Dr. Gardner's leadership." Dr. Fretz also thanked Robert G. Chambers, who headed the department for the past five years, for his "extraordinary leadership and commitment to teaching, research and outreach." Dr. Chambers has returned to his former teaching and research duties in the department.

An Illinois native, Bruce Gardner grew up on a dairy farm northwest of Chicago that is still operated by his brother. He graduated from the University of Illinois in 1964 with a bachelor's degree in agricultural economics.

Four years later, he had earned a Ph.D. degree in economics at the University of Chicago. His major professor there was the world-renowned Dr. Theodore W. Schultz, co-winner of the Nobel prize for economic science in 1979.

Gardner was an agricultural economics faculty member at North Carolina State University, 1968-75, and Texas A&M, 1977-81, before coming to Maryland 19 years ago. He spent two years, 1975-77, in Washington, D.C., as senior staff agricultural economist for the President's Council of Economic Advisers and another two years, 1989-91, in Washington as assistant secretary for economics in the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Gardner is currently president of the American Agricultural Economics Association (AAEA) and served several years as an associate editor of the American Journal of Agricultural Economics. He was honored as a fellow of the AAEA in 1989 and received the Award of Excellence for Research in 1988 from the University of Maryland's College of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED PROPERTY

Located at 3304 Frostburg Road, Frostburg, MD 21532

By virtue of the power and authority contained in a Deed of Trust from CHARLES THOMAS AND CARLA K. THOMAS dated September 13, 1997, and recorded in Liber No. 721, Folio 77 among the land records of Garrett County, Maryland, the holder of the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust having appointed Howard N. Bierman, Jacob Geesing, Arthur T.K. Norris, Joel D. Lara and Michael Scott Cohen, Substitute Trustees by instrument duly executed, acknowledged, and recorded among the Land Records aforesaid, default having occurred under the terms thereof and at the request of the party secured thereby, the Substitute Trustees will offer for sale at public auction, at the Circuit Court for Garrett County, at the Courthouse door, 203 S. 4th Street, Oakland, Maryland, on all that property described in said Deed of Trust as follows:

November 16, 2000, @ 11 a.m.

Beginning at an existing ½ inch bar on the north side of Frostburg Road, a corner to J. Edward Gates (Liber 387, Folio 705) and Richard Coddington (Liber 327, Folio 57); thence with said Coddington and Frostburg Road North 54 degrees 02' 45" East 379.00 feet; thence with said Gates and a division line between lots 1 and 2 herein described South 43 degrees 05' 25" est. at 41.66 feet passing a roof bolt set on line, in all 306.80 feet to a roof bolt set on a line of the State of Maryland Savage River State Forest (Liber 125, Folio 392); thence with said State of Maryland Savage River State Forest South 31 degrees 24' 30" West 277.80 feet to a ½ inch bar found in a stone pile, said bar being on a line of said Savage River State Forest and a corner to said Gates; thence with said Gates North 57 degrees 17' 40" West, at 411.63 feet passing a ½ inch bar on line, in all 441.63 feet to the place of beginning, containing 2.732 acres, more or less, as per survey by Randall R. Myers, P.L.S. #298, dated June 5, 1995.

Tax ID #09008411

TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon, and the rights, alleys, ways, waters, privileges, appurtenances and advantages thereto belonging, or in anywise appertaining.

Said property is improved by a single family dwelling in "as is" condition, with purchaser responsible for any and all housing or zoning code violations.

TERMS OF SALE: A deposit of $17,000.00 in the form of cash, certified check, or any other form acceptable to the Substitute Trustees in their sole discretion, shall be required at the time of sale, except no deposit shall be required of the secured parties, their successors or assigns. The balance of the purchase price with interest at the rate pursuant to the deed of trust note from the date of sale to the date said funds are received in the office of the Substitute Trustees, will be paid within ten days after the final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court of Garrett County, Maryland, except that if the secured parties, their successors and assigns are the purchaser, a credit will be allowed for the debt, time being of the essence. If payment of the balance does not take place within the specified period, or if the purchaser fails to go to settlement as required, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to the Substitute Trustees, the property shall be re-sold at the defaulting purchaser's risk and expense. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of both sales, attorneys' fees and all other charges incurred by the Substitute Trustees. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason and the property is purchased by someone other than the noteholder, there shall be no abatement of interest caused by the delay.

The property will be sold subject to all restrictions, liens, covenants and encumbrances of record affecting same, if any, and if subject to a prior Deed of Trust(s), the outstanding balance will be announced at time of sale if made available to the Substitute Trustees. Neither the Substitute Trustee, nor any other party guarantees or covenants to deliver or in any way to obtain possession of the premises for any purchaser. The Substitute Trustees reserve the right to reject any and all bids, withdraw the property from sale, or postpone and readvertise the property for sale at a later date. Taxes, water, rent, and all other municipal liens and charges will be adjusted to date of sale. All other public charges and assessments payable on an annual basis shall be adjusted to date of sale and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes, document preparation and title insurance shall be borne by purchaser. If the Substitute Trustees, in their sole discretion, are unable to convey good and marketable title, the purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees. The purchaser at the foreclosure sale shall assume the risk of loss for the property immediately after the sale.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND
PROCLAMATION OF THE GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND
DIRECTING THE PUBLICATION OF BALLOT QUESTION TITLES AND BILL SUMMARIES

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 1999, the General Assembly enacted Chapter 119; and

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 2000, the General Assembly enacted Chapters 205, 75, 111, 163, 194 and 202; and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of the Governor, under the State Constitution and Article 33 of the Annotated Code of Maryland to order the publication of the ballot question titles and bill summaries of these Acts of the General Assembly; and

WHEREAS, the publication of the ballot question titles and bill summaries must take place for three weeks immediately preceding the General Election of November 7, 2000, and

WHEREAS, there will be presented on the ballot at that election the following questions for adoption or rejection by the voters:

CHAPTER 119
(Senate Bill 510)

QUESTION NUMBER 1
Constitutional Amendment
Cecil County – Election and Terms of Office for the Board of County Commissioners

Excepts the Board of County Commissioners of Cecil County from the constitutional requirements that all State and County elections be held only in every fourth year on a particular date and that all State and County officers hold four–year terms, in order to allow staggered terms with elections held every second year.

Summary

Amends Section 7 of Article XVII (Quadrennial Elections) of the Constitution of Maryland to exempt all of the members of the Board of County Commissioners of Cecil County from the requirement that county officers who are elected by the voters of the County must run for election or reelection at the same election every four years. The adoption of this Constitutional amendment would allow the General Assembly of Maryland to provide for the election of the five Cecil County commissioners to provide that their terms of office are staggered so that the terms do not all begin at the same time.

CHAPTER 205
(Senate Bill 400)

QUESTION NUMBER 2
Constitutional Amendment
Prince George's County – Property for Redevelopment Purposes

Expressly authorizes the Prince George's County Council to take property immediately upon a finding of immediate need for redevelopment purposes; designates properties eligible for taking as those located between Suitland Federal Center and Silver Hill Road that are also within any two certain designated areas (a revitalization tax district, an enterprise zone, or a priority funding area); requires the Council to pay at the time of taking the appraised fair market value and also to pay any additional amount later awarded by a jury; and requires the Council to offer financial assistance and payments to displaced owners or tenants.

Summary

Amends Section 40A (Eminent Domain) of Article III of the Constitution of Maryland to allow the Prince George's County Council to provide for the immediate "taking" (that is, acquisition) of property by Prince George's County that is located both in the County between the Suitland Federal Center and Silver Hill Road and within two of the following three areas: a revitalization tax district, an enterprise zone, or a priority funding area, but only after the Prince George's County Council:

(1) has made a judgment and a finding that there is an immediate need for the property for redevelopment purposes;

(2) has appointed a real estate appraiser licensed by the State of Maryland to appraise the property to determine its fair market value;

(3) has paid to the owner of the property or into court the fair market value of the property as determined by the appraiser and has assured payment of any additional amount of money that may be later awarded by a jury; and

(4) has promised to the owner–occupant or tenant of the property who is displaced by the County's "taking" of that property to offer, at the very least, assistance and payments for which the owner–occupant or tenant would qualify as a displaced person under the federal law.

CHAPTER 75
(Senate Bill 509)
For Baltimore County Only

QUESTION NUMBER 3
Countywide Referendum
Baltimore County – Neighborhood Renewal Authority

Expressly authorizes Baltimore County to acquire and develop or dispose of property within certain described areas (Essex Middle River Waterfront area, the Yorkway area in Dundalk, and the Liberty Road area) for declared public neighborhood renewal purposes by amending a public local law; designates specific properties eligible for acquisition by eminent domain following the adoption of an implementation plan; requires the County to pay the owner just compensation for property acquired by eminent domain and to offer financial assistance and payments to displaced property owners or tenants; authorizes the County to sell properties acquired by eminent domain only if investment in the property equals or exceeds the purchase price paid by the County; and terminates the granted eminent domain powers on July 1, 2007.

Summary

Petitioned to a referendum of the voters of Baltimore County for their approval or rejection in accordance with Article XVI – The Referendum – of the Constitution of the State of Maryland

Repeals four sections from and adds six sections to the Code of Public Local Laws of Baltimore County to allow the County to:

(1) acquire, by purchase, lease, or gift, land and property within the boundary lines of the Essex–Middle River Waterfront, the Yorkway, and the Liberty Road renewal areas in the County, as set forth in the legislative enactment, for the purpose of residential, commercial, or industrial development or redevelopment of that property;

(2) acquire, by using the power of eminent domain (that is, the right of a government to "take" private land and property for public use, provided that just compensation is paid to the owner of the property), land and properties in the three renewal areas that are listed in the enactment by street address or by map, block, and parcel number for the purpose of residential, commercial, or industrial development or redevelopment;

(3) develop or redevelop land and property in the three renewal areas for residential, commercial, or industrial purposes; and

PUBLIC NOTICES

(4) sell, lease, convey, or transfer, for any value, to any private or public corporation, partnership, association, or other legal entity, land or properties in the three renewal areas that are acquired by Baltimore County under the authority of the legislative enactment, for residential, commercial, or industrial development or redevelopment.

The following restrictions or conditions are also imposed on Baltimore County by the legislative enactment:

(1) Before acquiring listed properties by eminent domain, the Baltimore County Council must adopt plans on how it will carry out the acquisition and development or redevelopment of the properties and must allow an opportunity for public comment on the plans;

(2) The County must provide compensation, including relocation costs, to a displaced person in accordance with State real property law, except that if a property owner–occupant or tenant is displaced because of the county's exercise of eminent domain under the legislative act, the County must offer assistance and payments for which the owner–occupant or tenant would qualify as a displaced person under federal law;

(3) The County cannot sell or dispose of property it acquires by eminent domain under the legislative enactment unless the proposed capital investment (that is, the acquisition price, plus the cost of improvements) equals or exceeds the price paid by the County for the property; and

(4) The county administration is required to submit an annual report to the Senators and Delegates who represent Baltimore County in the General Assembly of Maryland on or before February 15 of each year on how the legislative act is being implemented, the number of properties that have been acquired and are being sought for acquisition, and the displaced persons who have been provided relocation assistance.

By the terms of the legislative enactment, the authority of Baltimore County to exercise the power of eminent domain under the enactment will terminate on July 1, 2007, except as to those properties which before July 1, 2007, Baltimore County has approved for purchase or by an agreed sale which the County has filed a petition to acquire by eminent domain.

CHAPTER 111
(House Bill 201)
For Worcester County Only

QUESTION A

Pursuant to Chapter 111 of the Acts of the 2000 General Assembly

Straw Vote – Method of Selecting School Board Members

Do you favor changing the method of selection of the members of the Worcester County Board of Education from appointment by the Governor to election by the voters of Worcester County?

Summary

Requires that a question be placed on the ballot in Worcester County at the November, 2000 general election to determine the sense of the voters of the County on the issue of changing the method of selecting the members of the Worcester County Board of Education from the current method of appointment by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate of Maryland to election by the voters of Worcester County. The outcome of the vote is advisory only.

CHAPTER 163
(House Bill 1049)
For Cecil County Only

QUESTION A

Local Referendum

Development Excise Tax

Authorizes the Board of County Commissioners of Cecil County to impose a development excise tax on all new residential units, which are defined to include apartments, mobile homes, townhouses, single–family homes, and any other type of dwelling unit up to three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500.00) per residential unit to fund capital projects of the County and the Board of Education, debt incurred for capital projects, and additional or expanded public facilities or improvements.

Summary

Adds Section 34–16 to the Code of Public Local Laws of Cecil County to authorize the County to impose by law a development excise tax on new residential units in order to provide funding for the construction of additional or expanded public facilities and other improvements in the County. Any tax imposed by the County under this enactment cannot exceed $3,500 for each new residential unit. A residential unit includes a house, an apartment, a residential condominium, a mobile home, and any other structure used primarily as a dwelling. The money collected by Cecil County from the tax imposed under the authority of this enactment must be deposited by the Board of County Commissioners into a special account. The money in the special account can only be used to pay, in whole or in part, for the costs of the additional or expanded public facilities or other improvements or to pay the debt for which the County becomes responsible if it borrows money to fund the additional or expanded public facilities or other improvements. Before the Cecil County imposes or alters the tax authorized by this enactment, the Board of County Commissioners must:

(1) hold a public hearing on the proposed tax or alteration of the tax and publish notice of the time, date, and subject of the hearing;

(2) ensure that the development tax is imposed on a countywide basis, including within municipal corporations in the County; and

(3) require that the tax be paid at the time a building permit is issued for a new residential unit in Cecil County.

CHAPTER 194
(House Bill 1390)
For Queen Anne's County Only

QUESTIONS A and B

Question A

Question submitted by General Assembly

Board of County Commissioners – Election of County Commissioners Who Reside in Designated Districts

Do you favor altering the method of election of commissioners to the Board of County Commissioners for Queen Anne's County from the current system where the voters of the entire County elect commissioners who reside in any area of Queen Anne's County to a system where the voters of the entire County elect commissioners who reside in designated districts in Queen Anne's County?

Question B

Question submitted by General Assembly

Board of County Commissioners – Number of Commissioners

Do you favor altering the number of commissioners of the Board of County Commissioners for Queen Anne's County from 3 commissioners to 5 commissioners?

Summary

Requires two questions to be placed on the ballot in Queen Anne's County at the November 2000 general election to determine the sense of the voters on two issues. The first question is whether the voters from the entire County should continue to elect candidates for the Board of County Commissioners from any part of the County or should the voters from the entire County elect candidates who reside in designated districts. The second question relates to whether the membership of the Board of County Commissioners of Queen Anne's County should be increased from three to five members. The outcomes of the votes are advisory only.

CHAPTER 202
(House Bill 1437)
For Somerset County Only

QUESTION A

Straw Poll

Somerset County High School Consolidation

Are you for or against a proposal for a Consolidated High School?

Summary

Requires that a question be placed on the ballot in Somerset County at the November 2000 general election to determine the sense of the voters on whether to consolidate the two public high schools in Somerset County – Crisfield High School and Washington High School. The outcome of the vote is advisory only.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, PARRIS N. GLENDENING, GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND, by virtue of the power and authority conferred upon me by the Constitution and Election Laws of Maryland, do by this proclamation ORDER that these ballot question titles and bill summaries be published in at least two newspapers in each county where so many may be published, and where not more than one may be published, then in that newspaper, and in three newspapers published in Baltimore City, once a week for three weeks immediately preceding the General Election to be held on November 7, 2000, at which election these ballot questions shall be submitted, in the form prescribed by the General Assembly to the qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection.

GIVEN Under my Hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, at the City of Annapolis, this 21st day of August in the Year of Our Lord, Two Thousand.

Weight Loss Puzzles Doctors

ATLANTA, GA -- Doctors were surprised when two separate studies found that a natural dietary supplement could help cause significant weight loss.

Although not conclusive, both studies found that patients receiving the formula called Bio-Rex 3000©, lost more than twice as much weight as those in a control group on the same fat reduced diet. Neither group was instructed to decrease the amount of food they ate or to increase their exercise levels. An article published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition says that you don't have to decrease the amount of food you eat to lose weight, provided that you limit the fat.

According to a spokesperson for Phillips Gulf Corporation, the exclusive North American distributor of Bio-Rex 3000, the company is considering additional studies in order to get federal approval to make pharmaceutical claims. Currently, weight loss claims for the Bio-Rex 3000 supplement are limited. However, with the requisite approval, the company could say that Bio-Rex 3000 decreases sugar cravings, increases metabolism and interferes with the body's ability to produce excess fat.

Bio-Rex 3000 is currently available as a dietary supplement and plan in pharmacies and nutrition stores or by calling 1-800-729-8446. www.phillipsgulf.com.

WHAT A GOOD PUPPY — In celebration of petownership, Our Town Theatre and the Garrett County Humane Society are hosting a number of animal awareness events next week. A highlight of the week will be the presentation of A.R. Gurney's play Sylvia, the story of a Manhattan man who adopts a dog, and how that adoption puts some new wrinkles in his marriage and his life. The lighthearted comedy is suitable for adults and children 10 and older. Pictured at her master Greg's knee is Sylvia, played by Chelsea Stuck. Greg is played by Tom Peterson. In the background, none too happy about the situation, is Greg's wife Kate, portrayed by Carol Peracchio, and also looking on is Matt Eary in the role of Tom. Other players in the show are Thea M. Ayer and Matty Raye. Jane Avery is the director of the play, and Ben Sincell is the scenery and lighting designer. The production dates are November 8-11 and 15-18 at 8 p.m. each evening, and November 12 and 19 at 2 p.m. Tickets are $5 each and can be reserved by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640. Although reservations are not required, they are strongly encouraged, Avery noted. See a separate story outlining other animal awareness events being hosted at the theatre next week.

GBI Charges Day Care Operator With Child Abuse

An Oakland woman who operated an in-home child day care facility was arrested by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation recently on child abuse and assault charges after an investigation of a September 11 incident involving a 6-month-old infant.

Sandra Kay Tressler, 31, owner of Little Explorer's Day Care, faces charges of child abuse and second degree assault. The suspected victim bore injuries to the facial area, which were treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The infant underwent additional testing at the Child Advocacy Center of Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, W.Va. No overnight hospital stays were required, according to sources.

Cpl. Scott Anderson, a Maryland State Police investigator assigned to the GBI, made the arrest on September 29 after discussions with the Garrett County state's attorney's office and Ruby Memorial child advocates. Tressler was released from the Garrett County Detention Center that same day on a $15,000 unsecured bond set by a district court commissioner.

No other charges have resulted from the investigation. The day care facility has been closed.

GCC STUDENT MAKES WILDERNESS RESCUE — After completing the Wilderness First Responder course last spring through Garrett Community College's signature Adventure Sports program, student Patrick Forster put his skills into practice in September. Forster and a rock-climbing companion rescued two trapped climbers, both of whom had sustained broken bones in a rock fall, from a face at Seneca Rocks, W.Va. "It's funny how it all works," Forster said. "I owe my comfort level of being able to conduct the rescue to the Wilderness First Responder course. It works." Shown from the left taking a break during a recent climbing outing at Cooper's Rock, W.Va., are Adventure Sports student Josh Lyons, AVS instructor Steve Tomb, and Forster.

Residents Urged To Comply With House No. Law

The Garrett County commissioners have issued a request to all county residents to comply with an ordinance that requires all house numbers to be displayed in a visible location. The request followed an inquiry by the chief of the Deep Creek Lake Volunteer Fire Company, who has reported that the firefighters have had difficulty finding the locations of certain calls.

"It puts everyone at risk," said Commissioner Wendell Beitzel, chairman of the board. He asked Jim Torrington of the county planning and zoning office to meet with the commissioners last week and explain the ordinance concerning house number placement.

Torrington said all residences are required to display the house numbers in digits that are at least three inches high, placed near an entryway. If the house is not visible from the road, a number must be placed along a walk, driveway, or other suitable location at a minimum distance of 20 feet from the edge of the pavement, and a minimum of four feet above the ground so that the address number is discernible from the street. The numbers should be of a contrasting color to the background on which they are mounted.

Torrington noted that the building permit procedure in the county does direct a new homeowner to post the house number, but the commissioners pointed out that this procedure does not affect current homeowners. Torrington also said that enforcement of the house number ordinance is the responsibility of the planning and zoning office. The penalty for not posting the numbers can be as much as a $100 fine, Torrington said.

"If people refuse to post their house numbers, it's

GCC Adventure Sports Student Makes Rescue On Seneca Rocks

By Joan B. Crawford

When Patrick Forster took the Wilderness First Responder course last spring as part of the Adventure Sports curriculum of Garrett Community College, he knew that the course would prepare him to meet emergencies as he pursued his passion for rock climbing. He did not know how soon he would be called upon to apply what he had learned.

Last month while climbing at Seneca Rocks in West Virginia, Forster was the early responder to a pair of seriously injured climbers who were trapped by falling rock and damaged equipment on the most dangerous face of the climbing area. Forster and his friend had just completed their climb and were leaving the area when he heard "the worst thing a climber can hear — falling rock. Then I heard a woman scream. I knew there was trouble."

Forster raced back to the site called the "southern pillar," known by climbers for its dangerous loose rock. What he saw called for everything he had learned in order to save two lives. An injured man was clinging to a rock, his knee shattered. His top piece of protection had given way in the crumbling rock. Below him a woman was trapped on a ledge. Her rope had been severed and her ankle broken by falling rock.

Forster quickly made certain there were no more rocks to fall, established his hold, and communicated with the injured. The two had been climbing in a party of several other people who were still in the area. Someone in the party had a radio Forster used to organize the rescue effort.

The injured man had been testing the integrity of his hold when the rock gave way. Using a fireman's belay, Forster was able to lower him to the ground, where he put a pressure bandage on his leg. With the assistance of another climber, he was then able to belay the woman to a place where they could immobilize her ankle. By the time the rescue squad arrived, first aid had been completed.

The incident at Seneca Rocks was not the first time Forster's training saved an injured climber. Last year while climbing in a quarry near his home in York, Pa., his expertise was needed to help a man who had fallen.

Forster, who is majoring in education with a minor in adventure sports, has part-time jobs that give him practical experience toward his career. He manages the college's climbing wall, instructs rock climbers for the

Absentee Ballot Count Will Be Next Thursday

The Garrett County Board of Elections announces that at 10 a.m. next Thursday, Nov. 9, the Board of Canvassers for the county will begin the processs of opening, reviewing, and/or counting the absentee ballots cast in the November 7 general election. This process is open to public observation.

This count will take place at: 203 S. Fourth St., Rm. 108 (Courthouse), Oakland.

This entire process will not necessarily be completed on this date, according to Frederick Sanders, election director. If continuation of the process is necessary, the Board of Canvassers will announce its schedule at the end of the day, and if necessary, at the end of each subsequent day.

Questions concerning the process should be directed to Sanders at 301-334-1962.

Pneumonia, Flu Shots Offered To Those "At-Risk"

The Garrett County Health Department will offer influenza and pneumococcal immunizations during November at the G.W. Plaza (across from Fitzwater Furniture Store in Mtn. Lake Park) and at the Grantsville Senior Center. Additional clinics will be scheduled in December when an adequate supply of vaccine is received.

Initially, the vaccine will not be available to everyone. The health department will vaccinate those individuals at high risk for complications from the virus. This includes people older than 65, adults and children with chronic diseases of the heart and lungs, those with suppressed immune systems, and women in their second or third trimester of pregnancy.

Persons who have direct contact with at-risk individuals, such as health care providers, nursing home

Commissioners, Chamber Pick Five To Study Bi-Co. Tourism Proposal

The Garrett County commissioners this week announced the members of a committee to study House Speaker Casper Taylor's idea for joint tourism efforts between Allegany and Garrett counties.

"We are looking at a very important issue here — the future of tourism in Garrett County," said Wendell Beitzel, commissioner chairman. "There has been some anxiety about where things are going with this proposed legislation, and we wanted to quickly organize our committee."

The commissioners and their choices for the group were: Beitzel, Rol Palmer; Commissioner Fred Holliday, Nancy Railey; and Commissioner Ernie Gregg, Ruth Seib. The two other members were appointed by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, and they are Jerry Geisler and Bob Browning.

This five-member committee will work with a five-member group from Allegany County in attempting to iron out differences in the proposed legislation, Beitzel said.

Taylor has proposed that the two counties combine tourism efforts by adding Garrett County to Allegany County's already established Heritage Area. The legislation would also create a bi-county "Mountain Maryland Tourism Promotion Council," funneling state and federal monies to the western Maryland region for tourism, rather than dividing the funds among the separate counties. This council would fall under the proposed Canal Place "Gateways" Preservation and Development Authority, a modified version of the present Canal Place Preservation and Development Authority.

Taylor presented his idea to local tourism officials and chamber of commerce members last week, al-

Woman Handed PBJ For Charge Of Kidnapping

A Frederick woman who faced a kidnapping charge in connection with a September incident at a Mtn. Lake Park day care facility was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) ruling by Garrett County District Court judge Ralph Burnett last week. The terms of the PBJ included a 30-day suspended sentence and one year of unsupervised probation.

Lisa Renee Sweitzer, 33, was arrested by Garrett Bureau of Investigation detectives at her residence the day after the alleged kidnapping. She and her 16-year-old daughter reportedly took her 16-month-old granddaughter from the facility without permission from the Department of Social Services, which had assumed responsibility for the child and had placed the toddler with foster parents.

Sweitzer's daughter and granddaughter were located several days later in Frederick. The younger child was placed back into foster care, while an abduction charge faced by the older child is being processed by the Department of Juvenile Justice.

In other district court news, a Swanton man was deemed not guilty of a domestic-related assault charge when his suspected victim refused to testify in court. Visiting judge Paul Stakem made the final de-

Gunfire Reported During Domestic Incident Sunday

An Oakland man was arrested on several charges by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after he allegedly fired a shotgun during an early Sunday morning domestic altercation at a Steyer Mine Road residence.

Matthew Lewis Best, 18, was taken into custody without further incident just after 2 a.m. on the scene of the incident, which took place between Loch Lynn and Gorman at a home located at 2253 Steyer Mine Road. When deputies arrived they reportedly observed Best holding a .20 gauge shotgun, but he immediately complied with orders to place the firearm on the ground and lie down and submit himself into their custody. The suspect was intoxicated at the time of the incident, according to the charging statement.

Upon further investigation the deputies determined that Best had allegedly fired the weapon in the general direction of the SIMON PEARCE TO HOST ROTARY PROJECT — The annual Oakland Rotary Christmas Project will operate out of a new location this holiday season, as the Simon Pearce glass plant has donated a large amount of indoor space, with a large parking lot close by, for the preparation of gifts and food baskets. The Rotary Project served over 400 local families last year by providing food and children's toys. Christmas trees will be decorated with cards listing requested gifts during Thanksgiving week, and interested persons are asked to take a card or two, purchase the listed items, and return the gift(s) to the tree by Tuesday, Dec. 12. Volunteers are also needed for Dec. 15 gift preparation event at Simon Pearce, and to make deliveries to children's homes the following day. Pictured, from the left, are Simon Pearce production manager Jerry McComas and facility manager Rich Rohrbaugh, along with Rotary Project co-chairs Kathy Zimmerman and Doug Riley. For further information persons may call Zimmerman at 301-334-2820 or Riley at 301-334-6798. Tax-deductible donations may be mailed to: Oakland Rotary Club, P.O. Box 710, Oakland, MD 21550.

ARE YOU MY MOTHER? There has recently been an attraction added for the students at Route 40 Elementary School. For around five weeks now, a duck has been making itself at home amongst the cows in a nearby field. This duck was apparently left alone after the rest of the family disappeared for unknown reasons. Now it can be seen following the cows as if it were one of them. The teachers at the school have taken the opportunity to incorporate this happening into their lessons. In the English classes, for instance, teachers have been reading books such as Are You My Mother? and Where is My Duckling? The students have also been taking pictures of the duck and his new family as well as writing papers about why they thought the duck was now living with the cows. One student noted: "I think the duck is following the cows because it thinks they smell good." Photo by Jeremy Carr

Production Dates Announced By Our Town Theatre

Three major productions will be produced at Our Town Theatre before the end of December, and reservations for all three may now be made by the public.

First in line is Sylvia, described as a "light, funfilled comedy about a man and his dog." A family-oriented production (for adults and children over the age of 10), this show will feature actors Tom Peterson, Matty Raye, Carol Peracchio, Chelsea Stuck, Thea Ayre, and Matt Eary. The production dates are November 8-11 and 15-18 at 8 p.m. each evening, and November 12 and 19 at 2 p.m.

In December, a farce titled The Farndale Avenue Housing Estate Townswomen's Guild Dramatic Society's Production of A Christmas Carol will be given, starring Judy Bertsch, Linda Goodrich, Richard Stevens, Richard Hill, Gloria Salazar, and a host of

Garrett County Hosts Co-Nect Critical Friends

The Co-Nect Critical Friends team, composed of representatives from school systems in seven states, visited Garrett County this week to meet with members of the Garrett County Board of Education and administrators from Southern High School and Bloomington School. The team evaluated the progress and improvement at SHS and Bloomington, the two county school which participate in the Con-Nect program.

A network of more than 115 public schools in 27 states, Co-Nect provides comprehensive school reform concepts, project based learning models, and technology integration methods. Garrett County was awarded a three-year grant to be part of the Co-Nect system, explained Dr. Brenda McCartney, assistant school superintendent.

"This Critical Friends' visit provided an excellent opportunity to our school system and to Southern High and Bloomington in particular to have an outside evaluation of comprehensive school improvement," McCartney said.

Both schools have implemented Co-Nect programs reflecting project-based learning and sensible uses of technology. The Critical Friends provided a review of strengths and challenges to the participating schools. "Bloomington and Southern High School are to be commended for growth, current successes, and their willingness to address the challenge of continuous improvement," McCartney concluded.

GARRETT CONTAINER SYSTEMS EARNS HONORS — Accident-based Garrett Container Systems (GCS) was recognized by the U.S. Senate Productivity Awards and Maryland Quality Awards programs recently. The awards grade across a wide range of key business indicators such as customer service, production performance, community and employee well being, environmental impact, human resources, and training. GCS was one of only nine firms in the state that received a Maryland Quality Award, and shown at the Baltimore presentation, from the left, are Thomas C. Tuttle, chairman of both award programs; U.S. Senator Barbara Mikulski; Jim Kesselring, quality/support manager at GCS; Senator Paul Sarbanes; and Don Morin, GCS owner and president. GCS designs, manufactures, and markets precision aluminum shipping and storage containers for both commercial and government clients. "The process of self evaluation and strategic planning has caused us to evaluate the effect of GCS's growth [as it is] related to the county's human resources, environment, transportation, education, and employee well being," commented Morin.

Lake Policy And Review Board Meeting Slated

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board will be held Monday, Nov. 13, at 7 p.m. at the Deep Creek Lake Discovery Center, located at Deep Creek State Park.

The agenda for the meeting includes a report by DNR staff on options for the management of larger tour boats on Deep Creek Lake. A local marina owner, Robert Browning of Deep Creek Outfitters, has requested permission to place a tour boat approximately 62 feet in length on the lake in the 2001 summer recreational season. The boating regulations for Deep Creek Lake would need to be changed to accommodate his request.

The second agenda item will deal with issue identification by the board in preparation for the development of the Recreation and Land Use Plan for Deep Creek Lake. The plan will guide the future management of the lake by the Department of Natural Resources.

Board meetings are open to the public, and the board accepts input and public comments during the meeting. Further information on the meeting can be obtained by contacting Paul Durham at the Deep Creek Lake State Park office at 301-387-4111.

Animal Awareness Events Set By OTT & Humane Society

The Garrett County Humane Society, in cooperation with Our Town Theatre, will host a variety of "animal awareness" events during the week of Nov. 8-19. The purpose of the events is to raise awareness about the status and condition of domestic animals in Garrett County, as well as discussing the link between animal abuse and human violence.

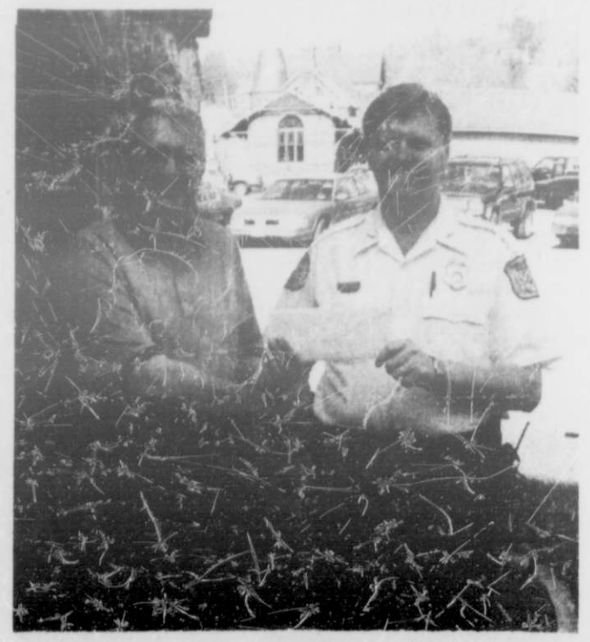
The A.R. Gurney play Sylvia will be presented at the theatre on November 8-11 and 15-18 at 8 p.m. each evening, and November 12 and 19 at 2 p.m. Described as a "light, fun-filled comedy about a man and his dog," the family-oriented play is the story of a New York City couple who adopt a dog and learn to co-exist with the canine.

Special activities will take place after the matinees, as well as a time for audience members to tell their favorite stories about their pets. For reservations to the show, persons should call the theatre at 301-334-5640.

A children's event will take place at the theatre on Monday, Nov. 13, as volunteer readers from the theatre and the humane society will join children from the Garrett County Head Start centers, among other youngsters, to share animal stories and sing songs. Area children of Head Start age are welcome to attend the event.

A special forum on the subject of animal abuse will be held at the theatre on Nov. 14, beginning at 7 p.m. On hand to discuss the subject will be members of the humane society, various social services groups, law enforcement, the clergy, and others. The link between violence against animals and violence against humans has been well-documented, according to a society member.

The public is invited to all of the events. For more information, persons may call the theatre at the number noted above.



LIONS DONATE TO HISTORICAL SOCIETY — The Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club made a $3,500 donation to the Garrett County Historical Society recently for the purchase and erection of the historical marker at Dailey Park in Oakland. The marker will be placed at the entrance to the park, located at South Second and Liberty streets in Oakland, which will provide information on the historical features exhibited there, including the restored Deer Park Hotel gazebo and gas house. Historical Society president Bob Boal, left, is shown accepting the donation check from Lions Club president John Sines.

Veterans Day Observance Set At Courthouse

Several area veterans' organizations will take part in a Veterans Day commemoration ceremony slated for Saturday, Nov. 11, at 11 a.m., in the rotunda of the Garrett County Courthouse. The program is open to the public.

A color guard unit from American Legion, along with representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans, will lead the event, which will feature a keynote address by retired U.S. Army Brigadier General Dale Schroyer of Friendsville. A program of special music will be presented, with patriotic selections performed by the Southern High School Band, vocalists Dave Martin, Tim Miller, and Joe DiSimone, and bagpiper John Grant.

Veterans Day, formerly known as Armistice Day, commemorates the service of past and current members of America's armed forces. It is observed on the occasion of the signing of the treaty that ended World War I at "the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month" in 1918.

Woman Injured In Mishap; DWI Charge Filed

A 77-year-old Mountain Lake Park woman was hospitalized for two days after she ran off Maryland Highway and overturned her vehicle Saturday evening. Garrett County sheriff's deputies filed a charge of driving while intoxicated (DWI) as a result of the mishap.

Emma McCartney was traveling westbound along the highway at 6:44 p.m., when she misjudged a turn just east of G Street and lost control of her Cadillac sedan, drove off the highway, struck a culvert, and rolled her car. Personnel from the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department were summoned to the scene, and the Southern Rescue Squad transported McCartney to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where she was hospitalized until her Monday release.

Sheriff's deputies charged McCartney with negligent driving and violation of a license restriction, in addition to DWI.

Juveniles Face Alcohol Charges After Accident

Three 16-year-old juveniles sustained minor injuries during a single-vehicle accident yesterday afternoon along Pysell Crosscut Road, when their car left the road and struck a telephone pole, snapping it in half. The driver was charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI), according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, and he and his two passengers each face charges of underage alcohol consumption.

The accident occurred at approximately 3:15 p.m. when the driver, reportedly traveling at a high rate of speed, lost control of the 2000 Dodge Neon in the 500 block of Pysell Crosscut Road and into a field, where it struck the pole. Two of the subjects fled the scene, while a third remained behind with the car. One of the subjects who left the scene was later located at a residence, while the other was located at Garrett Memorial Hospital. The Southern Rescue Squad transported the third juvenile from the accident scene to Garrett Memorial. All three subjects were treated at the hospital and released yesterday evening to their respective families.

The Deer Park Community and Oakland volunteer fire departments were also summoned to the scene, along with personnel from Allegheny Power Company.

The case has been forwarded to the Department of Juvenile Justice.

Extension Office Promoting "Take Kids To Vote"

"Take Your Kids To Vote" is a national effort being support by the Garrett County Extension Office with the purpose of encouraging families to participate together in the voting process. The project was spearheaded by the National 4-H Council, and is supported by the Partnership for Trust in Government, Council for Excellence in Government, Kids Voting USA, Working Woman magazine, and 28 other organizations. State Farm Insurance has also joined as a corporate sponsor.

"When you take your kids to vote, democracy becomes a family affair," stated a project organizer. "It promotes family conversation — what you stand for, what you believe in, what your hopes are for our country — and culminates in the historic act of going to the voting booth to cast a ballot for elected representatives."

Studies suggest that parents exert "tremendous influence" over the future voting patterns of their children. "If parents vote regularly, their children are far more likely to vote when they become adults," the spokesperson said, adding that if parents take their children to the polls with them to experience the process first-hand, the youngsters will remember the event.

A website devoted to this project can be found at www.takeyourkidstovote.com. At this site, links are provided to pages concerning voting activities for youngsters through teenagers. Ideas about how to educate young people are available for parents to read, and a sample ballot can be printed from the site.

Other websites that offer poll data for young Americans include television's Nickelodeon site (www.nick.com), where there is a link titled "Kids Pick the President." For older teens, MTV is hosting a site at www.chooseorlose.com, where ongoing reports on the election are compiled by teenagers and young adults.

Other sites include www.vote-smart.org, www.kidsvotingusa.org, www.rockthevote.org; and others. To obtain a brochure with this information and more, persons may contact the Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

Jail Sentences Handed Down In Circuit Court

Judge James Sherbin sentenced four defendants to jail time last week in Garrett County Circuit Court. While two individuals' terms were suspended, the remaining two were remanded to correctional officers to serve their time.

Thomas William Morgan, 35, Frostburg (Garrett Co.), entered a guilty plea to the charge of second degree assault. Sherbin sentenced Morgan to six months in jail, with all of that sentence suspended for a period of six months of supervised probation.

The defendant was charged last November, according to a state's attorney office report, with the assault crime as well as destruction of property, misdemeanor theft, and other related charges. This arrest followed a domestic altercation at his residence, according to the report. Upon Morgan's guilty plea, all charges but assault were dismissed.

The judge also ordered Morgan to make a restitution payment of $200 to the victim in the case.

Paul Richard Sigley, 25, of the Oakland area, was sentenced by Sherbin to five years in the Department of Corrections for two offenses to which he pleaded guilty in July.

A warrant for Sigley's arrest on assault and related charges was issued by a district court commissioner on Jan. 22 after a female made application concerning incidents that had occurred at their residence in the Steyer area. Officers located Sigley at the residence on Jan. 26, according to the report, to arrest him for the assault. At that time, the law enforcers saw drug paraphernalia in the home. The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force then investigated, finding 46 small bags of crack cocaine in the pocket of a pair of Sigley's pants, according to the report.

Sigley pleaded guilty in a July hearing to possession with the intent to distribute cocaine, and last week Sherbin gave him four years in jail for that crime. The defendant received an additional year in jail for the assault conviction.

Bobby Allen Beal, 23, Meyersdale, Pa., pleaded guilty to the charge of destruction of property over $300. The judge sentenced Beal to two years in the Department of Corrections and suspended that sentenced for two years of supervised probation. In addition to the general conditions of probation, Beal is jointly responsible for $4,000 in restitution to the victim in the case.

Beal and four other individuals were arrested by the Garrett Bureau of Investigation in March on charges of burglary and assault. The charges stemmed from an incident at a Grantsville area residence. According to the state's attorney's report, Beal was apparently the driver of the vehicle in which the group traveled from Meyersdale to Garrett County so that one of the passengers could confront a Grantsville man concerning remarks he allegedly made about a mutual female acquaintance. There was no evidence that Beal actively participated in the ensuing assaults, according to the report.

One co-defendant has pleaded guilty to assault, and his sentence hearing is pending, the state's attorney reported. Another defendant in the case pleaded guilty to destruction of property and served a sentence in the Garrett County jail. The two remaining defendants in the case will be tried in the near future, the report indicated.

Samantha Mae Fike, 19, Grantsville, was sentenced to one year in jail, with 11 months suspended. She was charged last February with destruction of property following a burglary incident at the Wildwater Inn. She was joined by two other individuals, according to the report, one of whom is currently serving a jail term for his involvement, and another who is slated to stand trial soon.

Among her conditions of probation is an order to make a payment of nearly $600 in restitution to the victims in the case.

One Injured In Oakland Crash

Two vehicles were involved in an accident on Garrett Highway in Oakland on Monday at 2:20 p.m. Chief John Sines of the Oakland Police reported that Jason Allen Hensley, 23, Oakland, was driving a 1998 Chevrolet Tracker, when his vehicle was struck in the rear by a 1995 Dodge van, operated by Harry Clinton Turney Jr., 77, Mtn. Lake Park.

Hensley was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. Sines reported that Turney declined medical treatment.

Turney was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Four Juveniles Arrested For Drug Violations

Four juveniles were charged with possession of marijuana and paraphernalia when a state trooper responded to a complaint about a loud party in the Grantsville area last Saturday at 11:04 p.m. Tfc. B. Willetts of the McHenry barrack of the Maryland State Police reported that when he arrived at the scene, he stopped a vehicle pulling out of a private driveway to inquire about the party.

Willetts said he detected an odor of burnt marijuana, and a search revealed a quantity of suspected marijuana and paraphernalia. The juveniles, one female and three males, were arrested and later released to their parents.

Charged With Drug Violation

A vehicle driven by Jeremy Edward Dean, 21, Rowlesburg, W.Va., was stopped Tuesday at 6:13 p.m. while traveling northbound on Route 219 at the Fort in McHenry. Tfc. M. Clapper said that Dean's "furtive movements" following the traffic stop, led to a request to search the vehicle. Dean reportedly gave Clapper permission to search his vehicle.

The search revealed suspected marijuana, a pipe, and other paraphernalia which were seized by Clapper.

DWI

The following individuals were arrested for driving while intoxicated:

David Ray Schillingburg, 22, Friendsville, Oct. 21; Scott R. Beegle, 30, Bedford, Pa., Oct. 21; and Tamara Lynette Moran, 34, Oakland Oct. 29.

Grantsville Man Sustains Burn In Suspicious Fire

A Grantsville man sustained a burn to his right hand early Monday morning after an unknown person or persons allegedly set a fire on the front porch of his one-story ranch style home, located at 162 Foster Inn Road.

According to a report from the state fire marshal's office, someone set fire to combustible materials on the porch, and house owner Roger Tilgner was burned when he attempted to extinguish the flames. He and the other members of his family, wife Delores and daughter Tiffany, were successful in extinguishing the blaze prior to the arrival of the Grantsville VFD, and damage was minimal. Mr. Tilgner was transported to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland by the Northern Rescue Squad, where he was treated and released.

Damage to the house was estimated to be $350. The fire marshal's office is continuing its investigation into the incident.

HOSPITAL GALA NETS DONATION FROM ANGELOS FOUNDATION — The Garrett County Memorial Hospital 50th anniversary Golden Gala, set for on Saturday, Nov. 4, from 6 p.m. to midnight at the McHenry House at Wisp Resort, received a $25,000 donation from the Peter Angelos Foundation of Baltimore recently. Shown above from the left with the donation check are Jackie and Wayne Johnson, co-chairs of the Gala Committee; Kathy Greaser, director of development for the hospital; and Louise Conjura, GCMH Foundation chairman. Gala proceeds will provide funding for the hospital's new state-of-the-art CT scanner. Many local businesses have made donations for the live and silent auction. Among the items are various sports memorabilia, tickets to major league baseball and National Football League games, three vacation packages, an assortment of antiques, three all-terrain vehicles, several rounds of golf, and many other items.

Pa. Man Jailed For Drugs After Traffic Stop

A Pennsylvania man was arrested late last Wednesday night after suspected drugs were found in his vehicle in the wake of a traffic stop along National Highway, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Michael John Jones, 23, Soleberry, Pa., faces charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, speeding, and failure to illuminate a rear license plate with a functioning light bulb.

Shortly after 11 p.m. Jones was stopped by DFC Jeff Green, who was working a stationary radar device, along westbound National Highway in the area of Amish Road. Jones's suspicious behavior gave Green cause to request permission to personally search his vehicle's interior, which was denied, but an ensuing exterior K-9 drug detection scan resulted in an aggressive alert on the vehicle's front door.

With the K-9 alert providing probable cause, the deputy searched the vehicle's contents and located a small duffle bag that contained suspected marijuana, a smoking bong, and rolling papers.

Following his arrest, Jones was released from jail after posting a $500 bond as set by a district court commissioner.

others. The comedy show is for all ages and will be presented on December 15 and 16 at 8 p.m. and on the 17th at 2 p.m. In addition to those dates, the theatre is offering performances on Dec. 13 and 14 to companies or special interest groups who might wish to "buy the house" for the evening for their holiday parties (the play will be the entertainment for the group). If there are no group engagements for those evenings by Dec. 8, the theatre will use the 13th and 14th for public performances.

Right after Christmas the theatre will bridge the millennium by offering Letters to the Editor, a look at the local community through 130 years of correspondence to The Republican newspaper. Dates for this production will be Dec. 29, 30, and Jan. 5 and 6 at 8 p.m. and Jan. 7 at 2 p.m.

Reservations for all shows are strongly encouraged, a theatre spokesperson said, and may be made by calling 301-334-5640. When leaving a message to reserve tickets, persons should be sure to note the dates they wish to attend, how many tickets they need, and a contact telephone number.

Be Informed...

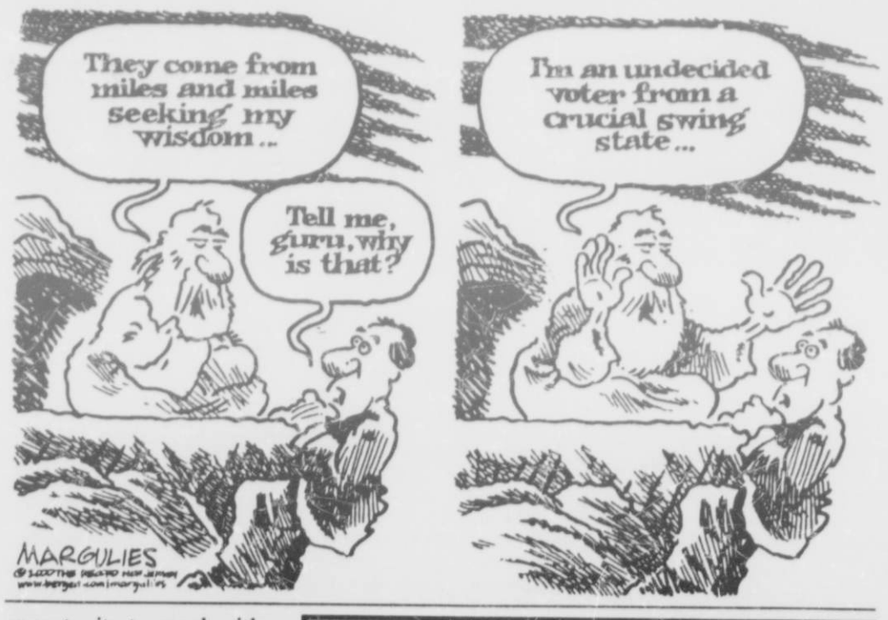
With the 2000 presidential election just days away, there are still many voters who just aren't quite sure whom to vote for, Bush or Gore. And with the polls so close, the exercising of this precious freedom is even more crucial, for the outcome could really come down to just a handful of votes.

A wise voter is one who selects the candidate whose views are most aligned with hers. It may or may not be the candidate whom the voter "likes" the most. After all, without personally knowing the candidates, how can one really make a solid judgment about which one she "likes" the most? Besides, some of our best friends may have opposite viewpoints than ours on certain issues. So how a candidate stands on the issues should be the major determining factor in how one votes.

However, in order to utilize this factor, one must become an informed voter. One must do homework, do research, and really listen to the candidates to find out just where they stand on the issues. Sound bites on television aren't nearly enough. In our fast-paced society, most of us don't take the time to become truly informed voters, and even when one does make the effort to listen to the candidates, so often their stands on the issues are covered up by all of the political rhetoric.

There is, however, an excellent web site sponsored by the Public Broadcasting System (PBS) that provides a clear position by the two major candidates, as well as the minor ones (Nader, Buchanan, et al.), on all of the issues. We recommend that site to all voters, especially those who are still undecided. The address is www.pbs.org. The user should click on "Frontline: The Choice" and then just follow the directions. It's easy, it's relatively quick, and it makes the candidates' positions clear in an objective way. With this incredible technology at our finger-tips, it is foolish not to utilize it. Those who don't have computers can find them at most libraries or at a friend's house.

An uninformed voter is in some ways worse than the citizen who just chooses not to vote at all. Here is a quick and easy way to become informed in these final days of the campaign, and then vote accordingly.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to one of the many rumors from a couple of the residents of Loch Lynn.

Arthur Beckman did not resign his position of council member because of any problems with the mayor or any council members. I want to personally thank Frank Arnold Contractors and the Beckman family for helping all the years that I served as your mayor.

Arthur resigned because of the accusations and disrespect by a few residents of Loch Lynn. I have known the Beckman family for many years. They are some of the finest people I have ever met. During my years as mayor of Loch Lynn, the Beckman family was always willing and ready to help with any problems in the town, day or night. They never asked anything in return, and I am appalled that a few residents in the town feel compelled to take acts of kindness and turn it into deceit.

Per usual, these residents have not been actually lying to the public; they have just been not giving the whole truth. It is time that the residents of Loch Lynn listen to the truth and support the candidates who will support the town and continue to make it a good place to live and raise a family.

Sincerely,
Charles H. Tressler

To the Editor:

The Speaker of the Maryland House, Cas Taylor, directly affects the amount of public monies shipped into Garrett County, including monies used to promote tourism and economic development. Delegate Edwards and the Speaker both speak the language of the REAL western Maryland. The benefits of Maryland's Speaker of the House being from this area are obvious to those who remember what it was like when we were down to a United States senator being the most important voice from this area.

Speaker Taylor's recent proposal to blend the instruments promoting tourism in Garrett County with those of Allegany County may or may not be workable in the context of local leaders' vision for Garrett County. In its present condition the proposal itself is not useful in determining with any precision how monies would be allocated or what the effects on existing bureaucracies would be. In other words, it is too early to pass judgment on it.

This proposal should be in the news from time to time, and my suggestion is that area leaders keep in mind what Cas Taylor has done for Garrett County when discussing his recent proposal. Whether Speaker Taylor's proposal becomes reality or is changed to a different format, there is no basis for criticizing the man.

My suggestion to all who read this is to keep discussions to the issue using facts and figures, and remember that our friend, Cas Taylor, is human. This particular proposal might or might not be a workable concept; but whether it is or not, we are well advised to keep our judgments to the issue because the man is proven to be our friend.

Sincerely,
W.L. Welch

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my strong opposition to ill-advised efforts to combine tourism marketing efforts with Allegany County as recently proposed. Some state-matched marketing dollars might be gained, but what about the losses to Garrett County? It's just like shooting quail. Simply spraying more bullets (or dollars) in a general fashion won't get the job done! The new and vastly improved Chamber has done a tremendous job attracting visitors to the area by intelligent targeting, and its staff must be dumbfounded that in response to their stellar performance the very existence of the chamber is up for grabs!

Chamber members, wake up and be heard! Will you be better represented and promoted in Cumberland, or in McHenry? This proposal came from without, and is without merit. Why else the rush to hurry it along before it can be fully considered? If this were good for Garrett, we'd be itching to see it implemented in January. As it is, others are itching, and we are afraid of offending.

As the proposal was presented, a point was made that folks come to visit the larger bi-county region. Not so in my experience — they come for the cool air, the woods, and the waters, not an old canal or old churches. We cannot pull together with weaker Allegany without also losing clear focus on, and diluting the appeal of, our product.

Others implied that in order to compete effectively in the future, teaming up would be essential, but I say that with the rise of the Internet and e-commerce you needn't be bigger, only better — and we have the better product. I appeal to the other small fish out there — Beware of a bigger pond!

To the Editor:

It was with great interest I read your article on the proposed Mountain Maryland Tourism entity. I also read your editorial on same.

Additionally I had the opportunity to speak with a number of Garrett County residents regarding this issue in my travels about the county. Some were aware of it, some were not. But the most interesting part about it is the lack of reaction.

Surely I'm not the only one who sees that this is fast-track legislation which will take a lot of the say about the Garrett County tourism industry out of the hands of the Garrett County people. Given that tourism is a (if not the) major industry of our county now, I cannot see how our local officials are not reacting to it.

From a layman's point of view, it appears that our Speaker of the House, Cas Taylor, has eyed a golden (forgive the pun) opportunity to seize a large portion of operating capital from Garrett County coffers and take it to Allegany County.

For those of you who may not know, Allegany County's tourism authority is spread over three or four agencies. In an attempt to bring unity (?) to the Allegany County issue, it appears, topically, that our Speaker of the House would like to use Garrett County funds to do so, and not only that, take away our organization and effort to maintain and promote tourism in Garrett County. Consider also that tourism in Allegany County is vastly different than that which is available in Garrett County.

The move by Speaker Taylor is not in the best interests of Garrett County, and if we fall asleep on this one, who knows what someone down east will next want to tap from the local coffers. Even more striking is that, if I read your account correctly, our local delegate, George Edwards, favors the move! This is just one man's limited point of view, and I'm sure there's more here than meets the eye.

I hope our local business people will start to make some noise before it's too late. And then remember this incident two years from now!

Charles E. Pariseau
Oakland

Dear Mr. Pariseau,

Thanks for your letter of concern on this extremely important issue. In fairness to Delegate Edwards, however, he has simply taken the position that this proposal may provide some good opportunities for Garrett County, and we should at least consider/study it. But he has emphasized repeatedly that, unless the proposal is 100% satisfactory to everyone involved, it will be dropped.

To the Editor:

The Garrett County commissioners once again have shown their vision and leadership in their commitment to fund significant monies over a multi-year period to the Adventure Sports Center.

The Garrett County accommodations and amusement taxes collected primarily on visiting tourist spending is approaching $800,000 per year. The Garrett County commissioners fund approaching $500,000 of the monies spent by the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce to encourage tourists to come to Garrett County and spend more tourist dollars in our county. The commissioners are investing the surplus Garrett County accommodations and amusement taxes into the Adventure Sports Center complex that will not only attract additional tourists but also develop sports venues that will improve the quality of life for Garrett County residents.

Yes, Garrett County is blessed with lakes, whitewater rivers, and snow, as a recent reader suggested in a letter to the editor. Our access and use of these assets is controlled by the ups and downs of temperature, how much rain we get or how much water is released from the dam. Garrett County does not have a significant sized indoor performing arts arena. Serious whitewater enthusiasts plus Garrett County residents in either the "Olympic training mode" or a "weekend whitewater warrior mode" of operation can use the circulating whitewater course. The Nordic cross-country ski trails will have snowmaking capabilities and will add to the downhill skiing experience. There are other venues of the Adventure Sports Center complex that will be available.

The letter pointed to educational needs facing Garrett County. The Garrett County school board and the school superintendent direct how the educational monies are allocated and spent. Garrett County tourist business establishments, vacation homeowners, and Garrett County residents employed in the tourism industry contribute significant tax revenues, which are invested in our educational system among other spending uses by the commissioners. The Garrett County commissioners' investment of the accommo-

APPLES AND ALL SOULS' DAY

This is the mid-point in my apple harvest. There are baskets upon baskets of apples sitting in the storehouse and some apples still on the trees. The Jonathans are now past their peak, and will, mostly, go for cider and sauce. From the cider will come a delicious apple jelly, which though not perfectly clear, has often been praised for flavor.

The Roxbury Russet gave a little more than two bushels this year. They are crisp enough for eating only early in October. They reach perfection, however, in the cider press and carboy, where they will become a champagne-like drink.

The Limbertwigs are not so abundant this year, but will keep for eating until they are wanted. The Granny Smith tree produced more fruit this year than ever before. It is a remarkable achievement for a tree that only a few years ago did not seem to want to produce any fruit at all. Right now the Granny Smiths are perfect for pies. A month from now their full flavor will have developed, and they will be as good an eating apple as one can find.

The Lady tree, a variety in continuous cultivation since Roman times, yields a small apple, equally decorative and aromatic. This year it too has produced more fruit than ever before, though still not much. With better pruning and spreading, it ought to give an abundant harvest in another year.

The Calvin apples are long gone having reached their prime in mid-August. The Esopus Spitzenberg, the Black Oxford, and a few other apples have not yet come into full production.

Every day I am doing something with apples. This fall more time is spent on cleaning them than I like. Mold and mildew were a major headache this year. I should have sprayed fungicide more often, but didn't. The consequence is to spend more time now washing them.

The harvest consists not merely in bringing the apples into the storehouse, but processing them thereafter. The inbringing is nearly complete, but the doing something with them is only just under way.

Today is All Souls' Day, the day after All Saints' Day. They are very Catholic days, which Protestants have had to rediscover. I have enjoyed that rediscovery, because these two feast days make sense of things which in a merely Protestant theology are, at best, blurred.

One question that Christians have asked since 50 A.D. is this: "What happens to the spirits of Christians who die before Jesus comes again?" The feasts of All Saints and All Souls give an apple harvest kind of answer.

As C.S. Lewis observed with poignant clarity in the little book he wrote after the death of his wife, A Grief Observed, the Bible tells us very little about what happens to the spirit of a Christian between death and the second coming of Christ. What little the Bible does say is inconsistent and even, apparently, contradictory. The passages about soul sleep, for example, do not jibe with our Lord's statement to the thief, "This day you will be with me in Paradise."

All Saints' and All Souls' Days make sense out of those inconsistencies. All Souls' Day is like the inbringing of the fruit. All the apples are in the barn, but they have not become all that they are meant to become. All Saints' Day is when the processing is complete, when the sauce is on the shelf and the cider is in the bottle and the pie stands cooling on the table.

All Souls' Day celebrates all those souls who are on their way to heaven. All Saints' Day celebrates all those souls who have actually entered heaven. To my way of thinking, a homemade apple pie, fresh from the oven, is a happy metaphor of heaven.

Apples, taken as a theme of glory, encourage us to ask the right kind of question about ourselves. Cultivators of apples like to ask, "What is this apple for?" What are its uses along the way, but most importantly, what is its ultimate purpose? It is a fitting question for fruit of another kind on this the day of All Souls.

TRAVELING THAT HALLOWEEN HIGHWAY

by Mary Sincell McEwen

Whew. It's over. That mad-dash, tiring, sugary, ghouly time of year when costumes become the mandated accessory for several days in a row, and daily arguments arise over just how many wads of Bazooka one ought to chew in a 15-minute span. One school of thought is, don't let them chew that stuff — it'll turn their teeth black. The other school is, let 'em chew eight pieces at a time — then it won't be long until there's none left. A parenting paradox.

I do love Halloween. I always have. I remember thinking that next to Christmas, it had to be the coolest of all holidays. I would conjure up my costume, or my mother would, and I would join in the parade in downtown Oakland with all the other kids. Then my sister and I would walk the streets of Mountain Lake Park, exercising our right to knock on doors and obtain, miracle upon miracle, loads of candy. If you can remember that, too, you can recall how incredible that seemed at the time. To this day, the mixed up scent of a brown paper bag and wrapped candy still jumpstarts my memories of those fall days.

So now I am a parent. I get to help figure out the costumes of three little boys and help them get ready for the big day. We start in about June, I think. This year was particularly fun, really, because the guys are old enough now that it isn't a constant struggle to get them ready. Oh, it's a struggle, but not a constant one. And all three of them get it now. They get the idea that this is a singular time of the year, a truly exceptional time, when their neighbors do out-of-character things and their house becomes filled with out-of-character booty. There are cookies and candy galore, along with special events, like cutting open pumpkins and digging out the gooey stuff, and then carving faces in the rind. What a tradition!

Of course, in our home, Halloween is augmented in a big way by the fact that our middle son Alex was born on Oct. 31, 1994. A birthday in the middle of Halloween just adds more heat to the rolling boil — sort of like a big thunderstorm followed up by a tornado. Everything just comes completely apart by Halloween evening, what with the sugar boosts and birthday hype — Well, it's a stinkin' nine-ring circus.

This year, I was the designated "walker-with" for trick-or-treat, and John stayed home to hand out goodies to all the little ghouls and bats. We decked out the porch with our six jack-o'-lanterns, our string of pumpkin lights, and even a running tape of Halloween sounds. Being right in town makes our house a popular stopping place, so we were host to 137 trick-or-treaters, thank you. (Thank goodness for Farmer's Market!) The vast majority of our visitors were polite and so adorable it could make you sick. But there were a very few who made us raise our eyebrows a bit.

There was the thin blond girl with the bored expression. She had no costume that we could figure out, but she did have a cigarette going. So she comes up the steps, looks at us like we smell, and holds out a brown lunch bag. John looked at her a little quizzically and she looked back at him, silent and bored, her cigarette burning. He popped a piece of gum in her pathetic little sack and she turned around, almost too bored to move, and trudged away, leaving a ribbon of sick blue smoke hanging in the air. After she left I thought of some great things to say to her, like, "So, what are you dressed as? Oh, I get it! Lung cancer! You're dressed as lung cancer. Very clever!" Or "Hey, we have a problem here. You have to be 12 or under to trick-or-treat, but you have to be 18 to smoke. Whoops!"

Then there are the comical ones who say they are getting candy for another kid, or they want to pick stuff out for a tiny baby. I think it's funny when a mother comes to the door holding a mewling infant whose probably still nursing, and the mother says in a harsh, gravelly voice something like: "She likes Reese's cups." You look down at the sleeping baby whose face is the size of a lemon. Its "costume" is a fake mustache drawn on with brown eyeliner. "And she likes 'em seven at a time," the mom says, digging in the candy. People sure make life interesting.

But really, most folks were great. And it's such fun. If you want to see an actual slice of living Americana, just come to Second Street in Oakland during trick-or-treat. The leaves are coming down all around, and the kids are everywhere. They are dressed in costumes that they have been excited about for weeks, and they are lightheaded about the plethora of candy being handed out with such abandon. Their parents are enjoying the diversion, too, for the most part, saying over and over "What do you say?" and the kids responding with mask-muffled thanks. For those who opted to keep the light off and hide in the bathtub until the siege was over, you missed a nice time.

Our three costumes (a ninja, a Power Ranger, and a Scream guy) are pretty ragged now, having been donned and doffed and donned again for parades and parties and candy-hunting. The seams are ripping and the Power Ranger mask got sat on. But they served their purpose and we salute them. Alex is officially 6 years old, too, and must now endure the birthdays of his brothers, knowing that his Big Day is the farthest away. Oh, but there is a new Lego set to build and computer games to play, and Grandma Alice's famous gingerbread men are still in good supply. And, of course, the end of Halloween really means only one thing: Christmas is not far away.

Yikes!

To the Editor:

Garrett County is an area that attracts folks from all over the country. The vast majority are extremely decent people who enjoy our scenic beauty and related lifestyle. While some of these folks only visit for short periods of time, others choose to make Garrett County their home. Many become involved in volunteer efforts and make valuable contributions to the community. There are, however, exceptions to every rule.

It seems a husband and wife team from downstate has located in Oakland. They abound with wisdom and knowledge on just about every imaginable topic. While they thirst to impart their knowledge upon the unwashed masses, they have been met with resistance at every turn! Horrors! They are opposed to and contradict or challenge almost every decision our elected officials have made and adamantly resist any type of progress in the community, including progress that could create much needed jobs and improved services. Because they are the anointed ones, the possessors of knowledge, they can attend zoning meetings and speak out of turn, shout down the local officials, and insult the integrity of decent citizens who donate their time to perform valuable community service by filling positions on the zoning boards and various other committees. Rules calling for decorum and decency do not apply to these, the chosen ones. For they are better than we! Although they have only been in the area for a few years, they know what's best for us and the community, and they plan to make sure that they get their way.

They have accused the Oakland Zoning Board of being "a good ole boy network" that "rubber stamps" just about every zoning permit or zoning variance. Nothing could be further from the truth. If some wanted to actually trouble themselves by looking at the facts (heaven forbid!) they would find that the Oakland Zoning Board rarely, if ever, approves these types of exceptions or variances. But let's not burden them with having to look at facts when baseless accusations and ignorant and impudent public behavior can prevail!

This dynamic duo was also rabidly opposed to the new Wal-Mart store and purportedly threatened to leave town if and when Wal-Mart located here. Travel tip: The best way out of town would be to take Rt. 219 north to Rt. 68 and turn right or left at Rt. 68. The wide open highway beckons you! For America has many small communities that need to be saved from themselves.

The conduct of this couple is reprehensible and an embarrassment to both the community and to themselves. If they possess even the slightest sense of civic-mindedness, they will discontinue their unsavory and petty campaign of hate and disdain for the local people who live, work, and donate time and effort toward the improvement of our community.

I would suggest that they both file for and seek elected office if they want to implement change.

Sincerely,
Douglas R. Railey
Oakland

To the Editor:

The time is soon upon us when, once again, America has the distinct privilege of choosing who our next leader will be. While many people declare that to vote is a measure of wasted time, the fact remains that, at some point, the few who do vote will eventually be the ones who decide who that leader is. I question whether that is indeed healthy for the nation.

I suppose it's not hard to understand why so many people are apathetic about voting, given the pathetic record of the past administration with regards to honesty, character, and morality. But bear in mind that it was WE who put those officials in office... and it is WE who must bear the responsibility of holding them accountable to the office they serve. If our leaders choose to deviate from the job they were hired for, I propose it is everyone's duty to see that they are upholding their office in an utmost and professional manner.

According to Statistical Abstract (1997), 59% of eligible voters cast a ballot for president in 1980. By 1996, that figure was down to 54%, and current trends suggest that figure has been reduced even further in recent general elections. In essence then, one can conclude that about half of the nation is making this decision for the rest of the nation. Is that a figure that we can live with?

Americans seem to live for the hour-at-hand, and long-term effects may seem inconsequential when they have money in their pockets. But think for a moment about the effects of decisions that are sometimes made by a select few. The Roe vs. Wade decision that has "allowed" society to murder 1.5 million unborn babies each year (Henslin 2000) is an example where I question indeed the qualification of those who made such a frivolous decision regarding human life. Those select few were appointed by the leader of the nation. Was that leader a true representation of character for our nation's welfare? Or was his character the representation of those who thought it important enough to vote. You decide.

There are those who have fought and died in this country to ensure the rights and freedoms that many now seem to take for granted. I consider the right to vote a privilege that God has allowed all Americans, and believe that we must take this responsibility seriously...perhaps to the point of declaring it a moral obligation. There is room for many ideas and ways of doing things in America, and I maintain that the person who best represents America as a whole is one who is put there by a majority of people...not a minority. The blood of those soldiers is upon every person's shoulders who can claim those rights and freedoms, as is the blood of every child who was taken before it had the chance to grasp life outside the womb. Think what one vote could mean to an unborn child.... Will that vote be yours?

Sincerest regards,
Jeff Bender

To the Editor:

We are fortunate in many ways to have a long-standing relationship with western Maryland, and Maryland in general. We graduated from Frostburg State in Allegany County many years ago and were recently able to purchase a townhouse in Garrett County, which we use personally and rent. Consequently, we have been members of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce since we started to rent our property. Furthermore, my father has been in Md. politics for years, ending his career a couple of years ago as the president of the Maryland Association of County Executive Officers. I say these things to give your readers some background on where I am coming from in my loyalties and my knowledge of the issue of the proposed legislation by Mr. Taylor.

No one should underestimate Mr. Taylor's abilities. He is formidable. My father tells me that he normally gets what he wants. So, Garrett County citizens have a tough problem in opposing his wishes. However, that is what I would urge them to do. As alumni of Frostburg, we are sympathetic to seeing Allegany County prosper, but we have never considered it a tourist destination. Deep Creek Lake has a unique identity that I believe is increasing each year in appreciation by those looking for a place to vacation. The tourist industry is Garrett County's primary economic base. Mr. Taylor's proposed legislation will only blur the Deep Creek identity and offers little to add other economic stimulus to the county. You need to find another solution.

I understand that Mr. Taylor has suggested that by accepting his proposed legislation, Garrett County will be eligible to participate in funding that is earmarked currently for only Allegany County. This is only a promise, and once Garrett County turns over control of the tourism industry to the new coalition proposed by the legislation, it will be very difficult to change anything Mr. Taylor does.

Finally, consider the other "tourism projects" that Mr. Taylor has helped fund. Remember the Frostburg Train Station, or Rocky Gap? Were they successful? Are they successful? It is perhaps a sign of wisdom that he turns to Garrett County in recognizing success. Tourism is a thing you do well. Please, do not do anything that will harm your efforts. Allegany and Garrett counties and their citizens have a lot of common interests. They also have unique strengths and challenges. You need to make sure that what you do in the long run focuses on building on the strengths as a source for meeting common interests. To the extent possible, work together on sharing ideas and interests, but do not give away your unique identity as a subsidy to cover failed initiatives.

Thanks,
Clint Bradley

To the Editor:

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank Jane Avery and the OTT board of directors for allowing the Our Town Theatre to "go to the dogs" during the month of November. The theatre, in collaboration with the Garrett County Humane Society, will be hosting a number of events between November 8 and November 19 to promote animal awareness in Garrett County. Proceeds from some of the programs will be donated to the Garrett County Humane Society to help support the spay/neuter, animal adoption, and education programs. I hope the public will take advantage of these opportunities to be enlightened and entertained.

The A.R. Gurney play Sylvia will highlight this week of "animal awareness." It is the story of how a Manhattan couple adopt a stray dog they name Sylvia, and how man and beast adjust to life together, and what they learn along the way. It is a sometimes funny, sometimes sad journey which is sure to touch all who see the play. Performances of Sylvia are slated to run from Wednesday, Nov. 8, through Saturday, Nov. 11, and again on Wednesday, Nov. 15, through Saturday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. Sunday matinees will be performed at 2 p.m. on Nov. 12 and 19.

SOME OF THE CLASS ACTS at the Garrett County Animal Shelter are shown here. The adult female mixed breed/part chow at the left has red coloring, and her regal stance is mixed with a friendly and energetic personality. The female mixed breed to the right is very friendly also, as would befit a face that has such floppy ears attached to it. The shelter is located along Oakland Sang Run Road and is open every day but Sunday. Persons may call 301-334-3553 for further information. Photos by Deb Hetrick.

SWANTON UMW PROMOTES NAPPING — Students at Dennett Road Head Start will rest easier at nap time with the help of homemade pillows made and donated to the class by the Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Women's Group. When a classroom parent volunteer realized that the class only had six pillows for 20 students, she and her fellow UMW members took it upon themselves to make over 20 pillows of assorted colors for the students, who will be taking them home at the end of the school year. Seated in the front row are, from the left, students Caitlin Weeks, Haley Jones, Chloe Artice, Bradley Clary, Harley Glotfelty, Sarah Artice, Ryan Rodeheaver, Emily Frank, Nicole McClosky, Melanie Burns, and teacher Debra Parlseau. In the second row are teacher's aide Teresa Armstrong, students Charlie Jones, Jeffrey DeWitt, Charles Thompson, Tiffany Hahn, Britani Sebold, Raven Vecchioni, Brian Longacre, Anthony Shahan, and Timothy Doman, and Maxine Ball of Swanton UMW.

Friends were received at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at St. Peter's Catholic Church on Saturday, Oct. 28, with Father James Hannon as celebrant. Interment was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

The family suggests memorials take the form of contributions to the Tri-Towns Rescue Squad or St. Peter's Catholic Church.

SWAN MEADOW SCHOOL has been the site of several activities this fall. During September the students, staff, and community spent weeks preparing for the annual Harvest Sale, a 51-year old tradition which originally began as the Blue Ribbon Sale. Coordinated by the school PTO, baked goods, farm produce, and hand-crafted items were donated by families in the community to be sold and auctioned on September 29 at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. The event drew hundreds of people to help raise money for the school. Also in September, meteorologist Dr. Richard J. Kane visited the students at Swan Meadow to help kick off the school's yearlong weather theme. He presented an informative computer-assisted program on weather instruments for the school's first through eighth grade students. This special educational event was arranged by Bea Crosco of Flowers by Webers, who maintains a local weather station for the National Weather Service. The auction at this year's Harvest Sale (pictured above) was a lively event with many items up for bid. From left, PTO president Rubin Peachy and Oren Bender assist auctioneer Bob Custer (center). Keeping track of the bids are Clark Yoder and John Yoder. Students took turns helping with the auction and sale items. In the photo below, from left, are Crosco, Kane, and principal Linda Fleming with some of the students who attended the presentation on weather tracking instruments.

ELWOOD G. DEWITT

Elwood G. DeWitt, 84, Interlachen, Fla., formerly of Deer Park, died Friday, Oct. 27, 2000, at his home.

Born March 25, 1916, in Deer Park, he was a son of the late Rev. Gilmore H. and Linna L. (Waters) DeWitt. He was also preceded in death by one son, James L. DeWitt; three brothers, Robert DeWitt, William DeWitt, and James DeWitt; and two sisters; Winifred Bowers and Virginia Neach.

He was a retired truck driver for Quaker Oats Co. and Lawson's Milk Co.

Survivors include his wife, Eileen A. (Enlow) DeWitt; four daughters, Claudine Hoisington, Clearwater, Fla., Linda Almond, Leesburg, Fla., and Donna Blubaugh and Judy Wright, both of Randolph, Ohio; one son, Elwood W. DeWitt, Palmyra, Ohio; six sisters, Martha Peabody, Princeton, N.J., Irene Gibson, Silver Spring, Anna Cannon, Deer Park, Joanne Cupp, Martinsburg, W.Va., and Dixie Wardrop and Linnie L. Krisman, both of Frederick; 12 grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted Wednesday, Nov. 1, with the Rev. Arthur Queen officiating. Interment was in the Deer Park Cemetery.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to Hospice of Garrett County, P.O. Box 271, Oakland, MD 21550.

HELEN M. DOLLY

Helen M. Dolly, 61, Flintstone, died Tuesday, Oct. 31, 2000, at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Born March 30, 1939, in Oakland, she was a daughter of Agnes Cecelia (Shaffer) Beckwith, Flintstone, and the late Paul Theodore Beckwith. She was also preceded in death by two sisters, Dorothy Keister and Evelyn Griffen, and one brother, James Beckwith.

She attended the Flintstone United Methodist Church.

Dolly II, both of Flintstone; one daughter, Deborah Deremer, Hagerstown; one brother, Donald Beckwith, Rocky Mountain, S.C.; one sister, Betty Carucci, Austin, Texas; 12 grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Merritt-Adams Funeral Home, Cumberland, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. today, Thursday. A service will be conducted at the funeral home on Friday, Nov. 3, at 1 p.m., with the Rev. Fred Iser officiating. Interment will follow in the Glendale Cemetery, Flintstone.

HELEN M. BROADWATER

Helen Marie Broadwater, 57, Salisbury, Pa., died Sunday, Oct. 29, 2000, at Presbyterian Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Born March 29, 1943, in Avilton, she was a daughter of the late Samuel and Melva (Broadwater) Crowe.

She was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church and was a homemaker.

Survivors include her husband, Forrest E. Broadwater; one daughter, Lori Kim Gray, Salisbury; one stepdaughter, Elaine Doto, Phoenix, Ariz.; two sisters, Diona Broadwater, Avilton, and Arlene Morris, New Smyrna Beach, Fla.; and one granddaughter.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville. A service was conducted at St. John's Lutheran Church earlier today, Nov. 2, with the Rev. David E. Fetter officiating. Interment was in the Salisbury Cemetery.

The family suggests memorials take the form of contributions to St. John's Lutheran Church.

LORÉNE MASTERS

Lorene (Howard) Masters, 89, Caldwell, W.Va., died Sunday, Oct. 22, 2000, at Alleghany Regional Hospital, Low Moor, Va.

Born Aug. 31, 1911, at Caldwell, she was a daughter of the late Tom and Delsie (Honaker) Howard. She was also preceded in death by her daughter, Wilma Lee, and two sons, Gilbert Masters and Kenneth Masters.

She was a homemaker and a member of the Caldwell Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Survivors include a daughter, Christine Bostic, Ronceverte, W.Va.; two sons, Lawrence Masters, Caldwell, and Merle Masters, Oakland; one brother, Jesse Howard, El Paso, Texas; nine grandchildren; and 17 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Morgan Funeral Home, Lewisburg, W.Va. A service was conducted Wednesday, Oct. 25, at the Caldwell Pentecostal Holiness Church, with the Rev. Cleveland Harrison officiating. Interment was in the Rosewood Cemetery, Lewisburg.

JAMES F. BERGSTROM

James F. Bergstrom, 72, Mt. Storm, W.V., died Sunday, Oct. 29, 2000, at his home.

Born Nov. 16, 1927, in Davis, W.Va., he was a son of the late Carl and Thelma (Hopps) Bergstrom. He was also preceded in death by a daughter, Sabrina S. Fansler.

He was a seaman with the Merchant Marines for over 40 years, and as a U.S. Army veteran of the Korean Conflict.

Survivors include his wife, Johanna M. (Menter) Bergstrom; five sons, Thomas W. Bergstrom, Cincinnati, Ohio, Michael H. Bergstrom, Las Vegas, Nev., Steve J. Bergstrom, Colorado Springs, Colo., James A. Bergstrom, Meilden Hall, Germany, and Carl A. Bergstrom, Yuba City, Calif.; and eight grandchildren.

At the deceased's request, his body was cremated. A private memorial service will be conducted at a later date.

The Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, is in charge of arrangements.

ARE WE HIP OR WHAT? Two flower children and, we think, Peter Pan were among the hundreds of characters in the annual Halloween parade in Oakland last week. The "hippie" getup was popular this year, as were the usual scary characters of Dracula and various swamp monsters. Some more creative outfits seen included a walking pile of leaves and a complex Lego Technic character.

residence at least once while standing in the driveway. The home was occupied by two persons at the time of the gunfire, as was a car parked in the immediate vicinity. No one was injured during incident.

Best faces charges of three counts each of second degree assault and reckless endangerment, and one count of disturbing the peace. He remains incarcerated in the Garrett County Detention Center on a $30,000 bond as set by a district court commissioner.

Southern Band Wins First At FSK Tournament

The Southern Garrett Marching Band traveled to Francis Scott Key High School near Frederick last Saturday to compete in that school's annual field show competition, and returned home with first place in Division I.

The band earned a score of 82.02, its best mark of the season, and also was awarded the Best Drum Major, Best Music, Best Percussion, and Best Band Front awards. Southern's score was third best in the entire competition, which included bands as large as Division V.

The band, under the direction of Richard Clever, will compete again this Saturday in the Chapter 13 Tournament of Bands Championships, to be hosted by Frankfort High School in Short Gap, W.Va.

Hammers, Strings Next Offering Of "Bach's Lunch"

Hammers and Strings Ensemble, a local hammered dulcimer group, will present a free concert of Appalachian folk music and hymns next Wednesday at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland, beginning at noon. The concert is one in a weekly series known as "Bach's Lunch," at which persons are invited to stay for a boxed lunch after the performance. The series is being held in commemoration of the 250th anniversary of the death of composer Johann Sebastian Bach.

Other programs in the series will be: Music for Cello and Organ, Nov. 15; Music for Soprano and Organ, Nov. 22; Organ Music of Advent, Nov. 29; Music for Bagpipes and Organ, Dec. 6; Music for Tenor and Organ, Dec. 13; and Organ Noels of Southern France, Dec. 20.

Some 50 persons were in attendance at yesterday's "Bach's Lunch" concert, which featured local trumpeter Tom Simpson and organist Jerry McGee.

Suspect Charged In Alleged Deer Park Assaults

An Oakland man was arrested Monday after Garrett Bureau of Investigation detectives concluded their probe into an alleged assault that took place in Deer Park on October 23.

John Wayne Strawser Jr., 23, faces charges of one count each of first degree assault and reckless endangerment, and two counts of second degree assault. The charges stem from an alleged assault on a 26-year-old woman and her son at a Deer Park Avenue location, when Strawser reportedly struck the child in the head and neck with a wrench. When the mother intervened on her son's behalf Strawser then allegedly assaulted her.

Following his arrest, Strawser was released from the Garrett County Detention Center on a $5,000 bond as set by a district court commissioner.

James Loman Paugh, 55, had been arrested in September by Garrett County sheriff's deputies who were called to an altercation at his Ward Meadow Lane residence.

Concetta Marie Burns, 44, Bayard, W.Va., was deemed not guilty of second degree assault when the suspected victim refused to testify. She had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in April after an altercation in Mtn. Lake Park.

Georgia Jean Cheshire, 44, and Kenneth Bushrod Hardesty Jr., 20, both of Oakland, and Sean Goodwin, 24, Point Marion, Pa., were each deemed not guilty of separate and unrelated second degree assault charges after Judge Burnett heard their respective cases from the bench in their entirety.

FAST AND FURIOUS was the action Tuesday night in a 1A West Region quarterfinal match between the Northern High Huskies and the Southern Rams, which was played as the Huskies' home game, but on the Rams' field because of excavating work that commenced last week on Northern's field. It was the third time that the two teams had met this season, with the Huskies winning the first two matches. The Rams, however, emerged with a 3-1 victory and advanced to a semifinal clash with Williamsport which is set for this Friday evening, also in Oakland. In the above photo, Northern's Andy Fike heads toward the Ram goal. Dropping back are (from left) Josh Stevens of Southern, Ron Lipscomb of Northern, and Southern's Bryan Schwalm and Chad Panther. Approaching the ball in the photo below are Northern's Guy Beitzel, right, and Southern's Chris Remley, who scored two of the Rams' three goals. At left are Shawn Fike of Northern and Southern's D.R. Parsons. See story for details. Photos by John McEwen.

Northern Girls Cage Wildcats To Advance In Region Playoffs

A pair of goals by Brooke Butler and one more by her sister Lyndsi led the Northern High School girls' varsity soccer team to a 3-1 1A West Region playoff victory over Westmar Tuesday evening on the Southern High School field. The win advances the Huskies to a semifinal clash with host Beall this evening in Frostburg.

Brooke Butler put the Huskies on top for good with a goal off an assist by Emily Rawe with 13:09 left in the first half against Westmar. She doubled that mark about nine minutes later when she scored an unassisted goal 4:10 before intermission.

Lyndsi Butler put the Huskies up 3-0 with an unassisted goal at the 22:29 mark of the second half.

A goal by Sara Devlin off a feed by Danielle Beeman with just 1:30 remaining in the match averted a shutout for the Wildcats, who concluded their season with an overall record of 3-10-1.

The Huskies finished with a convincing 23-12 lead in shots on goal and a 6-2 advantage in corner kicks. Ashley Warnick recorded eight saves in goal for the Huskies, and Ashley McCutcheon had 11 for the Wildcats.

The win pushed the Huskies' overall record above the .500 mark, as they will take a 7-6-2 to Frostburg to meet Beall for the third time this season. Northern split with the Mountaineers in the regular season, winning the first match, 2-1, and dropping the second, 2-0. Beall is 9-2-1 and advanced to tonight's semifinal round by edging Allegany, 1-0, Tuesday night.

Rams Top Huskies In Playoff Match; To Face Williamsport

The third time was the charm for the Southern High School boys' varsity soccer team, as the Rams defeated the favored Northern High Huskies, 3-1, in a 1A West Region quarterfinal playoff match Tuesday evening in Oakland. The Huskies had edged the Rams by one goal in each of the regular season meetings, and were supposed to host Tuesday's match. However, because of work now under way on the Northern athletic field, the match had to be moved to Southern.

The contest was virtually even for the first 65 minutes, in terms of both possession and scoring, as each team scored one goal in that time frame. The outcome was decided when the Rams scored two goals in the final 15 minutes. The game also featured numerous outstanding one-on-one efforts, ball handling, and defensive saves.

Chris Remley's unassisted goal with about 20½ minutes expired in the first half broke the scoreless tie and gave the Rams a 1-0 edge. A goal by Northern's Mike Fletcher on a direct kick with eight minutes remaining tied the score at 1-1, and it remained that way until late in the match.

A goal by Clement Chauzat with 15 minutes left off an assist by Bryan Schwalm gave the Rams the lead for good. Remley added an insurance goal off a feed from Ryan Ewing with about three minutes left.

Total shots on goal affirmed the closeness of the contest, as the Rams finished with a 14-13 edge. Southern led in corner kicks by a 5-1 margin.

Southern goal keeper Chris Menker had a dozen saves, while Northern's Woody Kenner recorded 11.

The result ended the Huskies' 2000 season with an even 6-6-1 record, while the victory upped the Rams' overall mark to 6-7 and advances them to the semifinal round of the playoffs. They will host a talented Williamsport team this Friday at 5 p.m., after which (at 7 p.m.) the Southern girls' varsity will play the Williamsport girls in a semifinal match.

Southern	1	2	- 3
Northern	1	0	- 1

First Half

S - Ryan Ewing unassisted, 20:30.

N - Mike Fletcher direct kick, 8:00.

Second Half

S - Clement Chauzat assisted by Brian Schwalm, 15:00.

S - Chris Remley assisted by Ryan Ewing, 3:00.

Rams To Host Williamsport Friday Evening

The Southern High boys' and girls' soccer teams will both be in 1A West Region semifinal playoff action at home this Friday evening, and in both matches the opponent will be Williamsport.

The boys' match will kick off at 5 p.m. and be followed by the girls' match, slated to get under way at 7 p.m. The Southern boys earned a spot in the semifinals by topping Northern Tuesday night, while the Southern girls received a bye in the quarterfinals because of their region-best record for the regular season (12-1).

The summer sunshine has changed to bring us fall foliage and I'd like to thank all my sponsors for helping me through the 2000 racing season. I want each of my sponsors to know that all they contributed to me for racing is truly appreciated. I could never do it without each and everyone of you.

The following are the sponsors who contributed to the 2000 racing season: Seth's Self Storage, Paul Thomas & Sons, Shaffer Tours & Charters, Milro Services Inc.., Maryland Minerals, Designs 2000, Copy Catz Pizza, Caney Valley Sport Shop, Tradewinds, and Frazee Trucking.

To my pit crew—your time and efforts have always seen me through, and it is appreciated more than words can express. 2000 pit crew: Brandon, Alex, Bill, Mike, Mom and Dad.

Also another important part to the racing season is the support of my race fans. Your strength in numbers gives me confidence to succeed to the winners' circle where I always realize you're there.

To my inspiration in life, Denise, I want to thank you for your love and support through another year and thank God for all the above....

Hopefully we all have a great racing season in 2001.

Thanks
Jeff Thomas

Undefeated Huskies Flatten Mounties; Playoff Berth On Line In Lonaconing

The Northern High School varsity football team played before a rowdy home crowd for its 2000 homecoming contest, and gave the Beall Mountaineers a 47-12 thrashing on its way to a 7-0 record. The Huskies are slated to take on their two major rivals over the upcoming final two contests of season, as they travel to Lonaconing tomorrow night to battle the offensive powerhouse Westmar Wildcats, and close the year with a Nov. 10 visit to Oakland to take on the always-tough SHS Rams. A win over 5-3 Westmar will clinch a Maryland Class 1A playoff slot for Northern.

Friday against Beall, the Huskies put halfback Rob Dozier to work when the Mounties' defense attempted to key on fellow runner Mark Wolf, and big #23 responded to the occasion and then some. Dozier gained 242 yards on the night and scored two touchdowns, one coming when he took a pitchout from quarterback Trey Brenneman and rambled 55 yards into the endzone.

"This was Rob's best game of his career," NHS head coach Phil Carr, who has molded Dozier and his senior teammates into one of the top squads in the state over his tenure at the Huskies' helm. "He's only been playing organized football for three years, but he showed all of us what he's learned in a short time, and that knowledge, along with his physical ability, makes him a potent weapon. He hit the holes quick and took advantage of his blocks; and when someone rushes for that many yards you know the offensive line is doing some fine blocking."

Beall had come into the game scheming to take Wolf, the Huskies' top runner this season, out of the picture by overloading the defensive line to his side and keying their linebackers to dog his every move, but Carr's troops were ready. "With our option offense, and our quickness and intelligence along the offensive line, you can take one or even two ballcarriers out of the game and we still can run the ball," the NHS skipper remarked. "Even if Wolf and Dozier are contained, we still have a great fullback in Bill Rodeheaver, and a fine running quarterback in Trey Brenneman, who are going to get the job done."

Rodeheaver helped get the job done Friday when he rumbled 20 yards for the game's first score with 7:31 on the first quarter clock. Brenneman's kick made the score 7-0. Dozier sprinted away from all pursuers six minutes later for his 55-yard touchdown carry, and a two-point conversion run by Wolf put the Huskies up by 15 points.

Beall cracked the scoreboard early in the second quarter when Ryan Harper gathered in a 10-yard pass from Chris McCormick. With just 1:19 to go in the half, NHS responded with a five-yard TD run by Dozier and a successful Brenneman point-after-touchdown kick. The crowd's ovation was still echoing off the hills surrounding the Cove when cornerback Jeremy Frazee picked off a McCormick pass with 53 seconds remaining and sprinted 44 yards for a touchdown, kicking off yet another chorus of "Who Let the Dogs Out."

Although Beall's defense managed to hold Wolf to 47 yards on the night (far off his 153-per-game average) he did his offense damage with some crushing blocking for Dozier and Rodeheaver, and also put six points on the scoreboard with a five-yard scoring run of his own early in the third quarter. Brenneman's PAT kick split the uprights again to make the score 35-6.

Beall's Zach Roberts scored on a three-yard carry midway through the fourth quarter, making for the first points the Huskies' "gravedigger" defense had given up all year on the ground. The Huskies refused to release their choke-hold, however, and scored again when 5-5 halfback Lee Yoder made a beeline for the endzone from 37 yards out at the 4:27 mark. Just over two minutes later Brenneman held on the ball and scored on a 25-yard keeper to put NHS up by the final 35-point margin.

In addition to the offensive fireworks, Carr saluted the efforts of the Northern defense, one of the stingiest in Maryland, which allowed only eight first downs and 192 total yards. "Our defenders put in another fine team effort, and I've never seen a pair of linebackers that work so well together as Wolf and Rodeheaver," the coach observed. "Both of them are smart, able to recognize formations on their own, and they know where all nine of their teammates need to be on the field. It's like having two coaches in uniform." The pair combined for 29 tackles, and sophomore safety Aaron Mitchell brought down 11 Beall ballcarriers as well.

"It was a sweet win for us, because Beall has been beating us fairly consistently over recent years," said Carr. "The kids were extremely motivated, prepared themselves well, and rose above the homecoming distractions, while having some fun to boot. The seniors — Dozier, Wolf, Rodeheaver, Toby Gilpin, Brandon Kamp, and Malcom Simmons — were able to go out in style at home, and the younger players and coaching staff were really happy for them."

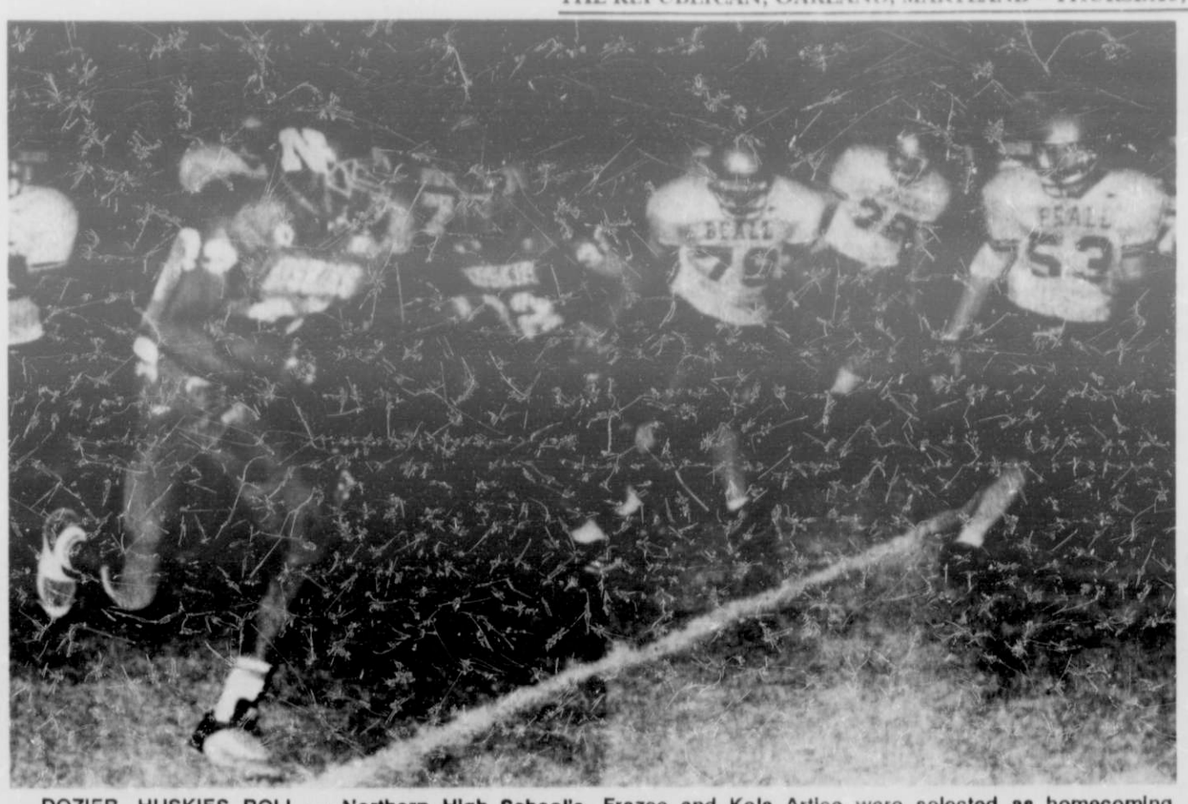
Northern's defense will get its biggest test so far this season tomorrow night in Lonaconing when they go up against Westmar, which scored 49 points last Friday against Allegany — and lost by one point. "Wildcat coach Gary Marsh is a gunslinger, and likes to mix up his formations using multiple sets and trick plays to throw a defense off," said Carr. "They really like to throw the ball and run to the outside, and to win our defense will have to contain the ends of the line and put pressure on the passer. Our offense is going to have to chew up the clock on long possession drives and keep the ball out of Westmar's hands."

Wildcats to watch include one of the region's top running backs, junior halfback Jeremy Sellers (5-10, 175). The speedy scatback is an all-around weapon, with good hands and kick-returning prowess as well. Quarterback Bobby Alkire (6-0, 170), only a sophomore, is rapidly maturing into a fine passer and has the ability to run the ball, as evidenced by his second-place ranking in team rushing yardage. Alkire's favorite target is senior split end Josh Glass (6-3, 180), who isn't afraid to go across the middle for a reception. Fullback/linebacker Luke Morton (5-9, 170) is scouted out as a fine blocker and the team's best defensive player, anchoring the Wildcat defense at middle linebacker.

"We say this a lot, but this game is big and our kids know it," Carr said. "Some of the comments of Allegany's coach that appeared in the Cumberland paper after the Alco/Westmar game have stuck in their craw, when Coach Kane stated that the Wildcats will 'probably represent the west region in the playoffs'. We cut that quote out and hung it on the locker room wall, and our guys have been reading that every day this week. They are ready, no doubt about it.

"It's time for us to take care of business; we weren't supposed to have a winning record this year, let alone be undefeated and a serious playoff contender. I'm really proud of our players and our coaches, all of whom have worked extra-hard this week. We hope a large number of Garrett County fans will come down Backbone to see us play, especially since Southern is out of town. 'Coney can be pretty hostile to a visiting team, and we'll take all the support we can get. It will be a great game."

Kickoff time is slated for 7:30 p.m.



DOZIER, HUSKIES ROLL — Northern High School's homecoming football game Friday night was a raucous romp, as the Huskies trampled visiting Beall by a 47-12 margin. Halfback Rob Dozier (#23) is shown above motoring around the right side of the line on his way to a 242-yard night, with fellow running back Mark Wolf (#32) preparing to throw a block on a trailing defender. While the Husky lineman in the background to the left is unidentifiable, one can make out lineman Bryan Lenhart (#71) at the far right. When Dozier wasn't running the Mounties ragged, his teammates in the backfield, including quarterback Trey Brenneman (#7) below left, were getting in on the act in a big way, as NHS racked up an eye-popping 514 yards of offense — every inch of it on the ground. The festivities included the halftime crowning of the 2000 Northern homecoming queen and king, seniors Kelly Carr and Aaron Wilhelm, pictured below to the right. Fellow seniors Jeremy Frazee and Kola Artice were selected as homecoming prince and princess. The unbeaten Huskies are slated to take on the high-powered Westmar Wildcats in tomorrow's Lonaconing match-up that could clinch Northern a playoff spot for the second consecutive season.

NAMED "LITTLE MISS INDIAN" — 8-year-old Presley Lauren Stein, daughter of Marvin and Wendy Stein of Bridgeport, W.Va., and granddaughter of Dennis and Cheryl Shaffer of Oakland and Marvin and Nancy Stein of Clarksburg, W.Va., was named Little Miss Indian 2000 by Bridgeport High School recently. She earned the honor by raising $1,439 as part of a benefit for the Bridgeport Indian cheerleader squad that generated over $7,000 in proceeds. As Little Miss Indian, Stein will be a special guest at the BHS homecoming and prom, ride in high school and other Bridgeport area parades, and will crown next year's recipient. A third grader at Simpson Elementary School, Stein is a Pop Warner Football League cheerleader, a member of the Bridgeport United Methodist Church, and says she enjoys playing the piano and tennis.

Rams Rally To Tame Mountain Lions, 28-7

After spotting the Tucker County Mountain Lions seven points in the opening minutes of Friday night's game in Oakland, the Southern High Rams regrouped, made some defensive adjustments, took control of the contest, and emerged with a 28-7 victory. It was the fifth win in eight starts for the Rams, who are now assured of at least a .500 record for the season.

The Lions, who concluded their season with a 3-7 mark, took the opening kickoff and methodically marched down the field with a balanced combination of run and pass plays engineered by quarterback Jake Bava. The drive was capped by a one-yard scoring run by Bava at the 7:20 mark of the first quarter, and the conversion kick by Josh Arnold gave the Lions a 7-0 lead.

The Rams responded with their own scoring drive on their first possession, with quarterback Josh Sharon scoring on a nine-yard run with 1:40 left in the first stanza. Jeremy Hayhurst's successful kick for the extra point knotted the score at 7-7.

An intercepted pass less than a minute later deep in Lion territory set up another touchdown by the Rams, which was scored by Hayhurst on a 10-yard run to give Southern the lead for good. Hayhurst also kicked the extra point to make it 14-7.

Sharon scored his second of three touchdowns on the evening when he capped another Ram drive with a 10-yard scoring run with 3:20 remaining before halftime. Hayhurst's conversion kick gave the Rams a 21-7 halftime advantage.

Tucker County's offense sustained a serious blow when Bava had to leave the game with a hand injury in the second quarter. He was treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he learned that his injury was just a serious bruise. Arnold filled in at the quarterback position the rest of the game.

The third quarter was a scoreless defensive struggle, but the Rams added an insurance touchdown in the fourth period when Sharon broke loose for a 27-yard touchdown run. Hayhurst kicked his fourth extra point of the night to conclude the scoring.

Hayhurst led the Rams' balanced rushing effort with 116 yards, while Sharon recorded 86 and Steve Skipper finished with 51. Pacing the Southern defensive unit, which limited Tucker to a total of 91 yards of offense (minus 46 yards rushing), was junior Brad Palmer, who had eight tackles, including 3½ sacks.

Bava and Arnold passed a total of 30 times, and played from the shotgun position the entire game. Bava completed seven of 13 aerials for 65 yards, while Arnold connected on six of 17 for 89 yards.

"On Tucker's first drive we were doing a lot of stunting on our defensive line, which is what we thought we would have to do in order to get around their big linemen and put pressure on their quarterback," said Ram coach Fred Gregg. "But that gave them some running lanes, and they capitalized on that. So we had our linemen go back to just a straight rush, and that really worked for us.

"We were pleased with how well our kids made the adjustment, rebounded nicely offensively, and took control of the tempo of the game from that point on. We did a good job keeping the pressure on their quarterback. We ran well, and we played a very physical game," he said.

The game did take its toll on the Rams, as starting senior linebacker and backup fullback Joel Helbig sustained a broken bone in his hand, which had to be surgically pinned this week. He is listed as "questionable" for this week. "Joel is hoping to get a padded cast and be able to play this week, but we'll see," Gregg said.

Also expected to be on the sidelines again this week is Dan Thayer, who sustained a knee injury in the Hampshire game.

The Rams will need an outstanding effort this Friday night if they hope to add another win, as they must travel to Cumberland and face undefeated Fort Hill, a team that Gregg describes as having no discernable weaknesses.

"They are absolutely sound, across the board," Gregg said. "Their program, in terms of their coaching, their work ethic, and their dedication in the off-season, is one that we would like to emulate."

The Sentinels, who are 8-0 and coming off an impressive 35-6 thrashing of powerful Martinsburg (8-2) last week, run from the wing-T on offense. They are led by a host of excellent running backs, including senior halfback Greg Ewell (5-9, 145), junior halfback Joel Fradiska (5-10, 182), and senior fullback Marcus Trimble (5-9, 210), plus a solid quarterback in senior Trenton Lewis (6-2, 171). The top receiver is junior Zack Alkire (6-1, 177).

"We are most impressed with their offensive line," Gregg said. "They come off the ball fast and hard, with very crisp blocking, and their backs work very well with their line," Gregg said. "They really don't run more than about a half-dozen plays, but they run those extremely well and haven't had to do anything fancy."

Defensively the Sentinels operate primarily from a 6-2 formation, with their line anchored by senior guards Steve Pullin (6-5, 230) and Kris Barb (5-10, 231).

"They're not huge, but they have good size, experience, and quickness," Gregg said.

The linebacking corps is paced by Fradiska and Trimble, while the secondary is solid with Ewell, Lewis, and senior Chad Kelier (6-0, 162).

"We know we are going to have to mix things up a little more this week," Gregg said. "We will still run the ball with some quick hitters, but we will try to throw more and do whatever we can to keep them off balance. We can't get into a slugfest with them though, because week after week they have been able to wear teams down.

"But we are really looking forward to the game, and once again, we will play hard and try our best to come home with a win," he concluded.

Friday's kickoff at Greenway Avenue Stadium is set for 7:30 p.m.

TOUCHDOWN! Southern High School senior quarterback Josh Sharon is pictured above diving over the goal line for one of his three touchdowns scored Friday night against visiting Tucker County. After falling behind 7-0 in the early minutes of the contest, the Rams rallied for a convincing 28-7 victory, their fifth in eight games so far this season. Pictured above right is Jeremy Hayhurst from his defensive position dragging down a Tucker ball carrier. Hayhurst led the Rams' rushing effort with 116 yards. He also scored one touchdown and kicked four extra points. Below, Southern back Steve Skipper finds some daylight around the right side of the line and finished the evening with 51 yards rushing. Also identifiable in that photo are John Hayhurst (#68) and, at far right, Brad Palmer (#54), who spearheaded the Ram defensive effort by recording eight tackles, including 3½ sacks. It was the 2000 homecoming game for the Rams and their fans, so during the halftime break, Leah Miller was crowned homecoming queen, and James Preston was crowned king. The Rams' next encounter will be against undefeated Fort Hill this Friday in Cumberland. Photos by Don Sincell

CYCLISTS EARN MEDALS - Three Special Olympics athletes from Garrett County participated in a one day cycling event in Sykesville on Saturday, Oct. 7. More than 30 athletes took part in this competition, which was hosted by the Maryland State Police. All counties in Maryland were involved, and the event itself was officiated by the US Cycling Association. Every special athlete from Garrett County who participated took home an award. Robert Broadwater took two gold medals, Keith Platter received a silver and a bronze medal, and Shannon Forrester was awarded a silver medal. These three athletes, who have been practicing for many weeks, were coached by Chad Brown. In the photo above are Garrett County athletes Keith Platter, left, second place winner, and Robert Broadwater, first place winner in their category. Below are second place winner Shannon Forrester of Garrett County and first place winner Julia Schnorf Howard County. For more information on Special Olympics in Garrett County, persons may call 301-895-3793.

A WHOPPER, specifically a 27-inch brown trout, was reeled in last Friday by Meredith Ball of Swanton, who was fishing in the Potomac River. Rev. Ball is pastor of Otterbein United Methodist Church in Swanton. He and his wife Maxine enjoy spending some of their leisure time fishing.

Meeting Slated For Parents Of NHS Wrestlers

There will be a mandatory meeting for all parents of Northern High School wrestlers next Wednesday, Nov. 8, at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria. According to Coach Scott Stough, the purpose of the meeting is to review and discuss the new Board of Education policies for athletics. Team rules will also be discussed. Parents are asked to bring a pen and insurance information to complete the proper forms.

Persons who have any questions and/or concerns may contact Coach Stough at 301-746-8668.

METTIKI COAL HELPING BRENDA'S ATHLETES — The Mettiki Coal company will sponsor a Christmas festival, to be presented by Brenda's Body Shop and to benefit the House of Hope. The show will be held at Southern High School on Dec. 17 from 2 until 5 p.m. The show will include special performances and highlights from "The Nutcracker All Jazzed Up." Over 100 children, along with Santa Claus, will participate in the holiday workout. "We are so excited that Mettiki is giving us such support," said Brenda Brosnihan, coordinator of this fourth annual event. "The company's donation will help with expenses and offer some great prizes to reward the children for their efforts in soliciting pledges for the House of Hope." Pictured with the children, standing, from left, are Al Smith, representing Mettiki, Santa, and Sister Joanna Sinko from the House of Hope. Brosnihan is kneeling.

GCC MEN'S B-BALL CAPTAINS NAMED — Members of Garrett Community College men's basketball team selected sophomores Dustin Long, left, and Robert Hall as team captains for the upcoming 2000-2001 season. Long, a past All-Area player at Northern High School, is the squad's lone returning player from last year's excellent Laker unit. He averaged 5 points and 4 rebounds per game coming off the bench last season, and is vying for a starting forward spot this year. Hall, a transfer student from Essex CC (Baltimore County) who averaged 16 ppg and 5 assists last season, has already earned the starting point guard slot. "Both Dustin and Rob are perfect examples of what we are working to accomplish," GCC head coach Dennis Gibson commented. "They lead on the court by example and off the court in their work ethic and community relations. I would have selected them as team captains, but I think it means more when your team votes unanimously for you to lead. They are both deserving of this honor."

Discount Slated For Laker Men's B-Ball Tickets

Season tickets for the upcoming 2000-2001 season of the Garrett Community College men's basketball team, which is coming off an outstanding campaign last year, are currently available at a discounted price.

Over the next two weeks, Laker season tickets will be sold at a cost of $20 for a pair of tickets, which would amount to a $50 per person savings should the ticket holders attend each of Garrett's 14 scheduled home contests (one of which will be played at Southern High School in Oakland). The normal price is $15 per person, which will go into effect after Friday, Nov. 17.

Persons interested in purchasing GCC men's basketball season tickets may call Laker athletic department publicity person Dee Kimbrell at 301-387-4036, men's basketball assistant coach Dave Martin at 301-334-1941, or men's head coach Dennis Gibson at 301-387-3051.

The roundball season for the Laker men kicks off in McHenry with GCC's homecourt Preview Tournament, slated for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10 and 11.

NHS Netters Fall In Three; SHS Battle Monday

The varsity volleyball team of Northern High School concluded its regular season Monday at Westmar, as the Huskies were downed in straight sets by the host Wildcats, 15-6, 15-4, and 15-3. The 4-11 Huskies are seeded fourth in the upcoming opening round of the Maryland 1A West Region Tournament, and are slated to host Southern's Rams, who will bring a 3-12 record to NHS for a Monday evening match-up.

Sophomore Heather Landers paced Northern at Lonaconing with four service points, while the Wildcats drew on 12 service points by Stacey Langham and 10 points and four assists tallied by Lisa Fazenbaker.

NHS's junior varsity unit took a 2-1 victory over its Westmar counterpart, opening with a 16-14 Game 1 loss, but rebounding to take the next two, 15-10 and 15-8. Sophomores Molly Wolf and Jodi Fratz notched seven points each for the Huskies, while Westmar's Jennifer Wills scored 12 points to lead all scorers.

The winner of Monday's Northern-Southern quarterfinal battle will advance to take on top-seeded Beall in a Thursday, Nov. 9, semifinal match-up.

Fishing Contest Season Winners Are Announced

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce and Johnny's Bait House announce the grand prize winners of the 2000 Garrett County Fishing Contest. These winners caught the largest fish of the particular species listed. In addition to the citation and patch they each won for being the weekly winner, they will receive a plaque honoring them for the largest catch of the season.

This year's largest-catch winners are:

Yellow perch, 1 lb. 4 ozs., 15-1/2 inches, caught by Kevin Beckman, Mtn. Lake Park.

Walleye, 8 lbs. 5 ozs., 28 inches, caught by James Lloyd, Acme, Pa.

Rainbow trout, 3 lbs., 21 inches, caught by Cobenn Bolden, Oakland.

Bluegill, 15 ozs., 11-3/4 inches, caught by Bob Wagler, Pittsburgh.

Largemouth bass, 5 lbs. 5 ozs., 21-1/2 inches, caught by Ivan Brewer, Baltimore.

Northern pike, 15 lbs. 2 ozs., 39 inches, caught by Steven Hedrick, Martinsburg, W.Va.

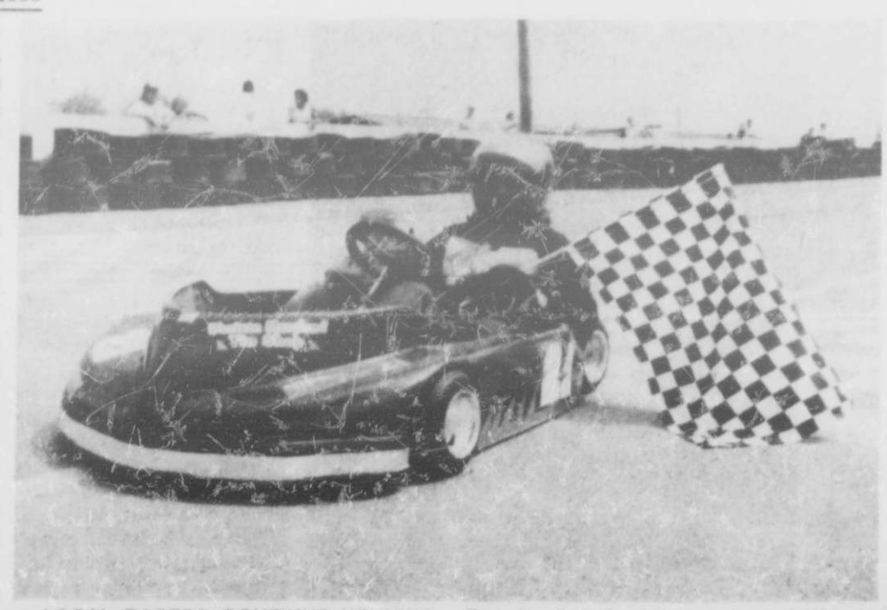
Crappie, 1 lb. 11 ozs., 14-3/4 inches, caught by Harold Talbott, Friendsville.

Brown trout, 5 lbs. 10 ozs., 24 inches, caught by Bill Gould, Markleysburg, Pa.

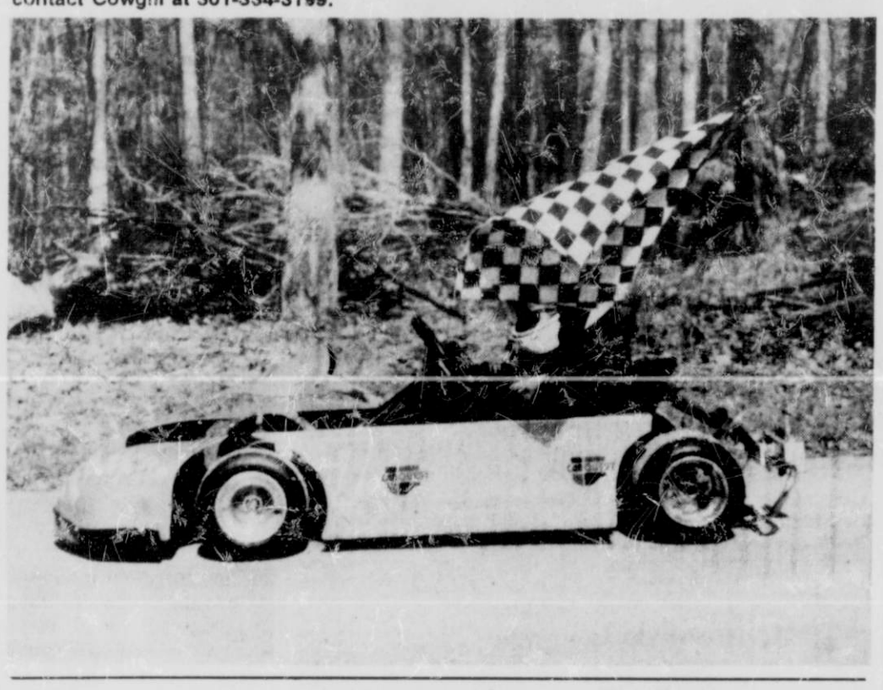
Chain pickerel, 3 lbs. 11 ozs., 26-1/4 inches, caught by Dan Murray, Islip, N.Y.

Smallmouth bass, 3 lbs. 9 ozs., 19-7/8 inches, caught by Ernest Pisarcik, N. Huntingdon, Pa.

The fishing contest runs from the first weekend in May through the first weekend in October.



LOCAL RACERS CONTINUE WINNING - Two local go-kart racers have had successful season this year, as Steve Cowgill, above, placed second in total points for the season at Masontown, W.Va., and Bryson Sanders, below, placed second in total points for the season at a track in Fellowsville, W.Va. Cowgill is assisted by Randy Murphy as crew chief, and his sponsors include T.C. Engineering, Fairfax Materials, Signs by Designs, Automotive Machine, Loch Lynn Auto Body, and Western Maryland Tin Shop. Sanders is sponsored by Southern Auto Parts, Naylor's Hardware, and Beckman's Variety. Persons interested in learning more about local kart racing may contact Cowgill at 301-334-3199.



Proposal

though this was not the first meeting on the issue. The speaker apparently hopes to introduce the legislation at the 2001 General Assembly and enact it by spring.

The group gathered at last week's meeting felt that a study committee ought to work together to address some of the concerns expressed by local residents, who are concerned about the potential loss of Garrett County's autonomy. Those in favor see the legislation as providing more tourism funding and as providing a stronger regional base for tourism.

Delegate George Edwards has approached the issue with some caution, stressing that all parties should be satisfied with the proposed legislation before it is brought to the General Assembly.

MEETING TONIGHT

A special meeting of all voting members of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce has been called for this evening, Nov. 2, at 7 p.m. in Room 314 of the Garrett Community College Continuing Education building. The proposed legislation is to be discussed, with recommendations of the chamber to be relayed to the five-member study committee.

Chairman Jerry Geisler has asked all voting members to attend the meeting, which he has termed "urgent."

Flu Shots

staff members, and household members of those in the high-risk group can also receive the vaccine.

The clinics will be held at the following locations and times: Grantsville Community Center, Nov. 8, from 1 to 6 p.m. and the Oakland G.W. Plaza, Nov. 9, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The cost of the influenza vaccination is $10. Pneumococcal vaccination will be available at a cost of $17. If a person has a Medicare card, the Garrett County Health Department will bill Medicare for this service.

Pneumonia

Pneumococcal pneumonia is a serious disease that is responsible for a substantial number of illnesses and deaths in the United States.

Pneumococcal disease is caused by a bacteria which can lead to serious infection of the lungs (pneumonia), the blood stream (bacteremia), and the covering of the brain (meningitis).

People at greater risk from the disease include those 65 and older, the very young, and individuals with other health problems such as alcoholism, heart or lung diseases (including asthma), kidney failure, diabetes, HIV infection, or certain types of cancer.

Influenza

Influenza, or flu, is caused by a virus with typical symptoms such as an abrupt onset of fever, aching, sore throat, headache, chills, extreme malaise (tiredness), and nonproductive cough. Influenza can lead to viral pneumonia.

The flu incubation period is 24 to 72 hours, with the illness lasting 2 to 7 days. The infectious period is approximately 3 days after the onset of symptoms. Yearly vaccinations are recommended for high-risk and moderate-risk individuals because the viruses that cause flu frequently change, and immunity may decrease in the year after vaccination.

This year's vaccine contains A/Panama, A/New Caledonia, and B/Yamanashi components.

Persons who have questions about either vaccine should contact a physician or the local health department at 301-334-8111 or 301-895-3111.

summer adventure sports camps, helps instruct skiers, and works at a local fitness shop and ski shop. As vice president of the Adventure Sports club, he works on many projects, including the ultimate frisbee contest he recently organized. He also serves as peer mentor for a student from Estonia. When Forster graduates from GCC he plans to continue his education "somewhere out West where the 'big' mountains are."

"All of our Adventure Sports students are required to successfully complete an extensive emergency medical response course," Mike Logsdon, director of GCC's Adventure Sports program, said of the course, which is taught by a certified instructor from Stonehenge Outdoor Learning Opportunities (SOLO). Students who successfully complete the rigorous nine days of training receive Wilderness First Responder certification.

"We periodically schedule mock accidents to which students and instructors must respond. It's interesting that we spend a whole lot of resources training, training, and training more, in an activity that we hope we never have to use in real life. When one of our students is involved in a rescue effort, such as the one with Patrick at Seneca Rocks, it demonstrates the value of all of that training and reinforces the feeling that our program requirements are sound."

CONTRIBUTING TO CONSERVATION, Cub Scout Pack 31 Bear Cubs sponsored their Fall Family Camp gathering recently. The Cub Scouts planted a sugar maple tree donated by Green Acres Garden Center near the pavilion at Swallow Falls State Park, and picked up litter along Muddy Creek. Besides "planting" in Cubs the seeds of stewardship that will continue growing well into the 21st century, these environmentally friendly exploits helped the Cub Scouts on their way to completing requirements for their Conservation awards. Shown above in the front row are, from the left, Trevor Messenger, Nick Callis, and Eric Robison; in the back row are Nick Sharps, Nathaniel Walkling, and Ryan Burns. The tree planting is shown in the below photo as adult volunteer Frances Callis, Cub Scouts Messenger, Sharps, and Burns, volunteer John Arnold, and Cub Scouts Callis, Robison (partially obstructed) and Walkling work together to plant the tree, which will be protected by the state of Maryland as part of the state park system and should still be standing in the same spot when the boys bring their grandchildren to the park years from now.

FSU Rec., Parks Program Gains Accreditation

Frostburg State University's Recreation and Parks Management program has received accreditation from the National Recreation and Parks Association/ American Association for Leisure and Recreation, a distinction reached by just over a quarter of the U.S. institutions that offer undergraduate recreation curricula.

FSU received the honor at the NRPA national conference in Phoenix, Ariz., in early October. FSU's program is the only accredited four-year program in Maryland.

The accreditation applies to all of FSU's collaborative programs with the Community College of Baltimore County (CCBC), Garrett Community College, and Allegany College of Maryland.

In addition, FSU was commended by the same organization for its collaborative program, in particular for the program with CCBC Catonsville and its effort to bring under-represented groups into the recreation industry, according to Dr. Susan Arisman, dean of the FSU College of Education.

Started in 1977, the program currently has about 90 majors at all its sites.

The process of accreditation took more than a year and a half, including preparing a self-study for review by the NRPA, as well as a campus visit by two academics and a practitioner in the recreation industry.

"It's the process of quality assurance, and that's what we're into in this college — quality," said Dean Arisman.

Accreditation allows graduates of the FSU program to sit immediately for the Certified Park and Recreation Specialist exam, according to Dr. Robert B. Kauffman, director of the recreation program and an associate professor of recreation and parks. Graduates of other programs are required to complete additional coursework.

It also gives the university added visibility and credibility when defending its programs to state decision-makers, he said. Accreditation indicates that the university has put a significant amount of resources into the program and that it is "fulfilling the body of knowledge considered to be the standards for one going into the field," Kauffman said.

"Parents are becoming better consumers," said Dean Arisman. "When shopping for schools, students and their parents are looking for indications that the program has quality."

For more information about FSU's Recreation program, persons may contact Kauffman at 301-687-4461.

GOP WOMEN FOCUS ON CHILDREN - The Northern Garrett Republican Women's Club is participating in the National Federation of Republican Women's project "No Child Left Behind." Three library books: The Birchbark House, Hedgie's Surprise, and Where Do Balloons Go? were presented to the Route 40 Elementary School Library, as well as school supplies for the media center. No Child Left Behind is a campaign of Republican women to "focus the nation on our children." Grantsville Elementary School, Accident Elementary School, and Friendsville Elementary School will also receive three library books and school supplies. In the photo, from left, are Carolyn J. Ganoe, president of the Northern Garrett Republican Women's Club, Rose Opel, media assistant at Rt. 40, Camilla Rawe, Garrett County Board of Education, Zeola Robeson, member of NGRW and retired teacher of Rt. 40, and Pat Delaney, principal of Rt. 40.

4-H Club News

RED HOUSE
by Stephanie Brenneman
Reporter

The October meeting was held at the St. John's Lutheran Church. The meeting was brought to order by Steve Knepp, and the agenda included discussion and voting on the annual Christmas Dinner, which we decided will take place during the December meeting.

Members also voted to make lap blankets for donation to local nursing homes during the holiday season. We will meet early next month to work on the blankets.

Another project that was approved is to make a sunshine basket, and each member is asked to bring a name suggestion to the next meeting.

The amount of entries our members had at the Garrett County Fair was announced. Demonstrations were presented by Levi Green, Shawn Sisler, Steve Knepp, and Ben Knepp, and the Cloverbuds demonstrated the Halloween ghosts and gift baskets which they had worked on, during the meeting.

The November meeting will include officer elections for the upcoming year.

All youth interested in joining 4-H are encouraged to call the local Cooperative Extension office at 301-334-6960 for more information.

follow each Sunday matinee.

Tickets for all performances of Sylvia are $5. Advance reservations are requested and may be made by contacting the Our Town Theatre ticket office at 301-334-5640.

On Monday, Nov. 13, at 7 p.m., volunteer readers from the theatre and humane society will join children from the Garrett County Head Start, Early Start, and Wrap Around Day Care programs, as well as youngsters from the county health department's Healthy Families project, for a cozy evening of sharing animal stories and songs. This event will be held at the theatre and is part of Head Start's ongoing efforts to promote reading. Area children who do not belong to the Head Start program but would like to attend the story readings with their parents are also cordially invited to attend.

On Tuesday, Nov. 14, at 7 p.m., OTT will host a special forum on the topic of animal abuse and its relationship to human violence. The public is invited to join members of the Humane Society, various social service organizations, law enforcement, the clergy, county and local government, and local schools in a discussion of the well-documented link between violence against animals and violence against humans. We will be looking at the problem and considering ways we can work together to address these issues in Garrett County.

Once again, Our Town Theatre, thank you and "two paws up" for supporting the Garrett County Humane Society and giving animals and animal issues center stage.

Couple Wed In Park Ceremony

Jenny Lee Few and John Hayward Durst were united in marriage on Friday, Sept. 29, 2000, at the Grantsville Town Park. The double ring ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Roger Zimmerman Sr. The bride is the daughter of Nancy Miller, Oakland, and Robert Few of Keymar. The groom is the son of Daniel and Robin Durst, Grantsville.

Kayla Leibrant, daughter of the bride, served as bridesmaid and Robert Hill, the bride's son, was the ring bearer. D.J. Durst, the groom's brother, was the best man. Ms. Few was given in marriage by her step-father, Allen Miller.

The couple attended a reception on Saturday at the American Legion in Grantsville, where family and friends wished them both much happiness. The wedding cakes and all foods were prepared by the Wal-Mart Super Center in Keyser, W.Va.

A graduate of Delaware High School, the bride is currently a homemaker. The groom is a graduate of Northern High School and is employed by Local Carpenters Union 1024. He is also a Medic in the U.S. Army Reserves, assigned to 372nd MP Co., Cumberland.

Barnards Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Ed and Colleen (Moses) Barnard of the Deep Creek Lake area of Swanton were honored at a dinner party at Will O' the Wisp on Oct. 21 in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. The event was hosted by their children and spouses, Kathy and Thomas Goodge of Evansville, Ind., and Paul D. and Ellen Barnard of Bloomington.

The Barnards were married on Oct. 20, 1950, at the Barton Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Daniel B. Eveland officiating. Their attendants were the late Patricia (Robertson) Gowans and the late Cyril Von Baumann.

Mr. Barnard is retired from the electric shop at Westvaco Corporation, Luke. Mrs. Barnard is a retired accountant from Potomac State College of West Virginia University, located in Keyser, W.Va. The couple resided in Bloomington for 40 years, and moved to their current residence at 943 Hazelhurst Road nine years ago after retirement.

Dinner music was provided by Dr. John Hawkins at the piano. A "This is Your Life" video of the couple and their family was shown. The Barnards' five grandchildren and many other relatives and friends attended the celebration.

TALENT SHOW HELD

The Friendsville Elementary School held its "Showcase of the Stars" talent show on Thursday, Oct. 26, at 7 p.m.

Judges for the event were Bonnie Kelley, Joyce Schroyer, and Dr. David Welling. Evan Frazee was the master of ceremonies.

Trophies were awarded in three categories. The winners were as follows: Vocal Competition in K-2nd grade — first place, Olivia Gaither, who sang "I Got No Strings," and second place, Derrica Friend, who sang "At Home With Jesus"; Vocal Competition in 3rd-5th grades — first place, Ariel Slagle, who sang "The Bible," second place, Lindsay Sisler, who sang "Maybe" from Annie, third place, Bradley Sisler, who sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and honorable mention to Melissa Meyers, who sang "Let 'er Rip" and also sang "There's Your Trouble" with Brittney Allen. Instrumental competition winners were Leah Frazee, first place, for playing "Foot Stompin' Music" on the fiddle, and Hannah Sines, second place, for playing "Amazing Grace" on the piano.

All received a trophy from the PTO for participating.

TRICK-OR-TREAT - Over 200 costumed kids paraded through the Grantsville Plaza Monday night, stopping by businesses and loading up on goodies. Children of all ages braved the chilly temperatures to display a wide array of scary, cute, funny, and clever disguises. The children were divided into age groups, and the judges had the difficult task of selecting winners in several categories. In the photo above left the 0-3-year-old winners are, from left, Alexandra Miller, prettiest, Hannah Schroyer, scariest, and Cayleb and Keygan Broadwater, most original (dinosaur eggs). In the photo above right, the 4-7-year-old winners are Aaron Broadwater, scariest, Kameron Kamp, most original, and Mackenzie Bouch, prettiest. In the photo below, the age 8 and older winners are Katie Kelly, scariest, Ashleigh Friend, most original, and Amanda Wilhelm, prettiest.

Buckwheat Cake Supper Slated

The Swanton Community Center will serve an "all-you-can-eat" buckwheat cake, pancake, and sausage supper on Saturday, Nov. 11. Serving will begin at 4 p.m. and continue until the food is gone. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. Proceeds will benefit the center's various programs.

State Park Programs

DEEP CREEK LAKE

The following activities will take place at Deep Creek Lake State Park this weekend, Saturday, Nov. 4, and Sunday, Nov. 5. Interested persons may call the park's Discovery Center at 301-387-7067 for further information. All programs will take place or depart from the Discovery Center unless otherwise noted.

Saturday and Sunday, 30-minute horse-drawn hayrides will be offered by Broken Bar Stables and will get under way at 11 a.m., noon, 1, and 2 p.m. both days.

Saturday's slate opens at 10 a.m. with an edible and medicinal plant hike. A park naturalist will present live snakes during a 90-minute program titled "Snakes Alive" that will begin at 1 p.m. Creepy Critters will be shown at 2 p.m. A children's scavenger hunt will get under way at 3 p.m.

Sunday's activities will begin at 10 a.m. with a guided two-hour hike to the fire tower. "Living with Black Bears" will be presented by a naturalist at 1 p.m., and will last one hour. Great Escapes will be shown at 2 p.m. A children's fall fun hike will get under way at 3 p.m.

MARYLAND MAYORS MEET - Friendsville mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle was among the members of the Maryland Mayors Association when they convened for their third annual Capitol Hill Day on September 28. The group departed the Maryland Municipal League headquarters, Annapolis, for a lecture and tours of the U.S. Supreme Court and the Capitol building, followed by a luncheon with the Maryland congressional delegation. The mayors then toured the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial. In the photo above, Montgomery County executive Douglas Duncan, event coordinator, greets Schlosnagle.

Western Maryland Seniors Urged To Examine New Presciption Program

Maryland House Speaker Casper R. Taylor Jr. and CareFirst BlueCross Blue Shield (CareFirst) officials last Friday urged eligible western Maryland seniors to consider enrolling in the state's new Rural Senior Pharmacy Program, enacted this year by the Maryland General Assembly.

Approximately 2,000 Garrett, Allegany, and Washington county seniors are eligible for this two-year program, created to provide prescription drug coverage for those senior citizens in 17 rural Maryland counties who no longer have access to a Medicare+Choice HMO. The program is considered a stop-gap because it is hoped Congress will enact prescription drug coverage legislation within the next two years, according to a CareFirst press release.

Besides Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties, eligible seniors in Calvert, Caroline, Carroll, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Frederick, Kent, Queen Anne's, St. Mary's, Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico, and Worcester counties can enroll in the program.

"Given the high cost of prescription drugs, this stop-gap program can provide much needed relief for seniors who lost coverage under their Medicare+Choice HMO plans at the end of 1999," said Frances P. Doherty, vice president of government affairs at CareFirst. "It's important that seniors are aware of this program and the benefits it offers. The Rural Senior Pharmacy Program can help Maryland seniors better cope with spiraling prescription drug costs."

Under the new Rural Senior Pharmacy Program, up to 15,000 eligible seniors in the 17 designated counties can receive up to $1,000 in prescription drug benefits annually, as well as additional discounts on prescription medicines that have been negotiated by CareFirst. CareFirst is contributing $8.8 million in subsidies for the program over two years, with two other insurance carriers each contributing $1 million to offset the costs of the program to subscribers.

For a $40 monthly premium, eligible seniors qualify for a $1,000 prescription drug benefit maximum per contract year after paying a $50 deductible; a three-tier prescription drug program under which members pay $10 for generic drugs, $20 for preferred brand-name drugs and $35 for non-preferred brand-name drugs; and access to discounts ranging from 13 to 16 percent on prescription drugs, as negotiated by CareFirst, when using a participating pharmacy, even after members have reached their $1,000 contract year benefit maximum.

For the first six months of the program, membership is limited to seniors who had received their health care under a Medicare+Choice Plan that subsequently dropped coverage. After December 27, 2000, the benefits of the program will be available to all residents over 65 years of age who qualify for Medicare and who live in the 17 rural counties covered under the new law.

"While this two-year program provides a valuable benefit to thousands of seniors, it does not offer a long-term solution," said Doherty. "Legislators in Congress, insurers, and health care providers must focus on meaningful long-term Medicare reform."

Eligible seniors can get enrollment information by calling CareFirst at 1-800-972-4612.

Former Resident Directing Youth Treatment Center

Former Garrett County resident Elizabeth Biser is now serving as treatment director for Rite of Passage, a program for delinquent boys located in Nevada. The program provides academic and athletic components in a residential setting for boys 14 to 18 years old.

Biser's responsibilities include supervision of case management, medical care, and contract services for the residents. "One of my primary responsibilities will be to develop and implement treatment groups in the areas of gangs, parenting, victim empathy, anger management, and drugs and alcohol," she explained.

Those referred to Rite of Passage may have been involved in illegal activities and demonstrated serious behavior problems. "The boys we work with have often failed in out-of-home placements and are one step away from prison," Biser noted.

While at Rite of Passage, the boys will be taught discipline, team sports, and academic subjects. In addition they will pursue vocational training through a "rigorous" program called Operation Validate. "Validate is an acronym for Vocational training, Athletics, Lifeskills, Individual graduation plan, Demonstrated behavioral changes, Aftercare, and Treatment and education," Biser explained.

The boys must achieve goals set in each of the designated categories before completing the program. "Each of the students' graduation plan includes one of the 'Three-E's' — Enrollment in college, Enlistment in the service, or Employment. One of our graduates in currently in medical school," she stated.

In accepting the directorship at Rite of Passage, Biser said she feels that she is continuing with the type of service she provided through Mettle Workers in Garrett County. Rite of Passage currently operates other programs in California and Arizona, and will soon open at 750-bed facility in Colorado.

Town Hall Meetings Set For Seniors

Senior citizens in Garrett County will have the opportunity to address issues such as prescription drug coverage, transportation, and long-term care during two town hall meetings scheduled for the coming week.

The first session will be held Monday, Nov. 6, at the Mary Browning Senior Center at 10:30 a.m. The second session is scheduled at the Grantsville Senior Center on Thursday, Nov. 9, at 10:30 a.m.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-9431 or 888-877-8403.

Choose To Move Program Now In Print, On-Line

The American Heart Association has launched "Choose To Move," a 12-week program to help women increase their daily physical activity level in practical and innovative ways.

Developed by both the American Heart Association (AHA) and the Cooper Institute in Dallas, Choose To Move focuses on three areas: physical activity, nutrition, and weight management. "Participants will not only lower their risks of a cardiovascular disease by increasing their physical activity, but will also enjoy the benefits of a healthier life, including increased strength, more energy and reduced stress," a program spokesman said.

According to the AHA, scientific studies have shown that even moderate physical activity, when performed daily, can have long-term health benefits and that exercise can help lower the risk of cardiovascular diseases as well as helping to control blood cholesterol levels, diabetes, and obesity.

Women may select either the print or the on-line version of Choose To Move. Those interested in the program's on-line version may sign up at www.choosetomove.org. Once the registration form is completed, an individual on-line diary is created for the program. Open enrollment for the on-line version continues through December 31, 2000.

If a women is interested in the print version of the program, she may call 1-888-MY HEART. She will automatically receive a brochure and registration material. After returning the registration form to the AHA, she will receive the Choose To Move handbook. Open enrollment for the print version continues through December 31, 2000.

"Motivation is most often the biggest barrier to physical activity. Through Choose To Move, we're hoping to change women's attitudes about fitness and good health," said Dr. Deborah Barbour, physical director of the Heart Program for Women at Mercy Medical Center in Baltimore.

Through Choose To Move, women start out by setting physical activity goals that are right for them by practicing the tips and activities offered in the program. Over a 12-week period, they will gradually build up to 30 minutes per day on most days of the week. In addition, the program provides women with easy healthy eating and weight management tips that will make them feel and look better.

Katherine McKenney Joins Grantsville Staff Of Dr. Bissel

A WELCOME ADDITION to the staff of the medical office of Dr. Robin Bissel, right, is Katherine McKenney, a certified nurse practitioner, who is now seeing patients at the Grantsville office.

Doctor Robin Bissel's office in Grantsville has added a new member to its medical community. Katherine McKenney, a certified registered nurse, is bringing her medical expertise to Garrett County.

McKenney has an independent master's degree in science from the University of Maryland. She has worked in various sections of hospitals in the Washington, D.C., area, including intensive care, as well as in numerous clinics. A nurse for a total of 15 years, McKenney was also a hosptial head nurse and assisted two dentists. "Medicine is all I've ever been interested in," she stated.

McKenney is licensed under the Board of Nursing and is qualified to give prescriptions, and provides general services much like a regular physician. These services include sports physicals, medicine applications, and prevention teaching.

McKenney also said that "so far, both patients and staff have been very receptive," adding that she plans to be here for a long time. She is involved in the Family Nurse program, which means that she can provide services to all members of a family, regardless of age.

McKenney, who said she "loves this area," resides in Cumberland with her husband and five children.

Bissel said she wanted to emphasize that the medical services through her office can be considered a permanent part of the Grantsville community. In fact, she noted, there will now be later appointments for the patients who have a hard time getting away from work. McKenny will be at the office every Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Anti-Stigma Project Slated At Right Step

An anti-stigma project is on the agenda for November at the Oakland-based Right Step Drop-In Center, which serves consumers of mental health services. Beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 11, Jackie Young of the Baltimore chapter of On Our Own will discuss public perceptions of mental illness and the stigma that has resulted from misunderstandings.

According to Right Step president Doug Davis, the presentation will be geared to people with mental illness as well as their families. Young will talk about dealing with the general public's lack of acceptance of illnesses.

The anti-stigma program will be open to all members of the community who are interested in learning more about dealing with public perceptions of mental illness. The presentation and discussion period may last several hours, Davis noted.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-4630.
